

GIRL OF 11 THINKS LIFE IN THE COUNTRY IS BEST

The youngest contributor in The Star contest, up to date, is little Dorothy Flagg, aged 11, who lives at 571 Newton st. Here is Dorothy's opinion of country life:

"You might ask me why I think the country children's characters are better than the city's, and I would answer, because country children do not have their minds filled with things done in the city. For instance, a great deal of evil is heard by children, so, instead of innocent minds, theirs are filled with the evils of a city.

"The country children have the beautiful flowered fields, and they think how good God is, to make these beautiful things. They walk through them in the morning with the beautiful songs of spring-time to not know the wickedness of the city, and neither should the child."

How many of Seattle's girls and boys agree with Dorothy? If you do, or if you don't, tell your reasons to the Contest Editor of The Star.

Remember, the contest is open until next Monday night. No answers will be received after then. Letters are not to be longer than 150 words. The prizes are $10, $5, $3, $2 and five $1 prizes. Also theatre seats. It is open to all school boys and girls in Seattle in the grammar and high schools.

The contest was suggested by Fitch's play, "The City," which comes to the Moore next week. The picture shows Gwendolyn Lowery, a member of the company.

Odds and Ends From Everywhere

According to A. Irwin Oliver, who returned to Seattle from Alaska yesterday, the work of the Alaska boundary survey is completed to about 180 miles of the Arctic ocean. Oliver, who was in charge of the surveying parties, figures that it will take two years to reach the ocean.

Vancouver, Wash.—E. Merle Fuller, the youth acquitted of killing J. H. Stewart, has promised the authorities never to carry a weapon again.

George McManus, a Seattle boy, who has recently returned from Europe, where for the past five years he has been studying and teaching music, gave a piano recital at the Boylston Avenue Unitarian church last night. The program was well diversified and enjoyed thoroughly by a large audience.

White & Ballard, of Seattle, have filed incorporation papers at Olympia. The capital is $25,000.

Prosser—William Gurnsey and A. J. Merrifield, republican and democratic respectively, are contesting for mayor in the election today.

Washington—Census returns give Vermont a total population of 355,956, an increase of 12,135 during the past ten years.

Juneau—Frank Hermit has raised a turnip weighing 10 pounds 7 ounces on his farm here.

Spokane—Robberies at several railroad depots throughout the Inland Empire were reported today. The total thefts amount to $400.

Burlington—The local option law will be the chief factor at the November elections here. Both sides have a large campaign fund.

Bremerton—More than a score of candidates have filed their nominations for the city election next month.

Port Orchard—The trial of E. C. Phelan, charged with killing A. K. McQueen on the cruiser Washington, is in progress here today.

BIG PLANT FOR LAKE UNION

As soon as an outlet from Lake Union to Salmon bay is provided, a million-dollar plant for the manufacture of anhydrous ammonia and aqua ammonia will be established in Seattle by the Pacific Ammonia and Chemical Co., at present located on the shores of Lake Union, at Northlake av. and Blawett st.

Chevy transportation is the essential requirement of the company's business, and yesterday the announcement was made to the Chamber of Commerce that it stood ready to erect the million-dollar plant as soon as the water transportation to Salmon bay was assured.

The trustees of the Lake Washington Canal Association have also taken up the matter with the harbor committee of the Chamber of Commerce, and have voted to urge the government engineer to let the contract for the work immediately.

TODAY IN HISTORY

CT. 11, 1899, the Boer war began. Wars begin over many things, but usually gold or something that can be turned into gold. In that respect this war was entirely conventional. But it was unconventional in that England, one of the greatest military powers of the world, was beaten for months by a pair of petty governments looked upon by the English as uncouth to the verge of savagery. It took the biggest army England had ever had in the field to subdue the Boers, and since then England has not been so eager for war.

LOOK FOR GERMANS HERE. Karoline Helene Magdalene Seltz and Otto Jacob Schmidt, charged with embezzlement and concealing stolen property, are wanted by the German police, according to word received by the local German vice-consul. A reward of 1,000 marks is offered for their capture.

