MRS. W. A. BURLEIGH AT THE SCENIC THEATER

First Political Address Ever Made Here by Woman—Made a Good Impression

Mrs. Burleigh faced a fair sized audience in the Scenic Theater last Tuesday evening among whom were thirty-odd women. But for the short notice given of the meeting the auditorium would have been crowded. A number have expressed regrets over the failure to be advised of the meeting.

Mr. J. B. Adams acted as chairman of the meeting and presented the speaker to the audience with a few brief remarks. Mrs. Burleigh launched into her subject, which was republicanism, and wound up with a special plea for the support of Mr. Roland H. Hartley, of Everett, for governor.

After referring to the history of the republican party, and its consistent record, covering twenty-odd years of protection for American workingmen and American industries, and making a brief reference to the shifty record of its honored democratic opponent.

She talked about organization and partisanship, urging the necessity of organization in order to accomplish the political ends to which the republican party is committed. Partisanship leads to organization and party unity, without which the republican party, or any other party, would be much like a mob and never could accomplish anything. She urged the women to organize republican clubs and read and talk politics, to the end that they might vote knowingly and for the best interests of the country. Along with the right to vote they are now charged with the obligation of voting intelligently. To be able to do this they must keep themselves informed on public questions.

Without questioning the fitness of any candidate for governor on the republican primary ticket to be voted on Sept. 12 next, she particularly called attention to the candidacy of Hon. Roland H. Hartley, of Everett, who by education, training in the school of life experience, the successful administration of his private affairs since becoming a citizen of this state, was an ideal candidate, and at this critical period particularly well equipped to direct the affairs of the state of Washington. She briefly covered the life of her champion from the time he went to work as a cook in a Minnesota lumber camp to the time he came to Washington and engaged in lumbering in which he has made a marked success.

Mrs. Burleigh is an intelligent woman an easy and fluent talker and a sound reasoner. Her address was listened to with close attention. The more because a political speech by a woman was an unusual thing in this town.

Planting Game Fish

Game Warden Watson was here yesterday with a load of young cutthroat trout which he will turn loose in Lake Wenatchee. He expects two large lots today which he will liberate in two lakes on the headwaters of Snow creek, and in the lakes on the head of Jack creek, one of the tributaries of the Icicle river.

As a result of exposure and overwork in the G. N. yards a short time ago Cliff Reardon was last week threatened with pneumonia. For a rest and change he went up to Lake Wenatchee, to his father-in-law's, W. F. Blankenship. A report was received here yesterday that he is recovering and will soon be back on his job.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lilligren left yesterday for San Bernardino, Cal. where they expect to make their future home. They have lived here a number of years and leave a host of friends.

Mrs. H. B. Hinckley, Austin, Minn. is here on a visit of indefinite length with her sister Mrs. Fred Lee.

THE SUTTON APPLE BOX A WONDERFUL INVENTION

Destined to Revolutionize the Boxing of Apples—Pronounced the Best Ever by All Who Have Seen It

Mr. E. S. Sutton, who with George Deering is interested in the cultivation and development of one of the finest apple orchards in the upper valley has invented an apple boxing machine that is pronounced by all who have seen it to be superior, better and more convenient than anything yet put before the apple growers of the Wenatchee valley. It is so simple, so perfect in every respect, takes up less room and is in every way convenient that it saves time and money to every orchard grower. It is made almost entirely of wood and weighs only 62 pounds. Its locking device is simple and yet rigid and requires less effort than any other box. It has only to be seen to have all its merits understood at a glance. There are many apple boxing machines on the market but Mr. Sutton need have no fear that his will take the lead once its merits are understood. The price will also be reasonable, in truth lower than some now in use. Arrangements have been made with the Leavenworth Mercantile Co. to place one on exhibition for inspection by fruit growers. Mr. Sutton has secured a patent on his invention and will manufacture his machine right here, and supply the wants of the apple growers. The invention came about thru his using several of those now in use and noting their defects. The self-locking feature is one that will appeal to all who have had experience with other machines. Go and see it, Mr. Applegrower, and be convinced that it is an improvement on all others.

J. B. VIOLETTE FINED $250 EACH, TWO CASES

Fined $50 in County Case—One Case Pending—All Fines Were Promptly Paid

J. B. Violette appeared before City Magistrate Graham and entered a plea of guilty in two cases for violation of the dry law. One for selling two quarts of whiskey to a man, and the other for having more liquor in his possession when the raid was made on his residence last week than the law permitted. The costs in each case were less than five dollars.

On Monday of this week he appeared before Magistrate Graham and plead guilty under a county charge to selling two quarts of whiskey. This leaves one county case still pending, under which he is charged with having more liquor in his possession than the law permits. In the county case he was fined $50 and costs. County Attorney Williams was here Monday to represent the state. What will be done in the pending case has not been decided.

