Beginning the first of this week the powers that dish out the weather to us have been giving us an improved article. Just now it is all the most exacting could hope for and we are all satisfied.

Wm. Kaysen and Frank Bailey, two mechanics who have spent much time here the past two summers returned within the past few days and hope that the activity in the building line will give them employment for the next eight months. Mr. Bailey's wife will join her husband the last of this week.

No women will act as jurors at the term of Chelan county superior court beginning April 15. Fifteen fair residents of the county were drawn on the panel, but when the venire was served on them they stated their desire to take advantage of the law that permits them to decline service. Five men who were on the venire have left the county, so of the fifty-two drawn on the panel only thirty-two will report for duty.
