A Notable Address.

The address of President Wilson before the members of the Associated Press Tuesday, gave ideas of neutrality that should be read and pondered by every citizen of this country. Following are a few excerpts that show the drift of the speech:

"Let us think of America before we think of Europe, in order that America may be fit to be Europe's friend when the day of tested friendship shall come."

"The test of friendship is not sympathy with one side or the other, but getting ready to help both sides when the struggle is over."

"I, for one, have a complete and abiding faith in that great silent body of Americans who are not standing up and shouting and expressing their opinions just now, but are waiting to find out and support the duty of America."

"My interest in the neutrality of the United States is not the petty desire to keep out of trouble."

"Don't Badger Them."

The New York World recalls a little speech that President Lincoln made, during the darkest hours of the Civil war, to a delegation that came to the White House to remonstrate with the administration's war policy.

"Gentlemen," he said, "suppose all the property you were worth was in gold and you had put in in the hands of Blondin, to carry across the Niagara river on a rope. Would you shake the cable or keep shouting to him, 'Blondin, stand up a little straighter—Blondin, stoop a little more—go a little faster—lean a little more to the north—lean a little more to the south?' No; you would hold your breath as well as your tongue, and keep your hands off until he was safe over. The government is carrying an enormous weight. Untold treasures are in their hands; they are doing the best they can. Don't badger them. Keep silence, and we will get you safe across."

The application of this parable to the present situation is by no means far-fetched. As the World suggests, the government is today, as it was half a century ago, "carrying an enormous weight," and the welfare of the nation is at stake as it has never been since Lincoln's time. The great majority of Americans have instinctively recognized this fact, and have patriotically refrained from "badgering," even when honestly differing with the government's foreign policies.

Americans Must Trust Their President In the Present Crisis
By Professor WILLIAM H. TAFT of Yale

THE planting of mines in the open sea and the use of submarines to send neutral vessels to the bottom without inquiry as to their neutrality when found in a so-called war zone of the open sea are all of them a variation from the rules of international law governing the action of belligerents toward neutral trade.

WHEN THEIR VIOLATION RESULTS IN THE DESTRUCTION OF THE LIVES OF AMERICAN CITIZENS OR OF AMERICAN PROPERTY A GRAVE ISSUE WILL ARISE AS TO WHAT THE DUTY OF THIS GOVERNMENT IS.

The responsibility of the president and congress in meeting the critical issue thus presented in maintaining our national rights and our national honor, on the one hand, with due regard to the awful consequences to our ninety million people of engaging in this horrible world war, on the other, will be very great.

WE MUST ALLOW NO JINGO SPIRIT TO PREVAIL. WE MUST ABIDE THE JUDGMENT OF THOSE IN WHOM WE HAVE ENTRUSTED THE AUTHORITY, AND WHEN THE PRESIDENT SHALL ACT WE MUST STAND BY HIM TO THE END.

Requisites of Success For a Young Man Entering a Business Career
By ELBERT H. GARY, Head of United States Steel Corporation

FIRST.—A young man should be thoroughly honest, frank and sincere. When he says anything he should tell the truth.

Second.—He should be considerate of the interests of others. OF COURSE HE SHOULD SEEK TO PROTECT AND PROMOTE HIS OWN INTERESTS, BUT NEVER TO THE UNDUE OR UNFAIR PREJUDICE OF OTHERS. THIS HE WILL FIND WISE FROM THE STANDPOINT OF GOOD MORALS AND GOOD BUSINESS.

Third.—He should have a good education. First of all, he should be educated in the fundamentals, including particularly grammar, rhetoric, spelling, arithmetic, geography and history. The more he knows in other lines, including the classics, so much the better.

Fourth.—He should be consistent and careful in looking after his health, both physically and morally.

Fifth.—He should be ambitious to succeed in every respect that is honorable. He should be energetic, persistent, studious, thoughtful and faithful to all the interests he represents.

