The People's ticket finds favor with all the people, and will establish the ring people greatly.

The Ohio election will take place one week from to-day, and settle the question of who will be the next President.

The comments of the neighboring papers regarding the political situation is not complimentary to the Turner hall ticket.

The Dallas Times admits that many of the Irish citizens of that town intend to support Mr. Blaine, and the Irish Blaine and Logan club is daily receiving additions to its membership.

The Bios (N. Y.) Citizen contains the following statement at the head of its columns: "The entire body-master of this paper was composed by a type-setting machine, and the paper was printed by electricity. It is the first newspaper on earth to establish this precedent."

Has the Austin Capital any information regarding Mr. Hendrick's movements other than the Associated Press reports? If it has, and is receiving any enthusiastic ovations from the people as he flickers around in Henderson and Ohio, it will confer a favor by giving the full particulars.

Is Governor HASKIN and Governor Jones and Governor Norton could be carried some where within the reach of all the people and made to confess their true sentiments on the free grass question, which is now agitating the northwest part of the State, it would simplify matters wonderfully, and give the tired voter a chance for his white ally.

AMONG THE TURNER hall convention the Breckenridge banner is truly observed. "A convention is by no means infallible." No industry especially the Democratic Turner hall convention of this year, which is inevitable in its purpose, however, and put up the ticket decided upon weeks ago, against any and all possible protests, but the ticket will not be elected.

The Austin Statesman says: "Look out for a revival of the railway business in Texas. The New York, Texas and Mexican railway is soon to be extended to Brownsville, and thence into Mexico. Another Texas road, not a thousand miles from Austin, is going into extensive construction. That's what! and that other road will be the San Antonio and Aransas Pass railway."

The Henders Bugle says: "It is a fact too little taken note of that the legislation of the past few years has been forcing the industries sleep men to invest more than their profits in land and in many cases to mortgage their profits for some years to come. Consequently these stringent times makes it excessively stringent to them. But one over this difficulty the sleep men will be the best situated class of men in West Texas, but no thanks to the foolish and one-sided legislation all the same."

The following are the Electors on the National Prohibition ticket in Texas: For the State at Large—Hon. W. K. Roman, of Caldwell; Captain A. Wash-art, of Dallas. First District—Charles Culmore, of Houston. Second District—Third District—W. M. Allen, of Harrison. Fourth District—Dr. J. L. Burton, of Lamar. Fifth District—Dr. E. K. Winn, of Sherman. Sixth District—Judge E. Hovenkamp, of Fort Worth. Seventh District—Eighth District—Hon. William Holmes, of Lee. Ninth District—Dr. William Carey Crans, of Independence. Tenth District—Dr. C. E. King, of Lampasas. Eleventh District—Elder Randolph Clark, of Hood.

The Philadelphia Times, Independent Democrat, in answer to a correspondent who wants to know whether it is within the range of possibility that either Cleveland or Blaine can be elected without the vote of New York, says: "We answer that it is quite possible but not reasonably probable that the successful candidate will be elected without New York. It is much more probable that New York will be the battle ground, and that the election will be decided by the vote of the State of New York. Assuming that Ohio and West Virginia will vote their National party preferences in October—that is Ohio Republican and West Virginia Democrat—the Presidential battle will undoubtedly center in New York, and the candidate who carries that State will be about certain of an election."

MR. BLAINE, in his recent speech at Rochester, N. Y. among other things, said of the Republican party: "It embodies in its creed four distinct and important doctrines: First, peace with the whole world. Second, commercial expansion in every practicable direction. Third, the encouragement of every form of American industry. Fourth, protection of every citizen, native or naturalized, at home or abroad. Under these policies the Republican party strives to conduct the government. Under these principles the Republican party presents itself to the judgment of the American people. On these principles we recognize or on these we are conquered. I thank you gentlemen; I thank you from the bottom of my heart, for whatever in this splendid oration is personal to myself, but I ask your attention with especial emphasis to the importance of the propositions to which I have so briefly adverted."

It is not true for San Antonio's cosmopolitan character, and the true city independence, the State press would be short of subjects. Regarding the action of the colored citizens the other day, the Laredo Times says: "The colored people of San Antonio have held a convention, and it only remains now for the women to assemble and endorse the bill; and the Chinese to convene and resolve 'cheap dinner against Frenches,' to complete the olla podrida of a community of 50,000—it is supposed the local journals will not kick against figures, which never lie, divided, and subdivided, by every political shade of opinion, based on color, nationality, sex and previous condition known among men. Had's half were is undoubtedly a strong feature of Fort Worth, and in the Texas wonder may lead the van; but in her unique form of calm, deliberative vagaries, San Antonio astraddle of the creek, can double discount the city of the White Elephant three hundred and sixty-five days in the year."

