Price of Meat Will Go Higher

Gentlemen of the Northwest will continue to receive a big price for their cattle. The removal of the duty on meat is not going to reduce the cost to the consumer according to Dr. A. D. Melvin, Chief of the Bureau of Animal Industry. He has just returned from a trip to South America. He says the American beef trust has secured control of the foreign meat supply including that of Australia and Argentina, and that the foreign meat will not come to the United States at a decreased cost. It will be shipped by the trust to other countries hence will not come in competition with American beef. Dr. Melvin says there is no hope at present for a reduction in our meat cost. On the contrary, he expects to see it increase. The cattle of the United States are diminishing each year while our population is on the increase. If the view of Dr. Melvin is correct and he is regarded as an authority all the cattle dealers of the Northwest have to do is to sit back and fix the price for their cattle and the butcher will have to pay his price or go without meat.

Saved His Foot

H. D. Ely, of Bantam, O., suffered from horrible ulcer on his foot for four years. Doctor advised amputation, but he refused and reluctantly tried Bucklen's Arnica Salve as a last resort. He then wrote: "I used your salve and my foot was soon completely cured." Best remedy for burns, cuts, bruises and eczema. Get a box today. Only 25c. All druggists or by mail. H. E. Bucklen & Co., Philadelphia or St. Louis.

Big Sale of Red Cross Seals

While definite results cannot yet be announced the indications are that the record for the number of Red Cross seals sold in Washington last year has been surpassed. Walla Walla, Pasco, Kennewick, Spokane, Mt. Vernon, Tacoma, Vancouver and Raymond agents reordered by wire and worked hard to dispose of their extra allotments. The fight against tuberculosis is of vital importance to every resident in the state.

FARMERS', RANCHERS' and FRUIT GROWERS' COLUMN

Observations of the development of white leghorn pullets at the poultry plant of the Washington Experiment Station, reveal certain suggestive facts relative to the rate at which the birds reach maturity and begin to lay. Leghorns that were hatched in March and April, not forced, culled, and allowed to come in naturally, produced from ten to twenty five per cent layers in October. By November, twenty-five to thirty-three per cent of them were laying. In December the layers ran from the latter percentage to fifty per cent. Pullets crowded in the latter part of February and March, slumped in egg production in May. It was extremely difficult to get them to laying again for the summer. An abundance of green stuff fed in June and July helped along egg production in August.

The majority of the hens that continued to lay thru July, August, and into September had been hatched early the preceding year, the obvious reason being that the early hatched chickens developed better, and came into laying in a more vigorous condition than did the late hatchers.

The heavy breeds laid fewer eggs during the setting and hatching season than did the leghorns, being more "broody" than the leghorns, and their laying being interrupted by trying to set. However, in late October, and even into November, many of the heavy birds had come into vigorous laying, whereas the leghorns that had been laying so vigorously during the summer quit laying.

1914 WHEAT ACREAGE

Present Conditions Indicate a Record Breaking Yield of Wheat in 1914

Hyman H. Cohen, the wheat expert, says: "The promise for the 1914 crop of winter wheat in Oregon, Idaho and Washington, is by long odds the best in the history of the industry. Not only has there been a very heavy increase in the acreage sown to fall grain but the yield per acre promised at this time is beyond all previous years. The present crop can safely be considered perfect from every standpoint, and even after deducting the usual loss during the growing season, the 1914 crop will be a record breaker."

Washington leads with an increase of 214,000 acres of winter wheat.

	Crop Average.
	1914	1913
Oregon	756,000	675,000
Washington	1,163,000	949,000
Inaho	385,000	300,000

Total acreage 2,104,000 1,924,000

Seattle will not hold the celebration which has been planned for next year, it being decided to wait until 1915 when the Atlantic fleet will be on the Pacific coast following completion of the Panama canal.

BIG PROFIT IN CATTLE

On Investment of $6000 Yakima Man Realized $12,000. Receives $31,000 for 66 Head of Holsteins

H. C. Davis, president of the Union bank of Granger, Wash., was in Spokane Monday on business and incidentally related to W. D. Vincent, cashier of the Old National Bank, his recent experiences in the live stock industry. Mr. Davis specializes in Holsteins.

His first investments in cattle amounted to $6000, and on that investment he sold cattle that brought him $12,000. In addition to these, he recently sold 66 head for the record price of $31,000, which constitutes the highest average, a little better than $469.69 per animal, ever received in the country for thoroughbred holsteins.

"The important factor to the people of the Inland Empire in this sale is not the price received," said Mr. Vincent yesterday, "but the fact that the 32 of the 66 blooded animals were bought by stock raisers in the Yakima valley alone and will be kept in the valley to extend the stock industry of that section. The growth of the industry in the Inland empire is wonderful the last few years and the propagation of live stock is vastly more important than alfalfa because the latter is useless if there are no cattle to eat it."

More than two billion board feet of timber, with a value of 4 1/2 million dollars on the stump, was sold by the forest service last year, according to the report of Henry S. Grayes, forester, published to-day. This is an increase of 167 per cent over the sales of the preceding year. The timber sold was largely for future cutting under contracts that will run for a number of years. The actual cut was a little less than 500 million board feet, an increase of 15 per cent over 1912. Still larger sales are in prospect.

Do Not Drink Is Our Advice

If you can't get along entirely without it, then our advice is use the best and purest. It is the least harmful at least.

We also advise you not to use tobacco. If you can not get along without either of these articles then, our advice is, use the best that can be had, and under no circumstances indulge your appetite to excess. To eat too much is injurious likewise. Do not eat too much.

Our wines and liquors, being pure and wholesome, are very excellent for cooking purposes.

Than our cigars, none are better.

Money for the States

Under existing law, 25 per cent of the gross receipts from the forests is paid over to the states by the federal government for the benefit of county schools and roads. An additional 10 per cent is expended in building roads and trails for the benefit of the public. About $587,000 will be available for the states during the current year from last year's receipts, besides $235,000 provided for in the road fund. Altogether, including special funds to Arizona and New Mexico, the national forests provided nearly $867,000 to be expended for the benefit of the states in which they are situated.

Because of the lack of work about 350 men have been laid off at the railroad shops at Tacoma, and the superintendent says that they may not be taken back until after the first.
