

AUDIENCE GOT OUT

An unlooked-for sensation took place at Plymouth church last night when several members of the congregation left the house as Mrs. A. Sims, one of the party of the American Purify Federation visiting the city, denounced society games and stated that 85 per cent of the set card players are church members.

"We are a nation of society gamblers," she said, "and worst of all, a nation of women gamblers. Fashionable card playing leads to extravagant living and the downfall of virtue."

Mrs. Sims is known as the "Converted Whist Champion." The Plymouth church is the largest and oldest Congregational church in Seattle.

"Public officials," said R. S. Stewart, of La Crosse, Wis., president of the federation, speaking at the First Methodist Protestant church last night, "are simply hired men to enforce your laws, and if they fail to do so, discharge them and hire competent officials."

Several other church workers spoke at various churches yesterday.

The Seattle conference of the Purify Federation began this morning at Plymouth Congregational church.

FEAR 1,000 DIE IN FIRE

(Concluded.) Many Bodies Found. RAINY RIVER, Ont., Oct. 10.—One searching party has returned, bringing the nine bodies of the Bolen family, consisting of father, mother and seven children. They had only got a short distance from their home when overtaken by the fire.

George Wower, Charles Baker and Patrick O'Mara, who were missing, have turned up. Wower and Baker went to Rapid River, ahead of the fire. Wower plunged into the water and kept under as well as he could, but is burned badly about the hips, where his body showed above the water while the flames were passing over.

Baker dug out a trench in the bank hastily with his hands and protected himself in front with a blanket. He escaped with minor injuries. O'Mara, seeing he would be unable to keep ahead of the fire, went back to his log shack and started a fire on the edge of his clearing, which advanced sufficiently to protect him, although he nearly suffocated.

Of the low men out looking for homesteads, two of the bodies have been found. Their names cannot be ascertained. Charles Baker counted 19 bodies on his way to town. These are all within a radius of six miles of Beaudette. How many will be found farther out cannot be ascertained.

People are sending their families east on special trains, made up here for Fort Frances, where they can transfer to Duluth. At present the wind is still, and the danger is over for the time.

Ely Starts on Flighs

(Concluded.) In light brown leather. On his right wrist a compass was strapped, and in front of him, attached to the machine, was a watch. The latter indicated precisely 4:11 o'clock when the propeller began whirling. In nine seconds the aviator left the earth.

A snappy wind was on his quarter—almost at his back. That it was a great accelerator of his speed is shown by the fact that in the 12 minutes he was in flight he covered 11 miles.

"It was a great wind for speed, but one of the roughest I ever tackled," said Ely. "It was extremely choppy, and kept me on the move every second to retain the balance of the machine."

DID DRUG CLERK SELL SUNDAY BOOZE?

William Rawsthorn, a clerk in the employ of M. P. Leary, a druggist at Thomas st. and Broadway, forfeited $200 bail this morning when he failed to appear in police court to answer to a charge of violating the Sunday liquor law. Patrolman Heath purchased a bottle of whisky at the Leary pharmacy yesterday afternoon with little difficulty.

NO CENSUS PADDING ON COAST, SAYS DIRECTOR

(By United Press.) WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—"I am absolutely certain that the census announcements for the Pacific coast cities will be found accurate, and I am sure that there will be no padding of returns," said E. Dana Durand, director of the census, to the United Press today.

Director Durand has been prepared for many months for the enormous increases shown by the cities of the Pacific coast and the figures as they have come in from the enumerators, though in some cases almost beyond belief, were no surprise to the census officials.

NO HOPE FOR MINERS

(By United Press.) TRINIDAD, Col., Oct. 10.—Fifty-one miners are in a living tomb today at Starkville, with absolutely no hope for their rescue alive save through a miracle. All night long the workers toiled in the glare of acetylene torches and electric lights to add the imprisoned men, but the rescuers, imperiled by after-damp, were compelled to abandon their places at daybreak to save their own lives.

While the men worked in the glare of the flickering lights a temporary morgue was being prepared for the bodies of men yet alive.

Women Watch Work. Under the direction of the coroner of Las Animas county, deputies transformed a machine shop of the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co., owners of the mine, into a charnel house, while women relatives of the entombed men vigilantly watched the stately preparations, apparently unable to comprehend their significance.

"The men in the 'old stop,' or eastern wing of the mine, which was destroyed by an explosion, presumably of fire damp Sunday evening, are in two blockaded chambers. One band has been located about two and a half miles from the mouth of the mine, and the other a mile further on. There are 4 Americans and 1 negro among the doomed men. The remainder are Italians, Mexicans and Poles.

