WAR'S CALL TO THE FARMER

Food Shortage.

The present food shortage, which threatens to become much more serious, is the live stock farmer's opportunity as well as the call to the patriotic duty.

In view of the grave situation, the division of animal forestry, University Farm, St. Paul, offers the following suggestions to the live stock farmer: Keep all live stock off pastures till the grass has a good start, and the sod will withstand tramping and retain the moisture in the soil. Much more feed will be yielded and hay saved in the long run by this method. "A week too early to grass in the spring means three weeks less pasture in the fall." Do not turn out steers about ready for market; they will shrink more than they will gain, and other stock needs the pasture.

Raise all calves for which there is ample feed.

Save high-priced feed by providing hog pastures, and labor by self-feeders and crops to be hogged-off.

Rebreed sows that have farrowed early for fall litters wherever concentrates are available for feed.

Substitute and supplement oats in the rations of farm and city work-horses by brewers' grains, oilmeal, molasses and alfalfa hay, thus releasing the oats for the horses in army service.

Breed all suitable mares to the best stallion available.

Keep chickens on city lots. They utilize kitchen waste, require only light labor such as children, old folks, and convalescents can supply, and make quick and economic returns in meat and eggs.

Observe all rules of stable hygiene and sanitation to control animal diseases.

SUMMER PASTURE FOR SWINE

Green Food Is Required for Best Development of Pigs—Alfalfa Is Relished by Animals.

(North Dakota Agricultural College Bulletin.)

Pasture should by all means be provided for the pigs. This is the cheapest food that can be provided, and good development in the pigs requires green food. Alfalfa is one of the best pastures. It is relished by the pigs, is nutritious and provides feed during the whole pasture season.

Many report splendid success with sweet clover where neither bromegrass nor winter rye is available.

Oats, barley and rape can be sown in the spring and will produce green feed till the hogs can be turned into the corn. If no alfalfa is available on the farm for pig pasture, this spring will be the time to sow it. When the pigs are on pasture they should be fed some grain, and the pigs will get along with less grain when on alfalfa than on most any other pasture.

DOMESTIC HORSE IN DEMAND

Instead of Looking to Europe for Animals We Are Now Sending Our Surplus There.

For a good many years, the best priced animals raised bred in Europe. Now the day has come when we are not only satisfied ourselves with the home-bred horse, but the best breeders are looking to foreign fields as an outlet for the surplus, as soon as they are able to supply the home demand.—Twentieth Century Farmer.

KEEP SOWS BY THEMSELVES

Not Safe to Allow Pregnant Animals Free Run of Horse and Cattle Lots—Permit Exercise.

It is altogether too common to allow pregnant sows a free run of the horse and cattle lots, and to force them to occupy crowded quarters with a large number of hogs. Occasionally heavy losses result from such a practice and must be avoided if best results are to be expected.

Brood sows should be allowed the run of a well-drained lot by themselves where they have ample room for the requisite amount of exercise.

McMick's New Building.

There is a fine new building of white marble and Greek architecture in a western city. On the corner-stone is engraved the date of the building's erection. It was begun in 1908, but, following the usual custom, the date is in Roman capitals, thus: MCMXVIII.

The other day one citizen approached another and asked him if he had seen their common friend Danny that day.

"I sure did," replied the second man. "A few minutes ago I seen him standing in front of McMick's new building over there on the corner."

The Gentle Passion.

William Gillette, the actor, was showing George H. Broadhurst, the playwright, over his country estate. They arrived at the sheepfold and at sight of their master the woolly inmates came bleating to the bars.

"See how the little things love me, George," said the owner proudly.

"Love, thunder," said Broadhurst. "They come to you because they are hungry and they think you are going to feed them."

"George," said Gillette, "when you have reached a certain age that passes for love."—Saturday Evening Post.

What Future for Women?

Women have always had a wider range of industrial opportunity in this country than abroad; war will inevitably widen the range, observes a writer. A dearth of men will necessitate her acceptance of such activities, and for a time at least, her continuance in them. What is to be the result? What changes will occur in her temperament, her standards, and her attitude toward life, in consequence? No one can predict them.

Follow Test Directions.

One reason why people do not get better results from testing is that they do not follow directions. They try to make a short cut to save time, but sacrifice thereby accuracy in the test.
