A GOOD SCHEME.

St. Louis has an institution which is a step in the right direction, and which has long been needed in this country, called the Woman's Training School, where all useful as well as ornamental work is taught. On one day lessons are given in the cooking of broiled turkey chops, fried cauliflower, raspberry tuffe, and chocolate cake. The next day the lesson is in roast beef, baked Irish potatoes, rice custard, and white cake. This is followed by cooking lessons in broiled fish, with egg sauce, stewed cabbage, orange custard, and sponge cake. Lessons are also given in cutting goods for clothing, and sewing in ornamental needle work and the work known as Kensington. The institution is very flourishing. This is very valuable and commendable innovation, and it is hoped that the example will be imitated in other parts of the country, not but what women generally do more drudgery and real hard labor in the management of the house than they should do; but for the fact that such institutions would give them a better training and enable them to more practically solve the doubtful question of what are the duties of a housekeeper. The real, actual head of the family is the woman, and whenever our civilization reaches the point that she can so order her household in a manner that will do away with the thousand and one petty vexations, unknown to the sleighted head, then will homes be more pleasant and women generally show by their beauty and vigor and vivacity, that the tenors of housekeeping were more of a reality than the most pegged out wife or mother ever claimed for them.

WILSON'S CREEK.

A grand reunion of the surviving participants of both armies engaged in the battle of Wilson creek, will be held on the old battle ground, and at and near Springfield, Mo., on August 8, 9 and 10, 1883, under the head of "Blue and Gray." The invitation committee have issued the following circular, which will interest those surviving Texans who were under the command of McCulloch and Mackintosh on that memorable occasion:

On the 10th of August, 1861, was fought the battle of Wilson creek—known in the South as the battle of Oak Hills—in Greene county, Missouri, about 10 miles southwest of the city of Springfield. It was one of the most desperately fought and eventful battles of the late war between the North and the South. The Federals, who made the attack at the dawn of morning, were led by the heroic General N. Lyon, who was killed on the field. The Confederates were commanded by the famous General Ben. McCulloch, of Texas, with whom were allied the Missouri State Guard, under the command of General Sterling Price, and a force of Arkansas militia under the command of General N. B. Pearce.
In the persons of the men of both sides who participated in this battle there has ever centered special interest. And among its survivors many on both sides subsequently arose to great distinction and by their genius and prowess shed brilliant lustre on the uniforms they respectively wore.

Twenty-two years have passed since "Bloody Hill" became historic.

Not a few of those who survived the carnage of that day of glory are now known among their comrades only where—

"On Fame's eternal ca'ring ground Their silent tents are spread,"

Hundreds yet remain—

"Till the shadows little longer grow."

Recounting anon to the children then unborn the vivid memories of its deeds of heroism.

From these, both Union and Confederate, have recently sprung, as it were, spontaneous expressions of a desire to meet each other on the battle field on its anniversary of this year, and renew the old friendships of comrade and comrade, and former foes become acquainted as friends, and exchange such friendly and many courtesies as become brave soldiers and brethren of a common country.

To this suggestion the citizens of Greene county promptly responded, and arrangements have been made to hospitably receive and care for all who may honor us with their presence on such an occasion. Accordingly a grand reunion of all the survivors of that battle has been determined to be held at Springfield and on the late battle grounds on the 8th, 9th and 10th of August, 1883. All into whose hands this circular may fall, and their friends, are most cordially invited to be present.

Appropriate ceremonies and such proceedings as both the "blue and the gray" can hearty join in will occupy the time. Distinguished soldiers and civilians will be present.
A military camp will be formed for the reception of the veterans of both armies who fought at Wilson's creek. It is recommended that each survivor come provided with a blanket.

Springfield, with her now more than 13,000 generous and liberal-minded citizens invites you.

Come, and in this plain and soldier-like way, meet your old comrades. Come—meet your former foes, now your friends and fellow-countrymen, ready to fight for you.

Information of your intention to be present is respectfully solicited. Particularly so if you are a survivor of that battle, in order that we may make provisions for your reception and entertainment. The postoffice address of every survivor is especially desired at once.

Half rates on railroads leading to this city have been secured for all visitors.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS BOILED DOWN.

