

OUR BIBLE IS NOT ADEQUATE, SAYS TEACHER

CHICAGO, Sept. 2.—The University of Chicago divinity school continues to shock the orthodox by promulgating advanced ideas on religious questions.

Doesn't Fit Today. Prof. Votaw holds that the teachings of the New Testament, especially those of Paul, the Apostle, must needs be reinterpreted and supplemented to meet the needs of a world in which conditions are so different as are those of today from those of the world 1,900 years ago.

There are many things which the New Testament does not sufficiently represent," he says. "It does present a wonderful and true gallery of virtues, but the Anglo-Saxons are contributing others, such as self-respect, self-reliance, self-realization, thrift, industry, social rights, jurisprudence, and moral and social justice."

22 GUILTY OF GAMBLING

J. Sako, Japanese, Wong Loy and An Sing, Chinese, and James Jones and H. F. Fowler, white, each received a fine of $100, and 17 others each received a fine of $10 in Judge Gordon's court this morning on the charge of gambling.

The trial was the result of a raid of Chinese gambling houses in the Chicago house, 519 Jackson st., by Patrolmen Dagner and Humphrey. On the entrance of the officers there were 25 men in the place, and 22 were arrested. A large amount of paraphernalia was destroyed, and some seized as evidence, among the latter $250.

Over the latter a nice little point arose between the court and Attorney Frank E. Hammond, representing the defendants. The gamblers were tried under a city ordinance, in which there is no provision for the destruction or retention of evidence by the police department. The state law provides that all such paraphernalia shall be confiscated. Hammond wanted the money and paraphernalia returned to the defendants, under the city ordinance. He was overruled by the court, however, and the stuff taken will be retained as an exhibit.

5 MILLION SAVINGS STAMPS ISSUED

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—Five million of the new 10-cent postal savings stamps have been completed by the government printing office. The treasury department has received requests from 566 postmasters for postal savings stamps, and 1,933 banks have requested designation as depositories for savings funds.

CHURCH CELEBRATES LABOR DAY

Labor Day will be celebrated Monday by Our Lady of Good Help parish with an elaborate dinner and musical program. Dinner will be served on the third floor of the Sanitary Market, First and Pike, all the afternoon. There will be dancing in the evening.

MOTION PICTURES AT SALVATION ARMY POST

An added interest will be given to the Salvation Army meeting at Seattle No. 1 Corps on Saturday night by a lecture to be given by Brigadier Dublin on the work of the Salvation Army, which will be illustrated by 1,000 feet of moving picture film, in which Gen. Booth appears four times and in which are 25 distinct pictures. In addition to this there will be 30 fine art slides shown, and some magnificent dissolving view illustrated songs. This is the beginning of a series of popular Saturday nights which is proposed by Capt. Jenkins in connection with his work at Seattle No. 1.

Henry Pletsch, of the Rainier Market, and L. C. Troughton, of the Big White Market, of the Public Market, were yesterday acquitted in police court of the charge of using "trezum." Every employee of the two butchers testified that never had "trezum" been used in either market for the preservation of meat.

NEW LOCATION. J. L. Martin & Co., Insurance Agency, 1015 White Bldg. Phone Main 222.

EXCURSION to the PACIFIC OCEAN SUNDAY, SEPT. 4th Ocean-Going Steamship "Iroquois" Leaves Colman Dock 8:00 a. m. Arrives Back 11 p. m. Round—$2—Trip 612 First Ave. and Colman Dock

STAR WANT ADS Received at Owl Drug Store, 1112 2nd Av. and Cor. 3rd and Pike.

Well, Say! Here's Fido as Perk as Ever!

OFFER REWARD FOR DYNAMITER'S ARREST

Gov. Hay yesterday afternoon offered a reward of $250 for the apprehension and conviction of the perpetrators of the dynamite plot in the Lyon building, now in course of construction at the northwest corner of Third av. and James st., last Wednesday night.

