Col. D. J. Zent left on Monday evening for Colville where he expects to locate. Mr. Zent told the News man that he would go into a general merchandise business in Colville. The family will remain here for the present. The Colonel as he is familiarly called by his friends here, said that he had nothing but the best wishes for Ritzville and its people, but that there was certain conditions of climate and water that suited him better in Colville than in Ritzville. Mr. Zent has been in Ritzville nearly three years during which time he has held several responsible positions of trust and honor. He has successfully carried on his private business and has made money and friends, and while Ritzville people are sorry to lose the society of so valuable a citizen they certainly wish him well wherever he goes. The News joins heartily with the rest of his friends in wishing him success. Quite a serious accident occurred at Lind on Monday night in which one man was killed outright and another probably fatally injured. They were engaged in unloading coal into the bunkers there, and in some way the brokes failed to work and a car was thrown to the ground some thirty feet.