SENATOR POINDEXTER AT WENATCHEE AUG. 10

Leavenworth August 11—Will Make an Active Canvass for the Nomination—Thirty Speeches.

Senator Poindexter gave out the information in Washington Wednesday that he would open his campaign in Central Washington at Wenatchee, Aug. 10th. He intends to make 20 speeches between the tenth and primary election day, Sept. 12.

If Congressman Humphries expects to have a walk away he is doomed to be disappointed. Mr. Poindexter is a good campaigner and will have something to tell the voters that will furnish food for serious thought.

Epidemic of Skinned Faces

If you are an observing individual and noticed several citizens this week with their faces decorated with criss-crossed court plaster, their eyes blackened and faces bruised in all probability you concluded they had been in a free-for-all scrap. You wouldn't expect a man who had passed the meridian of life to confess that he had been guilty of so undignified, so foolish and indiscreet an act as to engage in a fight? Well, Marshal Teshera says he got his scars chasing calves out of a lot. He threw a rock and it bounded back and hit him on the cheek and forehead. That's his story. Prof. James McDaniel showed up Wednesday morning with an awful scar on the side of his face and court plaster covering a gash some three inches long. He was trying to move a house with a crowbar and it slipped off and the end hit him on the cheek, cutting thru to the bone. That's how he explained his patched up face to friends. If you happened to notice Mayar's face last Tuesday morning, the man who pretends he runs the Echo, you saw an ugly scar on his face, between the eye and nose, covered with strips of adhesive plaster and collodion and smelling of ether, his eyes bloodshot and bruised, you might have thought he had had a fight with a bear, but he says it all came of splitting kindling for his wife. That's what he says, but—The balance of the lame, the halt, the bruised and the blind have not reported at this writing.

$45,000,000 Property Loss in N. Y. Harbor Sunday

Warehouses, cars and ships loaded with war munitions intended for shipment to Europe exploded as the result of a burning barge drifting onto a pier containing inflammable war munitions. One explosion set off another, lasting several hours before all the explosives in the area had been set off. The explosion was heard and felt for a distance of 90 miles and caused damage to the amount of forty-five million dollars. Considering the violence of the explosion and the property damage the loss of life was small, not more than a half dozen, tho a great many injuries resulted from broken glass and flying material. The explosion is believed to have been due to the activity of war sympathizers.

AMERICAN ALUMINUM CO. INVEST IN CHELAN COUNTY

Buy Four Claims Near Merritt Wash.—May Decide to Build Smelter in the West

H. B. Smith, an old settler in the Nason creek valley, and Carl Kleinschmidt, a mining expert of some fame in the northwest, concluded a deal with an agent of the American Aluminum Co., of Niagara Falls, N. Y., the largest producer of aluminum in the United States, for their four claims near Merritt. Mr. Smith, who was here the first of this week, says the Aluminum company some time ago had their agent ship one ton of ore taken from the four claims Messrs. Smith and Kleinschmidt owned in the western part of the county, a few miles southwest of Merritt, from which the company extracted 27 1/2 per cent of aluminum, and on the strength of this test they acquired ownership of the property on a substantial payment in cash, the balance of the purchase money, some $200,000, to be paid out of the earnings of the company. John P. Fay, of Seattle, represented the American Aluminum Co. Assays have been made from picked samples of the ore running as high as 80 per cent. It is found in the form of an oxyd in a large body of carborundum, practically inexhaustible in quantity. The aluminum is extracted at Niagara Falls by what is known as the electrolytic process. Mr. Fay says if after thoro examination it proves all the company hopes for it quite likely they will build an aluminum refining plant somewhere in the west' the first step in which will be the installation of an hydro-electric plant.

Son of A. N. Pearson Poisoned

Word was received here yesterday evening that the little four year old son of N. H. Pearson who removed to Wenatchee to take the position of assistant prosecuting attorney, had been poisoned by eating 15 chloride of potash tablets. Chloride of potash is a peculiar and slow acting poison and may take several days to disclose its full effect. The family was moving into the new home and in some way the child got hold of the tablets and had eaten fifteen before discovery was made.

Map of th World on Huge Scale

Have you stopped to look at that map of the world in the Mutual Mercantile Co.'s display window? It is worth looking at. It gives one a good general idea of the location of the different points mentioned in the war dispatches from Europe. It was made from memory by Mr. Wm. McIntosh, and is remarkably accurate in the contour of the land surfaces of the earth and location of islands, seas and stragetic points in the great war zone.

Howard Blankenship who was here Wednesday evening said business at the lake Wenatchee hotels is looking up since the warm weather set in. Last Sunday all places were crowded with visitors.

Miss Hexey Castins is spending her vacation with Miss Lettie Neutzel at the mines.