THE FEAR OF HUMBUNG

Prevents Many People From Trying a Good Medicine. Stomach troubles are so common, and in most cases so obstinate to cure, that people are apt to look with suspicion on any remedy claiming to be a radical, permanent cure for dyspepsia and indigestion. Many such pills themselves, on their acuteness in never being humbugged, especially in medicines.

This fear of being humbugged can be carried too far, so far, in fact, that many people suffer for years with weak digestion rather than risk a little time and money in faithfully testing the claims made of a preparation so reliable and universally used as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Now, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are vastly different in one important respect from ordinary proprietary medicines, for the reason that they are not a secret patent medicine, so secret is made of their ingredients, but analysis shows them to contain the natural digestive ferments, pure aseptic pepsin, the digestive acids, Golden Seal, bismuth, hydrastis and nux. They are not cathartic, neither do they act powerfully on any organ, but they cure indigestion on the common-sense plan of digesting the food eaten thoroughly before it has time to ferment, sour and cause the mischief.

This is the only secret of their success.

Cathartic pills never have and never can cure indigestion and stomach troubles, because they act entirely on the bowels, whereas the whole trouble is really in the stomach.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken after meals, digest the food. That is all there is to it. Food not digested or half-digested is poison, as it creates gas, acidity, headaches, palpitation of the heart, loss of flesh and appetite and many other troubles which are often called by some other name.

They are sold by druggists everywhere at 50 cents per package.

SEATTLE'S PIONEER FURRIER

RIFLE IS MY LAW--DIETZ

(Concluded.) driven over his dam. The lumber trust refused to pay.

Dietz then presented a claim of $8,000 toll for logs driven over his dam. The trust again refused to pay.

So Dietz opened the gates of his dam, and soon 20,000,000 feet of timber was high and dry.

The timber rotted away, and deputy sheriffs tried to serve him with civil processes. Dietz warned them away. They became insistent. They became so insistent that Dietz opened fire with his Winchester.

And then began the eight-years' struggle. Many a deputy sheriff or Pinkerton operative tried to get to Dietz, but usually a bullet in the arm or leg was his portion. Once three men were killed by Dietz and his family when a posse attempted to storm the little farm house. Year in and year out thousands of dollars were expended by the powers to oust the determined holder of the Cameron dam. Dietz and the Cameron dam became known throughout the United States.

Admired His Nerve.

Rightly or wrongly, Dietz was admired for his nerve, for his stubborn resistance and for his steady work of what he considered an injustice of the powers that be.

But it was only a question of time; just a matter of months when Dietz must fall. Last Saturday as Dietz's 20-year-old daughter Myra and her brother Clarence, 18 years old, were driving along a country road, a volley, fired from ambush, sent a bullet crashing through her body. Clarence was shot through the arm. Today the girl is fighting for her life in St. Joseph's hospital.

A few hours later the Dietz farm house was riddled with bullets. Mrs. Dietz begged and pleaded with her husband to surrender. Only when she reminded him that she was in delicate health did he soften.

And then he sent his little daughter Helen out. As the little girl drew near the men with a white handkerchief clutched in her grimy little hand, she lisped:

"If papa comes out and gives up, you won't shoot him, will you?"

Dietz is Arrested.

Even then the deputy sheriffs were skeptical. Only the spectacle of Dietz appearing with upraised hands convinced them. Once in their power, the deputies promptly handcuffed the man who fought them off for eight long years, who caused the death of four deputy sheriffs and wounded a score or more.

And now they talk of sending him to the penitentiary for life. Dietz insists that he is in the right.

"Just take a look at that farm house and see what we had to stand from you fellows," said Dietz, after his surrender.

When the deputy sheriffs crowded into the bullet scarred farm house, little Leslie and Helen were clinging to their weeping mother.

And all the while the body of Oscar Harp, a deputy sheriff who exposed himself earlier in the day, lay with a bullet through the head.

All Wisconsin has taken sides for and against Dietz. He is accused of teaching his children to handle a Winchester as soon as they could bring it to shoulder. Others say the children do not know how to handle a rifle.

They may send Dietz to jail for life, but he thinks he fought for justice and has not received it.

ENGINEER JUMPS TO HIS DEATH

BOISE, Ida., Oct. 10.—Traveling at a high rate of speed, No. 9, the westbound fast mail on the Oregon Short Line, struck an open switch in the yards at Payette last night. As the heavy engine left the track, Engineer Edward Hubbard threw on the air and jumped. He struck on his head and little hopes were held out for his recovery today at Woodward's hospital in Payette.

It is not known how the switch happened to be opened.

The caboose and three freight cars were derailed, while the engine of No. 9 left the track. The mail cars and coaches remained on the rails, however.