Sixth.—The young man should be patriotic and loyal to his own country, but he should avoid any feeling or disposition of hostility toward people of any other country or nation save only for the purpose of self defense.

FINALLY, AND ABOVE EVERYTHING ELSE, HE SHOULD ADOPT AS HIS RELIGION THE GOLDEN RULE AND PRACTICE IT, WHATEVER MAY BE HIS PROFESSION OR VOCATION.

Military Training of Students Not In Harmony With College Ideals
By HERBERT WELCH, President Ohio Wesleyan University

DO not favor any attempt at the general introduction of military training into the colleges. I THINK OUR BUSINESS AS A NATION IS TODAY TO LEAD THE WORLD IN PREPAREDNESS FOR PEACE AND THAT WE ARE IN A POSITION SUCH AS NO OTHER NATION OCCUPIES WHICH WILL JUSTIFY US IN HEADING THE MOVEMENT TOWARD DISARMAMENT.

For many years we maintained at Ohio Wesleyan a cadet battalion under the care of an officer of the United States army. Increasing difficulty was found in harmonizing the military ideal of authority with the academic ideal of democracy and self government. Interest in such work also waned, so that it appeared impossible to maintain a good sized battalion without some compulsion. I agree with what General Wingate said on a recent occasion as a result of his experience that the carrying on of military work in most of the colleges is not satisfactory.

BUT I AM INCLINED TO BELIEVE THAT THE WORK OF THE DISTINCTLY MILITARY SCHOOLS OF THE UNITED STATES WHICH ARE COMPELLED TO MAINTAIN SUCH WORK AND OF THE NATIONAL GUARD SHOULD BE SUFFICIENT TO SUPPLY ALL THE NEED THAT WE HAVE OF TRAINED OFFICERS.

State Governments Responsible For the Health of the Citizen
By Dr. W. S. RANKIN, Secretary North Carolina State Board of Health

SINCE the death rate is known to be reducible through reasonable and practicable governmental activity it goes without saying that a state with an unreduced or high death rate stands in a very unenviable position before properly informed people. There can be but two explanations for such a position—ONE THAT THE STATE IS COMPARATIVELY WEAK, RELATIVELY UNABLE TO PERFORM HER VITAL OBLIGATIONS TO HER PEOPLE, AND THE OTHER THAT THE STATE IS INDIFFERENT TO THIS, HER HIGHEST RESPONSIBILITY.

All progressive states are reducing their death rates and thereby demonstrating to the world that those states that are not doing so are defective in their governmental machinery. Any state administration and dominant political party is justly liable at any time to be called before the bar of judgment on the issue of the death rate and on that issue to hear the well done or depart from me of a deluded electorate.

THE DEATH RATE IN THE FUTURE, IN THE VERY NEAR FUTURE, TOO, IS GOING TO WIELD POLITICAL INFLUENCE FOR OR AGAINST ADMINISTRATIONS AND PARTIES.

Walking on Slippery Places.
A letter carrier explains why he and the other members of his calling rarely if ever fall when walking on slippery sidewalks and climbing ice coated steps. He says:

"When passing over sleety places we don't walk erect, but bend forward, taking short steps and never letting one foot get far away from the other. Then when we step, the foot is put down solidly, all of it at once, on the ground, with no heel and toe movement, which leads to slips and falls. It's not graceful, this way of walking, but it's safe, and I can pass any ordinary pedestrian on a slippery day and be in no danger of falling, while he is constantly slipping."—New York World.

A Stamp Hint.
A stamp without mucilage may be quickly attached to an envelope by rubbing it on the mucilage end of the envelope when it is moistened and you are sealing it. Rub the back of the stamp on the ends farthest from the point of the envelope flap, and you will find both envelope and stamp will stick well when the mucilage bottle is not handy.

IS THERE ANYTHING GROWS IN THE GARDEN WITH AS GOOD TASTE AS THAT?