REPRESENTATIVE PALMER, DEMOCRAT, PROTECTIONIST

Prosperity Due to Munitions Sales Will End With the War—What Then?

A quiet chuckle made the rounds of the republican contingent in the house of representatives the other day when it was learned that Hon. A. Mitchell Palmer had appeared before the Ways and Means committee to argue for the restoration of a protective tariff on condensed milk, on the ground that the condensed milk industry in Canada was making serious inroads on the American market and injuring our domestic industry in canned milk.

When Palmer was in congress he was a member of the Ways and Means committee and it was while he was on that committee that condensed milk was put on the free list. It carried a duty of two cents a pound under the republican law. During the fiscal year 1914, nine months of which was under the democratic tariff law, eight times as much milk, fresh and condensed, came into this country as during the fiscal year 1913, when republican rates were in effect. During the fiscal year 1915 our imports of milk increased 150 per cent over the 1914 figures. In each instance 50 per cent of our imports came from Canada. Palmer's own state, Pennsylvania, ranks second in the production of milk. But the states bordering on Canada are the ones which feel Canadian competition most keenly. They are the New England States and New York, North Dakota, Wisconsin, Michigan, Idaho, Montana and Washington.

Dairymen and condensed milk manufacturers thruout the country would be intensely interested in Palmer's argument. Coming from a democrat who has been one of the bitterest denouncers of the protective tariff policy that ever sat in the house of representatives, an argument for protection would be refreshing. A correspondent called at the committee rooms shortly after Palmer had delivered his plea for protection on condensed milk, hoping to secure a copy, but he was informed that it was a matter of the deepest secrecy.

The democratic tariff law cut the duty on hay fifty per cent, or from $4 to $2 a ton, which pleased Canada immensely, she being our chief competitor in hay. Comparing the ten months ended July 31, 1914, the first ten months' operation of the democratic tariff law before the outbreak of the European war, with the ten months ended July 31, 1913, with the republican tariff law in operation, and the official figures show that our imports of hay from Canada increased 50 per cent under the democratic law; while during the ten months ended July 1915, our imports of hay from Canada were almost negligible because Canada was sending all she could spare to Europe. Recently imports of hay from Canada have been picking up again, nearly eight times as much coming in during the ten months of the fiscal year 1916, ended April, as during the ten months ended July 31, 1915. The close of the present calendar year will again find Canada engrossing a generous share of our market for hay.

The adherence of ex-senator Beveridge to the Hughes cause is an occasion of much alarm to Democrats in Indiana, who had counted upon Beveridge to furnish the heavy artillery for a Bull Moose campaign in Hoosierdom. With Beveridge on the stump for the republican ticket, as he says he will be, it means that his personal following which two Progressive campaigns have shown to be surprisingly large, will be in the republican column and that Indiana will be safely republican also.

U. S. Senator Reed Smoot, of Utah, makes the following statement: "Exportations from the United States for the fiscal year ending 30, 1916, were the greatest in the history of the country. They were over $4,000,000. More than half of these exportations were munitions of war and to meet demands made by the war. As soon as the war closes that market will close. The actual truth is that there have been le's exportations of products of the country that are generally sent to foreign countries in the past year than there had been for years and years before. Just as soon as the war ceases all the trade of all the industries manufacturing that $2,000,000,000 worth and more will have to find a market elsewhere or the employees will be turned out of employment.

TAKEN OFF WENATCHEE STAGE MONDAY NIGHT BY HUSBAND

At Point of Gun Was Made to Enter His Car—Parties Belong in Wenatchee

Monday evening a man arrived here in a Dodge car about 8 o'clock and inquired the way to Wenatchee lake. Told by the proprietor of the Barclay hotel that if he was not familiar with road he had better put off his trip until morning he replied his business was urgent and he must go and wanted to hire some one familiar with the road to accompany him. He found and employed Gene Stirling. Within a few miles of the Club house on Wenatchee lake they met the regular stage that runs between the lake and Wenatchee. The driver of the Dodge car, who gave the name of Davis, got out and went to the stage which had stopped by the side of the road and at the point of a gun made a woman he claimed was his wife get out and accompany him. At first refusing she finally yielded and got into Davis' car where it appears Davis made some threats of bodily harm, as she screamed. Finally he drove off in the direction of Leavenworth, where arriving he discharged his guide and drove off, presumably in the direction of Wenatchee. After the stage reached here complaint was made to the officers but Davis has not been heard from.

A well known young man about Wenatchee by the name of Charles Martin was in company with Davis' wife at the lake hotel several days. Parties who saw Davis when he reached here tell how he had two broken springs and two flat tires when he arrived at Leavenworth and never stopped for a little thing like that but kept right on in the direction of Wenatchee.
