

WHY THE STAR DEMANDS THE RECALL OF HI GILL: As a matter of public decency, as a matter of civic pride, as a protection to legitimate business, as a safeguard to the morals of young men and women, as an object lesson to weak or crooked public officials, as a notice that hereafter the people will not tolerate their treachery. THAT'S WHY THE STAR DEMANDS THE RECALL OF HI GILL.

CHICAGO CUBS LOSE THE FIRST GAME

WELLMAN IS SILENT

(By United Press.)
SEARONSET, Mass., Oct. 17.—The Wellman dirigible "America" has been out of touch with the wireless stations and passing ships for many hours, and it is believed that the aeronauts are continuing steadily northeastward toward the Irish coast.
The last report was that the dirigible was ideal and that the airship was able to conserve its store of gasoline.
The speed at which the "America" sailed was reported at 20 knots an hour.
The last word from Jack Irwin, the dirigible's wireless operator, was "good-bye" at noon yesterday. Afloat here are expected to intercept and relay messages from the America.
It is estimated that the balloon has traveled 700 miles already, which is a record flight for a dirigible. The reason, it is believed, that Wellman sent a wireless message yesterday saying that the "outlook was not so favorable," is that the dragging equilibrators shook the airship as the floating tanks leaped from wave to wave.
No Word Today.
NEW YORK, Oct. 17.—A wireless from the Marconi station at Campden, Nova Scotia, received at noon, stated the America's wireless apparatus could not be reached and no communications from the balloon had been received.

CRIPPEN TO GO ON TRIAL TOMORROW

(By United Press.)
LONDON, Oct. 17.—Dr. H. H. Crippen, accused of having murdered his wife, Belle Elmore Crippen, will go on trial on the charge tomorrow. Lord Chief Justice Alverstone will preside and King's Counsel Moore will conduct the prosecution.
Barristers Tobin and Jenkins will defend Crippen and Barristers Smith and Harrington-Ward will defend Miss Ethel Levey. Miss Levey's trial will begin at the completion of that of Dr. Crippen's.
Solicitor Newton will prompt the defense and it is expected the Crippen trial will last a week.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 17.—The gates of Shibe Park were thrown open at 11 o'clock this morning, and before that time 10,000 fans stood in line to see the opening game of the world's championship series between the Chicago Nationals and the Philadelphia Americans.
At noon the bleachers had filled, and swarms of men, women and children were filing past the turnstiles.
The speculators sold grandstand seats for as high as $50 apiece. Hundreds of persons slept on the sidewalks near the ball grounds, and others in doorways so as to take leading places in the line when the gates should be thrown open. The park holds 24,000 persons at capacity, and it became apparent that the limit would be stretched long before the game began.
The Lineup.
The lineup, announced shortly before the game, was:
Philadelphia.
Strunk, center field.
Lord, left field.
Collins, second base.
Baker, third base.
Davis, first base.
Murphy, right field.
Barry, shortstop.
Thomas, catcher.
Bender, pitcher.
Chicago.
Sheekard, left field.
Schulte, right field.
Hofman, center field.
Chance, first base.
Zimmerman, second base.
Steinfeldt, third base.
Tinker, shortstop.
Kling, catcher.
Overall, pitcher.
First Inning.
Schulte singled and was caught stealing. Thomas and Collins fanned out. Collins to Davis. No runs.
Philadelphia—Strunk bunted out. Steinfeldt to Chance. Lord filed to Hofman. Collins singled, and out stealing. Kling to Tinker. No runs.
Second Inning.
Chicago—Chance out. Barry to Steinfeldt out. Baker to Davis. No runs.
Philadelphia—Baker doubled to left. Davis sacrificed. Zimmerman to Chance. Baker reached third. Murphy singled, scoring Baker. Barry stole second. Barry out. Steinfeldt to Chance. Thomas walked. Zimmerman fumbled. Bender's grounder. Murphy scoring and Bender reaching first. Strunk filed to Sheekard. Two runs.
Third Inning.
Chicago—Tinker out. Collins to Davis. Kling skyfied to Bender. Overall out. Barry to Davis.
The official scorer decided that Bender's grounder in the second inning was a hit, not an error for Zimmerman. McIntyre in the box for Chicago.
Third Inning.
Philadelphia—Lord doubled. Collins sacrificed. Chance to Zimmerman. Baker singled, scoring Lord. Davis fanned. Baker out trying to steal. Schulte out stealing. Sheekard. Barry out to Chance. Thomas walked. Bender out to Chance. No runs.
Fourth Inning.
Chicago—Sheekard out. Barry to Davis. Schulte walked. Hofman fanned. Schulte out stealing. Thomas to Collins. No runs.
Philadelphia—McIntyre succeeded Overall. Murphy out. Tinker to Chance. Thomas fanned. No runs.
Fifth Inning.
Chicago—Chance out. Collins to Davis. Zimmerman and Steinfeldt whiffed. No runs.
Philadelphia—Bender received an ovation when he came to the plate. He fanned. Strunk walked and was caught stealing. Kling to Tinker. Lord fanned. No runs.
Sixth Inning.
Chicago—Tinker filed to Strunk. Kling filed to Murphy. McIntyre fanned. No runs.
Philadelphia—Collins out. Zimmerman to Chance. Baker out. Tinker to Chance. Davis out. Zimmerman to Chance. No runs.
Seventh Inning.
Chicago—Sheekard out. Barry to Davis. Schulte fanned. Hofman out. Baker to Davis. No runs.
Philadelphia—Chance out. Collins to Davis. Zimmerman fanned. Steinfeldt filed to Baker. No runs.
Philadelphia—Strunk out. Zimmerman to Chance. Lord filed to Hofman. Collins walked and took third on McIntyre's wild throw in trying to catch him at first. Baker doubled to right. Collins scoring. Davis out. McIntyre to Chance. One run.
Ninth Inning.
Chicago—Thomas muffed Tinker's foul. Tinker singled to center and took second on Strunk's fumble. Kling singled to center. Tinker scoring. Beaumont batted for McIntyre. Kane ran for Kling. Beaumont out. Collins to Davis. Kane taking second. Sheekard fanned. Schulte walked. Hofman forced Kane. Barry to Baker.

