

GOOD ROADS MEETING. MASSIE FOR ROAD OVERSEER

Meeting Monday Night Heard Report of County Good Roads Meeting

The good roads association met in the old commercial club rooms Monday evening and heard a detailed report of the action of the county good roads association held in Wenatchee last week. Mr. J. B. Adams was the only representative from Leavenworth at the county meeting and in his report of the action there taken he said. It was practically agreed between the good roads association and the county commissioners to keep up the division of the county into small road districts as arranged the past year, but not make the divisions permanent at this time. Mr. Adams reported that the commissioners had agreed to a change in the Lake Wenatchee road by which the switch-back on Beaver creek hill would be avoided, which was not only dangerous, but on account of its location on a north hill side is almost impassible in the early spring, when the snow is melting. It is proposed to open a road from the Chumstick into the Wenatchee river through what is known as Brender canyon, leaving the Chumstick Valley at the Brender school house, eight miles from Leavenworth and then follow the south hillside at an easy grade and enter the old road again near the Burgess place. The divide by the Brender canyon route is from 150 to 200 feet lower than the Beaver creek hill and the road shorter. To meet the cost of opening this road, Mr. Adams says, an arrangement was entered into between Wenatchee lake, Merritt and Leavenworth road districts to defray the expense, the assessing for the amount is to be left with the county commissioners. It is understood that this work will begin very soon.

By building about two miles of road, says Mr. Adams, it is possible to shorten the Wenatchee lake road fully five miles and put the road on better ground. This can be done by crossing the Wenatchee river on the Wenatchee Park bridge, at the Burgess place, and following the south side of the river, and connecting this road with what is known as the Nason creek road.

The meeting recommended J. C. Massie to the county commissioners for appointment as road overseer.

The following good roads committee was appointed: J. B. Adams, L. F. Brender, F. S. Jacobsen, L. F. Speidel and Martin Christensen.

H. E. Carr and F. S. Jacobsen were re-elected as president and secretary of the Leavenworth good roads association.

State News Items

That the larger postoffices, at least, of the country are to be put on the highest possible basis of efficiency and economy is evidenced by the work of Postmaster General Bursleson's efficiency committee of Seattle during the past four weeks, which resulted in the reduction in rank of a number of officials who held responsible positions, the promotion of several men and the transfer of others to places for which they were better adapted. Under civil service rules these changes could not have been effected by the local postmasters. This committee has visited all the large postal centers of the Coast and the post office department expects that the public will soon feel the effects of improvements the committee has made.

Recently State pure food officials condemned a large quantity of bad meat offered for sale in Seattle and other parts of the State and arrested those who were offering it for sale. Much to the surprise of the State officials, including Governor Lister, Government meat inspectors in Seattle went on the stand and testified in favor of those arrested, contending that the condemned meat was not as bad as claimed. It is reported that Governor Lister and other state officials complained to the United States Department of Animal Industry in charge of the Seattle inspectors and now the report is being generally circulated that the government officials in Washington have endorsed the action of the inspectors. In view of the fact that the meat condemned by the State inspectors came from the packing houses of the meat trust the question which suggests itself is whether the Bureau of Animal Industry is in control of the meat trust?

To aid the State Board of Health in its newly inaugurated campaign to secure an exact and complete record of vital statistics, particularly with regards to births, the women's clubs all over the State have offered to co-operate with the board to check up on all births within their respective districts. State Health Commissioner Eugene R. Kelley has already put into effect the new system of vital statistics registration provided for in an amendment to the present law at the last session of the legislature. The registrars have been appointed and their jurisdiction defined. But to be assured that the records are exact, the women of the State will check up the births in each community and lend every possible assistance to the Board of Health. The complete registration of all births and deaths is of the utmost importance in a hundred ways, to the community as well as to the individual. It will futher the ends of justice and prevent much expensive litigation.

SAILOR EVANGELIST HOLDS BIG REVIVAL SERVICES

J. Dimmock Taylor, Nightly Tells of His Travels Thru the Holy Land and Other Interesting Places

One of the most interesting speakers who has visited this city in several months is J. Dimmock Taylor, probably better known as the Sailor Evangelist, who this week is holding services at the Congregational church. Large crowds have turned out every night this week to hear Mr Taylor talk and he is said to be a very able preacher. He expects to remain in this city next week and probably longer.

The Evangelist is one who has been thru the ups and downs of life and relates his experiences in a most pleasing manner.

For twenty years or more he followed the life of a sailor and during that time visited nearly every country on the Globe. A few years back he made a trip to the Holy Land and there spent several months visiting the different points of interest. He is well versed on the teachings of the bible and during his stay here, he will disclose facts not generally known.

