Thinking he might be ill, or dead, the boys called to him. The man replied gruffly, without uncovering his head, and told the boys to leave him alone. The lads reported to the police, and Officer Lee went to the place indicated. He found the man gone, leaving some provisions, two suits of good underwear and a grey military coat, the coat being marked "C. A. Casey, 74," which gave the impression he was a deserter from the army.

Summer Constipation Dangerous.

Constipation in Summer-time is more dangerous than in the fall, winter or spring. The food you eat is often contaminated and is more likely to ferment in your stomach. Then you are apt to drink much cold water during the hot weather, thus injuring your stomach. Colic, Fever, Ptomatine Poisoning and other ills are natural results. Po-Do-Lax will keep you well, as it increases the Bile, the natural laxative, which rids the bowels of the congested poisonous waste. Po-Do-Lax will make you feel better. Pleasant and effective. Take a dose to-night. 50c at your Druggist. (2)

HOLD DOUBLE FUNERAL

Croatian Society Conducts Double Funeral of Two Members in Impressive Manner Sunday

The funerals of Frank Grabisch, who died last Tuesday, and Vincent Vicevich, who succumbed Friday evening to meningitis, were held Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Croatian Gymnastic club of Aberdeen. The double funeral was conducted in the true Austrian manner. The bodies laid in state at the Pinnick & Kenny chapel and were taken to the Croatian hall in South Aberdeen, where the club was assembled and where a brief service was held.

At two o'clock the procession, fully 500 strong, headed by the Aberdeen band, started for the Polish Catholic church, where the service for the dead was held.

Colored ribbons were thrown over the automobile hearse, the ends held by six girls, as the cortege passed through the streets. Behind the hearse on foot were some 30 or 40 Croats who carried floral pieces which were numerous. The flower bearers were followed by several hundred foreigners on foot.

BUYS NEW STOCK

Mrs. Georgia Bathurst returned on Sunday night from a business trip to Portland. She was accompanied by a millinery designer from New York, and while in Portland selected her Fall stock of millinery and Beauty Parlor goods, as well as fixtures and furnishings for her new store. Mrs. Bathurst has leased one half of the store room now being vacated by the J. J. Kaufman Co., where she will move as soon as it is fitted up, and where she proposes to conduct such an establishment as will leave no occasion for the ladies of Grays Harbor to go to the larger cities in quest of anything in her line.

THE ONLY SON.

Oh, litter wind toward the sunset blowing. What of the daisies tonight? In yonder gray old hall what fires are glowing. What ring of festal light? "In the great window as the day was dwindling I saw an old man stand; His head was proudly beid and his eyes kindling. But the list shook in his hand." Oh, wind of twilight, was there no word uttered. No sound of joy or wail? "A great fight and a good death," he muttered. "Trust him, he would not fall." What of the chamber dark where she was lying. For whom all life is done? "Within her heart she rocks a dead child, crying. "My son, my little son"" —Henry Newbolt

To fresher state bread just twist the bread or rolls up tightly in a paper bag and lay the bag in the oven, and you will not know them from the fresh article. The oven should be a moderate one.

THE SPOILERS.

Great Story of the North By Rex Beach, Shown in Photoplay at the Dream.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 8.—All San Francisco as well as the many other cities have shown a profound interest in Mr. W. N. Selig's wonderful photo-play "The Spoilers" which has been visualized from Rex Beach's novel of the same name. In San Francisco it is the commanding attraction. Hundreds have been unable to secure admission to the theater during the past week, and the management is therefore arranging to extend the engagement another week. It has been found necessary to open the doors as early as 9:30 in the morning as it requires two hours and fifteen minutes to show this picture. Those who have seen the picture during the past week have only the very highest praise for the wonderful photography, the colossal scale upon which the picture was produced, and the superb acting of Wm Farnum in the title role of Roy Glenister, who fights not only for his rights of possession but for his right as a man, and for his love for Helen Chester, which is portrayed by Miss Bessie Eytton. Miss Kathryn Williams as Cherry Malotte, the hardened woman of the North, is most beautifully portrayed, and is by long odds the best thing that Miss Williams has ever done. Mr. Thos. Santachi, in the character of Alex McNamara, is at all times the cool, calculating, scheming, corrupt politician and deserves great credit for his portrayal of this most unwelcome and despised character. This wonderful picture is to receive its initial presentation in Aberdeen at the Dream theater for an engagement of 3 days, starting Sunday August 16.

Master John R. Fell, Jr., is Quite a Happy Lad.

By American Press Association.

Master John R. Fell, Jr., during the summer season is a resident of Newport, the very fashionable resort of America's richest folks. In winter he lives in New York city, so he sees society in both seasons. That is, John R. Jr., might see it if he chose to bother about it, which he does not. He is too young and full of the carelessness of youth to bother about anything that isn't fun. John is a real boy of the American kind, who is mainly interested in things common to boys of his years. For instance, John met a photographer down at Newport, and was taken a bit uppish. He posed gleefully for the man with the camera and held his dog Buster by the tail, so that the little animal could be in the picture. Unfortunately the column of the paper is not wide enough to show Buster, but in the photograph he may be seen, his tail firmly grasped in John's right fist. John is a real boy—no mistake about that.

