MEMORIAL SERVICES FOR HENRY JOHNSON KILLED AUG 19

Services in Park Saturday Night and At Lutheran Church Monday Night.

The memorial services held in the park last Saturday evening were presided over by Mr. Sylvester. Mr. L. J. Nelson, Mrs. Warren Reid and Mr. L. H. Hart made brief remarks after which the service flag with the first silver star, was unfurled. The Kid Band boys, of which Heine was a member were on hand. After the first verse of the Star Spangled Banner was sung, and the flag was swung to the breeze, the meeting adjourned.

On Monday evening, religious services in memory of Mr. Johnson were held at the Lutheran church. A number of those who knew Heine made appropriate remarks, among them Mrs. Warren Reid.

AFTER THE WAR—WHAT?

The World's Money System Should be Stabilized and, Perhaps, Unified.

When peace comes, the world's commerce will have a tendency to flow back into its old channels. Import and export trade will be renewed and duties must be paid. Because of depreciation in paper money and fluctuation in its value these duties will have to be paid, in most cases, in gold and, as a result, unless suitable preventative measures are installed, the financial world may at any time, be greatly disturbed and perhaps demoralized. They will depend largely upon the stability of trade, and to stabilize trade there should be a sound, well established system of international finance.

While it may be that the world is not yet ready to adopt the ideal plan of a universal money system with a single unit of value for all nations, it would seem to be entirely feasible to establish an international financial board, similar to the Federal Reserve Board of this country. Such an institution would undoubtedly exert a powerful influence in steadying world finance and trade; it could act as an international clearing house; it might regulate, to a large extent, the ebb and flow of gold; it would have a powerful influence in determining interest and exchange rates; it could provide a safe method for dealing with the delicate problems likely to arise regarding the huge outstanding quantities of war bonds; and it could also warrant the issuance of gold notes which might prove to be the first step towards the adoption of uniform international money system. The plan also would afford an opportunity to utilize the best brains of the world in dealing not only with problems of finance and trade, but also with the many questions which are likely to arise in connection with the adjustment of international relations after the war.—Copyright 1918, by General Welfare League.

BRITISH LABOR.

The broadminded spirit displayed by capital and labor in England as a whole, has settled the industrial problem for that country. There have been occasional disputes, but nothing like this country has endured. The real evidence of the success of the British plan of open shop is the enormous supplies of munitions that they have produced for their army.

WINNERS IN THE PRIMARY.

Judge Webster is the republican nominee for congress by a long lead. Dill gained the democratic nomination.

John A. Gellatly won in the race for representative.

The race for county clerk was close but the indications are that A. A. Stevens won out.

Sheppard had no opposition for county auditor, neither had Mr. Fisher for county treasurer.

W. F. Whitney ran ahead of Mr. Pearson for county attorney.

E. G. Spencer for assessor, J. F. Casebeer for superintendent of schools F. M. Barry for engineer and A. J. Templeton for coroner, had no opposition and are not likely to have in the finals.

There were some votes cast for democrats on the county ticket, and under the law they have a right to file for office, but whether they will do so remains to be seen.

The regular election in November will probably to a very tame affair and is therefore not likely to develop a large vote.

WHY NO ELECTION RETURNS?

Deeming the election of a county commissioner from the western part of the county overshadowing importance, indeed of so much importance that the publisher of The Echo made the election of Mr. Watson his sole interest in the primary election. Having failed ignominiously thru the lack of enough interest on the part of the Leavenworth voters to go to the polls and vote, less than one in 12 of the republican voters voting, he has no personal interest in printing the election returns, and concludes the few who did go out to vote are so disgusted, and those who did not take enough interest to vote have as little interest in the outcome as they had in the election and would therefore have just as little interest, and be bored with reading the returns. Wherefore the space will be devoted to pointing out how much our roads need improving and how remote the probability is that they will get what they need.

THE FOURTH LIBERTY LOAN GREATEST EVER OFFERED

Its Prompt Taking by the People of This Country Will Add to Discomfort of Enemy and Bring War to an End Sooner.

Declaring that the floating of the fourth Liberty Loan will be the greatest piece of financing ever undertaken in this or any other country, yet voicing his confidence in its success, George K. Weeks, of San Francisco, General Campaign Manager of the Fourth Liberty Loan for the Twelfth Federal Reserve district, paid a flying visit to Seattle recently to inspect Washington's arrangements for handling its quota.

