The Snohomish Sun says: "Show us a man who always 'votes straight,' poundkeeper to president, and we will show you a man who lacks the requisite to make him a desirable American citizen."

The New York Herald figures out that the next house will be democratic by a majority of eighteen. This is less favorable to the democrats than the expectation which has long been entertained by careful observers of the political situation. The majority is more likely to be larger than to be smaller.—Oregonian.

The Grays Harbor Times has the sense to congratulate Aberdeen upon being completely land-locked and upon her deep water frontage. Halifax, the best harbor in the world, also has the good fortune to be described by nautical men, whose business it was to make up sailing directions, as completely land-locked. Perhaps when the editor of the Times "goes to Halifax" his friends there will provide him with a gag to keep him from singing the praises of the place on the opposite side of the deep gulf.

The call for bonding the county for the purpose of refunding the county indebtedness and for road building was the act of the republican county commissioners, one of whom, Jas. Gillies, is a candidate for re-election. Even a part of the republican press cannot swallow the part Mr. Gillies played.

Mr. Gillies would, no doubt, be bound, by his own action, and would see the money expended in the sequence required by the call. The commissioners, however, are not compelled to spend the money in that order. A democratic board of commissioners would, should the voters decide to bond the county, see that the money went to that section of the country needing it most. Mr. Starr, democratic candidate for commissioner from the second district, has been outspoken in his opinion that a goodly portion of this money should be spent in the western part of the county.

The only solution to the problem is a democratic board of county commissioners.

W. J. Starr will be one of our next board of county commissioners. Mr. Starr is a business man clear through, and it is just such men we want to run our county business.

"The greater the demand (for labor) the greater the price that may be asked and obtained."—Bulletin. What if the supply happens to be greater than the great demand?

Sutton has served the people. The people appreciate it, and as next November will, under the new law, be their last chance of showing that appreciation, it will take the form of re-election.

Clarkson regards Blaine as the greatest force in the world to-day. Worshipping Blaine is the only successful issue the republicans have to-day, so, as a matter of course, he is the greatest force. They tried to make the lodge bill the greatest force of the day, but they could not force that issue upon the people. Even Matthew Stanley Quayled before it.—Montesano Democrat.

One of the republican papers of county speaks of free trade driving American shipping from the waters, and in the next breath says that the policy of the republican party will soon dot the ocean with American flags. The logic of this is not comprehensible; but the truth is that there is no American shipping, and it is the policy of the republican party that has blotted them from—not dotted them on—our waters.

According to accounts received, the speakers at the republican meeting at Hoquiam were made the subject of ridicule by those present.

Should Not Be Poor.

"It is presumable, says the Seattle Telegraph, that McKinley holds to the doctrine that people have no right to be poor. He lowers the duty on sealskin saques and leaves it unchanged on black silk, but raises it on many things used by people in moderate circumstances. Here are a few figures on this point:

ARTICLE.	Old rate, per cent.	New rate, per cent.
Cotton Corduroy	35	70
Fine Cassimere	48 1/2	65
Sealskin Saques	33 1/2	20
Silk plush to imitate seal saques	50	11 1/2
Cheapest Woolens	50	11 1/2

Tariff Talk.

A Tacoma merchant advertises as follows: "Buy blankets, comforters! We received through our European buyer the largest and handsomest line of black goods ever opened in the city. Knowing the effect of the McKinley bill on these goods, we bought at very low price in large quantities, thus insuring a low price to customers." And yet, according to the theories of the advantage of the McKinley bill, woolen goods should be cheaper rather than dearer.—Centralia News.

A Liberal Offer.

It should be presumed that the republicans have put forward their best men for office. If such is the case, what do the voters think of the capacity of the republican party, gauging it by its candidate for county attorney?

Is it possible to show that politics should cut any figure in the selection of county attorney? Should anything, save the fitness or unfitness of the candidates, enter into the question?

The HERALD claims that the republican candidate is totally unfit. To prove its sincerity, it makes this liberal offer to the republican central committee: It will give two hundred and fifty dollars to the republican central committee if it will permit its candidate for county attorney to make, to-day in our presence unaided, a legal form of indictment. The only condition imposed being that the document or thing resulting be the property of the HERALD, and that we have full privilege to use it as a campaign document.

The republicans of Chehalis county must be afraid of their principles, and for the standard-bearers of those principles. The republican central committee declines having its candidates meet the democratic candidates before the people for the purpose of discussing the issues of the day, and that the voters of Chehalis county might have the better opportunity to form an estimate of those who are candidates for public favor.

There are many voters in Chehalis county who will go to the polls in the state of Washington for the first time on the 4th of November. These voters at least should have been given the chance to make a comparison of the candidates.

Does the republican party think it has a mortgage on the offices of the county? That all it has to do is to put up men, fit or unfit, and foreclose on election day? It looks that way.

The St. Louis Globe-Democrat (Rep.) says the new tariff law "will not arouse any wild enthusiasm among western republicans as a class."

Common Sense and the Tariff Question.

Now, if the most superficial examination had been given to the kind of work which is to be done in dipping sheets of iron or steel into melted tin by hand, no machine having been invented for displacing this process, it would have been found that it is an art for which the people of Wales not only possess an inherited aptitude, but also that it is one which could not be established in this country without importing the Welshmen to do it, because we have so many opportunities for work, under more wholesome and profitable conditions, that we can not afford to do such work, no matter what the inducement may be.

In other words, the policy advocated by the republican party is one of protection and not of protection, and it is avowedly sustained by many prominent republicans against their avowed conviction of what would be beneficial, and merely because an assumed party necessity compels them to surrender their own convictions of right.

