CAPITAL AND LABOR

SHOULD BE AT PEACE, SAYS CARDINAL GIBBONS.

Eminent Divine Declares Contest Between Employer and Employee is Unreasonable and Hurtful. Advocates Policy of Arbitration of Disputes. The Strike a Poor Remedy

"There should not and need not be any conflict between labor and capital, since both are necessary for the public good and the one depends upon the other.

"A contest between the employer and employee is as unreasonable and as hurtful to the social body as a war between the head and the hands would be to the physical body. Such an antagonism recalls the fabled conspiracy on the part of the members of the body against the stomach."

In these words His Eminence James, Cardinal Gibbons sums up his views of industrial strife. In an article in the forthcoming number of Putnam's Monthly his eminence outlines the relations that exist between the employer and the employee and makes a strong plea for peace between the forces of capital and labor. In the course of his article his eminence says:

"Whoever tries to sow discord between the capitalist and the laborer is an enemy of the social order. Every measure should be, therefore, discontinued that sustains the one at the expense of the other.

"Whoever strives to improve the friendly relations between the proprietors and the labor unions by suggesting the most effectual means of diminishing and even removing the causes of discontent is a benefactor to the community.

"I take it for granted that all unions and other societies of American laboring men are disposed to array themselves on the side of peace and order and are as strongly opposed to violations of the law as other citizens. Hence they should exert their influence to see that the laws are upheld if they would maintain the respect with which they are regarded by their fellows. It is not only a question of patriotism, but of self interest which deeply concerns them.

"Experience has shown that strikes are a drastic, and at best, a very questionable remedy for the redress of the laborer's grievances. They paralyze industry; they often foment fierce passions, and lead to the destruction of property; and, above all, they result in inflicting grievous injury on the laborer himself by keeping him in enforced idleness.

WOOD PULP AND PAPER

AN INDUSTRY THAT MEANS MUCH TO ABERDEEN.

Miniature Mill Now in Operation, Making Paper Out of Saw Mill Waste. Aberdeen Presents Great Advantages for This Industry. Mill Now Assured.

Ever since the manufacture of lumber at Aberdeen assumed any magnitude the problem of utilizing the waste material from the mills has received consideration from all who observed the immense quantity of slabs, short ends, shavings and sawdust that was destroyed, at a cost, to the various mills. A couple of years ago, the Chamber of Commerce took up the subject with a view of securing a wood pulp and paper mill that would convert the waste into good dollars.

This publicity by the chamber—showing the amount of raw material to be had at nominal cost, and the rail and water transportation facilities at Aberdeen—has attracted considerable correspondence on the subject, which resulted in the arrival of Greely Kolts and J. C. W. Stanley from Los Angeles a few weeks ago, bringing with them a complete paper and pulp mill in miniature for the purpose of testing the material.

The advantages here were readily apparent, and Mr. Kolts proceeded to form the Pacific Coast Wood Pulp and Paper Co., with a capital stock of $1,000,000, to erect a plant and manufacture pulp, pulp board and paper in South Aberdeen, the output of which will be 100 tons wood pulp, 100 tons wood pulp board, 150 tons of news paper and 150 tons of manila wrapping paper per week, and furnish employment to between 600 and 800 people.

The company has established general offices at 302 East Market street, where the small mill is set up and is constantly turning out paper from sawdust and chips, the operation of which Mr. Kolts or Mr. Stanley will be pleased to show to all interested.

The estimated cost of the plant, to produce 500 tons of finished product per week is $442,000, including $50,000 working capital. The weekly cost for labor and material is liberally estimated at $10,703, a total for a year of $524,196.

The following is a list of the officers and directors of the company:

BLACKCATS LOSE TWO

PHIL DELLAR RATTLES THE HEAVY HITTERS.

Could Find the Ball But Three Times Tuesday. Tigers Pound Higginbotham for Five Runs. Starkell Pitches a Good Game Yesterday With Better Result.

TACOMA, Sept. 17.—Phil Dellar pitched himself to victory today in the opening game of the series with Aberdeen. The score was 5 to 1. Dellar threw a remarkable game, allowing the leaders three scattering hits, two of which were made in the eighth inning. While he did not create a strike out record for himself, he served the ball up in such pretty doses that it was almost impossible for the Black Cats to do anything with him, the heavy hitters on the visiting team going out on little infield swats or flies to the outfield.

Tacoma opened up in the first inning by scoring one; Martinke slugged the ball into left field for three bases and scored on Stovill's fly to Van Buren. Martinke's fast base running stuck out prominently in his three bagger, showing that most runners would have been able to get but two bases on the hit. Shaw hit to Anderson in the third and beat it out; then Higginbotham got sore and threw the ball into right field when he tried to catch Shaw off first and "Hunky" went on around to third and continued home on Streib's throw. Spencer took the ball and tossed it to Higginbotham at the plate, but "Higgy" was up in the air and muffed it.

