Sash and Door Bargains
The One Price Store

All of my windows are glazed with my famous high dry brand of silver clear glass. This glass is all natural gas tank made, and comes from Mt. Jewett, Pa. I use a solid carload of glass every 20 days. I just unloaded one of the largest cars of glass ever shipped to the Pacific Coast, containing 650 cases; every light in this car was my well known silver-clear, or high dry brand. It would pay you to buy your windows from me, if only for the satisfaction of knowing you are getting the world's best glass, but better yet, you can buy from me at a lower price than you can possibly purchase from your nearest dealer, who sells the hand-me-down, go-as-you-please kind, containing glass that oftentimes distorts the vision.

I quote prices of a few sizes, to give you an idea. Send for my price lists, on which are priced all by stock sizes, as well as cottage front windows.

DOORS

The cross panel colonial fir doors, the standard quality, 13-3 inch thick, thoroughly seasoned and kiln dried, all stock sizes up to and including 28x8, $1.30 per door.

Sash pulleys, 32c per dozen.
Sash cord, 60c per hank.
Antique locks, 34c per set.
Antique copper hinges, 16c pair.

In comparing prices, the wise purchaser always considers the reputation for honest goods and fair dealing possessed by the firm soliciting. I take great pride in the wonderful growth of my business, which is not yet three years old. I have been a constant advertiser since the start, and I have never once written wilfully a misleading advertisement, nor have I widely advertised an occasional special bargain, but by continual and uniform offering day after day, and month after month of standard goods at the lowest possible prices, I have built up an enormous business, and today I lead the procession and am the largest distributor in my line of business in the Northwest.

NOTICE TO STOCKHOLDERS.
At a meeting of the directors of the Outlet Clothing Co., held on March 11, it was resolved:
To discontinue the business known as the Outlet Clothing Co., and to reincorporate according to the laws of the State of Washington. Further notice is also given to all persons indebted to the concern to pay same before the expiration of thirty days from date hereof. Dated at Seattle, Wash., March 15, 1905.

Mullen to Act in People's Defense

SAYS HE WILL MAKE SEATTLE ELECTRIC COMPANY PLACE OVERHEAD CROSSING AT MADISON AND CHERRY STREETS BEFORE HE QUILTS

The dangerous street crossings which the Seattle Electric company has maintained for years on the Madison street and James street lines, at First and Second avenues, will not last much longer, if Councilman Mullen, chairman of the street committee, has his way.

As soon as the regrade of Third and Fourth avenues is begun, which will be in a few weeks, he hopes to force the murderous cobra to construct overhead crossings at these points, thus doing away with some of the danger and congestion now existing there.

The system by which the company drags its cable cars across First and Second avenues is one that would not be tolerated by any but a corporation oblivious to the value of human life. That there has not already been more horrible accidents at these crossings than those already occurring has always been considered a miracle. No member of the city council, however, up to the present time has raised a hand to prevent the frightful killing that is bound to occur sooner or later.

The application of J. A. Moore to construct a cable line on Columbia street has called attention to the need of requiring him to construct an overhead crossing at Second avenue to avoid the danger that would exist on a grade crossing.

"I will never consent to that portion of the franchise," said Mr. Daulton yesterday, "until Moore agrees to construct an overhead crossing at Second avenue, and, if it is possible before I retire from the council, I am going to see that the Seattle Electric company constructs crossings for its cable lines on that street also."

"Present conditions are frightful and should not be tolerated for a moment. That there have not been more killings as a result of those cable cars as they come plunging down the steep incline to Second avenue is a wonder. During the times that the streets are crowded conditions are simply unbearable. Many times I have stood aghast as I have seen some woman or child escape being run over by a hairbreadth while running in front of one car in attempting to avoid one going in the opposite direction."

The system also results in great delay for the cars on First and Second avenues. The overhead crossings would not only prevent all this delay, but they would prevent accidents that would pay for their construction 10 times over."

Investigator Bristow Being Investigated

THE PRESIDENT ORDERS THAT THE CHARGES OF INJUSTICE AND PERSECUTION MADE AGAINST THE LEAN KANSAS SLEUTH BE LOOKED INTO—BRISTOW HAS NOTHING TO SAY EXCEPT THAT HE IS WILLING TO BE PROBED

(Special to The Star)
BY H. GILSON GARDNER.
WASHINGTON, D. C., March 16.—Now the great investigator is to be investigated. The president has given orders that Joseph L. Bristow, late fourth assistant postmaster general, be made the object of some inquiry. The lean Kansas sleuth is at present engaged as a special commissioner at $15 per diem, investigating the Panama railroad.

The charge against Bristow is persecution. It was made in a vague and general way while he was present and in power; but when he was eliminated suddenly from the post-office department a great cloud of witnesses, whose mouths had been closed by abject fear, came to the front, and before Postmaster General Robert J. Wynne laid down that portfolio he recommended that these stories be sifted.

