Cream the butter; add the sugar, yolks of eggs and water; then the flour, sifted three times with the baking powder; lastly the whites of eggs. Bake in two or three layers; put these together with cream filling, and dredge the top with confectioner's sugar.

Cream Filling

One-fourth cup sifted flour; 1/4 tea-spoonful salt; 1 cup hot milk; 1 egg, beaten light; 1/2 cup sugar; 1 tea-spoonful vanilla extract; 1 ounce chocolate.

People with kidney ills want to be cured. When one suffers the tortures of an aching back, relief is eagerly sought for. There are many remedies today that relieve but do not cure. Here is evidence to prove that Doan's Kidney Pills cure, and the cure is lasting:

J. N. Markham, Academy Addition, Montesano, Wash., says: "The public statement I gave in 1908, recommending Doan's Kidney Pills still holds good. This remedy gave me lasting relief." (Statement given Jan. 14, 1910.)

The endorsement referred to by Mr. Markham was in substance as follows: "Kidney trouble came on me gradually and had a tendency toward dropsy. The pains in my back were almost constant and I suffered more severely when I overworked. My body bloated at times and my flesh was soft and flabby. I tried easily and knew that something must soon be done. Doan's Kidney Pills were recommended to me by an acquaintance who had used them with benefit and I was finally led to get a supply. I had taken this remedy but a short time before the pain left my back and gradually the bloating diminished. I am today in much better health and give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for making this change."

THE TRUTH ABOUT BLUING.

Talk No. 2.

Avoid liquid bluing. Don't buy water for bluing. All the water contained is so much adulteration. Glass bottles make an expensive package; add nothing to value to consumer.

Always ask for RED CROSS BLUE. The blue that's all blue. Makes the laundress smile out loud. Large package 5 cents. ALL GROCERS.

With mosquito netting and wire screens as cheap as they are, there is no good reason why either country or town folks should sleep with windows down or spend the hour before getting up pawing the pesky pests.

It is the same with quack grass and other things as with bad habits—a hole lot easier to be careless and let them get a foothold than to get them out afterward. The secret of eradication is the same with all—vigilance, persistence and perseverance.

The piece of ground which failed to give a stand of corn because of cutworms or which was too wet in the spring may be made to do duty yet by putting it to millet or buckwheat. Either will yield a paying crop and, besides this, will keep the weeds in subjection.

If the herd bull has not been or cannot be broken to do some of the work on the farm he should be given the run of a good sized paddock and another bovine of the same gender or two or three big stumps to touse around to give him needed exercise. If he has this exercise his offspring will be stronger and he will also be better natured.

There seems to be considerable rivalry among Texas cotton growers as to who shall be first in getting a bale of the new season's cotton on the market. This season a bale was marketed at Houston on June 12, which is said to beat the best previous record by eleven days. This bale weighed 463 pounds and brought $1,015, or approximately $2.05 per pound.

The latest arguments put forward in favor of the skunk is that he is one of the best of rat catchers and a voracious consumer of cutworms, army worms, tobacco worms, white grubs and May beetles, as well as grasshoppers and crickets. Investigations which have been made as to the economic value of the skunk class it as an animal entitled to man's protection.

It is estimated that a circular barn can be built at from 30 to 40 per cent less than the common rectangular barn of like capacity. More than this, the circular barn is stronger and can be more conveniently arranged on the interior. About the only drawback with the circular structure is that not one man in ten knows how to put one up nor relishes the job even if he does know how.

A York state miser had no faith in banks and so put $47,000 which he had hoarded during many years in what he thought a safe nook in his house. But the structure caught fire the other day, and the savings of many years went up in smoke. Notwithstanding the fact that instances like the above are of almost daily occurrence there are a whole lot of folks who still believe that an old trunk, a tin can or a stove is a better place of safety than a bank.

A question that naturally comes to the Ohio or Illinois farmer who goes to the southwest is whether listing as a method of planting corn is preferable to plowing and planting by the check row method. This matter has been given a pretty thorough test at several experiment stations in states where listing is practiced, and if there is any difference at all in the yield of corn secured by the two methods it is slightly in favor of the latter method.

There are a good many sections this year in which the only farmers who will harvest a crop of corn worth speaking of will be those who persist in frequent cultivation even after the time when the field is usually laid by. If the drought persists the cultivation should be continued with single horse cultivators or, what gives just as satisfactory results, an old mower wheel hauled between the rows of corn just as it lies on the ground. This levels and pulverizes the soil and gives the desired dust mulch.

Experience which seems to be quite general points to the truth of the fact that, while a silo built of cement blocks or common brick without re-enforcement with steel girders may hold together for a year or so, in the end they are quite likely to go to pieces. Not long ago a big cement block silo at one of the Illinois state farms collapsed and not only came close to killing several persons who were working near it, but all of the silage which it contained was a dead loss. It costs more in the beginning to re-enforce silos with rods of steel placed in courses of material of which the silo is built, but it is economy of a most commendable sort in the long run.

A spray which is excellent in the killing of the several kinds of lice that infest plum, apple and some other fruit trees is the kerosene emulsion. To make shave a one pound bar of laundry soap into a gallon of soft water, which should be heated to boiling, so the soap will be completely dissolved. Remove from stove and pour in slowly one pint of kerosene, stirring the while vigorously. The stirring should be continued until the oil combines with the suds and forms a creamy solution. Stir into this two gallons of cold soft water, and the solution is ready for use. Another preparation is made by steeping tobacco stems or leaves in water at the rate of about a pound and a half to five gallons of water. The latter spray is preferable where one has large trees or a considerable area to cover.

THE CONQUEROR.

