Boys' Clothing of the Best Grade

We show by far the most extensive line of Boys' Clothing in the Northwest. Not only are the practical suits here in abundance, but there are very extreme novelties for little fellows, such as are seldom found outside the great establishments of New York and Chicago.

Boys' Suits for dress or school wear, in all sizes up to 14, can be bought for as little as $3.50

These are striped and pepper and salt tweeds, in the favorite mixtures.

Sailor Suits of serge and deersvelly popular for little fellows, up to 8 or 10 years of age. The prices start at $3.50

This picture illustrates a manly little cutaway suit—fine for dress wear. We show these in black worsteds and blue serges. Prices from $5.00 UP

Besides, there are thousands of Wash Suits, priced from $1.00 UP

For men, new Straw Hats, in all the latest shape, and a particularly fine showing of genuine Panama Hats.

HUMAN HEADS STUCK UP ON ROOFS IN FILIPINO VILLAGE

GHASTLY TROPHIES DISPLAYED BY SAVAGE IGORROTES AT THE WORLD'S FAIR

BY W. B. KENNY.
Staff Correspondence to The Star and Newspaper Enterprise Association.

ST. LOUIS, April 4.—The center of attraction at the world's fair is the Filipino village. Thousands of people visit it daily, just to catch a distant glimpse of these strange people. Few are allowed inside, but peering through the bamboo walls of the village, the visitors get a fleeting view of the natives. And it's well worth wading through three miles of mud to see.

Of course, interest centers in the savage head-hunting Igorrotes. There are 80 of these naked brown people here, and of these 30 are women and children. They are now building their own huts, blacksmith shops, rice mills, and planting sweet potatoes and rice.

Their village is rather ghastly. About 100 human heads decorate the poles of their huts, and as many steer heads ornament the gate posts. The heads are the heads of Filipinos who fell victims to their prowess. Each skull is polished brightly and glistens in the sunlight.

An Igorrote warrior's prowess is measured by the number of human heads he possesses. He is counted of no worth in battle until he has taken one. As a result, the Igorrote is not popular with his brother Filipinos. Many of the Igorrotes have no heads. The constabulary and Macabee scouts know this. They also know that the head-hunter hasn't any conscience when he sees a chance to get a head. So the civilized brown man with a Krag-Jorgensen rifle in his hand keeps close watch over his pagan brother.

The Igorrote builds his house quickly. He plants bamboo poles in the ground and ties the tops together. He uses logs for walls, and for a roof uses thick thatches of hay, tied in bunches and put on much as we put on shingles.

Some American lumber is being used in the house for the white men in charge. The Igorrote never saw an American tool until he came here, but he began to use chisels, saws and hammers as though born with them in his hands. He has to be watched, however, or he will use them on his comrades.

The head-hunter is a quarrelsome chap. He talks all the time and eavesdrops on all the rest. Their quarters are the noisiest on the grounds.

After his house is built, he puts up a few strange, grotesquely-twisted wisps of straw, to keep the demons off, puts his human heads up on poles where they can be seen, and he's at home. His arms are a spear, bolo and a club.

The Tinguanes are as silent as the Igorrotes are noisy. They build their houses like those of the Igorrotes, except they use palm strips for thatches instead of hay. They do not like clothing either, but wear bamboo hats. The Manganes and Mescayans are similar in customs and appearance.

The Negritos are the smallest of the pagan tribes. Few of them are taller than 3 feet 6 inches. They have curly wool and are very dark. They resemble diminutive negroes, from whom they get their name. They cannot stand the cold, so they are kept shivering, with a lot of small monkeys, in the overheated rooms of the court.

While the men work on the huts or buildings, the women and children the straw thatches or weave breach cloths. They have primitive looms for this purpose, but work deftly and well.

Everyone smokes. Even a two-year-old boy—an Igorrote lad, when tendered a cigar, seized it, bit off the end, lighted it and sat down for a good smoke. Women and chil-

"WALKING DELEGATE" SAM PARKS. (From a Sketch Drawn While He Was on Trial for Extortion.)

OSSENING, N. Y., May 4.—Sam Parks, the walking delegate of the Housewives' Union New York City, convicted of extortion in connection with the building strikers, died at 7:15 o'clock this morning in the prison hospital. He was sentenced to one year and six months.

Parks fell in health immediately after he fell into the clutches of the law. Tuberculosis caused his death.

Freezing Out the Stock of Millinery and Suits

It's simply a case of freeze-out, this closing out sale of Millinery and Suits. "IT'S ALMOST LIKE ROBBING THESE MEN," was a remark overheard by the writer, as a lady was descending the stairs from the balcony today. She had paid $14.50 for a suit worth $30.00, and $5.00 for a jacket worth $20.00, and was happy as a clam at high tide. No more we.—It was just one notch closer to Heavenly Rest—a feature that's been lacking since we got mixed up with Millinery and Suits.

We Want to Get Out

Of this business. We can talk a few things about platoon, but we're "dead ones" when it comes to selling hats. However, we have the best lot of clerks that the city of Seattle affords, who came to our rescue at a time most needed. Best quality of Silk Waists, worth regularly $6.50, now going at $2.50. Flowers of all kinds going at half regular pricing. COATS, SUITS and SKIRTS—less than half regular value.

Hats worth $1.50, $2.00, $2.50, $3.00, $3.50, $4.00, $4.50, $5.00, $5.50, $6.00, $6.50, $7.00, $7.50, $8.00, $8.50, $9.00, $9.50, $10.00, $10.50, $11.00, $11.50, $12.00, $12.50,
