KAISER PLANNED TO RULE WORLD AFTER 6 MONTHS WARFARE

Thought Theft of Iron and Coal From France, Land From Russia, Would Pay Bill

Planning world trade domination, if not actual world rule, as the outcome of a short six-months' campaign in Europe, Germany now finds herself outcast from among civilized nations, her people impoverished, her honor irrevocably stained by the blood of Belgium, and facing a future of fathomless ignominy and disgrace.

GERMAN GRAVES GRIM ANSWER

Now, across the graves of a million of his young men, the Kaiser is beginning to see the sun set on the smallest of his ambitions. "Foch will never cross the Rhine," is now the German watchword. German cities, shrieking beneath the visitation of allied and American airplane bombers cry out: "No more of this barbarity."

NO STRIKERS ALLOWED.

The striking Bridgeport munition workers after "reasserting their loyalty," decided to obey the president and return to work. There was nothing else for them to do for popular opinion was decidedly against them.

WEIGHT RESTS ON AMERICAN FARMER

Upon no one class rests a greater responsibility than upon the American farmer, who with his wives and sons and daughters constitutes one-third of our population. He has the first and great responsibility of providing food for the nation at home, food for the fighting men abroad, and food for our allies in the battle line and their civilian population.

In Russia the workers took over a plant and chased the owner and manager away under the threat of death. In a week the plant was at a standstill. The owner was begged to return, which up to the present time he has refused to do.

These men are riding for a fall. It is merely a question of time until the loyal citizens of the country demand that their actions be curbed.
