HOME TRADE BOOSTED AT BIG BANQUET

Chamber Launches Campaign to Boost Home Industries.

TALKS ARE SPIRITED
 Need Is Emphasized of "Trade at Home" Slogan

Last Monday night at the Hotel Washington the trade at home committee of the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce gave a dinner to officially and publicly launch the campaign which is to do great things for the business upbuilding of this city and surrounding country. The committee consists of P. A. Bertrand, chairman, J. S. Waugh, T. H. Blyth, Charles Folmer and J. J. Kaufman and they certainly did their work thoroughly and well.

Some 225 sat down to the dinner, which, from a gastronomical standpoint, was a huge success and perfect in every way. J. W. Clark was toastmaster and was a decided success.

Speeches were made by Major H. W. Patton of the Hoquiam Washingtonian, Phil S. Locke, H. B. Elder, W. H. Tucker, W. B. Mack, E. A. Millette, Geo. J. Wolff, J. A. Hood and I. A. Stimson.

Every phase of the trade at home question was thoroughly discussed by the speakers, much outspoken, plain language was used and an infinitely better understanding was reached as to what course of action the business interests of our city must pursue in the future.

The best of feeling prevailed, but a distinct note pervaded the meeting that, as a body of business men, more rational and sensible procedure must be inaugurated and followed if we expect to forge ahead. Possibly never before was there such a large and representative gathering of Aberdeen business men, and when the sharp edges are worn off and cool, calm reasoning has had an inning, a great good is sure to be the result.

Mr. Bertrand outlined the future work of this committee, which was unanimously voted as the proper program to follow.

President A. C. Gallac recounted the work of the Chamber of Commerce showing progress that is of the highest and best kind.

These dinners are to be a regular feature every month, so that the continuation of the work may not be retarded.

It was left to J. S. Waugh to furnish one of the most thoughtful surprises of the evening, which consisted of a nice box of candy with a card inscribed, "For the lady who could not attend," and a card stating that it was presented with his compliments. In passing, let us say that the candy came from the Broadway Pharmacy and Crammatte's Sweet Shop.

Then again, Blyth & Blyth were not so very slow, and knew what it takes to top off a good meal, viz: A "Think of Me" perfect, so they furnished a generous supply for all present. These cigars are made by L. L. Maley, Aberdeen.

Smith's dairy came to the front with an individual bottle of milk, properly labeled, for every guest. It was much appreciated.

The makers of "Lifestaff" also furnished a generous supply of that product but the peculiar thing about this is that not more than one bottle in ten was opened. This is a mystery too deep for us to explain. Is it because the "recoil and kick" is absent, and as a drink it is a "four-flusher"?

Goodbar Jones was the official announcer of the telegrams which were delivered by uniformed messengers.

Everyone spoke of the perfect service and the truly fine dinner which was really a $1 spread. Mr. Morck did himself proud.

While there were some gentle roasts and speaking minus embroidery, trimming or lace, still it was all taken in good part as it was all intended for the good of our fine city.

Brother Mack knows how to tell a story with good effect. The one about the darky and the assafetida was somewhat highly perfumed.

Just how a good hotel man knows how to give you an excellent sufficiency of food and yet not too much is surely an artistic triumph.

The meeting "shut up shop" in good time so that "wifey dear" did not have a kick coming. Good biz!

Toastmaster Clark did not allow any "pralimbinaries" but got right down to cases and kept it going that way.

That benign smile that W. B. Mack wears and the fatherly watchfulness exercised over the whole assembly is worth going a long way to see.

Five representatives of the churches were in attendance, thus giving the enterprise the sanction and encouragement of the enlightened church and giving emphasis to the scriptural injunction "to be instant in business."

A few "high brows" were present but they did not appear to "cut much ice."

Some day we expect to be a millionaire editor. Then it will be our turn to look down in a patronizing way upon such gatherings, but just now we are "scratching gravel."

George J. Wolff certainly added much to the value which will accrue, if the ideas he gave are followed out; he argued that the proposition be made very wide in its scope.

"Farmer" Elder on the way to the big dinner, by heck!

The M. & M. company gave away sample bottles of extracts.

TO BUILD PARISH HOUSE.

Bids were called for this week for building the parish house of St. Mary's church. They will be opened April 11.

