The Administration's Mexican Record

It might have been better six months ago to have proceeded summarily, to have occupied Mexican ports, and to have tried to find means (short of complete invasion, involving warfare) for enforcing American rights in Mexico. But, while things may seem otherwise in the perspectives of history, it would now appear that President Wilson's forbearance and his policy of watchful waiting have been in accord with the spirit of enlightened statesmanship, and have formed a creditable part of our record of international dealings. The movement of our fleet last month showed that President Wilson thought the time had come for a more emphatic expression of our views; but it did not mean a confession of new views, or an admission that the policy of the previous thirteen months had been a mistake. President Wilson surely had no idea of allowing us to become embroiled in a great and cruel war; but doubtless he meant henceforth to use every means short of warfare to protect American interests and to mitigate the evils of the general situation. If nothing had been involved but questions of theory, we ought to have interfered long ago. But in the practical weighing of gains and losses, it had been felt that military interference in the full sense would have been the greater evil. Such was the state of things until the "Tampico incident" led to critical developments.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for May.

The Trouble in Colorado

Practically the first order made by the U. S. army officials upon their arrival in the mining districts in Colorado was that the gunmen and armed guards employed by the mining companies be disarmed. The Tribune pointed out some time ago that this was the first essential step to a restoration of order. The striking miners have promptly submitted to the order that they surrender their arms. They have insisted from the beginning that they were armed only in self defense, to protect themselves from the gunmen of the mine operators. The Colorado authorities invited the reign of anarchy and bloodshed which has existed in the mining districts for nearly a year when they slyly let the duty of law enforcement to the hired fighters of the mining companies. The law that injustice breeds injustice, that lawlessness breeds lawlessness, has not been repealed. Property rights will be respected in Colorado when the state authorities show respect for legitimate personal rights. Colorado has been trying the dangerously anarchistic experiment of violating half the law in the interest of enforcement of the other half. Colorado needs to resume her own government, too long abdicated in the interests of arrogant and selfish wealth. When that is done, the state will have no further need of Federal troops.

Peace and Justice

President Wilson, the Idealist, standing for peace abroad and justice at home, has been the strongest personality in the world during the past year. His firmness in opposing predatory business, and his determination to carry out legislation in the interests of the country at large, have rallied the support of such a body of sane citizens as have not stood behind a President in this country for generations. And this same firmness and fairness was carried into his foreign policy. For a year he has disregarded sneers abroad and taunts at home, and continued in the way of peace and honor. It was the finest example of foreign policy the world has seen. Mistaken it may have been as to details; but its main purpose was carried forward upon a plane never before assumed in statecraft. And the nation that stood behind the President in both his foreign policy and his measures at home, has come nearer than ever before to reaching its ideals.—The Public.

George Turner's Candidacy

From a democratic standpoint the support already accorded the candidacy of George Turner throughout the state is not surprising, and is in fact a comfortable reassurance that if the exigencies of politics should result in the election of a democratic senator Washington would be well represented. In giving the nomination for United States senator to Judge Turner the democratic party would be doing itself no less honor than it would thereby confer on the candidate.

The nomination of men of mediocre type does any party a serious injustice, and when the opportunity is presented to nominate a man of sterling ability, intellectual power and moral force it would be astonishing indeed if the democratic party failed to recognize its possibilities, and neglected to put forward a candidate for senator who could so thoroughly command the respect of the voters of all political parties as Judge Turner.

In this year of schisms, attempted repair and general political uncertainty the nomination of a democratic candidate for senator becomes a matter of state-wide importance. If we are to have a democratic senator it would be well for the democrats to put forward a man for whom the state of Washington need offer no apology or explanation, a man eminently fitted by mental endowment, education and public experience to fitly and honorably represent the whole people.

Of this superior type is the democratic candidate from Spokane, Judge George Turner. In addition it may be fitly pointed out that the name of this candidate commands respect not only in the state, where his public services have been considerable, in the national capital, where they have been exceptional, but also in the field of international law and diplomacy, where they are of recognized weight and value.

