M Malleable Iron Range Co.

We take pleasure to inform you, that the jury awarded your Exhibit a Gold Medal on Steel Ranges, Made of Sheet Steel and Malleable Iron.

Respectfully,
Henry E. Dosch,
Director of Exhibits and Privileges

This is the official notice of awards to firm who first advertised Highest Award for Family Ranges; then, Highest Award for Malleable Ranges. Observe that the card bears no notice of any Highest Award and no malleable range class is mentioned. Also, there were two other Gold Medals awarded to two other ranges.

M Estate of P. D. Beckwith, Inc.,

We take pleasure to inform you, that the jury awarded your Exhibit a Three Grand Prizes on Furnaces for Warm Air Heating; Steel Ranges; Heating Stove - Round Oak and Base Burners.

Respectfully,
Henry E. Dosch,
Director of Exhibits and Privileges

This is published so that the public may know how an official notice of REAL Highest Awards looks. Also there were no duplicates of any of these three Grand Prizes.

We believe that the first interest of the public is to know who really received the Highest Awards, and we submit these reproductions of the Official Documents as proof positive that we have all that we claim. We have no cause to misrepresent in any way, for the reason that we have all that our competitors wanted.

Our only quarrels have been with the defeated ones, who advertised awards that are ours exclusively. We have submitted real evidence of our rights and our competitors' shifting advertising proves that their previous claims were not justified. We know that the public will not believe that we have made unwarranted attacks until "shown" by signed official statements, instead of accepting unauthorized quotations.

We do not blame the disgruntled losers in the Range competition for trying to make the public believe that all stoves and ranges were in one class and that a general exhibit of Round Oak Heaters and Furnaces helped to defeat those who exhibited ranges only; but the losers are entitled to no such consolation.

We won three distinct Highest Awards, Grand Prizes—Our Heating Stoves and Furnaces received the Highest Awards in their respective classes and, independently, our Incomparable Round Oak Chief Range proved itself to be a worthy mate of the Famous Round Oak Stove and the Great Round Oak Furnace by winning its own Grand Prize over all competing ranges.
