LIGHT FLASHES.

What the Repurser Learns on Their Tour Through the City.

—City Council meets this afternoon.

—The San Antonio Gun club meeting to-night.

—Mr. E. C. Tatum was fined $5 this morning.

—Trade is improving since the cold, rainy weather started for the North.

—Greatest telescopes are at a premium in consequence of to-night's show.

—Clive Shook's case for beating and striking a colored boy was dismissed.

—A. Robinson, for not complying with the sanitary ordinance will be cited to-morrow.

—Maria Estela Ochoa, aged three days, died on the 17th of umbilical hemorrhage.

—The County Commissioners' court has adjourned till the second Monday in January.

—Found festival to-night at the Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church on Avenue C.

—All those not able to pay for vaccination should call at the City Physician's office, who will operate free.

—Street car tracks are being laid on East Commerce street. This line will soon be in running order.

—Camp yards and stable men report that the demand for mules and horses is largely in excess of the supply.

—In the case of Montgomery vs. Groveslock, in the District court, the suit was dismissed for want of prosecution.

—The District court this morning divorced Mrs. Ella Simpson Langstaff from W. H. Langstaff on the ground of desertion.

—Members of the various churches have already begun laying in a supply of evergreens for decorating their churches on Christmas.

—A. D. Holmes, aged 63, died this morning of heart disease. His remains will be shipped to Moore's Hill, on the International, by Sherman.

—It is rumored that General R. S. Mackenzie of this department will on Tuesday next be married to Mrs. Sharpe, daughter of Mrs. F. P. Tanstall.

—The condition of the gutters on West Commerce street, near the International depot, should cause the Street Commissioner to inspect and ponder.

—F. Foster, a colored man, was arrested last evening and jailed in the county prison, charged with confiscating a horse somewhere out near the Post Oaks.

—All ladies interested in Temple Beth El Sabbath school are requested to meet in the vestry rooms of the Temple on to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock.

—The County Clerk has issued licenses to Joseph Clarkson Hopwood and Miss Mary Keller also to Lewis Sneeds (colored) and Miss Mary Thompson (colored).

—The case of Dan Weber, careless driving, was continued. In the second case, for being drunk and down, a jury was asked for and granted. The case is to be tried to-morrow.

—Alderman Gallagher declines re-election. This is to be regretted, since he has proved himself, during his term, a progressive, vigilant and painstaking friend of the city's interests.

—Two thousand people of San Antonio are on the anxious seat, pondering over what the Louisiana lottery has in store for them in the grand extraordinary drawing, which takes place to-day.

—There will be a meeting this evening of Alamo gun club at the store of F. Olanich & Co., in order to make arrangements for a prize contest at the San Pedro springs on Christmas.

—I. C. Coburn, a fireman on the Sunset route, fell from his engine on Sunday afternoon, between Luling and Harwood, receiving injuries which are probably fatal. He is now at the Railroad hospital at Columbus.

—The skating rink was well patronized yesterday. We would suggest to the authorities that a rope along the walls would be good for beginners. It is rumored that a new skating rink is to be built on a large scale by a man named Baker.

—The complaint of dull times during the approach of the holidays comes from the short sighted ones who don't advertise. These generally expect to have a corpus their customers with a tin sign and a cheap "dodger."

—Mushbacks for aldermanic honors must, at the coming election, be retired like a bug in amber so that generations hence may wonder how in the mischief they ever got in there and how considerate of their constituents to never let them out.

—Honorable George Paschal telegraphs that the steamer will leave for Brownsville on Thursday. This vessel will carry to the United States court that happy trinity of office holders, Judge Turner, Clerk Duval Beall and blunt Jack Evans. But they will scarcely bank together.

—Word has been received here of the death of the aged father of Peter Freer, at Rome, New York. It was a satisfaction, though a mournful one, for his son to be present in his last moments, he arriving there a day before his father's demise. Mr. Freer will return at the close of the week.

Siddons' Female Minstrel.

The Siddons Female Minstrel troupe were delecting of the masses, and therefore crowded the Park theatre last evening, for the magnificent and extraordinary of the entertainment was somewhat surprising. The curtain was rung up on a novel first part setting, which was a grand success. The troupe consisted of well-dressed young women, with the exception of Arnold and West on the ends, the air above being full of "swinging beauty." The songs and songs were true, the rendering of "The Little Dove," "The Little Dove," being particularly good. The troupe which followed presented the Alton Sisters in songs and recitations. Next was a comedy, "The Minstrel's Daughter," a sextette of stately dressed girls, who sang "The Horse That Won the Race To-day," and who recited some clever stanzas. Billy Arnold in his double tambourine song, Henry Hottel in his comic songs, the double quartet of auto-comics, C. H. Manning and Lanning, also in sketch. The stage struck, the Minstrel's Girl and Marks in a vast pocket edition of "Silence and Fun," and Professor Kalkbrenner, the violinist. Then followed a grand finale, "The Maid Queen," the features of which were the combat, drill and march and the cleverness of Miss Siddons, who is a very versatile performer.
