ELECTING A PRESIDENT

Monroe Triumphed Over Rufus King in 1816.

MONROE.

THE Republicans were again victorious in 1816. They nominated James Monroe of Virginia, with Daniel D. Tompkins of New York as his running mate. The Federalists supported Rufus King of New York, but had no candidate for vice president that year. The election took place on Nov. 5, and the vote, counted the following February, was: Monroe, 183; King, 34.

The election of 1820 had but one candidate, Monroe and Tompkins having no opposition. All of the electors chosen in the presidential election except one voted for Monroe. Twenty-three states voted that year, but there is no record of the popular vote.

Adams Elected by House in Exciting 1824 Fight.

J. Q. ADAMS.

As there were no recognized political parties this year, election became a personal contest, which resulted as follows: Andrew Jackson, 69; John Quincy Adams, 84; William H. Crawford, 41; Henry Clay, 37. No one having received a majority, the house of representatives elected Adams. Thirteen states voted for him. John C. Calhoun was generally supported for vice president and was elected.

This is the first year where the popular vote is on record. That year it was: Jackson, 155,872; Adams, 105,321; Crawford, 44,282; Clay, 46,587. It is thus noted that, while Jackson received 50,000 more votes than Adams, yet he was defeated.

Jackson Defeats Adams in 1828 Election.

JACKSON.

THE Democrats nominated Andrew Jackson of Tennessee in 1828, and John Quincy Adams again opposed him. The election occurred on Nov. 4, and the vote, counted on Feb. 11, 1829, was: Jackson, 178; Adams, 83. Calhoun was elected vice president. The popular vote that year was: Jackson, 647,231; Adams, 500,097.

Jackson was again elected in 1832. The first national convention was held that year, and the platform was adopted setting forth the policies of the Democratic party.

Jackson was renominated and was opposed by Henry Clay of Kentucky. The vote was: Jackson, 219; Clay, 40. Popular vote: Jackson, 687,502; Clay, 530,180. Van Buren was elected vice president.

(Watch for the election of Van Buren in 1836 in our next issue.)

ELECTING A PRESIDENT

VAN BUREN.

A GAIN the Democratic candidate was chosen by a convention, but no platform was adopted this year. The National Republican or Whig party had three candidates. White of Tennessee, 26; Daniel Webster of Massachusetts, 14; Willie P. Mangum of North Carolina, 11. Richard M. Johnson of Kentucky was chosen vice president. TONIGHT TO SEE LAST OF THE CHAUTAUQUA

Briggs and Miles Entertainers This Afternoon While Famous Kaffir Boy Choir Will Constitute Evening Attraction.

The Grays Harbor chautauqua, after seven days of delightfully entertaining and instructive programs, will close this evening with a concert by the Kaffir Boy Choir. The regular junior chautauqua will be held this morning, a pageant and children's picnic being the features.

Wood Briggs this afternoon will tell stories of the South and Robert Parker Miles will give his lecture, "Tallow Dips." Wood Briggs, Kentucky's wittiest son since the glorious days of Bob Taylor, enlivens the chautauqua with a sparkling hour of love, laughter and pathos—a wealth of choicest drollery and negro dialect of the plantations—inimitable stories of the baronial period of the Old South. Robert Parker Miles, noted editor, traveler, and lecturer of two continents, gives his most famous panoramic lecture on men and events, "Tallow Dips." Dr. Miles is an unusual man. This great lecture can neither be imitated nor counterfeited.

With tingling vividness he runs the gamut of wit, humor, pathos, human interest, brilliancy of eloquence and illustration.

A big attendance tonight should greet the Kaffir Boys Choir, with which the chautauqua will wind up. Real native Kaffir boys, who have been taught by the inimitable Mr. Balmer to think, to talk, to do stunts which no other attraction could possibly do, will give their greatest program.

The Kaffirs have sung before both houses of Parliament as well as before nearly all of the kings, queens and others of Europe's noted people. They sing in English, though only one of them speaks English.