It is now thought that the explosion was the result of a deliberate plot against the Stone-Webster engineering corporation, in which several men are concerned.

GIRL WIFE WILL SUE PAPA HAYES, SHE SAYS

Mrs. Helen Swanson Hayes, 18, alleged to have deserted his wife after a year of matrimonial experience here last week. He was arrested upon his arrival at Ord, Neb., where he went to visit his grandmother. A deputy sheriff left today to bring young Hayes back to his father's home in Seattle.

For two years Elmer, a fine boy of 12, has been in bed at the hospital with a tubercular spine. He has suffered terribly, but there isn't a trace of it in his brave face. He's making the best of it in a way that might put a man to shame. And Amy is running a marathon race in their studies.

WHAT POINDEXTER ADVOCATES

The policies for the common good developed under Theodore Roosevelt and bearing his name. The reorganization of the federal house and senate so that both shall be responsive to public opinion, and no longer be dominated by privileged interests. Strong and effective control of railroads and the just regulation of their rates. A protective tariff, measured by the difference in the cost of production here and abroad. Federal conservation of our national resources. An issue of bonds for such amount as will enable the reclamation service to complete without delay the government irrigation projects now in process of construction. A liberal and practical policy of internal waterway improvement, and, if necessary, the issue of bonds for that work. A limitation of the power of injunction so as not to imperil the liberty of any man without notice and hearing. Legislation which will end child slavery in the factories, mines and workshops of the land. The proposed amendment of the constitution giving congress the power to tax incomes. If you favor these things, vote for Poindexter at the primary election.

A Hangar in Captivity

This is the best photograph ever taken of a hangar. Sometimes it's called a garage, also, and sometimes a harbour (they spell it that way in England still). Anyhow, it's a place where airships repose when off duty, and this one is at Fischamend, near Vienna, housing an Austrian military airship.

A SECRET OF THE TRADE Friend—I understand you have increased the size of your loaf. That takes more flour, doesn't it? Baker—Oh, no, it takes more holes, that's all.

HERE'S BOY FROM HOME WHERE LAME CHILDREN LEARN TO WALK

The pet of the hospital is wee Annie, a merry little girl 18 months old. All the boys love her, and she throws kisses as readily. She's just as good as she can be, and pretty. She has curvature of the spine. Bound in a plaster jacket, she laughs as if there weren't anything to cry about in all the world. One of the most remarkable cases ever treated in the hospital is Morris, a boy with club feet. He is 13 years old, and has never had on a pair of shoes in his life. His feet were so badly twisted that he walked on the tops of them. A judge who became interested in him secured for his admission, and he is a state patient.

Can't Keep Tears Back. Could you keep back the tears if you looked into the face of that little girl, who for eight long months has been strapped down like a mummy, while she sang: "Somewhere the sun is shining. Somewhere the song birds dwell."

Amy is 12. She was a "little mother" to her father and two brothers, for her mother is dead. With a congenitally diseased hip, she did the housework for the family. But she had heard about the children's hospital, and she wanted to be well like other little girls. She was older than the usual age admitted, and it was a question whether the hip would yield to treatment. But she went to Superintendent Cooper of the public schools and enlisted him for an ally. Arrangements were made to admit her. By the wonderful Lorenz treatment she is going to be a well girl.

For two years Elmer, a fine boy of 12, has been in bed at the hospital with a tubercular spine. He has suffered terribly, but there isn't a trace of it in his brave face. He's making the best of it in a way that might put a man to shame. And Amy is running a marathon race in their studies.

BOY THINKS HE'S GOT DYNAMITER

Shortly after 9:30 last night a voice over the telephone informed police headquarters that a man had just been seen placing a stick of dynamite under a telegraph pole near 1011 Columbia st. The informant gave his name as Walter Mason at the above address.

Patrolman Humes was hurriedly dispatched to the scene in an automobile and found that Walter Mason was a six-year-old boy who had been left alone. When questioned as to what he had seen, the boy stated that he had seen nothing but had heard someone shoveling. He had been reading an account of the dynamite explosion on Third av. in the newspapers.

