NEW EVENING WRAPS.

Butterfly Bows and Bustle Draperies New Style Features.

THE BUTTERFLY WRAP

The most artistic ideas are carried in evening wraps. Every smart woman now wears a large bow at the waist. The model illustrated here is a French design fashioned in Egyptian crape. It has the huge butterfly bow at the waist line. The new bustle back drapery is used on it with quiet effect. On many new evening gowns and wraps tassels are prominent. They are ideal weights for draperies, and yet they have a decorative value, especially those that reflect beads of many colors. The jet tassels answer so well the demand for cut jet that they are being used in many ways. Cordlike girdles of jet and beads give a classic air to many evening gowns in which the simple Greek lines have been retained. Medici collars of silver lace, ostrich ruching, jeweled girdles, velvet flowers and lace decorated with strass and silver or gold threads are a few of the methods by which quality is made the feature of the present day evening costumes.

cherry tree emblem, crossed flags, colonial hats and other decorations of a suitable character. The box illustrated here is designed in red, white and blue. A medallion portrait of the Father of His Country surmounts the small silk flag on the top of the box.

A Convenient Dressing. A most efficient antiseptic wet dressing, poultice and cold pack may be made in the following manner: Soak a sufficient amount of gauze in one part of alcohol to three parts of water. Apply to the part to be treated thoroughly wet, just short of dripping; cover with rubber tissue and bind firmly with a bandage. Such an application many times takes the place of an leech in reducing swellings or acute inflammation. On the other hand, it will hasten suppuration of a boil or abscess that cannot be aborted as well as the old-fashioned poultice. This alcohol dressing should be renewed every twelve hours. If the bandage is put on tightly, so that no air gets under the rubber tissue, the dressing becomes a warm one, acting like a poultice. If the bandage is put on more loosely, so that air gets under the rubber tissue, allowing the alcoholic solution to evaporate slowly, the dressing is a cold one, acting like an ice bag.

Couldn't Hear It. A man who was charged in a London court with intoxication and was charged with the charge, adding: "As to the language, I know nothing about that because I'm deaf."

Economy Hints

A penny saved is a penny earned.—Benjamin Franklin.

How to Save Steps.

WHEN she was dressed in the morning to go down to prepare her early breakfast she threw open her beds and windows and gathered up all pitchers, glasses or anything that had to go downstairs and took them with her. After breakfast she went to the front of the house, pulled up shades, gathered up papers and scrap baskets and carried them back to the kitchen with her. Then, breakfast over, the dining room and kitchen were quickly set in order, the refrigerator and closets put to rights, dinner and luncheon plans made and the needs of the day decided upon. Then she started to the front of the house with the emptied scrap baskets and placed a chair at the foot of the stairs.

Everything that went upstairs was placed on that chair, and after the dressing was done the things were carried up. A chair was placed in the upper hall, and as the rooms were done up for the day everything that went down was placed on the chair. Next the lamps were all filled and put back in their brackets, range fire shut down and the furnace drafts also closed down, and then the little lady dressed and went to market. All this had been done, and it was only 10:30 o'clock. In one hour she was back, a half hour she devoted to light mending and a half hour to getting her luncheon. At 1:30 o'clock she was free until dinner time. All the heavy work was done on the two days that she had help, and on the other days her system worked perfectly, and the housework went without a jar, and not once did one ever hear a complaint of overwork or unhappiness. She had accumulated every convenience to work with and by using her head never took a step that did not count. A house where the work is always in order and causes not half the work that slipshod methods make for the housekeeper.

WEDDING BOXES.

How to Make Receptacles For Bride Cake at Home.

It is quite possible to cover small boxes for wedding cake at home if you have clever fingers and are willing to spend the time necessary to do the work well. A wedding cake box should, of course, always be simple. White is the only color permissible on it unless a small bunch of flowers, with green stems the flowers must be white. I used as decoration.

If you would not like these boxes buy small boxes of the desired shape and size and then buy paper to cover them. White crinkled paper can be used, a good way to put the paper in the cover, which is the only part that shows when the box is closed, is to paste it only on the under side. Cut two strips of paper, one the width of the box, another the length, both running with the grain of the paper.

Paste the end of one strip to the under part of one end of the cover; draw it out over the end, the top and the other end of the cover, and then cut it off, allowing an inch of paper to paste on the under part of the other end of the cover. Fasten the crosswise piece in the same way.

Make tiny white paper flowers and fasten a little bunch of them to the cover with a small bow of baby white satin ribbon.

How to Warm Wrapped Bread.

Many persons who are fond of freshly baked and even warm baker's bread have, it seems, been opposing the modern sanitary methods of having all bread wrapped and sealed cold and not handled by clerks or exposed to dust, flies, germs and filth on counters or in wagons. The bureau of eugenics of the department of agriculture regards the wrapping of bread as so important that it has caused the plant chemistry laboratory to make a series of experiments to determine whether those who like fresh or warm bread cannot get what they want in wrapped form. Bread fresh from the oven if wrapped while warm becomes moist and clammy and of unpleasant flavor. Loaves therefore must be allowed to cool thoroughly before being wrapped. After some experiment the experts found that if a cold wrapped loaf is unwrapped and placed in a pan in the oven in good medium heat for ten minutes it will be as good as fresh, crisp without and tender within, and at the same time will be free from any pollution it might have gained if conveyed unprotected from baker to consumer. The bureau believes that if lovers of warm bread will try this plan they, too, will become ardent advocates of the clean, wrapped method of purveying bread.

How to Remove Paint.
