Five Year Chess Game.

Probably the longest game of chess ever known was that played between a man living in Australia and a friend in Newark, N. Y. Each move was made by letter, one player making use of the Europe and Suez canal route, and the other writing via the Pacific ocean and San Francisco. Five years elapsed before the game was drawn to a close.

Another similar record in chess playing was a correspondence game which took place recently between several Germans living in New York and a chess club in Bremen, Germany. The game terminated in February last year, with a victory for the New York players, having lasted a period of two years and five months.

RAISE INSURANCE RATES

Marine insurance rates on vessels operating in Alaskan waters are likely to be raised within a short time. The reason of this is owing chiefly to the frequency of marine mishaps which have occurred within the last month.

Prominent underwriters of Seattle state that the increase will not be large.

ASSAULTED BY THE FATHER

A Young Girl's Escort Terribly Beaten.

PITTSBORO, Ind., April 10.—A murderous assault was made on C. Hammond, a young man of this place yesterday. During the day he attended church at New Hope, and after the close of services escorted the 17-year-old daughter of John Money to her home in his buggy. After driving to the gate of her father's home, and while in the act of assisting her to alight, Mr. Money, her father, jerked the whip out of the socket and struck young Hammond in the face, knocking out several teeth, cutting his lip nearly off and bruising him in a terrible manner.

Hammond was brought to this place and given surgical treatment. He is coned to his bed owing to excessive loss of blood. The people are considerably stirred up over the matter and more trouble is anticipated. Young Hammond has always borne a good reputation. He is from Kentucky and he worked in the Good Hope neighborhood last summer.

PAIR OF FEET WANTED.

The police are looking for a pair of feet. Saturday night a burglar entered the Ross laundry on Bell street, but before setting to work in looking for valuables, removed his overcoat and shoes. He had just begun looking around when the proprietor of the laundry, who had been sleeping in an adjoining room, heard a live stock—appearing on West street. The burglar saw him first, and without getting his shoes or overcoat, he skipped as fast as legs could transport him. The articles were turned over to the police, and now they are looking for the missing feet.

A CHILD OF FORTUNE

Eleven Years Old but Starved and Cruelly Treated.

NEW YORK, April 10.—Almost unparalleled in its atrocious cruelty is the case of Elizabeth Reems, 11 years old, who has been taken in charge by the Paterson Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children.

President Arthur W. Bishop of the society, received written information about the matter recently from Albert Smith, justice of the peace of Bergen county, and John Paer, township overseer of that poor, with a request for immediate action.

Smith and Paer told of the life of the little girl, who lives between Franklin and Crystal lakes, seven miles north of Paterson, and the details were so startling that Mr. Bishop took personal charge of the case.

He visited the child's home, found her condition even worse than was represented and took charge of her. Her aunt, who had been her torturer, will be prosecuted.

Six years ago the child was left an orphan and went to live with her aunt, Kiziah Storms, near Crystal lake. Since that time she has been made a household drudge by her relatives. She has never seen the interior of a school or church. She does not know even the first letter of the alphabet, and of her maker she has never heard except in the blasphemous utterances of her relatives when intoxicated. Her face is that of a woman of 30 years, her body that of an emaciated child of nine years, who had been beaten often and without mercy, and her hands are the great calloused ones of a farmer's boy of 20.

On the night of the great blizzard, when furnaces were kept under a forced draft to warm comfortable homes, little Lizzie Reems, starving and almost without clothing, walked miles through the snow to the home of Poormaster Paer. She had heard that the food she had been promised for the asking, her clothing consisted of a piece of old bed-ticking and she had no underclothing. One foot was half hidden in an old shoe, and the other was wrapped in old bagging and tied with a piece of string. A piece of carpet was wrapped about her body, and her arms were covered with thin rags. The thermometer was at zero, the snow deep and drifted, yet this ill-treated child had walked four miles through it all for food.

COURT NOTES.

George W. Myrick was allowed a judgment for $90 and costs in the superior court Saturday against F. W. Wusthoff and wife.

A judgment by default for $29,974.11 was allowed the Seattle National Bank against the Seattle National Bank Building company in the superior court Saturday.

Amos Brown is not satisfied with the jury's verdict given in the superior court on April 7 in his suit against S. C. Fernandes et al, and has filed a notice of a new trial.

LEPER VICTIM DIES.

