

LOCAL EVENTS OF THE WEEK

TOGETHER WITH A PERSONAL MENTION OF THOSE IN THE MOVING PANORAMA OF LOCAL HISTORY

White Whittlesey, the young romantic actor, who is under the management of Belasco, Mayer & Price, will be seen at the Gilson-Thiel opera house on Friday evening, November 25, for a special engagement of one night only. Whittlesey comes here with a splendid record from other cities, and is likely to become as big a favorite here as he is elsewhere. He will be seen in the well-known play, "Soldier of Fortune," from the pen of the famous author, Richard Harding Davis. The production of "Soldier of Fortune" will be a most elaborate one, as the company carries all of its scenery, costumes and stage effects, as well as furniture and other properties used in the play.

G. F. Porter, the photographer, closed his gallery yesterday on account of ill health, and left last night for Dayton, where his relatives reside. His brother, J. F. Porter, came over to assist in removing him where he could have the best of care. The gentleman spent last year in Colorado and the condition of his lungs was much improved but the past few days has brought a decided change for the worse.

A. S. Elder, a retired farmer, has engaged in the real estate and investment business in Spokane in partnership with W. H. Molden, formerly manager of the Coe Commission Co. at this place. The firm name reads Elder & Molden, with offices in rooms 11 and 12 Holland block.

W. P. Taylor has accepted a position as traveling salesman for the California Tea and Coffee house of San Francisco. His territory is Eastern Washington and he starts on the road this week. His son, James, has left for an extended visit at the former home in Tiffin, Mo.

Camp No. 5595, Modern Woodmen of America, will give a Thanksgiving ball at Tinnel's hall Thursday evening, November 24, 1904. The general committee of arrangements are Otho O. Hauschild, Geo. Buehler, Ed Moon, Wm. O'Connor and Geo. Gebert.

Mr. Williamson, the aged father of Mrs. Ida M. Patrick and Mrs. Geo. A. Metz, died at the home of the former named lady on College hill this afternoon. The deceased had been an invalid for a long time and his demise was not unexpected.

The Union Thanksgiving service will be held in the Methodist Episcopal church Thursday morning, November 24, 1904. Rev. Hill of the Baptist church will preach an interesting and instructive sermon.

Mrs. J. G. Bennett leaves tonight for Walla Walla in response to an invitation to attend an elaborate entertainment and reception at Whitman college. Her son, Clinton, is in school at that institution.

Mr. and Mrs. Chris Schrag of Menno, came in yesterday over the Burlington from a visit to the World's fair and at Marion Junction, S. D. They have been absent since the 6th of September.

J. W. Galbreath has opened up a cab line with headquarters at the old Bailey barn. Telephone connections are being installed and the transportation service will equal that of a large city.

Mrs. Eliza Ekin and daughter are down from Colville Lake today. Her son, Walter S. Ekin, is a pioneer and successful stockman of this county and is still engaged in the business.

R. W. Warner was in Spokane the first of the week securing costumes for the drama to be given by local talent next Wednesday evening, November 23, 1904.

M. R. Kellogg and Mr. Riley, clerks in the general merchandise store of A. T. Kendrick & Co., were both taken sick this week and are confined to their rooms.

A. W. Grover and son, Arthur, of Pendleton, will arrive in the morning to attend the funeral of Wm. Williamson, which occurs Friday forenoon.

Conrad and John Lenhardt, brothers, of Whatcom county, are among the new arrivals seeking a new location in this section of the country.

Col. D. J. Zent and wife and Geo. W. Zent of Colville, came in today and are the guests of Attorney and Mrs. W. W. Zent on the hill.

Miss Minnie Prater of Ellensburg, stopped off Wednesday on her way home from the St. Louis fair for a few days' visit with friends.

W. C. Reeder and Henry Leonard are in the Mountain home country, southern Idaho, this week, on a land speculation tour.

Mary J. Comstock, a deaconess of Spokane, will speak in the M. E. church next Sunday morning at 11 o'clock a. m.

Dr. and Mrs. H. H. Brown of Wash. tucna, are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Cunningham, Jr., on Knob hill.

Prof. Jas. Austin of Moscow, Idaho, baton wielder and band instructor, is in the city on a short visit.

Clarence F. Straight, a real estate man recently located at the flourishing burg of Lind, is in town.

J. W. Zimmer of Eiler's piano house, made a flying trip to Spokane the middle of the week.

James Finlay and F. J. Hoagland, attorneys of Odessa, are in attendance at court this week.

Albert Bailey, Jr., arrived from Seattle Tuesday for a short visit with his parents and friends.

W. J. Sturdivan, the efficient marshal of Lind, is attending court here as a witness.

Rev. Gentry Rushing will preach at 11 a. m. next Sunday in Tinnel's hall.

Dr. P. W. Yearsley was a Spokane visitor the first of the week.

Read the new ad. of Chittenden, the grocer.

All is in readiness for the performance of "Tony, the Convict," to be presented by the Ritzville Dramatic club at the opera house Wednesday evening, Nov. 23. Arrangements are being made to have the house comfortably warm by extra stoves if the weather is cold. Each one of the cast has been working faithfully at rehearsals to make the play the best ever given in Ritzville, and if rehearsals count for anything, it will be a pronounced success. It has been decided not to give a dance after the performance. Seats will be on sale at Thiel's drug store Monday morning, November 21, at 9 o'clock. The popular prices of 75 and 50 cents will be charged, so come early and get a good seat.