The program itself consists of songs, choruses, solos, each of the boys appearing singly, representing the tribe from which he comes, an imitation of a Kaffir war dance, an exhibition of Kaffir weapons as well as trophies secured in the hunt.

Bruener New Head of Chamber, Vice Gaillac, Resigned

Well Known Attorney Is Chosen President of Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce.

T. B. Bruener, member of the well known law firm, Bridges & Bruener, is new president of the Aberdeen Chamber of Commerce, elected by the trustees last Friday evening, and succeeding A. C. Gaillac, who resigned. Mr. Bruener's elevation to the post is received with general favor by local business and professional men, as he has shown energy, ability and public spirit in many directions. Mr. Gaillac has done much valuable work for the Chamber during his incumbency, but it had encroached more and more on his business and his resignation was the result. The Chamber will open its offices in the Hotel Washington, using the old wine room under present plans. The secretary of the organization, to be named by the president within a few days, will have his quarters there. Mr. Bruener has made no announcement of policies, but some vigorous work may naturally be expected from him.

STRIKERS ARE FIRM

The longshoremen's strike seems as far from settlement as ever, despite encouraging reports from San Francisco last week and early this week. The longshoremen appear to be standing pat.

PUSHING FEDERAL BUILDING.

Laying of concrete for the new Aberdeen federal building will be started next week.

GRAND TO BE DARK

The Grand theater will be dark until early in October, according to present indications. Then the regular winter season will open.

MORE JOBS THAN MEN

There are more jobs open on Grays Harbor than men to fill them, according to Manager J. K. Wiggins of the Employers' Free Employment Bureau.

Bringing in Whales

Close to 125 whales have been caught to date by the four whalers of the Bay City station. The bar has been rough for the past few days, but on Wednesday one boat came in with a whale, and last week catches of more than a whale to the boat were made one day. The season may not bulk as large as last year, which was a record one, but it is expected to prove good.

OFFICE SEEKS THE MAN

It is refreshing in these days, when quite a number of perfectly capable—and otherwise—patriotic citizens are working 'teen hours a day in the effort to serve the county or state in an official capacity, to find one job seeking the man. In the second commissioner district, E. B. Benn seems to have been conscripted for service as county commissioner, and it is doubtful if he will have any opposition in either the primary or general election.

It is a position returning more kinks than dollars, and Mr. Benn will serve at a financial loss, just as Mr. Locke, the retiring member, has done in the past three and a half years, yet it is one of large importance to the taxpayers of the county and demands all around qualifications to a greater extent than any other county office. The following published announcement of Mr. Benn has an encouraging sound to all friends of good popular government:

"I decided to become a candidate for county commissioner from the second district after receiving letters, petitions and oral requests from about 1,000 voters. Personally, I would prefer not to run, but under the circumstances, I considered it my duty to do so. The people of the county know me and, if they want me for commissioner, I will do my best to serve them.

"As I have stated before, I will not make a promise, spend a cent or solicit a vote. If elected, I will meet conditions as they arise and use my best judgment. I will endeavor to be fair to all sections of the county and the people thereof without regard to past political or personal differences and endeavor to give the taxpayers satisfaction. It is up to the voters of the county. If they think I am the best man in the field for the position they should vote for me; if not, they should vote for some other candidate."

Total for Year 769,855,000 Feet, 150,000,000 Feet Below 1914

The lumber cut of Grays Harbor mills for last year was 769,855,000 feet. This was about 150,000,000 feet shy of the 1914 cut. Some 17,000,000 feet were shipped to the Atlantic coast for forwarding to Europe, but only 2,000,000 feet went by way of the Panama canal.

Of the 725,049,000 feet which represented the total of sales for 1915, 349,909,000 feet was green; 151,318,000 feet air dried; and 223,822,000 feet kiln dried. Big timbers sold bulked 94,000,000 feet; railroad ties, 84,530,000 feet. The heaviest buyers were California, New Mexico and Arizona firms, 171,506,000 feet going to those three states. To Minnesota, Iowa and Missouri went 134,520,000 feet, while about 100,000,000 feet went to Wisconsin and Illinois.

