WILLIAM HOFFMAN SAYS HE GOT TWO PIECES OF BREAD PER DAY IN CITY JAIL

William Hoffman, a morphine fighter whose late days have been an endless stream of arrests and trials in police court, was brought before Justice Gordon yesterday afternoon on a state charge of vagrancy. After hearing the testimony of Officers Damm and Jack King, who arrested Hoffman, Justice Gordon decided that he had better spend the next three months in the county jail. His bonds were fixed at $250, in default of which he was committed.

Hoffman's case is a sad one. Years ago he was a fine appearing man and was well educated. He comes of a respectable family and has wealthy connections, who have labored hard to raise his moral standard in vain.

"I realize my condition, judge, and I only wish I was through with it all," was Hoffman's pitiful appeal at the close of his arraignment.

At the time of his arrest Hoffman was shambing along Washington street with his morphine gun in one hand and a bottle of "dope" in the other. He would stop pedestrians on the street and, pointing up at the wires, would say:

"I am going to catch the electric currents. There is danger in these wires. If I don't catch them they will drop on you and burn you up."

With glaring eyes and strained features he would make these remarks in a solemn, slow voice much to the consternation of the people he would stop.

"I don't really think the man is far from being insane, your honor," remarked Officer King, when asked to explain the nature of his charge.

Hoffman has just completed a 60 day sentence in the city jail and fought against going back there, desperately when told that he would be well cared for in the county jail he seemed to be reconciled to his fate and asked for something to eat, as he claimed to be nearly starved.

"For over two months I staid in that jail and they only fed me two small chunks of bread each day. I is no wonder I don't look like myself," said Hoffman at the close of the proceedings.

MUST PAY $58,048

CITY ASSESSED THIS AMOUNT BY JURY IN POLE LINE CONDEMNATION CASE

After wrangling for nearly thirty hours, the jury in the Cedar river pole line case yesterday brought in a verdict of $58,048.48 damages against the city of Seattle for land condemned by it between this city and Cedar river. The trial of the case occupied about a week in the superior court. The condemned land is a strip about 800 feet wide and runs in many places through valuable timber land.

Following are awards by the verdict of the jury yesterday: State of Washington, $6,588; Weyerhaeuser Lumber company, $660; Kent Lumber company and Northern Pacific Railroad company, $3,960 for timber; Kent Lumber company, $2,500 for land; H. C. Henry, $1,800 for land and $200 for damages to the adjoining land. Henry's claim is practically that of the Kent Lumber company, as he is heavily interested in that company. The company asked for $15,000 for its land and received in all $7,500.

City Engineer Thomson says that the city has been forced to pay about $1,200 more for the land than it would have, had the jury been allowed to inspect the property before bringing in their verdict. Judge Griffin denied the application of the city attorney to allow the jury to visit the properties, on the ground that they would, while there, be entertained by parties interested in the properties and would be subject to criticism.

City Engineer Thomson states that the appropriation of $7,500 for the Kent Lumber company will be brought before the city council next Monday night and that, as soon as the money is paid, a force of men will be put to work on the land clearing away the heavy timber along the right of way.

LITTLE HAPPENINGS

Frank Warren, of Spokane, and Miss Hilda Lundberg, of Fort Blakeley, were united in marriage September 26, 1904, at the residence of the officiating clergyman, Rev. Martin L. Larson, 911 Stewart street, Seattle.

Earl Goodwin, aged 18 years, was caught stealing tools in a boiler factory near the foot of Pike street and now occupies a cell in the city jail. Workmen in the place caught Goodwin and a companion red-handed and in the chase that followed, the other young man escaped.

Mr. and Mrs. Max Westfield announce the engagement of their daughter Ada to Mr. R. H. Goldwater, of Butte, Mont., at the Westfield home, 917 Main street, on Sunday afternoon, October 2.

Former Congressman F. M. Doherty, of Minnesota, and his wife arrived from Alaska last night and left on their return trip to Minneapolis this morning. They have been traveling through the north for some weeks.

Judge C. H. Hanford yesterday afternoon handed down a memorandum decision in the federal court denying the plea of non-jurisdiction made by some of the parties to a suit of the majority of stockholders of the Seattle-Tenton electric road against the company. In this case the plaintiffs claim that transfers of stock have been improperly made.

The attendance of the King county convention of Sunday school teachers completely filled the First M. E. church yesterday at all three sessions. Rev. W. H. O. Temple addressed the body and discussions were had by various Sunday school leaders in attendance.

JOHN KING ON TRIAL

TESTIMONY TO CONNECT HIM WITH FERDALE POSTOFFICE ROBBERY BEING HEARD

John King, the yegg man who Chief of Police Delaney and several detectives of the local police force tried for nearly three months to convert into a first class kidnaper, was given a partial hearing before United States Commissioner Kiefer yesterday afternoon on a charge of being implicated in the robbery of the United States postoffice at Ferndale, Wash., on the evening of April 13, 1904. A. H. McLean, the postmaster; A. H. Tew, G. A. Pence and Guernsey Newkirk, residents of Ferndale, were the witnesses against the alleged hold-up.

Their testimony was weak in the extreme and at the conclusion of its taking Commissioner Kiefer decided to continue the case until today at 3 o'clock. In the meantime, the authorities will confer with Inspector C. L. Wayland in order to determine if any more evidence can be secured.

The four witnesses testified that they were in the postoffice on the evening of the hold-up. It was about 9 o'clock in the evening. Two men armed with two revolvers and with their faces covered with black cloth rushed into the place, with the command "Throw up your hands!" which was instantly obeyed. One of the hold-ups kept his revolvers swinging from one to the other, while his confederate "tapped" the till for $145 and picked up what valuable papers there were in sight.

After securing the "loot," the two highwaymen hurriedly made off, leaving the four men to collect their scattered wits. When questioned closely about the matter, one of the witnesses said that King's voice sounded somewhat like the one he heard during the hold-up. Another said that King walked a little like one of the highwaymen.

None of the witnesses were very decided in their statements and seemed reluctant to say anything at all. King watched the proceedings in stolid silence and smiled broadly as Deputy Marshal Lathé had him amble back and forth several times before the four witnesses. Inspector Wayland has been out of the city, but is expected back today. King will be discharged or held, according to the strength of the evidence.

REWARD

A reward of $100 is offered by the sheriff of Walla Walla county for the apprehension of Joe Pasquin, who brutally murdered a comrade, Domenico di Valerio, on the night of September 23. Pasquin escaped and since that time his movements have been unknown. A good description is given the Seattle authorities, but so far no clew to his whereabouts has been unearthed.

ICE IN YUKON

Advices were brought here by passengers of the steamer Dolphin, which arrived here last night, to the effect that ice in distressing large quantities is flowing into the Yukon from the Stewart, Pelly and other tributaries of the great river. The water is low and the vessels going to and from Dawson for White Horse, cannot figure with any degree of certainty as to the time they will reach their destination. One vessel brought about 1500,000 worth of gold.

The father of Gordon Squire came to police headquarters yesterday afternoon to enlist aid in finding his lost son. He left his home, at 512 1/2 Howell street a few days ago and, as he is but 19 years of age, his parents fear that something serious has happened to the boy. Mr. Squire told the police that the boy might have taken the steamer George E. Starr for Bellingham.