Manager Weeks expressed his satisfaction at the progress of the Washington State Central Committee's organization and at the excellent reports from all parts of the state telling of the preparations to put all the counties over the top.

Elaborate plans are in formation for parades, music, speechmaking and various patriotic demonstrations to arouse the people to the necessity of fully subscribing the Fourth issue.

Soldiers and sailors from nearby cantonments and forts will in general be available for Liberty Loan purposes and all departments of the armed forces of the United States are ready to cooperate with the Liberty Loan committees, the government officers have assured.

On leaving Seattle where he had been in conference with the state committee officials, Campaign Manager Weeks issued the following statement addressed to the people of Washington:

"The floating of the Fourth Liberty Loan will be the greatest piece of financing ever undertaken in this or any other country. We should not underestimate the task before us, but it can, and I am absolutely confident it will be accomplished thru the organization which has been perfected and the universal response from the patriotic citizens which we anticipate.

In addition to the unprecedented size of the loan, which will probably amount to $6,000,000,000, we must frankly face the fact that the calls on the banks during the past year have been such that they cannot be expected to absorb any large amount of these long term securities. Corporations also have already subscribed to such an extent and are facing such large requirements in the matter of taxes that the demands of their personal business limit the amount which they can permanently invest in Liberty bonds. This places the responsibility squarely on the shoulders of the individual and means that all citizens, the rich and those of moderate circumstances alike, must subscribe to a much larger extent than ever before—to an extent which really involves sacrifice.

From the standpoint of the industrial needs of the government as well as from the standpoint of the Liberty loan, the most rigid economy on the part of all citizens has now become essential. When the president committed the country, with the acquiescence of congress, to the policy of throwing the utmost strength of the nation into the war thru an extension of draft ages and otherwise, for the purpose of bringing the war to a speedy and successful conclusion, they adopted a program which means much more than personal sacrifice on the part of the men who are to go to the front. If this enormously enlarged army is to be properly provided with transport and with supplies of all kinds, every ounce of industrial energy of the country must be concentrated on war essentials, and that the purchase of non-essentials must be absolutely eliminated. This seems to be the hardest lesson for the American people to learn. Those who stand willing to cheerfully make the great sacrifice of personal service, and those of their own families whose hearts are with them in this sacrifice, are still failing to make the lesser sacrifice of the absolute elimination in their normal life at home of all expenditures not absolutely essential.

But while the task of making the Fourth Liberty loan a success will involve general sacrifice and a wider distribution than ever before, it is unthinkable that the American people will fail to meet the situation. The boys who have gone out from every town and city in the land are now fighting on the western front, we are all proud to feel that they have performed 100 per cent. every task that has been required of them. Surely no single community in all the Twelfth District will allow it to be said it has failed to produce 100 per cent. of the quota required to support its sons on the battle front."

LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS

June 19, 1918

Suppose you'll wonder why I haven't written before. Well, I am getting to be like Max, it's hard for me to find time to write.

Talk about your noise, right now. Oh my! It's a young 4th right over our heads from both sides. The prettiest whistling tune I've ever heard and here I am just as safe as if I were at home. We just pulled a little stunt on the old Hun and of course he didn't like it very well, so sent over some mail telling us about it but everytime they sent over one we sent back two. According to the papers the Huns are getting it on all points of the line. There may be points where they break thru, which they do with the loss of a great man lives, even capture ground which is only recaptured by the Allies in a short time.

We also read in the papers about troubles in Germany, well, the sooner and the more troubles they have over there and a few more heavy losses the sooner I'll get back.

The airplanes are real busy over head this morning, taking a hand in the affair. Believe me, when we get all of those we want and get in running order ourselves, why, the Kaiser will sure regret the day he invited us into this little game of his.

Received four packages of Meccas and tow of Lucky Strike cigarettes yesterday. This company came from Waterbury, Conn., and the people from there send them cigarettes every once in awhile and since we are now in the company we get in on them. There's nothing like a cigarette to quiet a fellow's nerves, especially in this kind of game. Have smoked more cigarettes since I've been in the army than ever before.

Well the big show for this morning is over so guess I'll hit the hay.

June 24th.

Basil ought to be over here running one of these French engines. They're about half as large as the goat in Leavenworth (No. 11). Got a whistle on them like a peanut wagon. We're getting some of the small type U. S. engines over here to take the place of the French engines. Some difference, I'll say. Nearly all narrow gauge railroads, a few 3-4 standard roads and then we also have a real American road. Makes a fellow feel homesick when we see real American engines and coaches go by.

