

FINDING THE POLE

BY JULES VERNE.

SEVENTH INSTALLMENT.

The first business next day was to arrange for a hunt. It was settled that Altamont, Bell and Hatteras should form a party, Clavbonny should go and explore as far as Isle Johnson, and make some hydrographic notes, and Johnson should remain behind to keep house.

At 8 o'clock they started, accompanied by Duke, who frisked and gambled with delight. They had been gone about an hour when Johnson suddenly heard the report of a gun.

"Capital!" he exclaimed. "They have found something, and pretty quick, too."

A second and a third shot followed.

"Bravo!" again exclaimed the boatswain; "they have fallen in luck's way!"

But when three more shots came in rapid succession, the old man turned pale, and a thought crossed his mind which made him rush out and climb hastily to the top of the cone.

PIGS SQUEAL, COWS MOO AT THE A.-Y.-P. E.

Livestock Show Exceeds All Expectations and Promises to be Fair's Biggest Success.

"Just two and one-half millions in real money in horses, cattle, sheep and pigs," Nuff said.

So F. A. Wolah, secretary of the A.-Y.-P. live stock department, tersely summed up the live stock show, which opened on the fair grounds this morning.

"Just a bag of shells," a mere "bag of shells," chipped in W. L. Carlyle, superintendent of the live stock department, "but the finest live stock show, barring none, that this country has ever seen. There might have been more quantity to the Louisiana Purchase exposition show, but Seattle has St. Louis backed off the boards for quality."

"So say we all," spoke up a half hundred listeners—men who make live stock show their business.

The show will be successful beyond expectation. Fifty carpenters worked yesterday and last night, and more men were put on this morning to rush to completion 200 additional stalls. Each of the 20 large buildings which it was thought would be enough to house all of the exhibits and more, is over, and it was necessary to put up temporary quarters for the overflow until the new stalls are finished.

There are nearly 3,000 animals—500 horses, 1,500 cattle, 1,000 sheep, 400 swine.

The judges will begin making awards Tuesday.

PINCHOT SCORES IN THE CONTROVERSY

(Concluded.)

tended all of the functions given in honor of the president in Salt Lake, and that Mr. Ballinger remained at his hotel, pleading illness, was a subject of much comment here on Saturday night.

The statement issued by Mr. Pinchot was shown to the president before it was given out. In view of the published items that the letter of the president to Secretary Ballinger was to be considered in some way a reflection on Mr. Pinchot, the president authorized the publication of the following:

"That at the time that he wrote the letter to Secretary Ballinger, he also wrote a letter to Mr. Pinchot, saying that the conclusions stated therein were not intended in any way to reflect on him; that the president deemed Mr. Pinchot's services to the public of the utmost value; that he expected to continue the policies as to the conservation of resources, including the reclamation of arid lands and the preservation of forests and the proper restrictions in respect to the use of coal lands and water power sites, as well as the improvement of our waterways, and to ask congress for such confirmatory and enabling legislation as would put these policies on the firmest basis; and that he would deem it a great loss if in respect to the matters Mr. Pinchot had been concerned, the administration should be denied the benefit of his services."

The president held a long conference with Mr. Pinchot at the Knutsford hotel after the banquet given by the Fifteenth Infantry.

Mr. Pinchot's statement, which was made public at the same time, follows:

"At the suggestion of the president, I make public the following extracts from his letter to me mentioned in the statement he has just authorized:

"I wish you to know that I have the utmost confidence in your conscientious desire to serve the government and the public, in the intensity of your purpose to achieve success in the matter of conservation of natural resources, and in the immense value of what you have done and propose to do with reference to the forestry and kindred methods of conservation; and that I am thoroughly in sympathy with all of these policies and propose to do everything that I can to maintain them, insisting only that the action for which I become responsible, or for which my administration becomes responsible, shall be within the law."

"I should consider it one of the greatest losses that my administration could sustain if you were to leave it, and I sincerely hope that you will not think that my action in writing the inclosed letter to Secretary Ballinger is reason for your taking a step of this character."