The Eagle Emblem.

The Etruscans were the first race to adopt the eagle as an emblem of their royal power and to carry it high upon their standards at the head of their armies. From the time of Marius it was the emblem of the Roman republic and was borne on the standard of the legions. It was generally represented with outstretched wings and was made of silver until the time of Hadrian, who made it of finest gold. The Byzantine emperors used the double-headed eagle to indicate their claim to the empire of the east and west. The German emperors adopted it in the fourteenth century, and afterward it appeared on the arms of Russia. Prussia carries on her standards the black eagle, and Poland bears a white eagle. The United States of America has adopted the white-headed eagle as an emblem. Napoleon adopted the eagle as emblematic of imperial France.

Very Extravagant.

Doctor—Well, Mr. McPherson, I'm glad to see you out again. You've had a long illness. McPherson—Ay, doctor, and verra expensive. I was wonderin' if it was worth while at ma time of life.—London Punch.

Constipation Causes Sickness.

Don't permit yourself to become constipated, as your system immediately begins to absorb poison from the backed-up waste matter. Use Dr. King's New Life Pills and keep well. There is no better safeguard against illness. Just take one dose to-night. 25c at your Druggist. (2)

FURNITURE STORE MOVING

J. J. Kaufman Co. Moving Stock into Their Handsome New Building at Broadway and Heron

The J. J. Kaufman Company has commenced moving its mammoth stock of furniture and house furnishings from their present quarters, in the new Patterson-Devonshire-Hopkins building, on the corner of Heron street and Broadway.

The new building has been erected specially for the Kaufman Co. and will be the most complete store of its kind in Southwestern Washington. The building is 50x130 feet, and is three stories high, with a mezzanine floor that gives practically the span of four floors. The upper floors are reached by an automatic lift elevator for passengers and a freight elevator in the rear.

The upper floor will be used as a workroom and warehouse and the other three for display rooms, and all are adapted for the purpose, the light being particularly good. No expense or pains have been spared to make the building serve its purpose in every modern respect. The lower floor, where will be carried samples of the finer grades of furnishings, is fitted with four divisions which will enable displays to illustrate the exact effect the furniture will have in a room. The show windows, which extend clear around the building are on a scale that will permit an elegant display. The whole building, in short, would be creditable in a city of 100,000 population.

The growth of the J. J. Kaufman Co. has been phenomenal. J. J. Kaufman and J. S. Coxy established the business in a very modest way on Wishkah street in 1903, and went through the big fire of that year. Shortly after the fire Mr. Kaufman bought Mr. Coxy out and formed the present incorporation, leasing the building he is now vacating, which had just been built, and which was then thought to be a big undertaking. But, the business grew, even faster than the city, and a warehouse has been used for several years in addition to the Keith block.

SAID OF THE TONGUE.
To many men well fitting doors are not set on their tongues—Theognis.

We may see cunning and curious work of nature, which hath barred and hedged nothing in so strongly as the tongue, with two rows of teeth, and therewith two lips. Besides, she hath placed it far from the heart, that it should not utter that which the heart had conceived. This also should cause us to be silent, seeing those that use much talk, though they speak truly, are never believed. —Livy

A Wonderful Wall.
Few people realize what an almost perfect condition prevails along a large part of the great wall of China. The bricks of the parapet are as firm as ever, and their edges have stood the severe climatic conditions of north China with scarcely a break. The paving along the top of the wall is so smooth that one may ride over it with a bicycle, and the great granite blocks with which it is faced are smooth and as closely fitted as when put in place over 2,000 years ago. The entire length of this wall is 1,400 miles. It is twenty-two feet high and twenty feet in thickness. At intervals of 100 yards or so there are towers, some forty feet in height. —Popular Mechanics.

"Holy City."
This is a name bestowed by any sect or nation upon the city most closely associated with its religious beliefs and observances and that has become a place of veneration consequently or special worship. Alahabad is the holy city of the Indian Mohammedans. Benares is the holy city of the Hindus, while Cuzco was that of the ancient Incas. Jerusalem is the holy city of the Jews and Christians. Mecca, Medina and Damascus have first place in the affections of the Mohammedans. Moscow and Kiev are the holy cities of the Russians.

An Odd Beast is the Aye-aye.
Have you ever heard of the aye-aye? No? Well, it is a small mammal about the size of a cat and inhabits Madagascar. It is said to have been named because of the peculiar cry it makes—ay-ay-ay. It has sharp teeth like those of a rat and long, thin fingers with pointed claws. But the middle finger of each paw is exceptionally long and thin. And for a purpose too. It feeds chiefly upon earthworms, so finds this middle finger very convenient for poking into worm holes and dragging forth the unlicked dwellers therein.
