PETER HING, LL. D.

New York opens this fall, you will find the name of Peter Hing, Hing, as his last name indicates, is a full blooded Chinaman. He is a student of extraordinary attainments. Hing led his class every term throughout his course in the public schools of this city, and after leaving the high school he graduated with second honors from the law department of McGill university, Montreal. A special congratulatory by the president of the university accompanied Hing's degree.

After the graduation exercises he was feted by his countrymen at a banquet. He was called upon for a speech, and this is the gist of what he said: "If you ever expect to stand for anything, you must have some self respect. You must give up the vices of gambling and opium smoking, train your bodies and strive to make yourselves unobjectionable to the people among whom you live."

Now Hing's ambition is to secure the best legal equipment this country affords. Then he will return to China to devote his talents to his own people.

PLENTY OF FUN AT THE SOCIETY CIRCUS PRODUCED BY ELKS

LAUGHS FOUND IN EVERY ONE OF THE MANY STUNTS ATTEMPTED.

Laboring in their shirt sleeves from the hours of 5 to 8 p. m. last evening, with a herd of recalcitrant Elks numbering 150 and a group of professional circus people, the managers of the Elks' Society Circus at the exposition stadium whipped a rather amateurish performance of the afternoon in shape for an evening spectacle that has perhaps never been surpassed in the history of local Elksdom.

In those three hours of intense drilling, after and rehearsing, Harry Levitt, Louis W. Buckley, Elkan Morganster, Harold Bushee and their assistants gathered together the scattered details of one of the biggest amateur shows ever attempted in this city, and made the evening performance a howling success. Howling because it was a laugh maker, and successful because it had all the life, color and movement of a real circus.