SAY JUDGE NOTHING CAN EQUAL THE REAL TOBACCO CHEW

THE MARKET GARDENER IS HONEST WITH THE GOOD JUDGE

MAN the taste of "Right-Cut" is so satisfying and so lasting that a ten-cent pouch of the Real Tobacco Chew lasts you twice as long as the same money will buy in your old kind.

Why, the only thing about "Right-Cut" that isn't a luxury is the price. You'll be glad of the day you start with the Real Tobacco Chew if you are critical about the tobacco you chew.

Take a very small chew—less than one-quarter the old size. It will be more satisfying than a mouthful of ordinary tobacco. Just nibble on it until you find the strength chew that suits you. Tuck it away. Then let it rest. See how easily and evenly the real tobacco taste comes, how it satisfies without grinding, how much less you have to spit, how few chews you take to be tobacco satisfied. That's why it is The Real Tobacco Chew. That's why it costs less in the end.

It is a ready chew, cut fine and short ahead so that you won't have to grind on it with your teeth. Grinding on ordinary cased tobacco makes you spit too much.

The taste of pure, rich tobacco does not need to be covered up with molasses and licorice. Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste in "Right-Cut."

One small chew takes the place of two big chews of the old kind.

EAT LESS MEAT IF BACK HURTS
Take a Glass of Salts to Flush Kidneys if Bladder Bothers You—Drink Lots of Water.

Eating meat regularly eventually produces kidney trouble in some form or other, says a well-known authority, because the uric acid in meat excites the kidneys, they become overworked; get sluggish; clog up and cause all sorts of distress, particularly backache and misery in the kidney region; rheumatic twinges, severe headaches, acid stomach, constipation, torpid liver, sleeplessness, bladder and urinary irritation.

The moment your back hurts or kidneys aren't acting right, or if bladder bothers you, get about four ounces of Jad Salts from any good pharmacy; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys will then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush clogged kidneys and stimulate them to normal activity; also to neutralize the acids in the urine so it no longer irritates, thus ending bladder disorders.

Jad Salts cannot injure anyone; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which millions of men and women take now and then to keep the kidneys and urinary organs clean, thus avoiding serious kidney diseases. (2)

Conveniences of Great Value
IN designing the Overland, we carefully studied the matter of conveniences.

We made the clutch so that it works easily and freely. It does not grab hold and jerk the rider out of patience, or strain the car.

We made the foot surface of the clutch-pedal large and adjustable, so that it can be placed at any angle.

The levers are within natural reach. Not too far over nor too far forward.

Then we put the electric control buttons right on the steering column.

In what other car will you find so many conveniences and advantages?

Wonderful Earthworms.
As Darwin long ago showed, the earthworm is the farmer's friend. Its burrows drain and aerate the soil, while the earth which has passed through its body is finely divided and is constantly being brought to the surface from lower levels. Its body is adapted to the burrowing habit. The pointed head end is devoid of feelers and eyes, and the foot stumps are only represented by rows of bristles, which can be felt if the finger be passed along the body from back to front. There are no jaws, but the muscular part of the digestive tube acts as a kind of pump for taking in food. This includes plants and animals. It has a small gizzard, which contains many stones, and these are used instead of teeth to grind the food.—Chicago Herald.

A Lesson in Pettiness.
Armed with a subpoena a deputy sheriff went out to serve it on a wealthy and extremely snobbish manufacturer, whom he met at the gate of the manufacturer's country home. The great man was in an automobile, accompanied by two ladies, and as the process server handed over the papers he politely raised his hat. The other assumed a demure manner. "You don't need to take off your hat to me, young man," he said. "I took off my hat not to you, sir," was the answer, "but to the ladies with you."—Argonaut.

BE PRETTY! TURN GRAY HAIR DARK
Look Young! Nobody Can Tell If You Use Grandmother's Simple Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur
Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itching scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome. Nowadays, by asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this famous old recipe for about 50 cents.
Don't stay gray! Try it! No one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy.
