The flour that gives unvarying satisfaction is Peach Blossom. It is the best by test. It took the gold medal, the highest prize awarded to any flour, at the great St. Louis exposition. When some one tells you that they have just as good flour as Peach Blossom it is because they can't get Peach Blossom or want to make a larger profit than Peach Blossom bears. Your money back if it isn't the best. For sale by The Moore Co.

The Curtiss Comedy Co.
This company will show here Sunday night. They will close a weeks successful engagement at Wenatchee to-morrow night. The Daily World of that city had the following to say of their performance on Tuesday night: "To use a slang phrase, the Chas Curtiss Comedy Co. is making good at the Wenatchee Theater. The play last night, 'A Country Girl' was a treat from the raising of the curtain on the first act to the last line in the piece. Every member of the company was on his or her mettle to please, and if applause laughter and close attention was a criterion to go by they certainly did. Miss Leota Howard as the country girl again demonstrated her ability as a splendid actress. Chas. Mortimer as the husband who discovered he did love his wife was all that could be desired, Wheeler Lohman, Miss Barcus and Miss Asthor, played their roles in an excellent manner. Mr. A. C. Winn the Comedian, made a hit not only as the Professor, but in his Jew specialties. Tonight the great Comedy Drama 'The Gambler's Wife' will be the bill."

Mr. W. E. Hardy, of Indiana, an old time printer and all-around newspaper man, arrived in Leavenworth last week on a visit to the family of his daughter, Mrs. J. A. LeRue, coming from Chicago on the Oriental Limited. Mr. H., who is in his seventy-sixth year, learned the printers trade in Louisville, Ky. from 1848 to 1852. In 1852 he was foreman on a daily paper published in Alton, Ill. At that time all work, newspaper and job work was done on an old Washington hand press. and, he says, they did fine work, too. He has seen the development of the printing business from the old time hand presses to the great perfecting power presses of the present day. He has been editor and proprietor of many papers in different states and served four years in the war of the rebellion. For a man of his years he is yet quite active.

The family of Petrel Davis is now installed in their new home very much to the satisfaction of Mr. Davis, who has been separated from his family most of the time for the past three years, they living in Seattle while he remained here most of the time superintending the erection of the big mill of which he is general manager.

Messrs. J. B. Adams and F. A. Losekamp have decided to put in a tile sewer to connect their residences at the foot of Fourth street. Mr. Losekamp has let the contract for considerable improvements to his residence property. He will build an addition, put in bath and toilet rooms and build a new fence. Mr. Adams will soon commence the erection of a handsome residence on the site of his old one.

It is currently reported that Emil Frank will put a brick building on the lot adjoining the Losekamp block 30x100, two stories high. His Meat Market covers the building site at present. He has long felt the want of more room for his growing business and now that he can save half the cost of the partition wall he has made up his mind to build.

THE LOSEKAMP BLOCK
Contract Let to Reed & Moon on Monday for Best Building Between Seattle and Spokane.

The contract for the Losekamp brick block was let to Messrs. Reed & Moon, local contractors. The contract price will approximate $15,000. The building is 60x100, two stories high with a tower on the corner. The ground floor will have two store rooms. The one on the corner will be 26x72, and the other 34x100 with an entrance on both streets.

The upper floor will be divided into 26 rooms, in addition to which are two toilet rooms, bath rooms and two halls. It will have a front and rear stairway. Will be heated throughout with hot air and will have every modern convenience.

A cement sidewalk ten feet wide will be laid in front of the building. Mr. Losekamp seems to take more pride in the tower than anything else and says if the building is completed by the Fourth of July he will celebrate the event by inviting the boys to help him shoot fire crackers from the tower. The block will be named after Mr. Losekamp's wife, who it will be remembered died four years ago. It will be called Charlotte Block, F. A. Losekamp builder, in gold letters, over the main entrance.

Mr. Losekamp enjoys the distinction of being Leavenworth's pioneer merchant, coming here before the railroad was completed. He has been in the general mercantile line all the time and has accumulated considerable of this world's goods. He is an all around good fellow and numbers his friends by the hundreds.

Messrs. Fox and Hartman have the contract to furnish the brick. The work of moving the old store building will commence either Saturday or Monday. The new building, the upper story of which is designed for a hotel is to be completed by August 1st.

