

ADDITIONAL CITY NEWS

Mrs. Carl Thuesen came here Wednesday from Cashmere to take the train for Snohomish. She had gone to Cashmere the first of the week to attend the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Ben Briskey Cooper.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Steele and baby left Wednesday for Spokane where Mrs. Steele will visit her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Merchant, for a couple of months. Mr. Steele will remain for a week or so.

Mrs. Jennings and Miss Welch, on returning from Seattle, stopped off here Monday and will visit with Mrs. Floyd Blankenship several days before returning to their home in Dryden.

Wiley Rice, long a resident of Leavenworth, now living at Wenatchee, was here the first of the week. He shook hands with a number of old friends. He says so far his family has escaped the flu, though there are a number of cases in Wenatchee.

Mrs. H. Ingham and baby, who have spent the past two months with her mother, Mrs. D. Burns, left Wednesday in company with her sister, Miss Nora Burns, for her home in Cedro Wolley.

Mr. W. W. Burgess, the most persistent and successful farmer in this region was in town Monday. He brought a load of wheat to the warehouse which graded No. 1. He has two hundred or more bushels of the same kind in his grain bins at his place near Plain.

Mrs. Susan Shortly arrived Wednesday afternoon from Seattle where she has lived for the past two years. She is here to visit old Leavenworth friends for a week and to look after her Leavenworth property interests. Time deals kindly with her. She does not look a day older than when last here.

Mr. N. Coleman returned Wednesday from Seattle and other coast points where he spent a week. He says the hustle for something to eat and a place to lay one's head has not abated since he was there two weeks ago.

Mr. F. A. Losekamp arrived here last week from Elk River, Idaho, where he is engaged in developing a mine. Mr. Losekamp still owns valuable town property here and if he cashes in on that mining property he may again become a permanent resident. F. A. is a progressive citizen and we would be pleased to have him take up his permanent residence here.

Mr. H. C. Peters stopped off here Wednesday on his way to Spokane. He still makes his home in Seattle where he deals in real estate as he did when here fourteen years ago, when he platted and sold what is known as the Cascade orchard tracts south of town. He says Seattle is very lively and the trouble now is to find a place to house all the people who are coming there to make their home.

PESHASTIN

Work is the most interesting feature of Peshastin's activities for this week.

Most of the Spitz and all of the Delicious with the exception of a few boxes, have been packed out. Two of the machines are working on Rome Beauties, which certainly are splendid.

One case of influenza has broken out among the men who stay in dormitory. Julian Vandercore was taken to Leavenworth Sunday but on account of the shortage of hospital room, had to go to the hotel.

Miss Agnes Davis was sick the early part of the week and so was unable to be at her post of duty.

Mrs. A. C. Gilbert was on the sick list last Saturday but is back at work again.

Mr. Sam Vanderwest is in the valley for a few days attending to the harvesting of his crop. He is also enjoying a short hunting trip.

Fox Chambers and Dave Coon enjoyed a hunting trip last week. Each of these men brought in a deer so there is plenty of game in the hills if you know where to go.

Picking at the Curtis farms will be brought to a close this week. Their apples have been among the finest in the valley.

Miles Ludwig came home Sunday from Dryden where he has been at work, a victim of the influenza.

Mr. Donovan who spent his vacation with his wife, returned to his home in Seattle Sunday. Wednesday Mrs. Donovan received a telegram calling her home as both her husband and daughter were down with influenza. She will be greatly missed from the work and also as matron of the girl's dormitory.

HERE AND THERE.

The soldiers are going right ahead, stopping for neither food nor rest as long as their legs will carry them. With them it is no question of hours nor wages, but a simple question of duty. How about some of our industrial workers who have been ranked on the same plane with the soldiers? De we ever hear of the wonderful sacrifices of labor? Hardly! What we do hear on the part of those who condone the shortcomings of organized labor is that their reluctance to subscribe to the Liberty loans was due to the high cost of living; to the delayed decision of the Macy board; to the fact that they are living from hand to mouth! This is of course ridiculous. Labor is better off now than ever before. They now have a chance to save, and it would seem that out of sheer gratitude for their exemption from military duty and for their bettered condition that they would need no solicitation whatever to get them to subscribe their quota.

However, the ingratitude of some labor organizations is nothing new. It is part of the creed of those bodies,

LETTERS FROM SOLDIER BOYS.