The Crescent society of the Ritzville high school have engaged Cyrus Brownlee Newton, the noted humorist, who will appear at the congregational church Monday evening, December 5th. Among the pleasing features of his entertainments are rare simplicity and naturalness of his humor, refined personality, remarkable melodious voice and great versatility. As an entertainer he has no superior and few equals. Prices 35 and 50 cents.

J. W. Brewer, cashier of the Bank of Wilson Creek, formerly of this city, stopped over here today for a short visit while on his way to Pomeroy to attend the District lodge, I. O. G. T., which convenes there November 22 and 23.

H. S. Collins, agent for the Northwestern Railway company, and E. H. Hutchinson, editor of the Northwest Homeseeker, both of Spokane, are transacting business in the city today.

Albert Bailey and son, Bert, leave Saturday for Ymir, B. C., to examine some mining interests on British soil. They will be absent about ten days.

The Ladies' Aid society of the First Congregational church will hold their annual Thanksgiving baking sale on Wednesday, November 23, 1904.

Violinist Carl Riedelsberger and Pianist Vienna Neel were well received at the Congregational church Wednesday evening.

Seawood A. Fulquartz and John Groves, prominent stockmen of Colville Lake, are among our callers this evening.

Mrs. W. R. Cunningham, Sr., was taken suddenly ill Monday and is now under the care of Dr. J. O. Glenn.

Miss Carrie Schrag is visiting friends in Sprague for a few days.

Mrs. David Richardson.

The people of our little city were shocked to learn of the unexpected death of Mrs. David Richardson at the home in Quincy, Douglas county, on Friday, November 11, 1904.

Death's agony was mercifully brief. Heart trouble, induced by the expected arrival of her son Fred, in whom she bore infinite confidence and great pride, probably had much to do with the sudden demise of the estimable lady, so favorably known to most of our people here, whom the family resided among for some fifteen years. The deceased was married to her now sorrowing, bereaved and prostrated husband at Lagrange, Indiana, in 1872. She was of a retiring, quiet disposition, and a devout member of the Christian church. Interment and impressive funeral ceremonies occurred at the home in Quincy, Sunday, at 2 p. m., Rev. Lucky, an able minister of Wenatchee, officiating in the last sad rites in the presence of a large assemblage of friends and neighbors, the remains being laid at rest in God's acre, the pretty little cemetery near the town of Quincy.

Mrs. Richardson was held in the highest esteem by her neighbors. She was always ready, night or day, to lend a helping hand in distress or sorrow to all of God's children. The piles of flowers placed on her grave when she was laid to rest in Quincy cemetery last Sunday, shows the high regard in which she was held by her neighbors among whom she had lived. The silent tears and solemn steps at the grave attested the great pall of sorrow her death cast on the community.

She leaves a husband, son and daughter, who mourn the loss of an affectionate wife and loving mother, whose face is gone from sight, but whose memory will linger while life shall last.

The comfort to the bereaved ones while they say farewell wife, farewell mother, is that they expect to meet her on that blissful shore of everlasting Peace.

The following is reprinted from the Quincy Quill, which speaks of the sad event for that community:

OBITUARY.

Almost at the hour of going to press the news was received that Mrs. David Richardson had passed to life eternal. The news was so sudden it was almost incredible, but later reports verified the sad intelligence. Death was due to heart failure. Deceased had been actively engaged in house-cleaning, which, together with the excitement attending the home-coming of her only son, who had been away several months, was too much for her and the attendant strain brought on her death at 2:35 p. m., one pathetic feature being that her son was unable to arrive after all her motherly care for him.

Mrs. Richardson was born at Ithaca, N. Y., May 22, 1851, her maiden name being Viola Huffman, a daughter of James M. Huffman. She came west to Lagrange, Indiana, in 1872, where two years later she was married to Mr. Richardson. Together they came to Reno county, Kansas, from there to Helix, Oregon, in 1885, and from Oregon to Ritzville, this state, from which, after 15 years residence, they came to Quincy.

Deceased leaves behind a sorrowing husband, one daughter, Blanche, wife of C. L. Holcomb, prosecuting attorney at Ritzville, and one son, Fred.

Funeral services will be held at the house on Sunday, hour or minister not definite, after which interment will take place in the Quincy burying ground.

The sympathy of the entire community is with the husband and family, but the word is but cold and can but poorly express the sincere regret of a host of friends. Mrs. Richardson was an exemplary wife and mother, and her demise will be deeply felt by both the old and young of Quincy.

Lind Items.

The Commercial club entertained the N. P. officials Saturday for a few minutes with a few choice samples of our products.

W. G. Offutt and wife returned Saturday from the St. Louis fair and other eastern points.

M. B. Campbell and family left Tuesday for the Fair and their old home in Ohio.

Marshall Sturdivan attended court at Ritzville this week.

The real estate firm of Reimenschneider Bros. is added to our list of land brokers.

A secret caucus of the saloon element is said to have been held for the purpose of controlling city affairs in the approaching election. The liquor vote is quite an institution and will probably carry the primaries and doubtless name the municipal governors.
