

The Married Woman

With a bank account in her own name can justly feel independent. As a rule the wife is the economical member of the household and as a class are more saving than men.

A large number of women have bank accounts here and transact their own business.

Would it not be wise to open an account for the wife and allow her to pay all the household expenses by check?

All accounts are welcome here.

WHALING STATION IMPROVES ITS PLANT

Installs Drier to Do Away With Disagreeable Odors—Plant Is Running Full Blast

Further improvements have been made at the South Bay whaling station by the starting of the drier.

With the drier working the disagreeable odor which has been noticeable around the plant, practically will be eliminated. The odor has been due to the whale meat becoming a little old before the plant has been able to handle it. The plant has been kept busy since the first whales were brought in, as up to Wednesday thirteen leviathans had been killed. The drier will take the whale meat and dry it out thoroughly thus eliminating the odor.

At present the plant is employing 110 men, and is paying wages of from $40 to $50 per month, with board and lodging. The company has had difficulty in keeping its men up to date, on account of the odors arising from the whale meat, but it is believed this will be overcome by the use of the drier.

Since the whaling station began operations there has been almost a constant line of visitors. Many people have made the trip down the Harbor for the sole purpose of visiting the plant, while others spending the day at the Westport beach, have crossed to the station. The management is considering setting apart certain days of the week for visiting days.

SUPREME COURT UPHOLDS NEW LAW

Rules that Commission Form of Government Is Constitutional in Walla Walla Case

OLYMPIA, July 8.—The state supreme court yesterday held constitutional the law passed by the last legislature authorizing cities with from 2,500 and 20,000 inhabitants to adopt a commission form of government. The court held that the laws does not change the functions of the municipality but merely the instrumentality of handling the functions, that this is not class legislation but merely forms a new classification of cities and towns. Furthermore, the court holds that every law passed by the legislature is constitutional unless it clearly violates some provision of the constitution. The case came up from Walla Walla, where the mayor refused to issue a call for a special election to let the voters pass on the question of its adoption.
