SUMMIT FEMALE INSTITUTE.

THIS Institution is located at Summit, Miss., a station on the New Orleans, Jackson and Great Northern Railroad, in a region of pine country remarkable for its healthfulness.

The course of instruction is thorough and solid—pupils being taught to think for themselves—to use the knowledge they acquire.

School discipline is kind, yet firm—prompt obedience being scrupulously exacted of each girl, large or small.

The perfect satisfaction of all who patronized the school the past year, with the prospect of leaving the buildings &c., for a term of years, has induced me to take entire charge of the Institution the ensuing academic year, commencing the 1st Monday in October.

To House-Keepers. STEWART'S COOKING STOVE.

Stewart's Large Oven, SUMMER AND WINTER COOKING STOVE. BEFORE offering this superior Cooking Stove for sale in this market, the subscriber thoroughly tested its capacity, he having had one in use more than one year before he offered them for sale.

Having satisfied himself that the STEWART IMPROVED NEWLY PATENTED COOKING STOVE was superior in every respect—that it would bake to perfection; broil, fry, stew and roast better, quicker and with one-half of the labor required with any other cooking apparatus yet invented, to say nothing about the great saving of fuel—only one quarter of the fuel being required that is used with other stoves—and having satisfied himself, by experimenting and by applying extraordinary degrees of heat, that the stove would last four times longer than any other stove; then I offered them for sale, under a full guarantee to perform as recommended, no price being required until the parties purchasing were satisfied.

On these terms I have sold over 500 of them since the 1st of October last. They have given universal satisfaction; for proof, the sales are regularly increasing.

So well satisfied am I that the Stewart Stove cannot be superseded or equaled—until the new patents expire, which will be in 1869—that I expect every good housekeeper in Louisiana and Mississippi will adopt them, and with a view of meeting the demand I have made arrangements with the patentee and manufacturer for a supply of Five Thousand of them.

If there are any parties that have them in use that do not realize the benefits to the extent I have set forth in my advertisements and recommendations, it would afford me pleasure to explain the working of this extraordinary Cooking Stove to those residing in the country. It not being convenient for them to call, I would refer them to article 9th, on page tenth, in the book of directions for keeping fire over night and for saving of fuel at other times.

This stove is newly patented; the other important new patent is that of a constant flow of cold air on to the outside of the fire box. This works itself without any movement of dampers or valves, and is constant when the fire box is at all heated. It becomes heated air and passes into the oven and heats that, rises to the top of the stove to assist the cooking there, and by an appropriate use of the top reflector it is used over again, making this constant flow of cold air available three times.

In all other cooking stoves and ranges the heat so generated is wasted and flows into the room to damage the operator. The above described flues, valves and cold air receivers are newly patented; no other stove or range can have these important improvements until Mr. Stewart's patent expires.

I desire that parties that have purchased should work it up to its capacity, so as to realize all of the benefits intended by the inventor and patentee. SAMUEL LOCKE, Sole Agent for the sale of the Stewart's New Patent Large Oven Summer and Winter Cooking Stove for Louisiana and Mississippi. April 14, 1859.—6m.

What I Claim For THE STEWART'S STOVE. 1. That Cooking for a family can be done with one-fourth part of the fuel that is required by any other cooking stove, and with one-eighth part required with a cooking range.

2. That the cooking and baking can be done better and in less time than it can be done with any other utensil.

3. That the cooking and baking can be kept nearly at the same temperature as any other room in the house, so that it is a pleasure for any lady to superintend her cooking department.

All of the above is claimed and guaranteed, provided the directions are observed. SAMUEL LOCKE, Nos. 8, 9, and 10 Front Levee, near the Custom-house. Sole agent for the sale of the celebrated Stewart's summer and winter cooking stove for Louisiana and Mississippi. April 14, 1859.—6m.
