MUTTON IN REVOLT SWIMS TO SAFETY

Captain Kichner's Ram Starts Riot on New York Pier—Upsets Small Boat.

ESCAPES THE KNIFE

Efforts of a Ship's Commanding Officer to Get the Better of the Cold Storage Trust Did Not End in Success.

New York.—When the Ramefens, of Hamburg, which took aboard a cargo of oil for Bombay, India, at Tenth street, Long Island City, the other day next appears in this port her commander, Captain Kichner, will not feel kindly toward the ship news reporter who mentions mutton to him. Likewise, the butcher who suggests that the captain get the better of the cold storage trust by taking his meat on board on the hoof will encounter a surprise. In fact, it is doubtful even if luscious lamb chops will appeal to the captain after his experience.

It is proverbial that sheep are meek. There are sheep and sheep, though, as one butcher's apprentice, Robert Henty, discovered when he arrived at the pier with two ewes and a ram. (See dictionary for the difference.) The sheep were destined for the ship's mess, and every man of the crew had visions of fresh mutton when he saw the animals arrive.

These visions were dispelled soon after Henty had led one of the ewes on board the steamship. In some manner the ram, which had been left in the delivery wagon, escaped from his bonds. Possibly it was an anti-trust ram, for the animal immediately demonstrated his dislike for all things oily. Coincidental with his demonstration the men on the pier left the vicinity. Some were assisted by the ram.

Then the mutton-which-was-not-to-be journeyed into the oily yard and created further disturbance. Not daunted by the efforts toward his capture he returned to the pier, wagging his head in defiance. His path was not obstructed. Then he plunged overboard into the East river.

When Captain Kichner saw his mutton swimming away in the water three boats were lowered to the rescue. The ram swam placidly into the middle of the stream. When the first rowboat drew near him he turned and charged. In their excitement and efforts to capture the ram the sailors upset the boat. Fortunately the craft was righted and the sailors discreetly withdrew.

By this time the commotion in the river had attracted the attention of Harry Murray, superintendent of the stables on Blackwell's island, and he valiantly started out aboard a motor boat to capture the ram. The engine refused to work when the motor boat reached midstream, and Mr. Murray's

BATTLE FOR LIFE ON THE LAKE'S BOTTOM

Rescuer Dives for Drowning Man and Is Seized in a Death Embrace.

Chicago.—A terrific battle on the bottom of Lake Michigan, thirteen feet below the surface, between a drowning man and his companion who had dived to his aid, was waged the other day. Frank Halla succeeded in breaking the death strangle hold of Frank Baller, a drowning man, brought him to the surface and towed him to the shore.

The rescue was effected after Halla almost had been suffocated by the grasp of the drowning man.

Persons who witnessed the rescue declare it to be one of the bravest. Efforts will be made to obtain a Carnegie medal for Halla.

Halla, who lives at 1213 North Clark street, and Baller, 58 West Ontario street, were swimming in the lake off East Indiana street when Baller was seized with cramps and sank. Halla, twenty feet away, swam to the place where Baller had disappeared and plunged below the surface.

Halla found him at the bottom. He reached for Baller's hair and Baller twined his arms about Halla's neck. An instant later he got his legs intertwined with Halla's legs and the rescuer found himself almost powerless to break loose. Finally Halla got his hands under the drowning man's chin and, forcing back his head, broke his hold.

Instantly Halla, his lungs almost bursting, shot to the surface. He waited an instant to get fresh air, then dove again after Baller.

By that time Baller was unconscious and Halla brought him up without a struggle. His grip on Baller's hair, Halla towed the man to a breakwater fifty feet away. When he reached safety he was exhausted. A witness of the rescue pulled both men on shore and then telephoned for help. Police Surgeon A. W. Helwig hurried to the scene with a pulmotor and revived Baller.

ROOSTER HATCHES CHICKENS

New Answer to the Question: "Which is the Mother to the Offspring?"

Baltimore, Md.—The question whether the incubator that hatches the chick or the hen that lays the egg is the mother of the offspring has been bothering amateur poultry fanciers for years. "But suppose a rooster hatches 'he egg—what then?" Captain John H. White, 1514 Retreat street, would like to know.

Captain White, who hails from Salisbury, Wicomico county, has a rooster that hatched two chicks. In a wooden box Pete, the rooster, sits with ruffled feathers clucking like a hen. Under his wings are two tiny, fuzzy chicks.

Some time ago the captain saw Pete sitting on a nest in which were several eggs. "Shoo," yelled the captain. But Pete refused to budge. The same thing happened the next day. In order to see what happened the captain placed three eggs in a box and Pete on top of them. The rooster accepted the situation and stuck to his post until yesterday, when he strutted forth and two chicks followed him. Since that time he has taken care of them as carefully as a hen.

Old Orchard in Bloom.
Connersville, Ind.—An old Vandiver pipkin orchard on the Charles Stockdale farm, in Harrison township, was in bright bloom Sept. 29. Among the buds and blossoms was an abundance of ripening fruit of perfect formation. These trees are half a century old and have borne with regularity for many years. The fruit is excellent and they never have shown evidence of freakishness.

Started Something.
Bristol, Pa.—As an experiment Mrs. Ellen Buck, chicken fancier, made a suit of flannel clothes for a shivering Plymouth Rock. Whereupon sixty-five other nude chickens followed her about until she had to clothe them all.

Sparrow Pje.
Nutley, N. J.—Sparrows have solved the high cost of living here. By an ingenious net device more than 600 are trapped daily. These are portioned out and everybody is having sparrow pie.

When He Stopped.
Chicago.—Sigmund Youngst bear danced. Policemen at the hall didn't like it and ordered a halt. Youngst wouldn't stop, so the policemen shot him. He stopped.

Long Time Coming.
Boston.—A memorial wreath sent by Princess Louisa of Prussia to Clara Barton, Red Cross society founder, who died in April, has just arrived. It was lost by the express company.