MILLER FAILS TO ARREST KILDUFF

Despite all his threats Charles H. Miller has not yet sworn out a warrant against Harry Kilduff, who made accusations against him before the Central Labor Council. According to Kilduff, Miller was to buy labor votes for Judge Burke yesterday Miller protested that he would have Kilduff arrested, but so far has made no attempt to do so.

It was learned today that the Burke managers had planned a demonstration of labor voters for Saturday night. Judge Burke and Miller were to have ridden about the streets in a cart, at the head of a parade of water front loafers disguised as working men. Miller denies all connection with the Burke campaign, but Burke workers say that Miller showed more than ordinary interest in Burke's success.

John Reuter, 82 years old, died at the family residence, 2013 W. 54th st., at 11:30 last night, of old age. The funeral will take place from St. Alphonsus' church, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment at Calvary cemetery. The deceased is survived by two sons, John and Joseph Reuter, and by five daughters, Mesdames E. S. Purdin, W. H. Merritt and F. A. Scheidel, of Seattle; A. Werner, of Puyallup, and Thomas McKeever, of Austin, Tex.

RECLAMATION WORK PROBED BY ARMY MEN

Engineers in Seattle on Tour of Inspection—Will Report on $20,000,000 Improvements.

Seattle is today entertaining four army engineers who are representing the department of the interior in investigating the work that is going on in the reclamation service. The committee will make a report of their findings and a recommendation to Secretary Ballinger of how the government should spend that $20,000,000 which the last congress appropriated for the reclamation work.

The party left Washington July 28. Montana, Wyoming, the Dakotas and Washington have been visited. Colorado, Idaho, Oregon and Utah are yet to be inspected. The engineers spent yesterday in the Yakima valley, where work on some big government ditches is being carried on. Their tour will last a couple of months longer.

The members of the party are Col. W. C. Langford, Maj. W. W. Harris, Harry Burgess and Col. John Biddle. Maj. C. W. Kutz, of Seattle, is with the party today.

We can't talk about our opinions on the work now being done," said Col. Biddle, "until we've seen everything and are ready to report to Secretary Ballinger."

Juvenile Worker Back

Mrs. Emily M. Peters, national grand superintendent of the Juvenile Workers, arrived back in Seattle today. Mrs. Peter has been attending meetings of Juvenile Workers in Oregon.

The pet of the hospital is wee Annie, a merry little girl 18 months old. All the boys love her, and she throws kisses as readily. She's just as good as she can be, and pretty. She has curvature of the spine. Bound in a plaster jacket, she laughs as if there weren't anything to cry about in all the world.

One of the most remarkable cases ever treated in the hospital is Morris, a boy with club feet. He is 13 years old, and has never had on a pair of shoes in his life. His feet were so badly twisted that he walked on the tops of them. A judge who became interested in him secured for his admission, and he is a state patient.

Morris was going to be a tailor because he thought he never could follow a trade that would require walking or standing. Without any operation, but manipulation with the surgeon's hands, this boy will be able to walk out of the hospital in a few months with two perfect feet. He will be able to do any kind of a man's work.

Frank is suffering as the result of ignorance of his own family. Living with a tubercular relative, he now has tubercular hips, and lies in bed strapped to a brace, with weights on his feet. Cry about it? Not he; he smiles up at visitors as if the price of a boy were not too much to pay for somebody's terrible carelessness.

Ask Miss Carter, the head nurse, who plays with the children as if they were chums, and is with them in all their suffering.

There isn't anything else in this world quite so much worth while, she thinks this ministering angel, as to save a little child to a strong, happy life, with all the possibilities of womanhood and manhood.

LEAVES MILLION TO TUSKEGEE

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—In her will, just made public, Mrs. Flora L. Dotger, who died at her home in East Orange, N. J., leaves a bequest of $1,000,000 to Tuskegee Institute, of which Booker T. Washington is president.