AVIATOR CHAS. K. HAMILTON WAS VILLAGE NE'ER-DO-WELL — BUT — $10,000 IN GOOD, BRIGHT COIN SET 'EM THINKING

NEW BRITAIN, Conn., Oct. 11.—This little center of the silver and cutlery industry was considerably excited today, when Charles K. Hamilton, the aviator, wandered into the local bank and dumped $10,000 in twenty-dollar gold pieces on the cashier's desk for deposit.

There was more excitement when the daring little aviator said he had brought the gold coin in small sacks all the way across the continent from Sacramento.

Locally, this episode is regarded as characteristically Hamiltonian. As a boy his Irish tendencies got him in much trouble. He has always been expected to do the unexpected. He was considered the Peck's Bad Boy of New Britain, who might be depended upon to create mischief, but who would never amount to anything. He was always pointed out to the staid and steady lads of the town as the youth whose itinerant career would not gather any moss.

Hamilton knew all this. When he recently flew in Sacramento his compensation was $10,000. Instead of taking his pay in draft, he asked the California bank for gold. Then he carefully packed the coin, done up in canvas sacks, in his trunk and left for Chicago.

In Chicago the small fortune was snugly put away in his room at a hotel. The porter remarked about the weight of the trunk, but had not the remotest idea concerning the value of the baggage he was tossing about.

After a few days Hamilton set out for this place. Yesterday he had the trunk handled to his mother's home, and today he executed his little maneuver that startled the natives.

They do not think that Hamilton is quite such an irascible village cut-up now. They even are ready to admit there must be considerable money in scouting around in the sky.

TALKS ON TEETH BY THE REGAL DENTISTS

Day after day people write to us and say: "I know your method is a great advantage over all others, but I can't take time to make a trip to Seattle." And yet how many people journey to Chicago, to New York or even to Europe to obtain skillful services of some eminent surgeon. They don't count the cost in such cases.

Arguing from the standpoint of expense is arguing from the least important of the angles.

A good digestive apparatus is worth millions of dollars—and not even the wealth of Rockefeller will purchase a new set of organs once the old ones get out of order.

If you have lost teeth and are trying to overcome the handicap with a partial plate or old-fashioned bridge, you are taking desperate chances, for all the teeth are needed to prepare the food for assimilation.

A gap in the line means that some food will slip through only partially chewed.

The stomach can't chew the food. And so, little by little, day by day, the irritation goes on until some fine day an uncomfortable feeling down below sounds the warning that dyspepsia has arrived.

And then—Oh! miserable mortal! No more comfort for you.

In comparison, what a little thing is a trip to Seattle and a short time in one of our chairs, with no pain or discomfort in the work of placing Our Method Work in your mouth.

We give a written guarantee with all work.

Seattle Agents for the Great Majestic Range

THOUSANDS of Great Majestic Ranges are in use today in Seattle and vicinity, and all are giving perfect satisfaction. The newest model is equipped with a sliding top, which is a successful application of the down-draft, smoke-consuming principle to range construction.

This feature has many points of excellence, including:

Enables the cook to be in instant and constant touch with the draft without stooping.

The oven can be kept to a more even heat on account of a steady flow of air into the fire at the right place—on top of, and not under the fire.

You can hold the fire and bake for two hours or more with from 1½ to 2 inches of live coals on the grate.

Free access is given to the fire box, making it easy to keep it clean and free from ashes, thereby preserving the lining.

Any kind of fuel is easily fired.

Just the thing for broiling and toasting.

No lids to lift; no hunting for the lid lifter.

It burns any kind of fuel with equally satisfactory results.

Seattle Agents for the Genuine Round Oak Heating Stove

Good workmanship, good materials and scientific principles of construction have put the Round Oak at the head of the procession—it is the stove that burns any kind of fuel, holds fire all day—all night, too—gives a steady, even heat and is cleanly and comfortable.

A full line of the Genuine Round Oak Heating Stoves is displayed on the First Floor, Annex.