Washington democrats will certainly be doing less than their best if for any cause they permit themselves to lose sight of the eminent qualifications of their senatorial candidate from Spokane, or if they allow sectional pride, personal animus or selfishness to stand in the way of putting their best men forward at the primaries and republican standard bearers next November.—Spokane Review.

The Choice of Federal Reserve Cities

More than forty cities had been presented as serious candidates for selection as Federal Reserve centers. Only twelve could be chosen. The country does not naturally fall into exactly twelve banking districts. Many newspapers declare that the committee was governed by political reasons; others charge its members with acting from private and personal motives, while those of New York attack the committee from all standpoints, and particularly allege its animosity toward the banking power of the country's present financial center. It should be explained that the Federal Reserve Board, which will be named by President Wilson, will have power to rearrange the districts, to shift the centers, and to reduce the number to eleven, ten, nine or eight. Messrs. Houston, McAdoo and Williams collected an immense mass of evidence and information. It is our opinion, which we state with great deliberation, that a more intelligent committee could not have been selected, and that no men could have been actuated by motives more wholly disinterested. They had the benefit, for one thing, of the first, second and third choices of every bank that had been enrolled in the membership of the new system.

The choice of Dallas, for example, as against New Orleans, was based upon the overwhelming preference of the banks which belong to the region affected. The choice of Richmond, rather than Baltimore or Washington, was due to precisely the same show of preference on the part of the banks concerned, together with many other factors entitled to consideration. And similar arguments resulted in the selection of Kansas City, even though it happens to lie on the extreme western edge of Missouri, just as St. Louis lies upon the eastern edge, so that two bank cities are in one State. The committee had a very difficult piece of work to perform, and if the newspaper editors and bankers who have so unsparsingly denounced its decisions should listen for two hours to an explanation by Mr. Houston or by Mr. McAdoo, they would withdraw all their aspersions, even though they might continue to smart from their local disappointments. Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Houston each retained his own independence of judgment, and the members of the committee did not confer until each had made his own tentative map. They found that they had arrived at the same conclusions, based upon the evidence in hand, in view of the restrictions of the law. Their comprehension of the questions involved, as a result of their exhaustive study, is far superior to that of their critics.—From "The Progress of the World," in the American Review of Reviews for May.

Initiative Principle Now Squarely on Trial

The principle of the initiative in legislation is now squarely on test before the voters of Washington. As a friend of that principle and its supporter prior to adoption, the Spokesman-Review earnestly hopes that the people will respond to their duty and opportunity and give to the measure now before them and others yet to be initiated that painstaking and intelligent consideration which, if it must be acknowledged, will be indispensable to the permanent retention of the initiative method of law-making.

When the principle was before the people for adoption The Spokesman-Review held no delusion that it would prove to be the acme of perfection. It favored a full, fair trial of the reform as a needed corrective for some of the evils of the old and unrestricted legislative system. With candor then it pointed out that the success or failure of the bold experiment would rest with the voters. If they should give to pending initiative measures a proper degree of intelligent consideration, it had no fears regarding the soundness of their judgments.

On the other hand, it must be plain to every intelligent reader that if the great mass of the voters take no intelligent interest in initiated legislation, the new system will break down and will have to be discarded.

There have now been filed at Olympia with the requisite number of signatures, twelve initiative measures covering a wide range of public interest and welfare. The legislature has submitted two additional measures on referendum and a proposed constitutional amendment in relation to alien ownership of land is also before the voters. Yet other initiative measures are now in circulation. Intelligent voting on these measures is going to call for a great deal of hard study and painstaking investigation. Blind voting upon any of them, like action in any of the affairs of life, will lead to disappointment and possibly to disaster.—Spokane Spokesman-Review.

