Spring Blats

Spring is nearly here again and we like all budding young poets as Freshmen English classes must pay it some fitting tribute. It is the season when our longing for less work increases and our knowledge of things intellectual diminishes. It is also the end of winter and the beginning of summer. We appreciate its beauty, yes, but not from the inside looking out as at present.

We do not know why the name was given to such a beautiful season but it is evidently due to the springness of everything. The flowers spring from the ground, the birds spring up and down on the branches as they sing and we spring from our desks madly tearing our hair over some difficult problem as a bird song or perfume of flowers springs upon our senses.

The feeling that comes with spring is indescribable unless we may say that the incoherence of this composition illustrates it. It is something that "permeates our being," causing us to have all sorts of new desires which if satisfied would make us appear as do the ignorant Freshmen. But we cover up our frantic longings to play hooky, sing harmoniously or otherwise enjoy ourselves and conduct ourselves in all our classes so that the teachers are forced to give us unwilling praise while we think with visions of delight (?) of our graduation night and the days of pain and sorrow we shall leave behind.

Money.

Although we know how money is prized in this world, sometimes too greatly, we hear many slams against it such as "Money is the root of all evil." Now we believe "money talks" ourselves, but after due deliberation and seeing much of the evil in it we have decided to say a few serious things concerning that useful article. "It is all right in its place" but in order for money to do the great and good things intended for it, it must be kept there. But in the same way that it also can be used in too many places it is equally harmful in both ways and as we may use our money wrongfully and harm both ourselves and others we may be too selfish and let a chance go by of helping some one who is lost without it.

So, when we examine our hard-earned money as it passes through our fingers, let us remember the good it represents and avoid also the chances of evil that accompany it.

SCHOOL EVENTS.

Senior Motto.

At a meeting not long ago the Senior class chose their class motto. It is very appropriate and worth while. The motto chosen is, "Out of School Life, into Life's School."

ATHLETICS.

Leavenworth-Wenatchee.

The game played last Wednesday with Wenatchee girls was a queer one for our girls. It wasn't exciting like the games up here. It seemed more like a practice game. The floor was small and both teams of girls kept going over the lines all the time. Quite a bit of time was taken in changing the ball from one player to another when they stepped over the line. The game was all one-sided. The Leavenworth forwards didn't have much to do. The game was so slow and unexciting, a small crowd and small floor rather took the pep from the girls. The score was Wenatchee 20, Leavenworth 5.

Well, our girls hope to win this Friday at Cashmere. Come down, everyone that can, and root for the girls.

The line-up: Leavenworth—Neta Tyler F. B. Frank Mary Wheeler F. C. Peterson Julia Biles C. Nanna Scott Edna Barclay S.C. Jessie Willis Jos. Ouren G. V. K. Horen Lois Ruth G. Velda Cundiff Clara Jones, Gladys Ruth, Dorothy Eresch, substitutes.

A dance and lunch were given after the game for teams at which everyone was entertained delightfully.

Bovs Lost to Wenatchee.

Friday, March 4, the boys' basketball team wound up the season in a battle with the Wenatchee high quintet. Our boys were off their feed and come out on the bottom of a 45 to 4 score. The less said about the game the better.

Second Team Game.

The same night our boy's second team walked over the Whitman school of Wenatchee for a 39 to 10 victory. The game was a battle royal, but victory for our scrubs was never in doubt. The line-up:
 Gutherless F. Dobson
 Titus F. Bogart
 Nelson C. Lee
 Wade G. Seese
 Gibson G.
 Subs: West for Gutherless, Gutherless for West, Ruth for Gibson.
 Max Anderson, referee.

BLATS.

Do you know—

That it takes longer to walk to Wenatchee than to Cashmere, but neither place is worth walking to?

On account of the demand for higher education in this country, every new school house is being built on a hill?

Same Old Story.

D'Annunzio left Fiume broke. Judging from the lives of authors as studied by English IV class, D'Annunzio was a good poet to the last.

No girl's memory is as short as her skirts these days.

Why do students keep trying to fool the professor by phoning in their absence excuses when there are always two things to prevent: The phone being out of order and the professor refusing to be fooled.