It's easy to laugh when the skies are blue
And the sun is shining bright—
Yes, easy to laugh when your friends are true
And there's happiness in sight.
But when hope has fled and the skies are gray
And the friends of the past have turned away,
Ah, then indeed it's a hero's feat
To conjure a smile in the face of defeat.

It's easy to laugh when the storm is o'er
And your ship is safe in port—
Yes, easy to laugh when you're on the shore
Secure from the tempest's sport.
But when wild waves wash o'er the storm swept deck
And your gallant ship is a battered wreck,
Ah, that is the time when it's well worth while
To look in the face of defeat with a smile.

It's easy to laugh when the battle's fought
And you know that the victory's won—
Yes, easy to laugh when the prize you sought
Is yours when the race is run.
But here's to the man who can laugh when the blast
Of adversity blows. He will conquer at last.
For the hardest man in the world to beat
Is the man who can laugh in the face of defeat.
—Emil Carl Aurin.

Thackeray in France.
France might reckon Thackeray, along with Edward, the king of sunny memories, as the most Parisian of Britons, for truly did Thackeray know and love the life of the boulevards, ebbing and flowing between the Bastille and the Bois, the cafes and the theaters, himself most aptly described by his own lines:
His hand was free, his means was easy
A finer, nobler set than I
Never drove around the Rhona Elysee
Nor paced the Rue de Rivoli
—Henry Watterson in Courier-Journal
He—I feel during that I am no half good enough to be your husband.
She—But what, George?
He—'I'm a darn sight too good to be the son-in-law of your grouchy parents.
—New York Journal.

SUSPEND WEEKLY LUNCHEONS

HOQUIAM, July 26.—The Commercial club will hold no more of its weekly luncheons until after September 1. The beach season has taken many of the business men out of the city for the few months and the attendance has been so small that the club officers have discontinued the plan.

KALESTRO'S VICTIM RECOVERS

Tom Rice, who was thought to have been fatally shot by I. Kalestro three weeks ago, has so far recovered as to be able to sit up. Kalestro, who disappeared after the shooting, has not been found, though an active search has been kept up for him by the sheriff's office and the police of Aberdeen and Hoquiam.

TRACTS ALL SOLD

A few weeks ago Judge J. C. Pearson platted nineteen garden tracts, near Junction city and placed them on the market. The judge went to Westport last week on his annual vacation, leaving the sale of the tracts to his son Daniel. On Tuesday Dan sold out the bunch of tracts, closing deals for twelve of them that day.

The conveyor which slipped from a scow in the Chehalis river Tuesday afternoon was recovered by the bridge workmen yesterday. C. Stagger, the diver of the construction company, went below and fastened a line to it. It was hoisted by a large donkey engine.

Considerable delay has been experienced by the Tacoma Dredging company which is making the big fill on the tide flats. The giant cutter that loosens the material in the bottom of the rived bed, has struck all manner of obstructions, chiefly logs and stumps. Work is proceeding vigorously however. On a normal run the pipes discharge matter 20 per cent of which is solid matter. This is a very good proportion to be pumped through long pipes.

TELEPHONE NUMBER CHANGED

The City Messenger company has installed two telephones, Nos. 5931 and 5941, one of which is always open. Call either number and "Central" will get us."
K. L. ZEEK, manager.

FROM OKLAHOMA.

Adam Schubert arrived last week from Chickasha, Oklahoma, with a view of locating, and has decided that in a long search for a change of location, Aberdeen looks good to him. Mr. Schubert has leased a store at 192 South G street, opposite the post-office, where he will establish a ladies' and gents' tailoring establishment.

CAPTAIN BILLINGSLEY.

Captain Billingsley, who moved from Aberdeen to San Diego, Cal., last spring, was in the city early in the week on business. The genial captain was kept busy while here shaking hands with his numerous friends. He has an abiding confidence in the future of San Diego, but still believes that Aberdeen is destined to become one of the leading commercial seaports of the Pacific coast.

RETURNS OPTIMISTIC

H. J. Blake, who is managing the Boston store for its creditors, returned Tuesday night from a visit of several weeks in the middle western states. Mr. Blake returns quite optimistic regarding business conditions and predicts a general increase in all lines in the coming fall. He bases his predictions upon the immense crops now being harvested all over the country, and the disposition of bankers to decline to assist the farmers in holding those crops for speculative purposes, a policy that resulted last year in disaster and loss in Eastern Washington.

GUN SHOOT WILL BE HELD AUGUST 20.

Teams From Company G and the City Will Compete for Honors in Target Practice.

August 20th two teams will compete in target practice out at the state range near Grays Harbor City. One team will be chosen from the crack marksmen of the local company of the National Guard; the other will be a team from some of the old shooters of Aberdeen. Officers of Company G will act as officials. The distance for the shooting will be 200 yards, 500 yards and 1000 yards, according to the regular rules of target practice. Members of the company will also give exhibition drill in skirmish run shooting.

This is merely one of the means taken by the officers of the company to stimulate target practice among the members. Every Sunday during August the men plan to go down to the range for thorough work in shooting.

PERSONAL TAX HEAVIER

MONTESANO, July 26.—A summary of the personal property tax for 1911 has been made and the total of these taxes this year is $4,174,000, over $1,000,000 more than last year. This amount does not include the personal property of the railroads, which will swell the aggregate considerably. This registers an increase of more than 5 per cent. over last year's.

OAKVILLE ODD FELLOWS PREPARING FOR PICNIC

OAKVILLE, July 26.—The members of the I. O. O. F. lodge and their families are making elaborate preparations to attend the county picnic at Pacific Beach Saturday. Quite a number will drive through in autos, while others will take advantage of the special train, which leaves Oakville at 6:40 a. m.

Out of the ten or a dozen lodges represented in Oakville the Odd Fellows are by far the strongest order, and they will be well represented at the beach Saturday.