There are excellent reasons for believing that Bristow did exceed the bounds of fairness and humanity.

WILL RETIRE FROM BUSINESS.

The Outlet Clothing Company, of Occidental avenue and Washington street, yesterday gave due and proper notice to the public of its determination to retire from business.

The causes for this move were not definitely stated. All that could be learned from the manager, Mr. Blumenfeld, was that instructions had been received from the board of directors to sell out the business. The lease, fixtures and stock will be sold in a lump if a buyer can be found; if not it will be disposed of at retail. A day or two at most will decide one way or the other. Certain it is that the Outlet is going to quit business.

taken home in a cab and a physician was called. He was confined to his room for six weeks with what the doctors said was a functional trouble of the heart, and which they also said might better be diagnosed as a severe attack of Bristow.

There is another case of an older clerk, on whom the breath of suspicion never had been cast. But, one day, he was ordered to stay at home, until his office could be investigated. All his personal and private papers, as well as the official records under his charge were gone over by the inspectors, and he remained at home for six weeks. Meantime, rumors were set afloat, his reputation was injured, and he suffered physically and mentally in a way that took years from his life. Nothing was found to implicate him, and he has since been restored.

A man named Landvoigt, head of a division in the third assistant's department, was among those who were summarily removed by Bristow. Subsequently inquiry has failed to make any case against this man, and steps are on foot to have him restored.

There are scores of similar cases. The postoffice investigation was salutary, in the main. But Bristow should have been called off 15 months ago, or "sicked" on some other department where rats still abound. As it is, he has been snapping and snarling for months at the heels of people quite as honest and much more humane than himself.

BRISTOW WON'T TALK
(Special to The Star).
LOS ANGELES, Cal., March 16.—Before leaving this city for San Pedro this morning, Bristow was asked if he had any statement to make in reference to the investigation conducted in the above Washington dispatch. He refused to discuss the matter, simply saying that he was willing to stand on his record as fourth assistant postmaster general and would gladly face any of his accusers as soon as he reaches Washington.

Bristow has just returned from Panama, where he has been making an investigation of the Panama railroad.

He is on his way to Washington, but will visit San Francisco, Portland and Seattle before going to the national capital. He expects to return to Washington by the middle of next week.

GLASS EYE CAUSED DEATH
PORTLAND, Ore., March 16.—Because he had a glass eye Frank Johnson, an employe of the Portland General Electric company was electrocuted last night. He failed to see an arc light near him, touched the lamp and 2,500 volts passed through his body. Death was almost instantaneous.

In honor of St. Patrick's day, solemn mass will be held at the Catholic cathedral at 9 o'clock Friday morning. The sermon will be delivered by the Rt. Rev. Bishop J. O'Dea. Divisions of the local Ancient Order of Hibernians will attend in a body. Friday's entertainment at the Grand opera house promises to be a record breaker. Seats are almost all taken now.

Good Grounds

Probably few persons ever stop to think what the cost of a single cup of coffee is so long as it tickles their palates in the right spot.

A pound of our MO-JAVA coffee will make from three to four gallons of good, rich coffee, or 65 to 75 cups, a cost of less than half of a cent per cup. Then, why waste your good cream and sugar on a poor cup of coffee? In our MO-JAVA coffee we put in plenty of best grade JAVA to give it a rich creamy flavor, and the right amount of MOCHA to give it strength and flavor together, and then we add just enough Central American coffee to give it that pleasing flavor that tickles the palate and makes a customer for MO-JAVA COFFEE.

Compare this coffee with any you have used, costing 35c and 40c a pound.

Our regular price of Mo-Java coffee is 28c a pound, but Saturday we will sell at a special price of 22c per pound.

To demonstrate to you the good qualities of Mo-Java coffee, we will serve it FREE Saturday afternoon and evening. Will be pleased to have you try a cup whether you wish to purchase or not.

A good cup of coffee is always satisfactory.

Try us next time you are out of coffee.

MADE SOME BIG GAINS

Everyone made a gain in the voting contest for the three popular employes of the Seattle Electric company offered by Henningshausen, the popular First avenue jeweler. Frank Pressnell, the Bonson Hill motorman, demonstrated his popularity by getting married yesterday and jumping to the lead in the race today. He made a gain of 841 votes and took the lead over A. Springer by just 4 votes.

Springer gained nearly 50 votes yesterday and is now in second place. Neither man, however, has any lead to brag about, for D. Skutt is only two votes behind the second man. L. C. Lindsay holds fourth position, with A. Wolff, who was the leader yesterday, only two votes behind him. Jack McLean did some climbing during the forenoon. He jumped from 140 to 481, a gain 341.

Six new men entered the century column at the vote today. Two new candidates entered the race and each is expected to make a good showing before the contest ends. In today's issue the line upon which each candidate is employed is indicated to aid the public in better identifying the candidate.