Am writing this in the trenches along the American sector. This is my first hitch and isn't half bad. If it doesn't get any worse than I've had it so far, everything will be alright, for everytime the Boche starts anything along here, he gets the worst of it. In a few days my hitch will be up, then back we go again to rest up for awhile.

Talk about rats. Say, they're about one fourth the size of Bobbie. At night when you hear one of them prowling around you'd think there was an army coming. Don't bother a fellow very much outside of chewing up a few things.

Next to bother us we have the cooties, "all same greybacks" and believe me they sure pester a fellow both night and day. Instead of reading newspapers in the trenches we read our shirts for cooties with great success. Get rid of them though when we go through the de-lousing station after we get back of the lines.

July 4th
Came out of the trenches without a scratch but there were a couple of times I thought I was a goner, but after all the noise had quieted down, I found I was very much alive. Finished your letter of June 17th while the big shells were flying over my head as fast as you could count, but they were going so high above my head that I would have been safe had I been standing outside, instead of deep in a dugout over thirty feet down. Wrote Basil's letter in the trenches, not in a dugout and have carried it with me ever since because I had no way of mailing it sooner.

August 2nd.
Started a letter to you over two weeks ago, and I put it in my writing pad. Then of course duty called again and thru the course of events, I lost everything I had with me, such as a razor and toilet articles, writing pad and all the pictures I carried. Hope I get back in time to eat peaches you promised to save me. Right now I'd give twenty peaches for a big dish of Washington peaches, for there's none in the world like those.

FAREWELL RECEPTION TENDERED REV. F. L. MOORE AND FAMILY.

Tuesday evening, in the church basement, friends and members of the M. E. church, tendered a farewell reception to Rev. F. L. Moore and family on their leaving Leavenworth for Kamiah, Idaho, where Mr. Moore was assigned as pastor for the coming year. The reception was in the form of a surprise to Rev. Moore and family and was carried out successfully, as no one suspected any thing until lights were seen in the church basement.

On arriving at the church they were greeted by their friends who had already gathered there. After a time spent visiting, W. F. Bickel acted as spokesman for the congregation and friends and thanked Mr. Moore and family for what they had done for the church since they came and for the interest the former had taken in the welfare of the town and the people of the town, also for the condition he was leaving the affairs of the church in, the best in the history of the Leavenworth church. Mr. Bickel closed in presenting Rev. Mr. Moor with a gift of $25, from the congregation and friends. Rev. Moore thanked the people and told how he had enjoyed the three years he had spent in their midst and wished them all kinds of success in the future, and that they would stand by his successor as well as they did by him.

Light refreshments were served and all departed wishing Rev. Moore God speed on his journey to his new congregation.

WAR CARD PARTY.

Next Monday evening, Sept. 23, the ladies of the War Workers rooms will give a card party that deserves to be generously patronized by all. The ladies have undertaken to give every departing soldier boy from Leavenworth a kit, containing little every day necessities that the soldiers have found so useful. The kits will be made by the women but some money will be required to purchase material and this is the way they are asking people to contribute and at the same time spend a pleasant and sociable evening.

RED CROSS NOTES

The local Red Cross has a call for feather pillows. If any one has pillows they can spare, or feathers, please bring them to the Red Cross rooms. They are for use in the hospitals, and are much needed. Mrs. A. B. Westcott, vice-chairman; Mrs. Chas. Eckhart, secretary.

The ladies who have the making of refugee garments are requested to plan to have the work returned not later than Sept. 25th.

The annual election of officers of the Leavenworth Red Cross will take place Oct. 4th.

Mr. Emil Bauman who spent the past week at Soap Lake, returned home Thursday, much improved in health.

Remember this Mr. Advertiser, get your copy in early, to insure satisfactory results. If it comes in late it may not be possible to get your ad in at all, in any event you will get a poor looking ad., and it will be in any old out-of-the-way place. Get your copy in on time. Wednesday noon.

THINKS WOMAN GOVERNMENT WOULD DO GOOD.

Editor Leavenworth Echo:
When I read that suggestion about electing women to run the city, I laughed, but on second thought, it would not be bad, as I am sure the women would never allow such an outfit as the so-called "carnival" in town nor would they allow so much booze sold to our school boys.

