AMERICAN NAVY ELIMINATES WASTE

SLICING BACON ON BATTLESHIP

ACKLES in the American navy are classed as the best fed body of men in the world. In the ship's galleys every effort is made to eliminate waste.

In the upper photo one of the cooks on the North Dakota is operating a meat slicer that cuts bacon with the least possible waste.

Another waste-eliminator on the North Dakota is the potato peeler, shown in the lower photo. Nothing is lost except the actual potato skin.

There is a sufficient quantity of potatoes in America for greater use in every home and for all needs of army and navy. Eat more potatoes, eat less wheat.

Skim Off More CREAM PROFITS

Save Waste!

SWEDEN'S farmers are noted for scientific dairying. They get every atom of cream out of the milk. They won't tolerate cream waste. Their thrift and Swedish science have evolved a cream separator that skims closer than any other machine ever perfected. It is the

VIKING CREAM SEPARATOR

Made in the World's Largest Separator Factory. Over One Million in Use.

Save Work!

The Viking is unquestionably the easiest running separator on the market. Because it runs so easily and smoothly it gets more cream. Furthermore, big production makes it possible to sell it at low price. Be sure to see the Viking the next time you are in town.