RAILROAD MAN IN WAR ZONE.

The following extracts from a letter directed to his mother and handed to the Echo by his sister, Mrs. H. G. Applegate, will be interesting reading to railroad men. Railroading in France is quite different from what our American boys are accustomed to. In a caustic vein, Private Frank G. Woodcock refers to railroad: "Tell Mr. Applegate we can't teach the French how to railroad. They have us beat all around. They have no safety appliances here. No sill steps. No grab irons. No running boards, but have developed feet of such shape that they can climb up the side of a box car like a squirrel, and when they want to go to the rear of the train, they just hop like the frogs they eat, and land on any car they have in mind. They have also developed a speed on these railroads that makes the slow train in Arkansas look like greased lightning. Oh, they can railroad alright. We had roast beef, spuds and cabbage today (August 25) for dinner. My Bunkie came back from town today. He had a French dinner of frogs, snail soup and snails on the half shell for a side dish. We are sure glad to get reading matter."

EXAMINATION FOR FOREST RANGERS ON OCTOBER 28.

An examination for entry to the forestry department as forest ranger will be held at the forestry office on Monday, October 28.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. Tom C. Smith who left here for the B. C. country last spring, a son, on the 6th of October.

Mrs. O. E. Swartz arrived home from Seattle Thursday, where she spent the past week with her son and daughter.

Mrs. Robert Smith arrived home Thursday morning from Spokane, where she attended the funeral of her brother-in-law, Mr. Nuten De Vaney, who died with pneumonia.

Walter Koerner left Monday morning for California where he expects to spend the winter. He was accompanied by his wife and baby. The trip will be made by auto. Walter has the agency for California of a new auto attachment which has proved to be very useful and economical, known to the trade as the automatic water vaporizer. He was agent for Leavenworth and found it to be a good thing and secured the agency for the state of California.

GLYCERINE MIXTURE FOR APPENDICITIS

instilled into them by their leaders. When the soldiers come back home there will be a lot of explaining to do. Labor leaders certainly will be hard put to explain their many treasonable actions.

THE REPUBLICAN DECLARATION

In an eloquent and characteristic address Mr. Will Hays, the dynamic chairman of the Republican national committee, delivered on Thursday at Grand Rapids, he sounded again the keynote of the Republican party.

"The republican party," he declared, "stands by the country—Stand by the war. And in this declaration of purpose is included the slogan which the Democratic party seems to have adopted, 'Stand by the president,' a duty which republicans have assumed as a matter of course as to all that the great office implies. It includes far more than this; it includes,—stand by every public official, high and low, measured by the thoroughness with which that public official stands by the war; stand by the government; stand by this country; stand by our allies; stand by our soldiers in France; stand by every effort for war saving and giving in this country; stand by 'the irreducible minimum' of peace terms so splendidly enunciated by Senator Lodge; stand by the war aims of this country, to vindicate American rights, interests, and honor, to forever end the intolerable arrogance of that scientifically trained brutality, to forever end Prussianism in the world and the oppression which it typifies, and make certain forever the inability of militarism German or otherwise, again to disturb the peace of the world; stand against an inconclusive peace, and stand for a peace with victory.

"All this we say—Stand by the war, and for this purpose we dedicate the last of our blood and our treasure."

Every republican leader, every republican newspaper, every republican voter will applaud that declaration and stand by it to the end. As Mr. Hays in another passage says:

UNPREJUDICED OPINION NOW WANTED.
There cannot be any compromise upon principle. Congress is the law-making body. To enact laws advisedly, it must have facts. To have facts complete and uncolored, congress must get those facts through a committee composed of an equal number of members of each party. The basis for reconstruction legislation should, therefore, be procured by a joint committee such as proposed by Senator Weeks—a committee selected by and acting under the exclusive jurisdiction and control of congress. The president is in no position to appoint an unprejudiced body for the study of reconstruction. He has entered upon certain schemes of government ownership and control, which, as a matter of personal vanity and political interest, he is bound to defend. Any commission selected by him will feel the obligation to secure facts and make reports showing in as favorable a light as possible the results of government-control experiments. A committee of congress, on the other hand, made up of an equal number of republicans and democrats, would have no preconceived or established policies to defend or denounce. From the standpoint of both principle and expediency therefore, the committee should be selected entirely by congress, with no participation whatever by the president.