Sidelights

A snapshot of Toastmaster Clark introducing the speakers. Some class.

By jinks, but those telegrams received and read during the evening were certainly hot stuff.

"Be sure your sins will find you out."

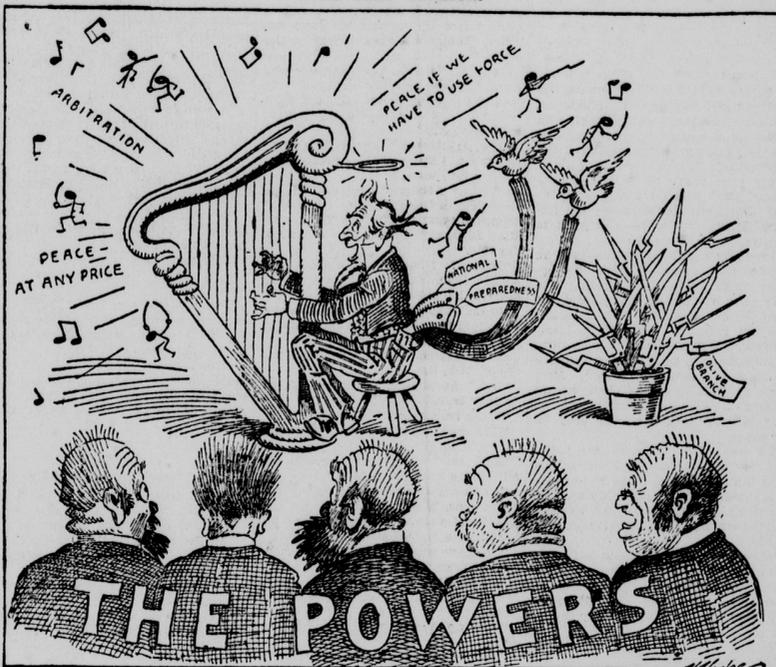

It's dollars to doughnuts that "certain people" will buy more in town and less outside in future.

There was not a slow minute during the whole evening.

Nothing of this kind was indulged in during the evening.

REGULATES PURCHASES OF ALCOHOL

Council Pass Ordinance Giving Control to Police

PISTA GIVEN LIGHT

South Aberdeen Councilman Gets Street Lamp After Fight.

Passage of an ordinance placing regulation of alcohol sales in police hands and consideration of the problem involved in a request by Councilman Pista for a street light in South Aberdeen, took up large part of a lengthy session of the city council Wednesday night.

Persons desiring to buy alcohol for mechanical or chemical purpose, in future, will apply to Chief of Police R. J. Schmidt or, in his absence, to City Clerk Peter F. Clark. Application must state quantity of alcohol needed, purpose to which it is to be applied and where it is to be bought. The chief, or city clerk, then will issue permit for purchase. Statements of purchaser must be sworn to before a notary, and making of false statements or any other violation of the ordinance may be punished by maximum fine of $100, 30 days in city jail or both fine and imprisonment. The enactment, while patterned somewhat after Hoquiam's, does not provide for the mixture of benzol with the alcohol.

Councilman Pista likely will get the street light he has been asking for, at Stockwell and Mill, South Aberdeen, for the past few months. The council Wednesday night spent three quarters of an hour on the problem. The light will cost $2.25 a month to maintain, and ways of procuring it were left to the street committee, with tacit understanding that some other district will not be despoiled of a lamp.

The ordinance providing for rebates to property owners in the first and second fill districts was passed. It was decided to give Chris Endresen 5 instead of 15 years lease of the foot of Clark street and second advertising of the lease was ordered. Action on West Second street's projected improvement was laid over a week.

PROHIBITION FOR NATION TOPIC OF MEET TUESDAY

Nation wide prohibition will be the subject of a conference to be held next Tuesday at the First Baptist church, to which friends of the movement from all over Grays Harbor county are invited. H. T. Murray, chairman of the Washington Prohibition State Committee, A. S. Caton, Olympia chief of police, and J. C. Patey, field superintendent of the prohibition organization, will be speakers.

The program will open at 10:30 a. m. with prayer by Rev. W. T. Randolph. Mr. Patey then will explain the object of the conference. Rev. W. H. Gibson will discuss "The Need of National Prohibition." H. B. McNeill will speak "To Old and Young Prohibitionists."

