Monkeys' Aversion to Cruelty.
 In Hindostan, where three varieties of sacred monkeys enjoy the freedom of every town, those four handed panthers often assist the police in enforcing the riot laws by charging en masse for the scene of every dog fight and schoolboy scuffle. They will rescue worried cats, and, for greater security, deposit them on the next roof, or suppress rowdiness in general, being physically as well as morally qualified to quell the aggressive disposition of the fiercest cur.

On the platform of a public warehouse the British residents of Agra, a few years ago, witnessed a scene which put that character trait in even a stronger light. A little street Arab had spread his pallet in the shade of a stack of country produce, and had just dropped asleep, when the proprietor of the Planter's hotel strolled up with a pet leopard that had learned to accompany him in all his rambles. A troop of tramp monkeys had taken post on the opposite end of the shed, and, like the beggar boy, seemed to enjoy a comfortable siesta, but at sight of the speckled intruder the elude gang charged along the platform like a squadron of spahis, and instantly forming a semicircle about the little sleeper, faced the leopard with bristling manes, evidently resolved to defeat the suspected purpose of his visit.—Felix L. Oswald, M. D., in Popular Science Monthly.

A Wall Street Man's Experiment.
 The bookkeeper of a Wall street bank, a man deeply versed in psychology, employs his spare time in making practical tests of his researches. There is a humorous vein in his composition, and these tests are frequently of a laughable nature. He is a firm believer in the theory that man magnifies his own little troubles and will unconsciously put himself out of his way to avoid things that have no existence in point of fact. The other day this philosopher carefully placed a sheet of blotting paper on the edge of a desk in such a way that half the sheet hung over. The desk was in a narrow passage that was much used by the clerks, and the philosopher had no end of fun watching them pass. Instead of shoving the blotting paper out of the way every clerk who passed would squeeze himself against the wall in order to avoid knocking it down. The fat clerks had a hard time of it, and one of them cricked his spinal column in a particularly fine acrobatic feat.—New York Evening Sun.

AFTERNOON NOTES.

Hon. W. W. Lang is again in the city and registered at the Pacific Hotel.

The sale of tickets for the Florences, to-day is indicative of a good house to night.

E. W. Durant, manager, of the Estelle Clayton company, is registered at the Pacific hotel.

Mr. C. W. White has just returned from the Panhandle. He will leave for New York Friday.

Mr. Harry Van Wie, agent of the Houston & Texas Central railroad at Iredell, is in the city visiting his friend, Constable Lockwood.

Cement pavement costs twenty cents a square foot or one dollar and eight cents a square yard. It is a beautiful pavement.

The cabulistic legend, "Shut the Door" has again appeared in office and store doors. The approach of winter is told by the flight of wild geese but, not as surely or as certainly as by the appearance of this legend.

Amelia Rives' story of "The Quick or the Dead" is now the sensation of literature. A vivid stage representation of the same will be presented at the Garland next Saturday by the beautiful Estelle Clayton and her company from the Fifth Avenue Theater, New York.

The following attachments were issued to-day against Eaton, Guinan & Co.: H. M. Anthony, New York, $528.80; Peoria Grape and Sugar Company, $1,404.30; John Dwight, of New York, $1,200. The Bank of California has attached for $6,000, giving indemnity bond to the sheriff.

Next Friday and Saturday Miss Estelle Clayton and her splendid company from the Fifth Avenue Theater, New York, will present the two latest sensations in society comedy, viz: Friday, "A Sad Coquette," and Saturday, "The Quick or the Dead." In St. Louis, Memphis and Little Rock the critics have been enthusiastic over Miss Clayton. They all pronounce her to be much handsomer than Langtry, Potter or any other actress now upon the American stage. The Memphis Appeal says Miss Clayton is marvelously beautiful. Her beauty is not of the statuesque order, but "flesh and blood," true blue American. She does not trade upon her beauty. She can act. She is the only artist that the Madison Square ever starred.

ANOTHER FAILURE.

The Firm of Lovinski & Lewine Surrender to Fate.

Late yesterday evening there was a strong excitement in certain quarters when it was known that another important failure had occurred in Waco. Lovinski & Lewine, jewelers, were the unfortunate ones. They executed last night a deed of trust to Mr. F. O. Rogers for the benefit of creditors. The following are the creditors, for whose benefit the deed of trust was given and the amount due each:
 Waco State Bank . . . . . $1855 90
 J. M. Pearlstone & Son, N. Y. 3305 33
 S. S. Samuels . . . . . 500 00
 Clark, Dyer & Bolinger . . . . . 250 00
 Henry Phillips, N. Y. . . . . 1850 00
 H. Rypinski, N. Y. . . . . 168 00
 J. A. Kirchner . . . . . 150 45

Total . . . . . $7785.68

The misfortune of this firm will be greatly regretted. The members of the firm are young men of fine business habits, indefatigable industry and great skill in their respective lines. It is to be hoped that they will soon be able to resume business. The total liabilities of the firm are not known. The business was begun by Mr. Lovinski some seven years ago, who then occupied a modest corner in the store of J. I. Taft & Son. The extra fine skill of Mr. Lovinski as a workman soon attracted attention and procured for him a profitable custom, while his knowledge of goods and tact as a salesman enabled him to sell his small stock of goods rapidly. His success was phenomenal in Waco and in a few years aided him in building up a flourishing business, in which he was ably assisted by his present partner.

It was during one holiday that Mr. Lovinski suddenly from a watchmaker sprung into a jeweler, and the incident serves to illustrate the vicissitudes of business. With a reputation for skill, tact and fair dealing, there came a rush of business during the holiday season such as was never seen before nor since in Waco. It was simply prodigious. Everyone shared in the prosperity. Mr. Lovinski's shop was a jam for days from morning till night. How he managed to replenish his goods is not known, but he made a stake in a few weeks on a reputation already made and ability to take advantage of the situation.

Fire in Dallas.

Dallas, Dec. 4.—Last evening about 5 o'clock an alarm was turned in from box No. 234 in report of a fire which was blazing in a two-story cottage on Pacific avenue, occupied by Mrs. D. Gilmore. The fire department responded promptly, but on arriving at the scene found that the fire had made such headway as to leave no hope for the salvation of the building. They, therefore, largely directed their efforts to the protection of an adjoining two-story structure used as a boarding-house, and they succeeded in preventing the flames from e g it. Mrs. Gilmore's house which was valued at about $1000, was burned to the ground, and she lost furniture and effects valued at about $600. The fire had its origin in the ignition of a can of oil, which a little girl upset, the oil splashing into a red hot stove. The little girl escaped uninjured.