On the other side, the policy advocated by the democratic party for protecting American industry is to exempt from taxation all articles of foreign origin which, either in a crude or in a partly manufactured state, are necessary or useful in the processes of domestic industry. They hold that our capacity to produce food which the world must have or suffer from hunger; cotton, without which the commerce of nations would be crippled; oil which we can not burn ourselves; goods, wares, tools, and implements of many varieties, the best of their kind; all our great crops made and all our goods being produced or manufactured at the highest rates of wages and yet at the lowest cost as compared with any other country in the world, enables us to exchange these products for the crude or partly manufactured materials, the raw wool, the tin plates, and for whatever we need which foreign laborers or workmen desire to sell in exchange.

They hold that if we can get for one day's work at high wages in our own country the product of ten day's work even of foreign paupers, we can not afford to do that kind of work for ourselves; they hold that by such exchange we may gain yet higher wages and larger profits, the wider we can extend our commerce on such terms.

They hold that what we receive from other countries in exchange for the excess of our products which we can not consume, becomes as much a part of our own product as if these necessary commodities had been produced on our own soil or from our own mines and forests.

They hold that the home market is most fully established when all possible obstructions to the mutual service of nations are removed and the utmost facility given to the people of every land to send to our home market what we need and to buy in our home market what we do not want for our own use.

That is free trade, qualified by the necessity of obtaining a revenue from duties on selected imports. When we have attained it we may wonder why any one ever dreaded it; and if I may once more repeat my favorite quotation from Mr. Gladstone, "Then will the ships that pass between this land and that be like the shuttle of the loom, weaving the web of concord among the nations."

Between these two lines of policy every voter will soon be compelled to choose, and by making this choice a great change in the relative influence and importance of one party or the other will be brought about unless we can separate this question from party politics.—Atkinson in Popular Science.

Democratic Speaking.

The democratic central committee have arranged for speaking as follows:

- October 28, Grand Forks and Damon, 7:30 p. m.
- Oct. 29, Hoquiam and Montesano, 7:30 p. m.
- Oct. 30, Grays Harbor and Elma, 7:30 p. m.
- Oct. 31, Sharon, 1 p. m., Ocosta and Oakville, 7:30 p. m.
- Nov. 1, Cedarville, 1 p. m., Cosmopolis and Murray school house, 7:30 p. m.
- Nov. 3d, Grand Rally at Montesano.

J. J. Carney, A. H. Kennedy and W. J. Starr speak in the tip country places, and B. F. Johnston, U. W. Callerman and M. Z. Goodell at the river and harbor points. Other speakers will also address the meeting.

Notice.

Notice is hereby given that the Board of County Commissioners of Chehalis County have performed their duty in reference to the appraisal of school lands in Chehalis county, and have made out their report and placed same on file in the office of the auditor of said Chehalis county, subject to the inspection of the public.

Democratic County Platform.

The Chehalis county democracy in convention assembled at Cosmopolis, October 4, 1890, hereby renews its fealty to the democratic party and adherence to its principles as enunciated in the national platform of 1888, adopted at St. Louis, the state platform lately adopted at Seattle, and the wise and statesmanlike messages, utterances and speeches of that honest and fearless American citizen, Grover Cleveland, and warmly ratify the nomination for representative in congress of that faithful, gallant and capable democrat, Hon. Thomas Carroll.

We denounce the attempt of the republicans in congress to usurp power, to stifle proper discussion of public measures, to substitute the dictatorship of the speaker for the considerate action of a deliberative assembly, to enact into a law the monstrous proposals for overturning the election laws of the states.

We denounce the McKinley tariff bill which increases taxation while it lessens revenue, strangles commerce, enhances the cost of living and production, obstructs the enterprise of ship building and the employment of mechanics and navigators, and piles new burdens on agriculture without obtaining for the farmer—to use the language of the Catiline of American politics, J. G. Blaine—a market for an additional bushel of wheat or barrel of pork—while at the same time our ports are left wide open for the entrance of pauper labor to compete with our industrial classes.

Situated as is our county and state, intended by nature as they are for the support of a great and growing commerce, destined as we are to become the center of a thriving shipping industry if we are allowed an unrestricted communication with foreign ports and nations, we unequivocally declare for a radical reduction of all protective tariffs, and a rapid adoption of the freest communication and trade with other countries.

We believe in just and equitable pension legislation, designed to compensate the deserving and worthy soldiers and sailors of the republic who have been wounded in their country's service, as well as for the widows and orphans of deceased soldiers or sailors; but we denounce the political debauchery of the republican party in its attempt to gain votes by wasteful pension legislation.

We are in favor of the unlimited coinage of silver, and demand that it be placed in its true position as one of the monetary standards.

We denounce the trifling and dilatory course of the republicans in the state legislature, by which they have squandered the money of the people by voting salaries to themselves during an unnecessarily long holiday recess; and appointing clerks whose only important function was to draw salaries of $5.00 per day; and wasted their vast opportunities for public good in useless or injurious legislation; and we congratulate the small but spirited minority on their vigorous protest against the policy of the majority.

We insist upon the enactment of state laws to prevent trusts or combinations from controlling the markets of farm products or necessary commodities of any kind; to provide for publishing school books and supplying them at cost; and to provide for the administration of our state affairs with more wisdom and economy than has been shown, and with the fewest agents necessary for the service.

We are opposed to all sumptuary laws designed to restrict and hem in the individual in the exercise of his constitutional and personal rights. The greatest freedom consistent with good government has ever been the watchword of the democracy, and we renew our adherence to the Jeffersonian principle of equal rights to all and special rights to none.

J. B. Haynes wishes to inform the readers of the HERALD that he will have a steam wood saw in operation in Aberdeen in a few days, which will very much cheapen the cost of re-sawing wood. This is something that is very much needed here. He will also open a wood yard and furnish all kinds of wood and fir bark at reasonable prices.
