"These children upon reaching what ought to be manhood and womanhood become the parents of offspring inheriting their degeneracy, and these children in turn grow up to produce other children still more degenerate. This ruin of American citizenship, upon which alone this republic, the last experiment of freedom, rests, is too high a price to pay for making still richer a few men who are already too rich.

"So we see that the results of this evil are inhumanity, murder and absolutely certain race degeneration. It has got to be stopped. Separate Action Useless.

ers, and it is a word of doom. While the white working people of the south, composing the enormous majority of the entire white stock of that section, are increasingly sending their children to the mills and thus wrecking the future of the white race, the negroes of the south are increasingly sending their children to school, and thus improving the future of the black race. We are deliberately weakening the white race of the south, while gradually strengthening the black race of the south.

Company K, which represents this city and state militia, and which for some time has been purchasing coal from Stillaguamish because of lack of support, is once more getting on its feet. Captain Baker made an appeal a few days ago for more recruits, saying that if they were not obtainable the company would have to go to some other city. Five new men have been received since then and a number of more applications for membership have been made.

J. G. Brown, president of the International Shingle Weavers' union, says that the standard for shingle manufacturers in this state. He predicts that the next difficulty that will confront the mills, even though the coal shortage is overcome, will be a shortage of men. Weavers, he declares, are going into other work. He says their wages have not been increased in proportion to wages paid other men and that the work has been too intermittent to be satisfactory.

PRIEST ACCUSED OF ASSAULT

A sensational case developed in the courts here yesterday, when Father J. H. Conlin, the Catholic priest in charge of the church at this point, and missions in Cashmere, Chelan, Leavenworth and Waterville, was arrested on the charge of the brutal assault on a 17-year-old girl of this city. Father Conlin was brought before Judge Palmer yesterday on the charge of assault.

The complaining witness is a motherless girl, who resided with her father in the north end of a heartrending one. The date of the crime alleged in the complaint is given as May 5 and 8 of last year. Thursday night the girl gave birth to a child, and on hearing the story, the father of the girl immediately went for Conlin. Upon the arrival of the latter, the dog was set upon the priest and two shots were fired, but failed to reach their mark.

Friday morning the girl sent her story to Judge Palmer, and to him told her story. A warrant was immediately procured for the arrest of Father Conlin, and he was brought before Judge Palmer, and, waiting examination, was placed under bond of the amount of $1,500. The bond was furnished by James Duffy and John Durieux. The priest, while reticent, nevertheless asserts his innocence.

DENNY HILL LOT BRINGS $12,750

Walter W. Ayer has sold to Albert B. Lord & Co. lot 10, block 2, Bell's sixth addition, for $12,750. The property is situated on Eighth av. between Bell and Battery sts., and is improved with a 20-room house leased for $75. The owner purchased this property about six years ago for $925, and the improvements cost him about $5,000, making the net gain on the investment more than $6,000 in six years, or more than 100 per cent.

GRAIN SHIPMENTS SHOW GREAT FALLING OFF.

Deputy State Grain Inspector Alex Anderson's report of the grain receipts at Seattle for the month of January shows a decided falling off, the cause being attributed by him to the coal shortage and the freight blockade. The report shows that but 480 cars of grain were received in January, as compared to 829 cars for that month in 1906.

INDIANA GETS SPUNKY.

A telegram to Henry E. Reed, director of exploitation for the A. V. P. E., says that the governor of Indiana will not recommend an appropriation for the fair because of the present monetary need of home institutions. The manufacturers and business men will probably see that the matter is not neglected, however.

OPIMUM DEN RAIDED.

Little Ah Sing, "the Chinese kid," who has been running an opium den in the Montana house, on Fourth av. S., was caught in the act yesterday afternoon by Officer Keefe, and arrested. Sing's opium pipe and outfit, including a small amount of opium, was brought to the jail to be held as evidence, and Sing was locked up in default of $200 bail.

H. S. TEACHERS WANT RAISE

The high school teachers of Seattle, at a recent meeting, appointed a committee to investigate the salaries paid to high school teachers in other cities and to present their views to the school board. The committee has completed its labors and its report brings out the following facts: That prior to 1892, the minimum pay of high school teachers in Seattle was $1,200 per year. During the same time there was an average reduction in salaries of 33 per cent. Since then, though the country has been prosperous and there has been an enormous increase in population, resulting in larger classes, and though there has been a corresponding increase in the standard of living, there has been no increase in salary. The highest salary paid to high school teachers in Seattle is $1,600; the lowest, $840. In Los Angeles the minimum is $1,600.