Baby Is Dead

Harold Hyndahl, the 2-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Hyndahl, 6545 Jones av., died last night after a short illness. The funeral will take place from the residence, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment in Crown Hill cemetery.

Portland, Ore.—State Senator Frederick Mulkey today charged that Acting Governor Bowerman of Oregon had refused to appoint him a delegate to the St. Paul conservation congress because Mulkey favors the Pinchey policies of conservation, and is opposed to state control of the national forests.

More Joy for the Joys---and Three at a Time!

MAMIE, LYDIA AND (THE MINORITY MEMBER TO THE RIGHT) EVERETT JOY. Here is a whole household of Joy—the Joy triplets, born to Mr. and Mrs. Mark Joy of Northville, Mich., January 30 of this year. The three of them now aggregate about 31 pounds in weight, or 10 pounds and 5 ounces each—which wouldn't be so bad for any ordinary youngster.

COL. ROOSEVELT TAKES IN THE REAL WILD WEST SHOW.

T. R. IN OMAHA

(By United Press.) OMAHA, Neb., Sept. 2.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt arrived here at 7:00 this morning, after a rough night on the rails between Omaha and Kansas City. The culmination of the colonel's wild ride came at midnight, when some 300 residents of St. Joseph, Mo., gathered about the dark and silent Pullman car in which the colonel was sleeping, and in unison raised a chant of "Teddy, come out."

chant of 800 throats husky and dry within, but considerably wet without. On arriving here the colonel, undaunted by the bad weather, blithely hopped into a waiting automobile and was driven to breakfast at the Omaha club. Later he was auto-mobiled about the city for a sight-seeing trip, and then brought back to the club house for luncheon, at which 400 were present.

Colonel Roosevelt appeared at the Auditorium this afternoon, where he delivered an address. The speaker was introduced by United States Senator Burkett.

How Cholera Will Be Kept Out of the United States

WASHINGTON, Sept. 2.—The Asiatic cholera scourge has reached appalling proportions in Russia. It has invaded Italy, and Europe is trembling lest the black death may cross the borders of their respective countries and begin its awful work.

Even the United States is in danger. Immigrant ships are arriving daily at New York and other ports of entry, and no matter what care may be exercised across the seas, the unseen foe may invade the country at any moment.

Russia admits to 50,287 deaths and 112,985 new cases since the latest outbreak of cholera, but experts in other parts of Europe claim that the number is underestimated, and they place the deaths at twice the number admitted.

The contagion has entered southern Italy. Health authorities in that country decided on strenuous measures and adopted means to throttle the monster before he gets a better foothold. Germany, Austria and other countries on the Russian border are taking precautionary measures. Baggage is being disinfected as soon as it reaches the boundary line. But despite these precautions this country is in danger because of the hundreds of thousands of immigrants who arrive here annually.

What can this government do to protect its people in the event of any real or threatened danger? The law is plain on the subject, and makes the president of the United States supreme. It was passed February 15, 1893. Here it is: "That whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the president that by reason of the existence of cholera or other infectious or contagious disease in a foreign country, there is serious danger of the introduction of the same into the United States, and that notwithstanding the quarantine defense, this danger is so increased by the introduction of persons or property from such country that a suspension of the right to introduce the same is demanded in the interest of the public health, the president shall have power to prohibit in whole or in part the introduction of persons and property from such country or place as he shall designate, and for such a period of time as he may deem necessary."

The health of the nation is in charge of the surgeon general of the marine hospital service, which is a part of the bureau of public health, under the secretary of the treasury. Walter Wyman is the surgeon general at present, and he has charge of the cholera situation. It is the duty of the American consuls in foreign countries to keep in touch with the situation, and whenever any infectious or contagious disease appears in the country in which he is stationed, and whenever any vessel leaves an infected port bound for any port in the United States, the consular office in the foreign port is expected to transmit that information to the surgeon general, giving the name, date of departure, and port of destination of such vessel. The consul is also expected to make the same report to the health officer of the port of destination.

