But I took "Dodson's Liver Tone" Instead and Feel Grand—Calomel Nauseates—Salivates!

Accept "California" Syrup of Figs daily—look for the name California on the package, then you are sure your child is having the best and most harmless laxative or physic for the little stomach, liver and bowels. Children love its delicious fruity taste. Full directions for child's dose on each bottle. Give it without fear. Mother! You must say "California."—Adv.

Wasn't it a Pity? Little Anne was very fond of ripe olives, and her mother had to watch her to see that she did not indulge too freely. One day there was company, and Anne managed to have the olive dish stopped near her plate. After the dinner her mother pointed to the pile of pits on Anne's plate and asked: "How could you make such a pig of yourself? I should think you would be ashamed to see so many pits, and ashamed to have others see them." Anne hung her head and replied: "I was. That's the reason I threw all the rest of them on the floor."

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of Calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.
"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every druggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.
Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no biliousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent Calomel. Take a dose of Calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't toss a day.—Adv.

Labor's Withdrawal Breaks Up Industrial Conference in Washington.

OTHER GROUPS ALSO QUIT

Coal Miners Reject Offer and Prepare to Strike—Government May Operate Mines—Senate Committee Adopts Strong Reservations to the Peace Treaty.

By EDWARD W. PICKARD.
After two weeks of discussion and negotiation, the industrial conference at Washington was disrupted Wednesday by the withdrawal of the labor delegation. Mr. Gompers led his bloc out of the conference because its resolution on collective bargaining was rejected. As he departed he declared the employers' group was adopting exactly the position assumed by the I. W. W.—that workers should not enter into agreements with employers—and that he had nothing further to submit. "You have defeated labor in its declaration here," he added, "but we will meet you again in conference, and when we do meet you there you will be glad to talk collective bargaining."
Spokesmen for the capital group denied the employers were opposed to collective bargaining, but said the resolution submitted, if adopted, "would go out to the world as a concession on the part of the employers' group that they recognize the necessity of the unionization of all the industrial establishments in the country and the kind of collective bargaining that the labor unions insist upon as distinguished from other kinds."

The group representing the public approved the resolution, and it was beaten in the employers' group by ten votes to four. The rules of the conference required a unanimous vote for the passage of any resolution. L. E. Shepard of the railroad conductors charged that political motives inspired the action of some of the delegates, and to others it was apparent that the steel strike issues really were responsible for the attitude taken by the majority of the capital group.
President Wilson, on his sick bed, had dictated and signed a letter to the members of the conference pleading for continuance of the sessions until a solution of industrial relations was reached, and this was read by Chairman Lane, but it did not have the desired effect on Gompers and his colleagues.

When the labor group quit, the employers followed suit, disclaiming responsibility for the fiasco. President Wilson asked the representatives of the public to continue the work alone, but this was deemed useless and the conference broke up entirely.

The utter failure of the industrial conference to accomplish anything is disappointing enough, but public attention is centered just now on another labor trouble that is imminent—the threatened strike of soft coal miners which is set for November 1. Secretary of Labor Wilson has been working desperately to avert this, and made a proposal that would grant the miners an increased wage, but that ignored their demand for a 35-hour week. The miners' committee formally rejected this offer, though it was thought the operators would agree to it, and the leaders of the miners left Washington at once to prepare for the struggle. The territory involved is the "central competitive district," including western Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois.
Secretary Wilson and the other government officials directly involved in this matter did not announce their plans for the future, but they have intimated that if necessary, in order to insure a supply of coal to consumers, the mines will be kept open and operated by the government, with troops on guard. Congress also may intervene if the efforts of the government fail. Already in both house and sen-

EX-WAR PRISONERS LOYAL

German Soldiers, Back From Captivity in England, Turn Deaf Ears to Spartacist Pleading.

Berlin.—The prisoners of war returned from England are well fed and clothed, writes C. M. Schmidt from the collection camp at Meschede, where the men are concentrated and then sent to their homes.
They are naturally overjoyed to be at home, their relatives sometimes ate measures are being framed that would declare it a crime to incite a strike in coal mines. Senator Frelinghuysen was especially severe in his comment on the miners' demands, and took the occasion to denounce trade unionism under its present leadership as a "new autocracy" tending toward bolshevism.

On the surface there is little change in the steel strike situation, but the American Federation of Labor and some state labor associations, notably that of Illinois, came out strong for unlimited support of the strikers, both morally and financially. In the convention of the Illinois Federation of Labor a general strike was advocated in order to "stop the wheels of industry and bring Gary to his knees." The labor leaders are planning to spread the strike in various directions and rejoiced at the action of the officials of the railway brotherhoods giving the workers permission to take such action as they may find necessary in each district. This may mean the men operating the lines into steel plants will quit work.
Last Wednesday was the last day on which steel strikers could return to their jobs and save their seniority and pension rights, and many of them did go back to the mills.