The committee recommends the adoption of the following scale of salaries: First year, $80 per month; second year, $90 per month; third year, $100 per month; fourth year, $110 per month; and fifth year, $120 per month. When the school board consider the extension of this schedule until a maximum of $2,000 per annum is reached.

CAUGHT AND PINNED BENEATH CAR

Fred Gail, a fireman from Snohomish, while attempting to cross the street car tracks, on Rainier boulevard, near Maynard av., early last evening, in an intoxicated condition, was struck by South Seattle car No. 213 and pinned beneath it for 20 minutes before he could be extricated. He escaped miraculously without a single broken bone.

The car was in charge of Motor-man Robert Larsen, No. 125, and was carrying a full load of passengers. When the car was struck by Gail, he was almost on him, as he was lying across the tracks. He was able to stop the car after the fender had passed over the prostrate man and the sale of the forward truck had pinned him down. The efforts of the car crew and a number of bystanders to get the car off Gail's body proved futile, and it was not until 20 minutes later that the arrival of the Seattle Electric company's wrecking crew made it possible to pull Gail out.

Gail was removed in Hogle's ambulance to the Providence hospital. He had only been in the city a few days before the accident. At the afternoon trial today it was stated that he had no serious injuries.

NEW HOME FOR THE BIG MUSICAL HOUSE.

The D. S. Johnston Co., now located on Second av. near Marion, is to remove its place of business about August 15 to the new building, for which excavation is now being made, at the northwest corner of Third and University. They are to occupy four floors in addition to the basement and sub-basement. A hall with a seating capacity of from 200 to 300 will be located on the third floor, to be used for musical recitals, while the fourth floor will be arranged into reception rooms, single and en suite, for the use of artists' and music teachers' studios.

BUILD HOTEL ANNEX.

The building of a 12-story annex to the Rainier-Grand is now an assured fact. Articles of incorporation were filed yesterday by W. McClintock White and Charles Perry. The new company is to construct a 12-story building on the block running from Post st. to Western av., and from Marion to Madison. The new structure will contain 750 rooms, and will be fireproof throughout.

WOULD REGRADE FIRST HILL ON YESLER WAY

How to get Fifth av. regraded on a plan that will correspond with the regrades of Third and Fourth av., and yet not affect Yesler way and other of the hill streets, is the question which Assistant Engineer Jeffery has to solve within a short time.

Yesler way and Fifth av. interests clash when it comes to a discussion of the proposed regrade of the side hill avenue.

Isaac Cooper and C. P. Dose, big property owners with large holdings at the intersection of Yesler and Fifth, headed the protestants yesterday to the plans as proposed by the Fifth av. interests.

Ex-councilman Alpheus Byers also owns some good property near that intersection and he joined his objections to those of the others.

John P. Hartman acted as the principal spokesman for the Fifth av. property owners.

As told in The Star yesterday, the regrade of the avenue as planned would necessitate a tunnel under Yesler way and at Terrace st.

Isaac Cooper and Mr. Dose will not consent to such an arrangement, as both own property on the corner and such a plan would deprive their property of entrances on Fifth av. and take the traffic past the regrade of Yesler way along with the regrade of Fifth av. and bring the grades of both the thoroughfares down at the same time.

They do not believe in making two bites of a single cherry and therefore propose taking up the regrade of Yesler for its entire length. They would cut the cable road street down, starting at Fourth av. and going clear through to Twelfth av., which would take the cut into the deep hollow beyond the first hill.

They would cut Yesler about 35 feet at Eighth av., and lower it eight feet below its present grade at Fifth av., and thus get it low enough so that the Fifth av. people could get a grade down into the tide flat district for an easy wagon haul. That would keep all the traffic on the surface, but it would practically force the regrade of the entire first hill district, destroy the old county court house and saw the top of the whole hill for a general depth of somewhere about 50 feet.

VIGOROUS PROTEST IS MADE ON GRADE

With his home sitting like a toad-stool, 18 feet from the street surface on the front and 10 feet from the grade of the alley in the rear, a property owner named Linsell, living on Thirty-seventh av., protested vigorously before the street committee to the regrade of the thoroughfare.