A "get-together luncheon" will be served at 12 for 25 cents. The first afternoon address, "Individual Responsibility," will be given by Rev. W. T. Randolph, followed by an address by Mayor J. M. Phillips. Mr. Patey will speak on "The Out to Win Movement."

Rev. T. H. Simpson will talk on "The New National Congress," and A. S. Caton will make a talk, followed by a discussion on "The Relation of the W. C. T. U. to the Prohibition Party." The closing afternoon discussion will be on "National Prohibition by Constitutional Amendment or Statutory Enactment: Which?"

The evening session will open at 7:30 with special music. Mr. Murray will deliver the evening address.

LUNDIN IS SURE CEREAL FIRM VIOLATES LAW

Alfred H. Lundin, King county prosecuting attorney, is quoted by the Northwestern Merchant, a Seattle trade publication, as declaring that selling schemes involving giving premiums are in violation of the anti-trading stamp and coupon law of this state. Lundin's opinion is given in the case of a big breakfast cereal concern which promises housewives an aluminum cooker valued at $2.50 providing they send 50 cents in cash plus four trade marks from cereal packages to the manufacturing concern. The Seattle trade publication says that it will endeavor to bring pressure enough to bear upon Lundin to prosecute this case immediately, as well as all other cases in violation of the trading stamp and coupon statute.

LEWIS IS BUSY NOW

John G. Lewis returned Monday from a quick tour of Whatcom, Skagit, and Snohomish counties in the interests of his gubernatorial candidacy. He met lots of friends, he says, and is satisfied with his strength in those counties. Early next month he will start on a tour of Eastern Washington.

Christian Science Is Expounded by Lecturer Eaton

Clarence C. Eaton, of Tacoma, Tuesday night spoke for an hour and a half on the subject of Christian Science at the Grand theater, to an audience composed of Scientists and their friends and those who wish to know more about a religious movement that has made great strides in the past few years. The audience practically filled the lower floor of the theater.

Mr. Eaton is a member of the Board of Lectureship of The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., and is one of a number of men who are appointed by the directors of that church for the purpose of delivering lectures under the auspices of branch Christian Science churches. The object of the lectures, as stated by the lecturer, is not to make converts to the cause of Christian Science, but to correct misapprehensions of the public as to what Christian Science really teaches.

SPECIAL MEETINGS.

Rev. J. C. Baker, pastor of the West Side Chapel in Olympia, will speak in English in the Scandinavian Mission hall, corner First and F streets, April 3 to 5, inclusive, at 7:45 p. m.

Mr. Baker has made a study of Dispensational Truth, and will speak Monday evening on "The Seven Dispensations"; Tuesday, "Jesus Christ as Saviour King"; Wednesday, "The Present Age."

A large chart will be used to illustrate these lectures. Everybody cordially invited.

30 TO COMPETE TONIGHT IN MEET HELD AT ARMOY

Athletes of Grays Harbor to the number of 30 or so, will gather tonight at the armory to compete in the second annual indoor track meet. Hoquiam Y. M. C. A. won the meet last year but a hard run for honors is promised tonight by entries from Company G, Moose and Aberdeen high school.

M'GILLICUDDY CHASING TAXES

The county treasurer's collector started out Wednesday after delinquent personal taxes, of which there are in Aberdeen $3,888; in Hoquiam, $8,041; in Montesano, $362.

WESTERN MILL STARTS, FEDERAL ALMOST READY

The Federal lumber mill, after two years' shutdown, resumed operations this week, and the Western mill, it is announced by Eugene France, large owner in the plant, will start up soon. The Federal starts up with a crew of near 100 men.

PRIZE EGGS TO BE AUCTIONED

Tomorrow Night Poultry Association Will Hold Big Sale

Under the auspices of the Grays Harbor Poultry association, tomorrow evening in the Livingston building will be held the spring auction of pure bred poultry and eggs. The object of the association, to create interest in its work, is well served by the auction and, at the same time, buyers of chicks and eggs that come from stock with records as egg producers or as prize winners at shows all over the Northwest, receive material boost in starting or maintaining their own stocks of pure bred fowls. At the auction tomorrow night setting from the pens of the following fanciers will be the offerings:

Perfection in Butter; None Other So Good

Capital City Creamery Butter, the only butter manufactured in the state from purified and pasteurized cream to which a pure culture is added to give it flavor and keeping quality. It will keep three weeks, we guarantee that, provided it does not come into contact with strongly flavored foods, because our new process of purification, our up-to-date equipment and facilities enable us to produce butter that has no equal, and we know it will keep.

