

BASEBALL IS IN DOUBT

FATE OF THE PACIFIC COAST LEAGUE HANGS ON DECISION OF CALIFORNIA CLUBS—THE OLD PACIFIC NORTHWEST LEAGUE MAY BE REVIVED.

Is the Pacific Coast league about to be disbanded? It is a matter strictly up to the California clubs. Manager Agnew, of the Seattle team, has received no word from President Bert and can make no move until the disposition of the clubs representing San Francisco, Oakland, Los Angeles and Fresno is ascertained. In the meanwhile, the league is paralyzed. Seattle will, under no circumstances, desert the Coast league. If, however, the California clubs see fit to abandon baseball this season, it is the opinion of President Cohen and Manager Agnew that the northern clubs might revive the old Pacific Northwest league.

Jim Agnew stated last night that if it developed that the Seattle club could not play in San Francisco this season, it is possible that the local team and Portland might enter the Pacific Northwest league.

FAST GAME DUE

What should be one of the hottest amateur games of the season will be played between the Rainiers and Superiors at Madison park tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The line up: Superiors—J. Johnson, 1f; Dickman, rf; Bee, lb; Sullivan, 3b; Miller, ss; Schroder, c; Groves, 2b; Fryberg, cf; L. Johnson, p; R. Bressanham, R. Paddock, utility. Rainiers—Whittemore, rf; Woods, c; Kayson, lb; Davis, 2b; Drennon, cf; Finney, p; Duggan, 3b; Muechly, lf; Sjeldel, ss; Miller, McName, utility.

HARD FOR RAINE TO GET GAMES

Eddie Raines and his cute crew of ball tossers have such a strong line-up this season that they are unable to wheedle any other team to take them on. Eddie and his bunch are picked from the men who inhabit Profanity Hill. The humorous feature of the team's inability to secure games is the fact the court house nine has played but one game and lost that by a big margin.

Yesterday afternoon Eddie was glued to the phone for one hour, trying to entice some other city or county baseball team into playing his bunch, but all shied from the challenge. Captain Raines finally gave up in disgust and declared that

MIXED SPORTS

Athletes of the four classes at the local high school held an inter-class track and field meet this afternoon on the varsity campus. The principal event was the quarter mile run for the Coe medal. Last year Brayley Gish won the medal.

NEW YORK, April 21.—Schafer defeated Hoppe last night in the 18-2 billiard tourney, 500 to 488.

BURLESQUE IS A FAILURE

The entire west has been wiped off the map of the burlesque companies and none of the vulgar shows will be seen in the western territory next season.

This is the theatrical announcement received in the city last night in a telegram from New York to the effect that the burlesque managers had reached an agreement to that effect.

The present season started off with fairly good companies and with good members in them, but after the fourth show the style of actors and mannerisms of the productions changed for the worse.

The theatergoers of the west are not quite careless enough in their tastes and morals to thoroughly appreciate the character of burlesque that was sent out the past season and to make it profitable for the owners of the shows.

Seattle was the first western city to place its stamp of disapproval on the burlesque show, followed in a strenuous form. Other cities were quickly in line and the result was a losing season. The burlesque at the Seattle tonight winds the season up in Seattle.

TONIGHT WILL WIND UP THE SEASON IN SEATTLE WHICH HAS BEEN FAR FROM PROFITABLE IN ANY SECTION OF THE WEST.

So that you may have an idea of the kind of values we are offering at this sale we have put in a display of Spring Suits and Topcoats that occupies all our window space on First avenue.

Our Columbia street windows are taken up with displays of furnishings for men and boys.

The savings to be made, purchasing at the Get Out Sale, are very important because of two reasons:

FIRST—These are all brand new Spring goods, fresh from the fashion-setting centers of the country.

SECOND—The prices have been cut in a way that convinces even the skeptical of our determination to get out, and quickly.

So the workmen may commence the remodeling of the entire building.

GIANTS TAKE ON BALLARD TEAM

At Recreation park tomorrow afternoon the Seattle Giants will clash with the Ballard bunch. Last season the Giants were twice defeated by Ballard but this season the big ones have materially strengthened their team and will attempt to take the measure of the shingle town nine tomorrow. This will be the first time this season that the two teams have met and the game is bound to be a stunner.

The Giants have signed McElre, a clever southpaw upon whom they depend to do spectacular slab stunts. Opposed to him will be McGuire, who is a nifty southpaw himself.

George Derrick, an oldtime league umpire, will handle the indicator.

THE THEATERS

"The Hair to the Hoarrah" with Guy Bates Post and the cast which was at the Grand last week, is to return to the Seattle Sunday night for a single farewell performance. Monday night and for the balance of the week at the Seattle the Lee Morris Dramatic company will be seen in two plays, "The Princess of Patches" and "Roanoke."

Creston Clarke opens at the Grand Sunday night for three performances of "Monsieur Beaucaire." He found great favor with the play here last year.

"A Devil's Lane" closes at the Third Avenue theater tonight. Starting tomorrow afternoon a company of well known actors will present "Ruined Lives." This is a melodrama of heart interest, interspersed with comedy and other ingredients. The author has chosen to locate the locality of the play, R. E. French heads the company at Third Avenue theater and is responsible for the staging of the production.

HIGH PRIESTESS OF SYMBOLISM DEPICTS GODDESS OF FAR EAST

MISS ST. DENIS IN HER OCCULT DANCE.

NEW YORK—With her 10 naked little toes, her slender ankle, a bit of her well turned calf and her body from the jacket line to the waist line darkened to a rich East Indian brown and clearly exposed, Ruth St. Denis, a barefooted feminine wrigler, has been dancing in this city amidst the "Ohing" and "Aahing" of the ultra-fashionable set.

The coloring of her skin is not intended to replace hosiery, but rather to aid in representing the Oriental goddess that this New York girl seeks to portray.

With swaying motions this high priestess of symbolism and mysticism seeks to show the favorite feminine deity of the far east. With quivers and shivers of her beautiful body, with wave upon wave of her long graceful arms, with her full diaphanous skirts whirling about her, the story of Radha is told.

The dance the 49 is enthusiastic about is called the "Hindoo temple dance." Radha, the defied wife of Krishna, the patron saint of the Hindoo religion, is seated in her sacred temple amid gorgeous rugs and draperies. Braasers glow with ruddy coals and incense slowly ascends as the temple priests bow before her and seek liberation.

Slowly the supposed spirit of Radha descends from its pedestal and delivers a message in the form of a mystic dance.

The first figure consists of five circles, each typical of a physical sense. The second figure portrays renunciation, the determination to be free, and the throwing off of bondage. Then comes the peace attainment and the final picture showing the god back on her shrine.

Miss St. Denis claims that her dance is the result of several years' study in the far east. She insists that none of the physical part of it has come through teachers. As fashionable women for months past have been curiously peering into the occult, Miss St. Denis has not wanted for loudly applauding auditors.

How a Seattle Man Lost $123,290

A young man of Seattle three years ago owned a block of stock in the LeRoit mine. He received an offer of 90 cents a share and decided to accept it, taking $17,170 for the entire block. A short time later one of the men on the "inside" offered him $2 per share, and today the stock he sold for $17,170 is worth $123,000.00.

The story contains a moral for you who have been reading the advertisements of the Seattle-Boston Copper Co., and hesitate to buy. Our preferred stock is