Stop-Look-Listen

The organization of the state wide Stop-Look-Listen League seems to be misunderstood. The impression appears to prevail that it is in opposition to the initiation of laws, while the real purpose of the league is directly opposite. The league is organized, not for the purpose of fighting the initiative principle, but to prevent the abuse of the power which it carries, and which in the hands of interested interests may prove a destructive boomerang instead of the aid to popular government as intended. It is suggested that we all investigate fully the effect of the initiative measures to be voted upon next fall before signing any petitions. It is well to have in mind at all times that it will cost the state and individuals $1,068,000 to put this crop of bills upon the ballot.

Such use as the Initiative and Referendum have is emergency. That is the practice in the country where they originated, Switzerland. If these initiative measures are defeated it is reasonably likely that in the future the initiative will be used only for an emergency, which is not likely to occur often, that is, when the legislature fails to perform an obvious public duty.

The purpose of the STOP-LOOK-LISTEN LEAGUE is one of education. Most of the educational matter so far distributed has come from advocates of the measures, but even those advocates will admit, no doubt, that the measures should be fully discussed pro and con. Our new system of direct legislation assumes that electors will perform functions of government heretofore delegated to representatives in the legislature. In the legislature both sides of the question are fully presented before a bill is submitted to a vote. That should be the case too in direct legislation by electors, for every citizen who has the right to vote desires to vote intelligently and not guess at the merits of a proposition or act on a mere impression. It is assumed that the thoughtful

An Everyday Cake

Here is a simple and inexpensive cake that can be varied in many ways with different frostings and icings. It looks a little nicer baked in a tube pan, but will be equally as good baked in a square loaf.

K C Gold Cake

By Mrs. Janet McKenzie Hill, Editor of the Boston Cooking School Magazine.
 1/2 cup butter; 1/2 cup sugar; yolks of 4 eggs, beaten light; 1 cup flour, less 2 level teaspoonsful; 2 level teaspoonfuls K C Baking Powder; 1/2 cup milk; grated rind of 1 orange.

Sift flour and baking powder together three times; cream butter and sugar, beat yolks of eggs, add these to creamed mixture, and lastly add the moisture and flour alternately, beating batter until smooth. Gold Cake can only be made successfully by beating yolks of eggs, very, very creamy and light lemon colored, using a rotary beater. The rotary beater is the only beater that will do justice to the yolks of eggs. The beating kills all egg taste and improves the texture of the cake.

Cocoanut Frosting
 Beat the whites of 2 eggs dry; gradually beat in half a cup of sifted confectioner's sugar and continue the beating until the frosting is smooth, thick and glossy; then beat in grated cocoanut, fresh or prepared, and spread upon the cake. This frosting is made thick by beating rather than by sugar.

Save this recipe. You will want to use it frequently. Or better, send us the colored certificate packed in each 25-cent can of K C Baking Powder and we will mail you "The Cook's Book" containing this and 89 other baking recipes equally good—all by Mrs. Hill. Laques Mfg. Co., Chicago.

Every voter throughout this state will read and advise himself fully on all measures before he signs the petitions. It is a duty he owes himself as well as his neighbor.

PROFESSOR FERGUSSON HYPNOTIST, 'KING OF FUNMAKING' DEMONSTRATORS

To Be at the Grand Theatre, Aberdeen Saturday and Sunday Nights May 16th, 17th

The study of hypnotism and psychic phenomena is becoming as essential as the study of arithmetic, music, electricity, or any sciences taught to day in our "seats of learning." Hypnotism is the most practical science of the age and enters into every day life conferring advantages that cannot be acquired through any other medium. The leading educators of the world recognize its value and seek to profit by its benefits. The most noted scientists of the age regard it as a great natural endowment for ages kept dormant through narrow minded sophistry, bigotry, prejudice and ignorance, but which is destined to perform an active part in the well being and development of future generations. Business men are unconsciously becoming practical hypnotists, lawyers are realizing that hypnotic power is the secret of success. Ministers, public speakers, actors, orators, musicians and teachers control their audiences through the laws of hypnotism, while progressive professional doctors are openly advocating and employing suggestive therapeutics (hypnotism) as their most effective aid in curing disease. To mankind in every walk of life it is a blessing leading him to his highest and noblest things, in sooth to "know thyself," and Nature's deepest laws operative in Mind and Body.