FRATER AFTER POOL ROOMS

"Pool room proprietors who allow boys under age to frequent their places of business are a menace to the morals of this state, and if I ever hear of one violating the law in this respect again, I shall certainly take steps to see that he is severely punished." The above ultimatum was issued by Judge A. W. Frater this morning when he learned that a juvenile offender who stole from his employer committed the act because he had lost his wages playing "pay pool." He used to give his earnings to his mother, and so, rather than go home without any money for her, he embezzled the money from his employer.

shown to the satisfaction of the president that by reason of the existence of cholera or other infectious or contagious disease in a foreign country, there is serious danger of the introduction of the same into the United States, and that notwithstanding the quarantine defense, this danger is so increased by the introduction of persons or property from such country that a suspension of the right to introduce the same is demanded in the interest of the public health, the president shall have power to prohibit in whole or in part the introduction of persons and property from such country or place as he shall designate, and for such a period of time as he may deem necessary."

The health of the nation is in charge of the surgeon general of the marine hospital service, which is a part of the bureau of public health, under the secretary of the treasury. Walter Wyman is the surgeon general at present, and he has charge of the cholera situation. It is the duty of the American consuls in foreign countries to keep in touch with the situation, and whenever any infectious or contagious disease appears in the country in which he is stationed, and whenever any vessel leaves an infected port bound for any port in the United States, the consular office in the foreign port is expected to transmit that information to the surgeon general, giving the name, date of departure, and port of destination of such vessel. The consul is also expected to make the same report to the health officer of the port of destination.

What can this government do to protect its people in the event of any real or threatened danger? The law is plain on the subject, and makes the president of the United States supreme. It was passed February 15, 1893. Here it is: "That whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the president that by reason of the existence of cholera or other infectious or contagious disease in a foreign country, there is serious danger of the introduction of the same into the United States, and that notwithstanding the quarantine defense, this danger is so increased by the introduction of persons or property from such country that a suspension of the right to introduce the same is demanded in the interest of the public health, the president shall have power to prohibit in whole or in part the introduction of persons and property from such country or place as he shall designate, and for such a period of time as he may deem necessary."

The health of the nation is in charge of the surgeon general of the marine hospital service, which is a part of the bureau of public health, under the secretary of the treasury. Walter Wyman is the surgeon general at present, and he has charge of the cholera situation. It is the duty of the American consuls in foreign countries to keep in touch with the situation, and whenever any infectious or contagious disease appears in the country in which he is stationed, and whenever any vessel leaves an infected port bound for any port in the United States, the consular office in the foreign port is expected to transmit that information to the surgeon general, giving the name, date of departure, and port of destination of such vessel. The consul is also expected to make the same report to the health officer of the port of destination.

What can this government do to protect its people in the event of any real or threatened danger? The law is plain on the subject, and makes the president of the United States supreme. It was passed February 15, 1893. Here it is: "That whenever it shall be shown to the satisfaction of the president that by reason of the existence of cholera or other infectious or contagious disease in a foreign country, there is serious danger of the introduction of the same into the United States, and that notwithstanding the quarantine defense, this danger is so increased by the introduction of persons or property from such country that a suspension of the right to introduce the same is demanded in the interest of the public health, the president shall have power to prohibit in whole or in part the introduction of persons and property from such country or place as he shall designate, and for such a period of time as he may deem necessary."

The health of the nation is in charge of the surgeon general of the marine hospital service, which is a part of the bureau of public health, under the secretary of the treasury. Walter Wyman is the surgeon general at present, and he has charge of the cholera situation. It is the duty of the American consuls in foreign countries to keep in touch with the situation, and whenever any infectious or contagious disease appears in the country in which he is stationed, and whenever any vessel leaves an infected port bound for any port in the United States, the consular office in the foreign port is expected to transmit that information to the surgeon general, giving the name, date of departure, and port of destination of such vessel. The consul is also expected to make the same report to the health officer of the port of destination.