Warning.
It has come to us pretty straight that Al Pesch has been trying to sell our new basement as a mining claim, and we hereby warn the public against buying any stock in said claim for the reason that it is worthless for any other purpose than that of a basement, and we can prove beyond doubt that Pesch salted one corner of the basement for the purpose of selling same. Expert miners did not get a color where Pesch got a pan of the yellow stuff. Some of his friends will probably be surprised at this, but what can be expected of a man that will tie a poor, hungry coyote up in the back yard so he can be sure of killing it with a rifle; or that will shoot a harmless little chipmunk from the top rail of a fence with a big shot gun loaded with double B's; or a man that will take a big T. bone steak with him on a two hours hunting trip. We might add other fallings. R. T. King.

BOXING TOURNAMENT

Kid Raymond Wins Over Dixon in Seventh Round—Some Good Amateur Bouts.

The boxing tournament which was advertised to come off last Saturday, March 22, in the rooms of the Leavenworth Athletic Club was fairly well attended. Patrons of Athletic sport will not soon have another opportunity to again witness as good a boxing match.

The first amateur event, between Sazo Hatanaka and Mysterious Billy Smith, was called at 9 o'clock sharp. This was a four round contest to a decision. Chester Lavere acting as referee, called it.

The second amateur event was between Bob Smith, a very clever amateur athlete, and young Cahill. This bout also resulted in a draw, which met with the approval of the audience. Both boys did some neat work and showed the effect of a little training.

The third event, between Guy Navarre and Kid Terrie, two of the most promising members of the club, proved to be swift, Navarre gaining the decision on points, through the fact that he outweighed his opponent, was taken note of by the audience. Still he showed to be the more clever of the two.

The fourth event, between Bill Fessenden and Young Vest, partook a bit of the professional bout. Both young men were unusually clever and gave and took some pretty stiff blows. Fessenden being somewhat of an old hand with the gloves, had the best of the contest, while Vest showed that he could take his medicine like a thoroughbred. The decision was given to Fessenden.

The fifth and last event was a ten round go between Kid Raymond and Young Dixon. This was the star event of the evening and was well worth seeing.

Dixon seemed to have the best of it in the first three rounds, whether as a result of Raymond trying to get his gait or because he had not warmed up, the reporter does not pretend to know.

In the fourth round both men came to the center promptly and exchanged some stiff blows, Raymond being the aggressor and putting Dixon over the ropes with a short arm hook to the jaw.

In the fifth round Raymond was the aggressor and worried Dixon with left hand jabs to the jaw.

In the sixth round Raymond went after his opponent from the start and sent him to the floor twice before the gong sounded.

Seventh round Raymond continued jabbing Dixon with straight lefts flooring him with a right cross. Dixon was game and came to the scratch only to be sent to dreamland with a left hay-maker and was counted out.

As referee Mr. Lavere gave entire satisfaction. All his decisions were declared fair and right by those who pretend to be familiar with the rules.

Mr. Raymond announced that he would not arrange for any more professional boxing matches but would have an amateur tournament on the 12th and 25th of each month in the future, the price of admission to which will be fifty cents.

Mr. Raymond is arranging for a track meet for the Fourth of July with Harrington or Spokane. He has promising athletes and expects Leavenworth to make a good showing.

Miss Kelly's Recital.
Miss Kelly and her pupils faced a very large audience in the opera house last Saturday night. The program was quite lengthy and no apology was necessary for changing the program or omitting any part of it. Everything on the bills was played.

The pupils showed off to a very good advantage and showed the training Miss Kelly had given them. To mention any particular part of the program and not mention all would be a gross injustice and want of space forbids mentioning each particular performer. We can not, however, omit mentioning the two little Abbott tots, who elicited much applause and were called back.

At the close of the recital Miss Kelly's pupils presented her with bouquets, and baskets of hot house flowers that had been sent over from Seattle for the occasion.

Death of Wm. McCullough.
Wm. Thornton, who came here from Westhope, N. D., in February last, tells us of the death of Wm. McCullough, at the home of his mother, in San Francisco, March 6th. Mr. McCullough, who was 20 years old at the time of his death, came here with Mr. Thornton and spent three weeks in Leavenworth. He was a most exemplary young man and made a friend of everyone with whom he came in contact. He had been in poor health for sometime. Besides a mother and two sisters he had a large circle of admiring friends who mourn his loss.

Church Services.
Episcopal Church—Regular Sunday night services will be held in Fraternal Hall on April 1st. Rev. T. M. Hilton, pastor.