That bogus address issued by the National Democratic committee is a very peculiar document and shows to what straight the grand old party is put to accomplish its ends. After assigning Mr. Blaine and the Republican party generally, it says: "Money is needed to do this honest work; your committee refusing to adopt the methods by which the Republican party fills its treasury calls upon all good citizens for the aid which it receives. No contribution will be accounted too small." It then concludes with this remarkable statement: "Our opponents cannot be saved from disaster by forcing their unwilling candidate to speak to assemblies of the people. The man who wrote the Fisher letters will never be the choice of the people for the Presidency of the United States." After the 4th of November this Democratic committee will find out what an enormous mistake it has made, and its appeal alone to the prejudices of the people on the Fisher letters after Mr. Blaine had been vindicated by a Congressional committee and by the Senate of the United States when it confirmed his nomination as Secretary of State, and received at that time the votes alike of Democrats and Republicans, shows just how bad off they are and how hopeless is the candidacy of Mr. Cleveland.

REVEREND HAYES, New York's great broker, in an interview with a Washington correspondent on Thursday, in answer to the question "what is there in the report that Wall street men are forming Cleveland clubs?" replied, "Just this I know them all, and you could not trust them with a five dollar bill unless it was marked. There are no solid business men among them." Will Cleveland carry New York? "Oh, no; he cannot; and Cleveland cannot be elected without New York. The State will give Blaine a majority. I say this without regard to performance, and draw my conclusions only as a business man. "Is there any money betting on Cleveland carrying New York?" "Not a dollar that I know of. New York will go for Blaine for two reasons. First, there is a feeling among business men that there should be no change in the administration. Secondly, the laborers will not support a man or party that will not protect their interests. There will, however, in spite of anything, be two panics soon—one in real estate, the other in labor. There will be an evening up and an evening down, in which both interests will reach their honest level. The end is not quite yet."

The bloody shirt waving is not altogether confined at the North and to Northern papers. The following, from the Houston Journal, is a mild attempt of that line that would do credit to any snapper. The Journal says: "That a white Southerner should be a Republican is an unnatural and unmanly act it would be for him to cultivate the friendship of those who have stolen his property, burnt his houses, proscribed his people and rejoice to call him a traitor and a rebel! It is no use to chafe long about loyalty and the Union. It was the Republicans who began the war of hate, who carried it on with unrelenting, fiendishness, and who, when the bloody scenes were over, strove by every inhuman art to perpetuate the hatred and to make the strife eternal. It was the Republicans who stole our slaves and never paid one cent for the high-handed robbery. It was the Republicans who placed the franchise in the hands of the negro race, before they could read or write. It is the Republicans who are still endeavoring to reduce the Southern people to the level of a civilization low enough to accommodate a race that is yet struggling with the superstitions and ignorance of recent barbarism. And it is because we say that an true son of the South cannot be a Republican without disgracing himself, must we be brought to the bar of Radical opinion and be branded as the loyal and bigoted? Away with such cheap impudences! It is contempt for the Southern man to be chivalric in his loyalty and devoted to the flag of his country and yet to detest from the bottom of his soul the principles of that black Republicanism that has cast a blight upon our civilization and has filled the country with wailing families and unprincipled pliancy."

ANOTHER REMARKABLE CURE. An Indisposed Man, taken with Paralysis—Cured by Dr. Weathers.

To Whom It May Concern: SAN ANTONIO, September 8, 1884. We the undersigned citizens of San Antonio subscribe to the fact that we know a man by the name of Burnett, from Junction City, Kinball county, Texas, who came here as an invalid, perfectly helpless, having been confined to his bed for months and could not move about except when lifted from his bed by family and friends, and then with much suffering. We know this patient to have been treated by Dr. Weathers of this city, under whose care he remained, until he left well and walking. [Signed: Mrs. A. E. Weathers, Mr. A. J. Martin, Mrs. A. J. Martin, Hugh Johnson, Mrs. J. A. Hughes, Mr. J. L. Hearn, Miss Josie F. Hearn, J. J. Chamberlain.]
