In Duluth, Minn., on Saturday last, Gabriel Marillo died as a result of a singular accident. While working on the streets several days before he struck in the face by a stream of water from a hydrant and his false teeth were knocked down his throat. He died m a hemorrhage followigg their removal.

Keely, the Philadelphia motor man, is said to have invented an rerial machine, which, sad to say, is dependent on the famous machine upon which he has been working these many years. He had the air-ship finished and boxed up for a year, awaiting the time when he shall take out patents for his other motor.

Several thousand operatives in the cotton mills of Philadelpoia have eith-er been thrown out of work during the past week or had their time and wages reduced. Some firms now running on reduced time expect to shut down during the next few weeks. A leading manufacturer in that city, in an interview, said that he had not seen that city poorer in forty-three years of his experience than it is now. Most of the mills, he said, had been obliged cither to discharge some of their op-eratives and reduce working days or to shut down. He added: "The cause I don't know. It is more than the I don't know. It is more than the stagnation incidental to a Presidential year, and politics can't account for it."

There is on exhibition in the store of a Maiden Lane watch dealer in New York City the smallest watch, it is said, ever brought to America. The chial and works are just the size of a silver half dime. It is a complete watch in every respect, is a stem-win-der and stem-setter, and the works are full-jeweled. It is enclosed in a hun-ting-case of 18-karate gold. The works are finally made and the watch keeps accurate time. It was made in La Claux-de-Fonds, Switzerland, by a wellknown manufacturer. Other small watches have been made for ornaments in seal rings, cane heads and the like, but these are said to be incomplete in one or more parts, while the Chaux-de-Fonds is as perfect as can be made.

In Newark, N. J., on Sunday night last, Max Groose, a young German watchmaker, whose mind is evidently unbalanced, suddenly seized his young infant three months old and attempted to dash it out of his wife's room, in the third story. The wife, a delicate little woman of twenty-lour, sprang after her husband and succeeded in tearing the babe out of his arms. Then the lunatic turned upon her and forced her through the window with the child still in her arms. As he forthe child still in her arms. As he forced his wife over the ledge of the win-dow, he seized her by her feet, and she was so being held, head down, out of the window with the babe still clutched tightly in her arms, when she was discovered by passers by. An en-trance was made to the house by sev-eral men who, on entering the maniac's room, seized him and the endangered wife at the same instant. As soon as she was pulled inside, the woman fainted, and it is feared her terrible experience may lead to aberation of the mind.

the article he outlines the probable Congressional Independent Candidate in the following racy style:

It is now said that Col. E. A. Jones, a lawyer of acknowledged ability, a man of pure and spotless life and a gentleman above reproach in both his public and private character, has been selected to head the forces. We believe Col. Jones was an original old line whig, or at least, of old line whig origin, and last summer he was an ardent prohibitionist. Put this last with the high tariff blood of his original political sentiments, and we have a competent explanation as to motive. But still add to it a lofty ambition, a nerve of steel and an eloquence equal to that of Mills himself, and we may be able to comprehend some of the immediate dangers which beset Mr. Mills' pathway to re-election. Col. Jones is a man above and out of reach of corruption himself personally—they always choose this kind of man in cases of this kind—but there are thousands of the opposition in the district who would ask for no better or higher motive than pay in accomplishing the defeat of the paladin, of tariff reform and personal liberty in Texas.

defeat of the paladin of tariff reform and personal liberty in Texas.

The Congressional Convention.

Steps are being taken to prepare for the congressional convention of the ninth district, which Chariman Geo. W. Tyler, of Bell county, has called to meet in this city on October 1st. The district is composed of the counties of Navarro, Bell, McLennan, Washington, Burleson, Milam, Limestone and Falls, and from letters received from all of these counties it is learned that a large number of delegates will be in attendance. As the re-nomination of Hon. Roger Q. Mills is a foregone conclusion the convention will be, in a measure, a ratification meeting, and its assembling will be an event of material importance. The County Democratic Committee, which meets here on the 15th, will take some steps to provide a place of meeting for the convention as it is expected not less then 2500 visiting delegates will be present. It is also proposed to have a barbecue, not of elaborate dimentions, but simply to furnish bread and meat to such as cannet get entertainment at the hotels and boarding houses. It is a matter in which the people of Waco and McLennan county are interested and it should be taken in hand early to insure success. sure success

Ashby at Lorena.

Ashby at Lorena.

Editor Evening News.

Yesterday Mr. Stump Ashby spoke at Lorena. It had been given out by the Union Labor people that Hon. Geo. Clark would answer him, and quite a crowd had assembled. Finding it all a canard about Clark, gotten up to draw a crowd, the Democrats present requested Capt. Jack Elgin to answer him. The Labor people had exhibited great eagerness to find a foreman for Ashby, but when Elgin signified his willness to meet him he spoke three hours and a half, until too late for reply. But the staunch Democrats of Lorena were determined not to be out done, and announced speaking for that night, when a fair audience assembled to hear Capt. Elgin, who gave them some sure enough labor reform talk—dealing largely in facts and figures, and presenting the tariff issue with such force as to drive Ashby, in his reply, from his ridicule of traiff reform and to a delaration for free trade; and an abandonment of national politics to state issues. His replication to Capt. Elgin being chiefly confined to the convict system and the chaining of a white woman convict to a negro in San Antonio, questions that had not been opened in the discussion in main. The Democrats of Lorena seemed to be entirely satisfied with the result of the discussion and feel no further dread of the apostle of Labor A Democrat.