His subject for next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock will be, "Christ before Pilate" or the trial of the innocent one. In the afternoon at 3 o'clock, "A Patched Up Christian" and in the evening at 7:30, "The Fulfillment of Prophecy." All are cordially invited to turn out to these meetings.

Geo. Kleine's "The Last Days of Pompeii"

Mr. George Kleine, whose name has become a household word all over this country since he first launched his marvelous photo-drama production of "Quo Vadis," is also sponsor for the beautiful six part photo-drama, "The Last Days of Pompeii," which is announced for Saturday, March 21 at the Scenic theater.

This new production is a photo dramatization of Lord Bulwer Lytton's famous novel of the same title and adheres closely to the text. The pathetic yet hopeless love story of the lovely flower girl, Nydia, is related in pictorial detail and finds a sympathetic response in every heart. All the wonderful beauties of the ancient city of Pompeii and its surroundings, so thrillingly described in Bulwer's novel, are shown upon the screen and comprise a series of pictures that are a delight to the eye at all times. "The Last Days of Pompeii" as produced by Mr. Kleine ranks among the big photo drama achievements of the age.

Miss Mae McClure is home, after spending the winter at Burlington, Wash.

Miss Florence Dow is here visiting at the home of G. C. Webster. Miss Dow's home is in Seattle.

Rev. Davis, of Leavenworth, is going to hold a meeting next Sunday in Gilbert's hall, at 3 o'clock.

A good sign of spring when you see the Indians out after willow switches, to make up into baskets. They are quite numerous around here.

We understand that the Peshastin Lumber Co. are going to start their big mill about the 12th. This will give employment to a large number of men.

The W. C. T. U. will hold a meeting Friday afternoon in the hall over the mercantile store. Mrs. Palmer, of Monitor, county organizer, will speak at this meeting.

Mr. S. L. Baker expects to move to Blewett in a few days where he will be employed at the Peshastin Lumber Co's mill. We understand J. G. Gilbert will move into the Baker property and will lease out his building to a party who intends starting a boarding house.

A marriage license was issued in Spokane last Saturday to V. L. Mitchell, of this city, and Miss May Hemphell, of Urbana, Iowa.

Shingle Mill to Begin Operations Soon

J. M. Gangler, cashier of the Tumwater Savings Bank, went to Wenatchee lake last Sunday in company with James Appleton, who is connected with the shingle mill industry at the foot of the lake. Mr. Gangler returned to his desk at the bank Wednesday morning. Speaking of the shingle industry, he said it was the intention of the company to begin operations soon and perhaps later on in the season to operate the plant day and night. The company find a ready market for their output of shingles which have the reputation of being first class in quality. They have an abundance of bolts on hand.

EMPLOYERS ARE WINNING FIGHT FOR OPEN SHOP

Timber Workers' Union not Likely Now to Call a General Strike May 1st—Coast Mills in Operation

The fight for the open shop in this state, begun by the Employers Association of Washington, is already bearing fruit. During the past week the shingle mills at Raymond and Everett, where the employes went on a strike because the mill owners refused to stand for a closed shop, resumed work with independent crews. Some of the old employes, members of the unions, went back to work, but with the understanding that they are employed as individuals and not as members of the union; furthermore, they agreed to work side by side with the open shop men. The Employers Association furnished a large number of the workmen for the Raymond mills.

Indications of a further victory for the open shop are to be found in the declaration of the Timber Workers' Union that its men will not go out on a strike May 1 if not granted 8 hours as a day's work and a minimum wage scale. At the convention of the Timber Workers' Union, held at Aberdeen recently, it was decided to attempt to enforce this demand May first on the employers, but at a meeting of the officials of the union held in Seattle a few days ago the action of the Aberdeen convention was rescinded at least for the time being.

Wenatchee Park

Winter seems to be about gone. All things considered, it has been very fine weather, and only two degrees below zero was registered one morning by the government thermometer located on the river bank.

Ira Miller writes from Alberta, Canada, that he will be down this spring to build. He had about 20,000 feet of lumber sawed last fall and had it piled nicely so as to have it dry.

Earl Maust made a trip to Leavenworth and brought back a ton of potatoes, delivered there by L. A. Gans, of Dryden.

Marvin Peters is back again after ten days absence. He did the pruning for T. A. Banks, who owns a five acre lot in East Wenatchee.

L. H. Irwin is building a poultry house. He evidently thinks it pays to take the very best care of the hens when eggs have brought from 40 to 60 cents per dozen all winter.