"These expressions by the president, which are most kind toward my work, as well as the statement authorized by him, define his attitude toward the conservation policies with convincing clearness.

Will Remain at His Post.

"I shall not resign, but shall remain in the government service. I shall give my best efforts in the future, as in the past, to promote the conservation and development of our forests, waters, lands and minerals, and to defend the conservation policies whenever the need arises. Especially I shall continue to advocate the control of water power monopoly in the public interest, and the use of our institutions, laws and natural resources for the benefit of the plain people."

"I believe in equality of opportunity and the Roosevelt policies and I propose to stand for them, as long as I have the strength to stand for anything."

"GIFFORD PINCHOT."

Mr. Pinchot attended several functions along with the party escorting the president Saturday, but

PERMIT HELD UP UNTIL GRAFT IS PAID

(Concluded.)

the above will remove all hesitancy."

Wants Graft Exposed.

"You are at liberty to say that I am ready and willing to assist Mr. Bouillon in every way within my power to further expose this graft charge," said Mr. Stull, after he was told that Mr. Roney's name had been made public.

"While riding on a street car recently I dropped a remark that was overheard by Mr. Bouillon, who was standing near me. He became interested, as the transaction involving the permit affected the board of public works, of which he is a member. At his request I repeated to him the facts as they were told to me by Attorney Roney. Someone should get after these grafters and deal with them in the proper way. I am with Bouillon to the finish. He is on the right track, going in the right direction."

BIG SCRAMBLE FOR BARBECUED MEAT AT EXPOSITION TODAY

Never before did "the oldest inhabitant" show to such advantage as he showed today at the old-fashioned barbecue on the A.-Y.-P. picnic grounds. Ten thousand men, women and children pushed and shoved, hustled and hustled, and jabbed each other for a juicy hunk of prime beef, a bun and a gizzel, and afterward were glad they did.

One enterprising male person had an argument with a chef. The enterprising male person had been up to the dough dish four times, butting, jamming, ramming his way over men, women and children. On his last arrival, the chef pulled the food out of his reach. "First time on record of a hog fighting for beef," said the chef; "brush by, young fellow, brush by. Your account is closed. Good day."

The "hog," with his pockets bulging and each hand clutching a piece of beef, "brushed by."

WESTLAKE PUBLIC MARKET

The WESTLAKE PUBLIC MARKET demonstrated in its opening, Saturday, that the people were earnest in their desire for a reduction in the cost of food products, and that they would give their patronage, even at the inconvenience of personal effort, where the best could be obtained at the least cost.

The Farmers' Section

It is up to the farmers to show a more liberal spirit in their trading to the people. Prices asked and received Saturday were altogether too high. The great number of people ready to buy undoubtedly influenced the prices, but there is absolutely no reason why they should not be cut in two and we assure the public THEY WILL BE.

THE WESTLAKE PUBLIC MARKET FURNISHES FREE to the producers space to display their produce; light, heat, water, janitor service and watchman, and they must reciprocate in a reduction in prices. Men, women and children all help in the sales and preparation. Cartage is saved. There is no waste in boxes, crates, bags or labor in packing. Trucks are saved. Every item of waste is cut out, and the consumers who pay all the bills MUST have the benefit.

THE WESTLAKE PUBLIC MARKET will use every effort to induce more extensive shipments of produce from greater distances. The MARKET is open to farmers of Snohomish County, Kitsap, Skagit and Whatcom Counties, and produce from these districts can reach the MARKET fresh every morning.

Taxi Delivery System

When fully equipped the TAXI DELIVERY COMPANY will be in a position to gather MARKET products from the railroads and docks at an early hour, and will care for all consignments made in care of THE WESTLAKE PUBLIC MARKET.