Linsell's seems to be the only house in the proposed improvement district that will be so affected and yesterday a delegation of property owners visited the engineer's office to talk the matter over with Assistant Engineer Jeffery.

The immature plan of the street committee is to have the city grade the grounds down to a level of the street, as the owner declares his inability financially to do so, and the grading of the street seems to be advantageous to the district.

THREE OVERLAND TRAINS ARRIVE

The Northern Pacific had three overland trains from St. Paul arrive in Seattle today. The three trains were scheduled to arrive yesterday, but owing to a freight wreck near Pasco Junction, rendering the road impassable, the only trains that could reach this city from Spokane were those coming via Portland over the O. R. & N. tracks.

The Great Northern is devoting every effort to keeping its Pan Mail trains in operation. The other trains are not coming in regularly, but the Pan Mail is rushed to Spokane and there it is made up as a special and hurried into Seattle.

ON THE FRONT

Steamer Farallon, which was dispatched with the Alaska steamer Jefferson, returned last night.

Major Wood, United States Quartermaster, today announced that he would receive bids for the building of a new quarters at Fort Lawton.

The building will be two and a half stories high.

F. C. Harper, collector of customs, left for Washington, D. C., this morning to recommend to the treasury department an appropriation for the building of a customs house in Seattle.

The war department has issued orders changing Major Thomas C. Goodman from paymaster at Seattle to chief paymaster at Portland.

Captain Edward P. Orton, of the Portland pay office will assume charge of the Seattle office.

The Pacific Coast Steamship company has received a communication from G. Mawry Fraile, captain and quartermaster, Portland, in which he highly commends the efficiency of Captain Jansen and his crew of the Cottage City in saving the life of Sergeant Edward A. Cassidy on Jan. 9. When the boat was making a landing at the government dock Sergeant Cassidy was pulling in one of the stern lines when he lost his balance and fell overboard. The men at once rushed to the lifeboats and Captain Jansen at the same time gave orders to lower away. The boats were quickly in the water and Sergeant Cassidy was safely pulled aboard.

Harbor No. 16, Masters' and Pilots' association, has framed a bill providing for the building of a nautical training ship. The bill also asks that a committee of three be appointed by the governor to look after the interests of the new training ship, which will probably be given to the state by the United States navy department.

EXPLOSION CAUSES FIRE ON MONTARA

An explosion of oil gases in the lamp room of the collier Montara is supposed to have been the cause of a 1250 blaze which occurred aboard that vessel shortly after 1 o'clock this morning while lying at Pier A. The men in the forecastle were awakened by the explosion and with the ship's hose put the blaze out before the fire department arrived.

FAIRY TALES, FAIRY TALES.

Officer Donlan was told a startling story early last evening by James Cosgrove, who claims to be a miner. Donlan had just reached the end of his beat, near the bay, at Sixth av. south, when he saw Cosgrove climbing out of the water onto the trestle. Cosgrove claimed that two men had assaulted him on Sixth av. and after robbing him of $60 had pushed him into the bay. As the man was still under the influence of liquor, in spite of his ducking, Donlan thought it best to let him sleep it off in the city jail, where he was placed to sober up.

MASTER AND DOG MISSING.

The bill, No. 101, met with some little opposition at two previous sessions, but last night the enormous sum was overwhelmingly approved. Piper, Kayser, of Kittitas, and Connell maintained opposition to the measure, and voted against it.

SOFT COAL MINER AND HIS BOYS, 11 AND 13 YEARS, PENNSYLVANIA.

Panama canal Senator Beveridge's pictures, provided by the national child labor committee, were more full of human interest, however, and made his speech doubly eloquent.

Senator Beveridge was speaking in favor of his bill to prohibit the transportation in interstate commerce of the products of child labor. It is intended to be a national remedy for the evils of child labor. He cited many pathetic instances of misery found by special investigators.

An Appalling Prospect.

Points taken from his speech are: "The census shows that nearly 2,000,000 child breadwinners under 16 years of age are now at work. Of these, almost 700,000 are engaged in work other than agriculture. Child labor on the farm is good. This bill does not strike at that. It strikes only at child slavery in factories, mines and sweatshops.

"Appalling as the census figures are, they are much below the truth. "If these children do not die, but grow up into womanhood and manhood, they become enemies of society. I do not blame them. They know that they are not the equals