The deaths from cholera at Cairo, Egypt, on Monday were 67.

MRS. T. P. HOLLOWAY, of Burnett, died yesterday from the effects of a spider bite.

A FORT WORTH dispatch says that all opposition to the Sunday law has ceased, and City Attorney Swayne has triumphed over the saloon men.

MENERS HOMER & FARRIS, of Alabama, are the contractors for the Rusk prison, and it is estimated that the State will realize about $10,000 per annum on the prison.

AN AUSTIN dispatch says that planters from near Hearne and Calvert report boll and cotton worms. They are nearly two months earlier than usual, and fears of great injury to the cotton are entertained.

REPORTS from Palestine say that the strike in the International machine, blacksmith and boiler shops continues. The company will not yield to the demands, and it is the general opinion that the entire strike will come to an end in a few days.

A NEW ORLEANS dispatch from Joseph Jones, President of the Board of Health, of July 18, to Surgeon General Hamilton, Washington, says: "The steamship Butehire arrived in quarantine on July 17, with six cases of yellow fever on board. She has had 13 in all. The steamship Merchant arrived quarantine on July 16, with one death reported from yellow fever. Both are from Vera Cruz."

AN EL PASO dispatch says: A party just from Toyah, on the Texas Pacific railway, says that some cow boys got into a difficulty yesterday with the rangers stationed there, and began shooting. The rangers returned the fire, when two of the cow boys were killed and two of the rangers badly wounded. The cow boys left with the avowed intention of returning and clearing out the town. The rangers have sent for assistance, and serious trouble is apprehended.

A VERA CRUZ dispatch of the 18th instant, says the yellow fever is prevailing with unusual severity. There were 90 deaths in May, 261 in June, and 144 up to date in July. The number of new cases is diminishing, especially among the shipping, for want of material. The exceptional feature has been the prevalence of the disease among the shipping, usually exempt. Not counting the steamers at Alexandria, 7 per cent. of the American sailors died. The fever commenced in port among the Norwegian vessels.
These have suffered most. They are particularly dangerous, because most of them clear for our Gulf ports.

Examination of Teachers.

SAN ANTONIO, July 18, 1883.—Notice is hereby given that a public examination will be held beginning July 30, at 9 o'clock a. m., at Temple Beth El, and continuing two days, Monday and Tuesday, to examine all applicants for position in our public schools. At least 10 vacancies are to be filled, seven in the white schools and three in the colored. Teachers of ability and experience preferred. W. C. Hays, Superintendent of Schools.

One of These Days.

Corried in the window seat, Watching the leaves Whirling, while raindrops beat Down on the eaves, Dark seemed this world that day,
In two alone,
Changing to gold the gray,
Lived in our own,
Dreaming as childhood dreams,
Life must be good,
Whispering of noble themes Scarce understood,
Dreaming all love was true, Singer with praise, Smiling at all we'd do
"One of these days."

Here in the window seat Came you and I,
Whistling with his noiseless feet Time hurries by,
Here as in childhood days Used we to dream,
Careless of ailer—ays,
Love was our theme,
Sometimes I wondered, dear, How it should last,
But here in this moment, dear, Doubts were all past, Pain as you answer me,
"Love never strays, Heavier still we'll be
One of these days."

Now by the window seat Stand I alone,
Whistling the wind drives the sheet Making a moan, Both have been rained, both are made to Sometimes of old,
But while Hope's sands do run, Hearts find the gold,
Then when the night hand Called you away,
When in my clasped your hand I felt you lay, Painfully your whisper then Answered my gaze,
"Love, we shall meet again One of these days."

Old shoes.
How much a man is like old shoes?
For instance: Both a soul may lose; Both have been rained, both are made tight By outsoles; both get left and right; Both need a mate to be complete,
And both are made to go on feet.
They both need lacing, oft are soiled,
And both in time turn all to mould.
With shoes the last is first, with men The first shall be the last; and when The shoes wear out they're mounted new;
When men wear out they're men—dead too.
They both are trod upon, and both Will tread on others, nothing too.
Both have their ties and both untie.
When polished in the world to shine;
And both get out— and what if you choose To be a man or be his shoes?
