Dress Hints.

When pressing tucks in crepe de chine, thin silks and such materials be sure to use tissue paper between it and the iron, as scorching is easy.

Don't wear brilliant colors if you have red hair and brightly colored cheeks. You will look far better in certain shades of brown, in navy blue and in light colors for evening. White and black will also be good choices.

If buttons tear away on woollens, try sewing them on with a small linen button on the under side. The needle may readily be passed through both buttons at the same time. Buttons sewed on this way look well, no matter what the garment.

Odd Happenings In the Day's News

The only blind baseball fan is John Moore, who has not missed a game in Decatur, Ill., in eight years.

Anxious to wed stepmother, Coatesville (Pa.) youth is making the rounds of cities trying to get a license.

A harpooned whale rescued off Hatteras by mate that bit the rope in two, officers on the whaling schooner Whyland report.

A stolen horse neighed clew from Jersey barn when he recognized hoof beats of old mate which owner was driving past.

Horseless farms are appearing in Wisconsin, where there are several without a horse, everything being done by machinery.

"Pat-pat" may supplant kissing in Huntington, W. Va., by order of the health board. To "pat-pat" you merely pat her on the cheek.

The only woman in Kansas prison for murder has been paroled. While there she kept her two daughters in school by doing fancy needlework.

Student friends kept him continually fighting by calling him "Susie," so Suggesta Spota has had his front name changed to Jess, same as the world's champion pugilist.

ROCKEFELLER, JR., TAUGHT BY CHILD OF A MINER.

Schoolgirl Shows Him How to Make 400 Per Cent.

A twelve-year-old girl told John D. Rockefeller, Jr., how to deal in stocks and bonds, how to run a bank and how to finance a corporation that would pay a forty cent annual dividend on a ten cent block of common stock.

At Sopris, where Mr. Rockefeller, in the course of his examination of Colorado Fuel and Iron company property, stopped long enough to visit the public school, a teacher in the highest grade of the school told the Standard Oil man that the pupils had established a bank and a store in which school supplies were sold.

"Really?" said Rockefeller, with the delight of a boy at a country fair. "I should like to know something more about this system of finance."

"Blanche," said the teacher, "will you explain it to Mr. Rockefeller?" Then Blanche McArthur, a daughter of a coal digger, walked to the front of the room, shook hands calmly with Mr. Rockefeller and gravely began her financial lesson.

"You see," she began, "I am cashier of the bank. We already have $5 on deposit, all brought by the children."

"Five dollars?" exclaimed Mr. Rockefeller. "Wonderful!"

"We have part of this loaned out to pupils—on good security, of course. We are looking around for a permanent investment for the rest of our money."

Blanche then branched off into a discussion of stocks and bonds. Mr. Rockefeller listened gravely as the child detailed the elements which make bond issues safe or unsafe.

"We have a store, too, Mr. Rockefeller," she continued. "It was formed by some of us boys and girls, who each subscribed 10 cents to the capital stock. We buy school supplies—pencils and tablets—at wholesale and sell them to the pupils. Last year the store paid between 30 and 40 cents dividend on each 10 cents in stock. Don't you think that was doing pretty well, Mr. Rockefeller?" He agreed with her.

GIRL GETS FRENCH CROSS.

Honored by Poincare For Supplying Village With Bread.

When Danian, the only baker in the village of Exodun, department of Deux-Sevres, France, was called to the colors the village was without bread. Then Madeline Danian, the baker's daughter, a slight miss of fourteen, lit the bakery furnace and with the help of her brother of ten tried to make bread. After several failures she succeeded to the satisfaction of the villagers and surrounding farmers and has been working now for many months from 4 o'clock in the morning until late in the day baking bread.

President Poincare has written letters to both children. He complimented the girl on her good humor, courage and industry and conferred on her the cross of Lorraine. He called the boy his "young friend" and assured him he would grow up to be a valiant soldier.

INDEPENDENCE BURNED.

Old United States Flagship Destroyed For Copper In Hull.

A series of charred oaken ribs projecting out of a mud flat on San Francisco bay is all that remains of the Independence, one of the oldest ships in the United States navy, which was burned for the copper in her hull. The ship recently was sold by the navy department for $3,515.

The flames that destroyed the Independence brought an end to a navy career begun in 1812. Once the old frigate was America's first flagship and carried seventy-four guns on its three decks. Later it was retired from actual service and was stationed at Mare Island as a receiving ship. Three years ago it was placed out of actual commission.

A Spanish Game.

The prettiest and perhaps the best liked of all Spanish games, especially by the youngsters, is "little white pigeons." The children form in opposite rows facing each other. They raise their arms and dance easily to and fro, the children of each side trying to slip beneath the upraised arms of those on the opposite side. They call this going through the "silver arches" to Seville and Granada, and while they are playing they sing a pretty song about the little white pigeons.

The Herald tells it all right.

DOING RIGHT.

If you, your heart, your will, are enlisted on the good side, if you are wishing and trying that the good in you should conquer the bad, then you are on the side of God himself, and God is on your side, and "if God be for us who shall be against us?" Take courage, then. If thou dislikest thy sins, so does God. If thou art fighting against thy worst feelings, so is God. On thy side is God, who made all.—Kingsley.
