Egyptian army encamped at Agaiza, eight miles from Omdurman. The Dervishes were three miles distant. At dawn the Cavaignac that the revision would be cavalry patrolling toward Omdurman dis-purely judicial. covered the enemy advancing to the attack in battle array, chanting war songs.

Their front consisted of infantry and cavalry, stretched out for three or four miles.

M. Cavaignac replied that revision developed to show that there had been a judicial error and that no such fact expenses. Countless banners fluttered over their masses and their copper and brass drums resounded through the ranks of the savage warriors who advanced unswervingly with all their additions of the savage warriors who advanced unswervingly with all their additions of the savage warriors who advanced unswervingly with all their additions of the savage warriors who advanced unswervingly and the savage war ported by Maxim-Nordenfeld batteries. At 7:20 a, m. the enemy crowded the ridges above the camp and advanced steadily in enveloping formation.

Swept Down the Lallside. At 7:40 our artillery opened fire which was answered by the Dervish riflemen. Their attack developed on our left and in accordance with their traditional tactics they swept down the hillside with the design of rushing our flank. But the withering fire maintained for 15 minutes by all our line frustrated the attempt nd the Dervishes, balked, swept toward our center, upon which they concentrated a fierce attack.

A large force of horsemen, trying 'o face a continuous hail of bullets from the Cameron Highlanders, the Lincolnshire regiment and the Soudanese, was literally swept away, leading to the withdrawal of the entire body, whose dead strewed the field.

The bravery of the Dervishes can hardly be overstated. Those who carried the flags struggled within a hundred yards flags struggled within a hundred yards of our fighting line. of this award will be in accordance with that section of the law providing for the payment of bounty to persons aboard the vessels that sunk the Spanish fleet.

Although not a penny of prize money has yet been turned into the treasury

Judge Advocate Lemley and his chief clerk, Mr. Hanna, are engaged in consid-ering the various claims for prize money that have been filed by the officers and men, and in passing upon the various questions which have arisen.

From the official report of Admiral Montojo, commanding the Spanish fleet at Manila, there were 1875 persons aboard his ships. The bounty amounts to $187,500, which congress will be asked to appropriate during the coming session. One-twentieth of this sum belongs to Rear Admiral Dewey, commander-in-chief, and he will therefore be $9375 richer than he was before the war.

Sampson's Big Share. Rear Admiral Sampson has realized snug little fortune as a result of the war. As commander-in-chief of the North Atlantic fleet he will get one-twentieth of every prize taken by the North Atlantic fleet and one-twentieth of the head money allowed for the vessels destroyed off Santiago and in Cuban ports. It is estimated that he will finally receive about $40,000 as his share of prize money.

In determining the amount of head money due officers and men it will be ecessary for the department to decide