Furthermore, in competition with 67 creameries from seven states, exhibiting at the Western Dairy Products show and conference in Spokane, C. C. C. butter was awarded second place with a score only one-half point lower than the two exhibits which tied for first place. They got 191 points out of a possible 200—C. C. C. butter got 190.5. That shows it's good butter—there are only two creameries in the seven western states that make any better—and that's so very little better that it's just a half of one point out of a possible 200.

The weight is guaranteed, too, absolutely—one or two pounds net in each carton (according to size), and when you buy butter indiscriminately, you never know whether you are getting full weight or not. You don't have to worry about that with our butter—we weigh every carton on the best torsion scales made—we know it's full weight, and if there's the least bit of doubt in your mind, we want you to weigh it, too—that will prove it.

Hundreds of consumers use C. C. C. Butter—they know how good it is, they know there's none better—they have proved its superiority. If you are not a user, ask your grocer for it—tell him you want to try it—compare it with any other butter on the market. We'll be satisfied then, for we know you'll say C. C. C. is the best.

This butter is carried by Gabrielson & Holmer, they keep it at an even temperature in a refrigerator so it is always in perfect condition.

GEORGE ABEL NEW SUPERIOR COURT JUDGE

George D. Abel of Hoquiam was appointed Wednesday as Grays Harbor county superior court judge, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Judge Mason Irwin. The new judge is aged 47 years, a native of Kansas where he practiced law from 1892 until five years ago, when he came to Hoquiam, where he has since resided. W. H. and A. M. Abel, brothers of Judge Abel, it is understood, are not to practice before him.

Dark Cornish.—Dr. E. E. Lane, Aberdeen; W. C. Kidder, Aberdeen.

Mottled Houdans.—Mrs. Freda Nelson, Aberdeen.

Bantams.—White Cochins, A. E. Moorhouse, Aberdeen.

SHIPYARDS HUSTLE

At the Aberdeen shipyards, Andrew Peterson & Son have started laying the keel of the big Balfour-Guthrie auxiliary schooner, the largest craft ever to be built on Grays Harbor. At the Lindstrom yards A. Schubach, lessee, is rushing repairs preliminary to starting to build four big ships, contract for the last one of which, President A. C. Gallac of the Chamber of Commerce received word this week from Schubach, had been secured.

Night Riders Poor Advertisement for North River—Martin

The Herald has received the following communication from Charles Martin of North River:

"Word has been received in Aberdeen by Mrs. M. A. Martin from Atorney Alex C. Shaw of Portland, that the patents to the North N. E. ¼ of Sec. 28 and the E. ½ of W. ½, Se. 28, township 15 N., Range 6 W. W. M., Pacific county, Wash.

"Patents of Alma DeLong and George Wheaton were issued from the U. S. land office March 15. "This will be of great interest to law abiding citizens of the whole state, as every unscrupulous and underhand trick known to the legal profession has been used to thwart these people in attaining their just rights.

"Time, money and malicious interference have been lavishly expended. The notorious night riding episode of the North River country that has been before the public for the past two years, is but one of the many attempts to block these people from getting these patents.

"Forty-eight indictments were returned by the grand jury of Pacific county last year in consequence of which the county has gotten a reputation which will stick to it for many generations, to say nothing of thousands of dollars expended in defending this gang of night riders who were undoubtedly backing them.

"The railroads, business people and large interests of the state have finally come to the conclusion that the North River valley is one of the most valuable assets of this state and can no longer be held from the public use by a few lawless misguided plotters.

"A large gang of men are at work clearing the O. W. line that runs into this section of the country, which will be connected with the Pacific county railroads the coming year.

"With the coming of the railroads new people, new ideas and good schools this section of the country will come into its own."

CENTRALIA TO SPRUCE UP.

Centralia citizens will be expected to spruce up in attire April 6 to 8 to help the Merchants' Dress Up Days celebration.