MAN IS ELECTROCUTED

Amelio Compolis, 30, a miner, was electrocuted at Morgan's Slope, near Renton, this morning. The man was helping to unload a car, and in climbing down from the car with an iron bar in his hands, allowed the bar to strike the trolley wire. He was instantly killed. He leaves a brother and sister in Renton. J. Hodding, state mining inspector, and Coroner Snyder will leave for Renton this afternoon to conduct an investigation.

CUT IN SALOON ROW.

Pat Lahey was taken to the city hospital this morning with a six-inch gash in his left side, received in a saloon row in the "Our House" saloon, Second av. and Occidental av. The assailants ran from the saloon after the fight. Patrolmen Mullen and Washburn were called and took Lahey to the hospital.

TOO LATE TO CLASSIFY. SNAPS IN ACREAGE

2 acres, just north of city, at $1,200 per acre; easy terms; less level. One and one-half acres, all cleared and level, one block from Everett International; near 90th st.; $2,500; worth $1,000; terms.

HERE IS A REAL BARGAIN.

A fine, new, modern six-room house, half-block to Meridian car; worth $2,800; price $2,100; very easy terms. HAVEN-SCHROEDER REALTY CO., 415 Arcade Annex.

$3,200

50 acres; 20 acres under cultivation; 5 acres slashed and ready for clearing; good standing timber; close to school; 2 barns; nice 5-room house; 4 1/2 miles from Olympia, 1/2 mile from salt water, on good county road. Will sell stock and tools. Terms.

S. P. DIXON & CO., 218 Marion St. Main 40. Ind. 49.

$500

TO

$800

50x100 feet, 10 minutes from Second and Yester; easy terms. A few lots left. Buy one.

HOLMES & HARRING, Empire Bldg., 2nd and Madison.

To Let—Seven-room modern house, between two car lines, a snap. Phone North 1292.

AMUSEMENTS.

Both Phones 5106 Advanced Vaudeville

Opheum

"DINKELSPIEL'S CHRISTMAS" Waterbury, Brown & Zenny—Linton & Laitance—Joe Callahan—Lane & O'Donnell—Bernice Rossmore—Sam—Such a Little Queer

This Week BIRTHDAY WEEK

Majestic

BATHING DAILY—ALWAYS MOST COMFORTABLE THEATRE IN SEATTLE

WHERE EVERYBODY GOES

BEST VAUDEVILLE IN AMERICA 10-20c

Aeroplane Girl, 6—Other Big Acts—6

ALHAMBRA THEATRE

Mats. Wed. and Sat. Tonight Russell-Drew Stock Co. With Wm. C. Dowling in THE TRAVELING MAN

Mats. 10c and 25c. Nights, 25c to 50c. Next Week—"A Girl's Best Friend."

Lois Theatre

Phonies: Main 1264; Ind. 4234. ALEXANDER PANTANGER—Manager. Lawrence & Sandusky Present. Charming Pollock's Fascinating Comedy Drama SUCH A LITTLE QUEER (First Presentation in the West by Any Stock Company.)

PANTAGES THEATRE

"Unequaled Vaudeville." A BILL OF WINNERS. BETT SWAN. THE SOUTHERN REVUE. ALIAS TRINE KIN. PIQUO—TWO BABY GIRLS ETC.

PAID ADVERTISEMENT.

Paired by E. M. Farmer, agent for Bradford's Supporters.

JAMES E. BRADFORD

Candidate for Prosecuting Attorney.

They are coming in now, from all directions. They all want to help elect Bradford.

WHY? Because they want a "square deal." They are sick and tired of "machine-made" justice.

SPECIAL FOR THOSE WHO CAN'T DANCE. I guarantee to teach you to dance, attractively, privately. Young and old learn the same. FORTH STREETS, Fourth and Pine St. Ind. 1, 217.