The railroad workers of the country, who are demanding increased wages, time and a half overtime, the eight-hour day, and changes in working conditions, are preparing for a final fight with the railroad administration, according to what Timothy Shea, chief of the firemen, told the administration's board of working conditions. Shea's data and claims were strongly combated by A. O. Wharton, who left the presidency of the railway employees, department of the American Federation of Labor to become a member of the board.

Director General Hines put a sudden end to the strike of express drivers in New York by threatening to fill their places with troops, but efforts to settle the longshoremen's strike there were futile and the food shortage in the metropolis grew worse daily with prices soaring. In order that there should be no further delay in government work on transports and other vessels, Secretary of War Baker sent a large number of troops to the port to take the places of strikers, and the latter were warned that interference with the soldiers would be met with bullets. The troops, it was declared by the army officials, would do only government work. Although some of the longshoremen's locals have voted to abandon the strike and it is disapproved by their international officers, most of the men refuse to return to work unless they are given $1 an hour and $2 an hour for overtime.

The senate committee on foreign relations prepared the ground for the final battle over the treaty with Germany by adopting 14 reservations and a preamble to the resolution of ratification providing that America's ratification of the pact shall not be effective until the reservations have been accepted by three of the four chief allied nations, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan.

The reservations, which Senator Lodge said will be supported by a majority in the senate, are framed to accomplish the following:
To give the United States unqualified right of withdrawal from the league upon notice by congress.
To relieve the United States of any obligation to preserve the territorial integrity or political independence of any country under article X or to go to war under any article unless congress so decides by act or joint resolution.
To provide that no mandate may be accepted by the United States except by express authorization of congress.
To protect the sovereignty of the United States over domestic questions.
To guard the Monroe doctrine by declaring it outside the jurisdiction of the league.
To declare the dissent of the United States from the Shantung settlement.
To protect American exports to Germany from interference by the reparations commission unless congress approves.

frants with joy at having them. The pleasant picture is dulled only by one blot—the Independents, spartacists and communists are already at work trying to win the prisoners to their side, and have even placed agents where they can most easily get in touch with the men and preach their unrest and chaos and disorder.
The forces behind the move have put a great number of communistic and spartacist women into the game, on the theory that the prisoners, after years without their wives and sweet-

To remove the United States from any obligation to contribute to the league's expenses unless congress authorizes such appropriation.

To reserve the right of the United States to decide for itself the terms of its armament.

To reserve the right of the United States to refrain from entering the economic boycott provided for in article 16 of the league covenant.

To invalidate any act of the United States, unless the American representative on the league council or assembly has been confirmed by the senate.

To protect the rights of American citizens under the articles of the treaty dealing with debts and property.

To relieve the United States of any obligation to assume trusteeship of any of the German overseas possessions surrendered to the allied associated powers.

To reserve the right of the United States to refuse to submit to the league any question affecting the interests and national honor of the United States.

Senator Hitchcock, speaking for the proponents of the treaty as it is, said the reservations were unnecessary and that 40 Democrats vote against ratification with conditions. The objectionable ones were especially objectionable.

Bringing up unexpected stress on the defense of Petrograd, the bolsheviks succeeded in postponing the vote of that city, though they moved to Moscow with all the troops. At latest reports, the Russian northwest army was a few miles from Petrograd and the fighting was severe. It is known that General Yudenitch's men are not well equipped, and they are not numerous; therefore the Finns are expecting that he will reconsider his refusal to accept the help they offered him some time ago. In the Volga region General Denikine claimed to have defeated the bolshevik near Kampsin, but the soviet government announced that Denikine's advance on Moscow from the south had been definitely stopped.

According to the British admiralty, the story of the bombardment and capture of Koenstadt by British naval forces was untrue; but last week a message from Helsingfors said French warships had been shelling the fortress for several days. Two bolshevik torpedo boat destroyers attacked British and Estonian vessels in the Gulf of Finland and were promptly sunk.

The Letts continued their struggle for the possession of Riga with the Germans, who are under the command of Col. Avaloff-Bermond since Von der Goltz quit. The Germans claim to be carrying on their campaign against the bolshevik and to have offered an armistice to the Letts. They have been joined by an entire regiment that had been stationed at Thorn to guard the Germano-Polish frontier.

The American mission to Argentina under Major General Harbord arrived at Constantia after a strenuous trip in the course of which the members, except Harbord, were captured by Kurds and held prisoners for several hours. Correspondents who have interviewed the commissioners say most of them are opposed to America's accepting a mandate for Armenia or any other part of the former Turkish empire unless the other powers first pledge themselves to a policy of hands off.

Premier Lloyd George found himself up against another "crisis" almost immediately after the opening of parliament. By an unexpected shift of the line-up the government was defeated on a minor amendment to a pending measure. But because only about half the members were present it was believed the cabinet would not consider it necessary to resign, as is customary when it finds itself outvoted.

The French military authorities have unearthed a great conspiracy in Alsace-Lorraine having for its object the establishment of an autonomous republic. The leader has confessed it was financed by Germans and that a relative of Bethmann-Hollweg was the intermediary between the Berlin foreign office and the conspirators.