Shea reached first on a fielder's choice in the fifth and scored from first base on Dellar's double to right field, which was poorly fielded by Householder. In the next Lynch's men got two more on errors by Brown and Benedict Anderson and some clever base running of their own.

Aberdeen's lone run came in the eighth. Anderson doubled to the amusement of Mrs. "Andy," went to third when Brown singled and scored on Spencer's fly to Marshall.

Yesterday Brown's Pussies did better, although they lost a hard fought game, 1 to 0, they put up as pretty a game of ball as Tacoma fans seldom witness. The loss of those two games still leaves the Cats 42 points ahead in the percentage column, and it's dollars to doughnuts they will carry the pennant to Aberdeen at the final wind-up.

LETTER FROM TAFT.

Louis H. Burnett Receives Thanks of Secretary for Souvenir Spoon.

Louis H. Burnett has received an autograph letter from Secretary Taft, acknowledging his appreciation of the souvenir gold spoon presented by Mr. Burnett on the occasion of his visit to Aberdeen. Mr. Taft says:

"My Dear Mr. Burnett: I did not have an opportunity personally to extend to you my thanks for your kind present of a beautiful memento of my visit to Aberdeen. I much appreciate your hospitality and kindness, and beg to express my gratitude therefor.

"With the hope that our paths may cross in the near future, believe me,

"Sincerely yours,

"WM. H. TAFT."

"UNCLE JOSH PERKINS."

Celebrated Comedy Drama at the Grand Next Sunday Evening.

In presenting the celebrated comedy drama, "Uncle Josh Perkins" to the amusement loving public, it is unnecessary to make an elaborate introduction. Free from offensive horse play and vulgarity, masquerading as wit, yet full of wholesome fun and delicate touches of pathos, the whole pointing a healthy moral that makes one feel the better for having seen it. "Uncle Josh Perkins" is a play of pastoral purity and intense interest, introducing fourteen distinct and truthful types of character interpreted by a superb company who unfold with artistic skill an American story of absorbing charm and complication. The engagement in this city is for one night only at the Grand, Sunday evening, September 22.

CALLS IT ANARCHY

CHRISTIAN ADVOCATE ON CARMEN'S STRIKE.

Warns the Press of San Francisco to Change its Moral Tone and Stand for Law and Order. Car Strike Causes Much Suffering in That City.

during which time his mind is clouded by discontent while brooding over his situation, and his family not infrequently suffers from the want of the necessaries of life.

"The loss inflicted by strikes on the employers is not much more than half as great as that which is sustained by the employed, who can much less afford to bear it. It would be a vast stride in the interests of peace and of the laboring classes if the policy of arbitration, which is now gaining favor for the settlement of international quarrels, were also availed of for the adjustment of disputes between capital and labor."

The San Francisco carmen's strike has now continued for about three months. The direct loss to the carmen in wages and incidentals to maintain the strike is estimated by the San Francisco Chronicle, $4,000,000. The indirect loss to the working people of this stricken city is probably as much more. The merchants, contractors and general commercial classes have suffered a loss of nearly as much. It is impossible to trace the effects of this appalling financial loss. In addition to the suffering of the 2,000 striking carmen, hundreds and probably thousands of clerks have been discharged on account of lack of employment due to strike conditions.

Great as is the financial loss, the greatest in the history of the city, yet the loss in higher values is inestimably greater. The generation and cultivation of coarse brutality; the murderous and rancorous spirit which has dominated the streets of San Francisco for the past 100 days, have lowered the average manhood of the city by many degrees. The confidence of the public at large has been broken. The tide of marvelous prosperity which was rising to the dimensions of an abounding wave has been turned back.

This is not all. The actual suffering of the working classes has been very great. The families of the carmen have suffered and will suffer. They have been driven from their homes. Thousands have been compelled to leave the city and are drifting aimlessly about under a blinding sense of injustice. Nearly every sort of loss has a compensating side but the strike has none. If a city is burnt down the work necessary to rebuild it is an asset. Even the destruction of war creates new and generally better conditions, but the strike is a form of bitter desperation which disintegrates everything sacred in the civil order. It is essentially anarchy, no matter what the provocation. Its basic moral principle is vengeance, personal retaliation, an attempt to right a wrong without a process of civil procedure.

If God has made any revelation to man it is to the effect that blind rage is weakness. Back of all the social and political trouble in San Francisco is lawlessness. The disgraced and convicted mayor practically proclaimed at the beginning of his administration that it was not necessary to obey the law. He definitely stated that under strike conditions the law would not be enforced. He is essentially and first an anarchist. His stealings are personal sins, bad enough, but the treacherous principle of his reign of vice has been anarchy. No one should be deceived. San Francisco has been in an anarchistic condition from the day that he took oath of office. The end is not yet. Unless the press of San Francisco changes its moral tone and stands for law and order, we are but in the beginning of fermentation and disintegration. The strike is a form of anarchy which breeds economic death.—California Christian Advocate.