Supply and Demand

Supply and demand will regulate the price, but the saving in waste will cheapen the cost to the consumer and producer alike. THE WESTLAKE PUBLIC MARKET system will enable the merchants of the MARKET to buy in carload lots in the cheapest markets, such staples as butter, eggs, poultry, meats, apples, oranges, lemons, coffee, lard and bacon, and the public will get the benefit.

The Cold Storage Plant

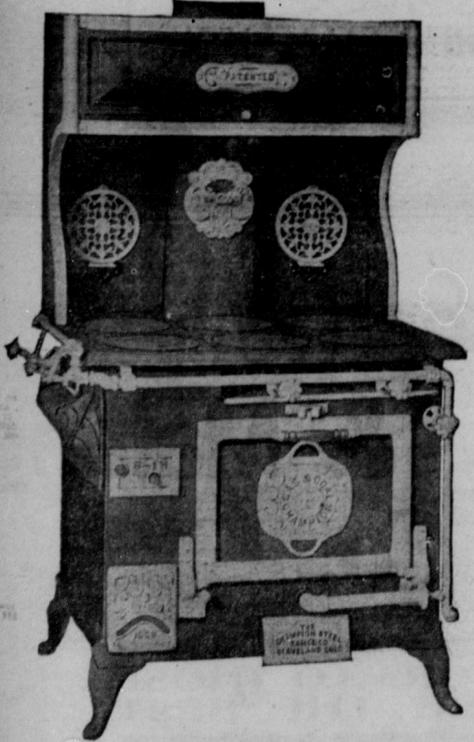

The most extensive cold storage plant in any retail place in the city will be in operation in a few days, and through it preservation will be gained, so that waste will be eliminated as far as possible and regular supplies maintained.

2 Gold Medals—Highest Award

THE WORLD'S FAIR—SEATTLE, 1909

The Champion Interchangeable Gas, Coal and Wood Range

WE of course recognize the merit of the other ranges awarded medals at the Fair, and while some difference of opinion has been expressed regarding the kind of medal granted, there has never been and cannot be any criticism of the action of the Board of Awards in granting two gold medals for the Champion Interchangeable Range and Piper Improved Gas Water Heater, which, when combined, becomes the most modern, economical and convenient cooking apparatus that can be placed in the kitchen.

The Champion Interchangeable Range

The most modern family range.

It bakes, roasts, cooks with gas, coal or wood.

It cooks and bakes with gas only.

It cooks and bakes with coal only.

It cooks and bakes with wood only.

It cooks and bakes with gas and coal at the same time.

It is not a combination range, but one range that can be changed without effort in three seconds for the use of any fuel desired, either gas or coal.

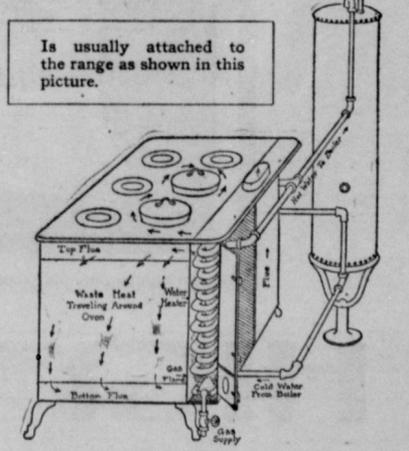

Send for descriptive booklet.

The Piper Gas Water Heater

Piper's Improved Patent Gas Water Heater and Auxiliary Cooker combines all of the best features of the most modern gas water heaters, and, in addition, by its novel method of application to any cooking stove or range, becomes an auxiliary cooker. It gives a bountiful supply of hot water quickly upon lighting, and continues to supply hot water to the boiler with a remarkably small consumption of gas, until the tank is filled with boiling water. By the use of this invention all of the heat produced by the burning gas in the gas water heater is utilized.

It is neat in appearance, is accessible and not in the way; it occupies a space never utilized before at the back and under the top of the range, and when attached to the range becomes a part of the range, and does not accumulate dust and dirt to cause more work in the kitchen, as no additional stovepipe, gaspipe or waterpipe is required.