Hypnotism is the funniest show on earth giving abundant "food for thought" as well as the most mystifying, enjoyable and side splitting laughter entertainment before the public.

Professor Fergusson is a psychologist of 24 years study and practice in various phases of the Laws of Hypnotism and will be at the Grand Theatre, Aberdeen, two nights, Saturday and Sunday, May 16 and 17. People will be taken from the audience whom he has never seen before and be made to think by "suggestion" that they are members of the opposite sex, circus performers, dancers, fishing, picking strawberries, orators, robbing bees nests and what not. Greater actors are often made of subjects in fifteen minutes than can be found on the rostrum after 25 years of acting and impersonating. This wonderful natural law demonstrated and science is applied in every walk of life and can be used in the healing of all manner of disease for the correction of all forms of vice and bad habits for reforming criminals, for the rehabilitating the insane, for the development of the will and psychic powers, for "opening the pearly gates" and talking face to face with loved ones who have "passed out" or born into the "spirit world." Science demonstrates these laws to day to be as genuine as science in electricity, steam engineering, arithmetic, geometry etc. Professor Fergusson is one of the best posted living authors, demonstrators, and authorities of the age.

Don't fail to witness these wonderful scientific performances. There will be two hours and a half of solid science, fun and mystery each night of May 16 and 17 at the Grand Theatre. Admission 25 and 50 cents.

Rev. Dr. Clara Ferris, Seersess, Psychic Wonder, Spiritual Medium, will answer questions from "SEALED ENVELOPES", and give "spirit life messages" at each performance. She has been before the public for years and is one of the best scientific mediums. She is a noted healer as well, a regular ordained minister of the Spiritualists Society.

Dr. Ferris has in view the founding of a school for teaching Mental Science, Spiritualism, etc., to the youth of the land. She believes that a school founded upon the Natural Laws that underlie Psychic phenomena will produce concord first with one's self and then with all mankind. She holds that the knowledge of Spiritualism is the key that unlocks mysteries and furnishes evidence to prove the truth of her teachings. Dr. Ferris has conducted the open lectures and for twenty years has given mediumistic tests to people in every state of the Union west of the Mississippi river, except Oklahoma. She is a married Psychic Wonder.

Women In Politics Making For Better Race

By Governor HIRAM JOHNSON of California

WOMEN are responsible for the new philosophy of government. This new philosophy is world-wide—belongs to no party, no sect, no sex. This new philosophy believes that the GOVERNMENT'S PURPOSE IS TO MAKE PEOPLE HAPPIER, TO MAKE THEM BETTER. The only successful government is the one that succeeds in doing this.

THE ATTAINMENT OF THE BALLOT BY THE WOMEN OF CALIFORNIA HAS ADDED NOT ONLY A GREAT MORAL RESERVOIR OF RESOURCE, BUT THERE HAS ALSO COME A PROGRESSIVE FORCE, UNHAMPERED BY THE TRADITIONS OF PARTY THAT SOMETIMES MAKE MEN SLOW TO MOVE ON TO NEW THINGS. IF WE CAN BRING MEN UP TO THIS STANDARD, THEN PARTISANSHIP WILL DISAPPEAR IN THE CONSIDERATION OF BETTER THINGS FOR HUMANITY.

Women's Present Dress Violation of Seventh Commandment

By Rev. Dr. GEORGE ASHTON OLDHAM, Episcopal Clergyman, New York

IN walking down Fifth avenue, New York, these spring days you see worse spectacles than in a second class variety performance ten years ago.