Vote for the women
A MOTHER.

DEATH OF LLOYD ALLEN.

Lloyd Jerome Allen, son of Charles and Catherine Allen, of Peshastin valley, was born in Sauk Rapids, Minn., Dec. 16, 1887, and died at his home on Peshastin creek, Friday, Aug. 30, at 6 o'clock p. m., after an illness of almost twenty years. He leaves to mourn him, a father and mother, one sister, Mrs. Ella Gallagher, two brothers, J. E. Allen of Washington, D. C., and Chas. R. Allen who is now in France. ### SAW MILL CLOSED; BOX MILL RUN UNTIL OCTOBER

Mr. N. Coleman was in town yesterday and said the saw mill on the hill south of town closed down Tuesday for this season. Altho the run this year was shorter than last, he cut three and a half million of logs, or almost twice as much as last season. The timber has all been cut in that vicinity and the mill will be moved this fall to a new location, which has not yet been decided on.

The box mill, says Harry Wall, will run until well into October, having an ample supply of lumber on hand.

FIFTEEN WOMEN AND GIRLS EMPLOYED IN THE BIG MILL

Getting Like Pay for Work as Men—Giving Entire Satisfaction—They Like the Work.

Some twelve or fifteen women and girls went to work the first of this week in the Great Northern Lumber Co.'s box mill. They receive from $2.50 to $3.00 for eight hours work, which is the same rate of pay formerly given men and boys for similar work.

A number of them quit jobs in offices and stores where they were formerly employed, because of the increased pay. The mill people say they are giving entire satisfaction and the women and girls appear to be entirely satisfied and say they like the work.

REV. C. A. HUFF RE-TIRED AS MINISTER.

At the Columbia M. E. conference held at Pendleton, Oregon, last week, Mr. Huff, who once lived here and was pastor of the Methodist church, declared he was through with the ministry.

Rev. Mr. Bumbly charged that the Rev. C. A. Huff, formerly of Monitor, Wash., had abruptly left his charge, ignored the church and told his official board that he was through with the ministry and the Methodist church. A motion was made that Mr. Huff be requested to withdraw. Bishop Stuntz ruled that the charges were not in writing and that they should be presented before a trial.

LIBRARY WILL OPEN NEXT WEEK.

Commencing next week, the public library will be open from 3 to 5 every Wednesday and Saturday afternoon.

WM. VAN BROCKLIN HAD NARROW ESCAPE.

Mr. Van Brocklin, a member of the K. & V. B. Hardware Co., had a narrow escape from serious injury last Saturday morning. He was repairing a gasoline tank with the aid of one of those gasoline torches used by plumbers and melting the solder around a faucet. The gas which had evidently not all been drained from the tank, ignited, and exploded with a deafening roar, throwing Mr. Van Brocklin back some twenty feet, damaging the ceiling and completely wrecking the tank. His face was somewhat badly and painfully burned but his eyes escaped serious injury. He had so far recovered from the shock as to be back on his job at the store Wednesday.

THE RED CROSS SLACKER.

To the Editor, Leavenworth Echo,
Dear sir:—It is a regrettable fact that we have in Leavenworth today many young women who bear this appellation. The very few workers who have kept the Red Cross alive in this town are middle aged matrons who have tearfully bidden farewell at our depot to him whom they bore, nurtured and cherished to manhood, with the love that only a woman can give, sent him to fight your fight and mine, mayhap to give his life, his all, that you and I may live our lives in comfort and happiness. It is your duty to help to the utmost of your ability to prepare the things that will clothe, comfort, and staunch the wounds of yonder bleeding boy—your own kith and kin—lying on the battlefields of France. There are many young married women in Leavenworth without the burden of a family and many unmarried young women who could greatly help the Red Cross if they so desired. Are they pro-German? or is it that they are so wrapped up in themselves and their own selfish desires that the lives of our American boys count as nothing. How many stockings have you knit? How many bandages have you made? How many hours have you spent on work in the Red Cross rooms. One may see on the streets of Cashmere girls from twelve to eighteen years of age knitting as they go along. This is seen on the streets of Leavenworth. But not young women, oh no! It is the sad faced mothers whose boys are somewhere over there. If you are abstaining from this work without a good reason, you are false to yourself, to your country, and to the boy fighting over there that your may be free.

A RED CROSS WORKER.

Mrs. Grace Hitchcock spent Thursday with friends at Gainer.