JUNCTION CITY, O., April 10.—Hannah Gary, aged 22 years, the elder of the two Gary sisters, who have been afflicted with supposed leprosy for the past 17 years, died at their home, three miles from this place, last evening, after two weeks of intense suffering, the result of the dread disease invading the heart and lungs.

She was examined by a prominent specialist on that class of diseases from Chicago, who diagnosed their case as genuine leprosy. The family lives on an isolated farm in Perry county, which is shunned by all.

THREE JAILED ON SUSPICION

Charged With Complicity in Murder of An Old Man.

LEITCHFIELD, Ky., April 10.—Sheriff Cardwell, of Butler county, arrived here this afternoon in charge of Dent Coy, George Vetteo and Monroe White, of Butler county, and lodged them in jail charged with complicity in the murder of old man Green Embry, of the Tan Yards, this county, near the Butler county line, December 24 last, which, at the time, created great excitement in that locality. There were ten men in the party who called on Embry and shot him in his doorway. The cause of the deed has always been a mystery. It was said that at the time the gang charged Embry with keeping a disorderly house, but all his neighbors have certified that this is untrue. A writ has been sent out for the arrest of the remaining seven of the gang. Dent Coy it is said, is a Baptist preacher, while Vetteo and White are well known in the locality of the crime. The case promises to be an interesting one.

THE EMPEROR IS GUARDED

Secretly When He Goes Driving in Berlin.

Whenever the young Emperor of Germany goes driving in Berlin a telephone message is sent to the police station and within five minutes policemen are scattered all along the road over which the Emperor will appear. These men must be in the center of the roadway when the Emperor's carriage drives by and keep one whole side of the street clear for him. At the same time the other men stand on the asphalt pavement so that the horse driven by the Emperor shall not slip and fall, for the Emperor is a very fast driver, and thinks a great deal of the royal horses, which, of course, are the finest in Germany.

All at once, with a clatter of hoofs and a scattering of sand, a carriage shining brightly in the sun comes dashing down the street, drawn by beautiful coal black horses who arch their necks as proudly as if they were the best belonged to the greatest man in Germany, and carried golden harness on their backs worth a fortune. You have only time to see a handsome and richly dressed young man and the white-haired Emperor, the carriage, when it is gone, and the 200 men who have been sent out to look after the safety of the Emperor in a few minutes have left their posts as quietly as they came. So easily is all this done that starmen do not notice anything strange, only perhaps remarking that there are more policemen than usual on the street.

MARRIAGE LICENSES.

A license to wed was issued Saturday to Eugene G. Miller, 47, of Spokane, and Beanie G. Talbot, 40, of San Francisco.

PLANNING A DEPARTURE.

An Author Who Proposed to Get Out of the Old Rut.

"What we want," said the publisher, "is a good, realistic story of army life. Something that will show just what the conditions are among the soldiers."

"I see," said the author; "I was in the army myself. I know exactly how things are conducted."

"Something that will thrill the reader to the marrow and make his hair stand on end."

"I thought you said you wanted something out of the ordinary?"

"That's what I am after."

"Well, in that case, we won't have any thrill in it. Of course it's there, but it comes so suddenly and is so soon over that you hardly have time to know what thrilled you. If you want to get right down to hardpan realism and sound the keynote of the soldier's general condition, we will be glad to leave out most of this description of a hero rushing headlong

AN OLD MAN IN TROUBLE

Accused of Enticing Country Girls to Ruin.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 10.—Wm. H. Drapier, formerly a well known citizen of Indiana, has been arrested on the charge of enticing girls for immoral purposes. Drapier, who is 65 years of age, proceeded to carry out a plan of wholesale enticement by advertising in newspapers, and even by issuing circular letters. In his house he had a small printing outfit. His scheme was to get a poor young girl as an apprentice to the printer's trade, which he describes elaborately in his circulars. After securing an "apprentice" he proceeded to carry out his purposes: His printing outfit was a farce, and the evidence shows that no attempts were made by the girls to learn to print with it.

The chief witness against him is Miss Emma Burgess, of Muncie, 15 years of age and good looking, who came, as her letter shows, with the serious intention of learning the printing business. Upon her arrival at his house, 429 North Senate avenue, Drapier began making personal advances to her, and before long the neighbors had notified the police. The girl went back to Muncie, returning upon receipt of a letter from Drapier informing her that all was safe. Since then she says she has been intimate with the old