Recreation Maps of Many National Forests Printed

Show Location of Ranger and Location Stations and Other Points of Interest

Recreation maps of the Chelan, Olympic and Washington national forests of Washington and the Deschutes, Ochoco, Oregon, Siskiyou, Siuslaw and Umatilla national forests of Oregon, have been completed by the U. S. department of agriculture, and are now being distributed to those who desire them. These maps show the available roads and trails; the location of ranger stations, lookout stations, and other points of interest on the forests.

On the back of these maps are printed a description of the forest and other information of value to campers and tourists, together with rules regarding forest fires and the sanitation of camps.

It is planned to prepare and print similar maps of the remaining national forests until all are covered. The maps are especially useful to hunters, fishermen, campers and tourists. Copies may be obtained from the district forester, Portland, or from the supervisor of any forest for which the map has been published.

An attendance of more than 7,000 is confidently expected and, as good weather, to make up for July moistness, may be looked for in August, the expectation should be realized. HOW ABOUT YOU?

You may know the pinch of famine, You may know the clutch of debt, There may be but little lamb in Any tricassee you get. All the dubs may try to flop you Any trick to lay you low, But they cannot really stop you, If you've got the goods to show. They may knock you down and trample On the wares you have to sell, They may hand you out a sample Of a little bit of h—! They may turn on you and thunder "Back you lobster, to the woods." But they cannot keep you under If you've really got the goods. True, it's hard for you to suffer What you know you don't deserve, But it rathers makes you tougher And it stiffens up your nerve. Let 'em slam, and damn, and flout you, Bear all it as best you can. But the world can't do without you If you've got the goods, Old Man.

CITY COUNCIL PROCEEDINGS

That a councilman cannot vote on a street improvement issue when he owns property along the street was the substance of a decision given at the council meeting Wednesday night by City Attorney A. E. Cross. The issue came up when Councilman James McMasters attempted to vote in favor of paving West Second street from Washington to Division. The council voted six for and six against the improvement and Mayor J. M. Phillips, not heeding Cross' opinion, said he would take at least a week before he cast the deciding vote.

Cross, in giving his opinion, said McMasters, in the Second street matter, had two interests, a public and a private one, and that in such a case he was not entitled to vote. Those for the improvement were E. E. Welland, Anton Pista, A. J. Grant, James McMasters, E. C. McKnight and John Fraser. Those against it were J. M. Walker, J. M. Bows, W. H. McWhinney, James Empey, A. S. Brecht and W. J. Egerer.

The main other business before the session was the opening of bids for paving Market street from Jefferson to Division and for filling and graveling Curtis street from Tilden to Front. The bids were opened and referred for one week. On the Market street improvement the bidders were the Olympic Paving company, Haulbell, Hegg & Co. and Keasal & Co. On the Curtis street job the bidders were the Independent Sand & Gravel company and the Keasal company.

One more week to arrange preliminary steps to the making of improvements which will stop the Second street slide was allowed the city attorney, engineer and mayor. This is a most important and intricate proposition and the council is showing good common sense in going carefully about it. That they intend doing the best thing is sure.

The amending of the present power ordinance, which prohibits the carting of explosives through the city except at night, was ordered under the supervision of the fire committee, the amendment to be submitted next week. A license was granted for operation of a skating rink at Heron and M streets.

A request for permission to operate a Dodge automobile salesroom on the lower floor of the Snider hotel building at Heron and Broadway gave rise to considerable discussion as to just what a garage is. The ordinance prohibits a garage in a two-story building. The Dodge agent said he did not propose to operate a garage but merely a salesroom and service station, in which very little repair work would be done and in which the cars would not be stored. The fire chief recommended against the granting of the requested permission, saying that automobiles should not be kept below a rooming house. The request was referred for one week.
