MORE SUGAR FOR HOME CANNING; HOUSEWIVES ALLOWED 25 POUNDS.

Must Take Pledge that it is Only to Be Used for Canning and Preserving.

This does not mean that there is any greater amount of sugar in the country, but it is for the purpose of conserving a greater amount of fruit for winter use, according to the administration. The use of sugar for jelly, jams and preserves is now permissible.

County food administrators have been instructed to issue canning permits and certificates in 25-pound lots to all applicants who may use such sugar for canning and preserving only.

"The amount they have already had is not to effect this issue of permits. The sole governing factor is that the sugar must be used for canning and preserving. This rule supercedes the rule of August 20, which restricted the permits according to the size of the family. The use of sugar for jelly, jam and preserves is permissible.

TO THOSE WHO DONATED CANNED GOODS.

Women who have donated canned fruit, jelly and jam to the Service League, for the use of the sick and convalescent soldiers and sailors, are urged to call at the War Workers rooms as soon as possible and identify their fruit and put their name on the jars.

Mrs. Kate Johnson, who is head of this department, is not allowed to paste the league seal on this fruit, or ship it to the hospitals unless she knows the person by whom it was donated.

FORMER LEAVENWORTH GIRL WINS HONORS.

From a copy of the Toppenish Tribune we learn that in a canning contest at that place recently, Miss Laura Patterson, daughter of Mr. Nar Patterson, long a resident of this place, won the honors in a war canning and fruit drying contest. The Toppenish club, of which Miss Laura is a member, won the highest honors in the Yakima county contest, Miss Narcissa Patterson had to her credit 321½ cans while Miss Laura took the honors for dried fruits and dried vegetables. The Tribune in mentioning the contest, says:

"Toppenish won first honors in the county canning contest, and will represent the county at the state fair.

"Thirteen teams, representing thirteen schools, took part in the county canning contest which was held at Yakima on Saturday, September 7. The local team was represented by Edith Page and Narcissa Patterson, and credit is due to Mrs. N. Patterson, their leader, for the splendid work done.

"Laura Patterson of the Toppenish club won first prize in dried fruits and also in dried vegetables.

"Toppenish won first, Yakima second and Wapato and Fruitvale tied for third honors. Splendid work was done by all the teams."

RED CROSS ELECTION.

The annual meeting of the Leavenworth Chapter of the American Red Cross will be held two weeks from today, October 4th.

The secretary and treasurer are expected to give a full report. The chairmen of various committees will also report.

There will be an election of officers and executive committee for ensuing year.

The people of Leavenworth should attend this meeting, if they are interested in the efficiency of the Chapter here. Every member should have under consideration the selection of these officers, and should urge the election of those who are best fitted in every way to fill these positions. Don't stay away from this meeting, and then criticize the selection afterwards.

The Business of INVESTMENT BANKING

The financial requirements of business demand two kinds of capital and the services of two classes of banking institutions. The first requirement is for commercial capital, taking form in short time loans, for current obligations. The requirement is met by the local banks and their services are both efficient and essential.

The second requirement is for investment capital, taking form in stocks, bonds, notes and mortgages of many different kinds for permanent use. This requirement is met by investment bankers, whose business is to furnish permanent capital.

Every man, whether rancher, merchant or manufacturer, should establish business relations with an investment institution for the same essential reason that he does with a commercial bank. His success depends on his being able to obtain both commercial and investment capital when he needs it and on favorable terms. Providing capital for those in need of permanent financing, and safe investments, yielding better than ordinary returns, for those with idle funds is our business. Ask us how we can serve you.