MUCH OF THE PREVAILING STYLE OF WOMEN'S DRESS IS A VIOLATION OF THE SPIRIT OF THE SEVENTH COMMANDMENT. ITS VULGAR SEX APPEAL REPRESENTS A REVERSION TO A LOWER TYPE, MORE COMPATIBLE WITH A PRIMITIVE AND DECADENT ERA THAN WITH TWENTIETH CENTURY CHRISTIAN ENLIGHTENMENT.

This style of dress bids fair to rob both sexes of that modest reserve which is the safeguard of morality.

The world goes around, but many a man feels that he doesn't get his share.

There is nothing new under the sun except tomorrow, and that never comes.

A failure of $6,000,000 gives further evidence of the modernization of Berlin.

The man who has no secrets from his wife has either no secrets or no wife.

THE ANNADALE FARM DAIRY,

401 South K street, are wholesalers and retailers of bottled milk, cream, and buttermilk and also dealers in butter, eggs, etc. The Annadale Farm Dairy products are put up on their fine farm and dairy which is located at Montesano just eighteen miles East of Aberdeen. They have forty cows and they operate two delivery wagons and an Auto truck in making deliveries and attending to their trade. The concern is moving along smoothly and successfully as they supply a product that is up-to-the mark in every way. They deliver any amount anywhere in Aberdeen. Their phone is 768. The business was established the beginning of the year. Their distributing headquarters near the Union depot at 401 South K street is very convenient for the shopping housewife who wants a fresh roll of butter, or a dozen of ranch eggs, or cream, pure, rich and sweet, pure rich fresh milk or buttermilk, all put up in a modern sanitary method. The management leaves no stone unturned to attain the highest standard in furnishing the best of food products in their specific lines. They are well up on the ins and outs of the business and their trade is growing very rapidly. With their office between the Union depot and the Washington hotel on K street any one on the shopping rounds can easily drop in at The Annadale Farm Dairy. The public is cordially invited to inspect the sanitary methods, and come to this place to secure the best and freshest in milk, cream, and buttermilk, as well as eggs, and butter to be had on the market. The prices moreover are no higher than what is usually charged for inferior products. By phoning 768 The Annadale Farm Dairy will attend to your wants. They are prompt, and regular in their deliveries and everything is attended to in a thoroughly workman-ship-like manner. In noting here

Who's Who in Aberdeen we take pleasure in according this enterprise this generous mention as we pass in review and award it a high place in these columns.

HEIKEL'S DRUG STORE is the place to go for pure drugs, chemicals, druggist's sundries and what not in the toilet perfumes, periodicals, etc. It is under the able management of Gus Jenstrom, who has specialized along the drug line for the past nine years. The drug store has been established here five months and is rapidly becoming a busy place for filling prescriptions, getting the latest remedies, chemicals, etc. It is owned by Ossi Heikel of Hoquiam, who is one of that city's leading business men, and pharmacists. The Heikel Drug store headquarters in Hoquiam is in the First National Bank building. Their headquarters here is at 117 West Heron, near Hotel Washington, opposite the Cody. In Who's Who this house commands a high place.

E. H. ROSE, MERCHANT TAILOR, 308 South K street is a popular place for up-to-date tailoring, cleaning, pressing and repairing etc. Mr. Rose has followed the tailoring art for ten years. He has been established in Aberdeen for the past four years. He specializes in fine tailoring, and does both steam and dry cleaning. For having that suit look better just phone 584 and Mr. Rose will make it look like new again, for ladies as well as men's clothing. Tailoring with this gentleman is an art and he carries the finest of goods to select from. Mr. Rose is a genial, well informed, and highly intelligent "man of affairs" to meet. He will be pleased to be of service to our readers when needing anything in his line. We accord him this honorable mention with pleasure as we are noting those who are adding lustre to the annals of Grays Harbor history.