DO YOU KNOW?

That the Catholic cathedral in Seattle is the largest west of Chicago?
That John Wilmot, of the juvenile department, is learning how to manipulate the new telephone key-board installed in the county clerk's office the other day?
That Seattle covers 83.46 square miles?
That there are 26 banks in Seattle, but that the average man finds one amply able to hold all of his money?
That Judge Gilliam, who issued the temporary injunction against the maintenance of the vice district, used to be corporation counsel of Seattle?
That the Seattle jail, unlike almost all other similar institutions, is in the attic of the municipal building, instead of the cellar?
That the largest sailing vessels in the world anchor within a stone's throw of Seattle skyscrapers?
That native blackberries are red when they are green?

Dr. Matthews All But Endorses Suffrage

Dr. Mark A. Matthews, pastor of the First Presbyterian church militant, has not come out for women's suffrage.
He almost did yesterday, and Seattle men who are interested in the suffrage movement thought he had. But the good doctor, after thinking about it over night, decided that the men were competent to do all the voting for a while yet.
It happened like this:
In a talk to women yesterday afternoon about a project of his to build a hotel for working girls where they could live comfortably at inexpensive rates, he closed with a stirring appeal to the women listeners for their co-operation.
Mrs. George A. Smith, and other enthusiastic votes-for-women workers, took this as their cue and hurried to talk to him after the meeting.
Argue With Him.
"If you'll help us get the right women will be in a position to help you in this and other work for women."
"I'll think it over," he said, smoothing back his hair.
And at the evening sermon the next morning.
"Certain good women," he said, "came to me this afternoon and said that if I'd help them get the ballot, they could accomplish many of these reforms we all want. Well, if they think they can do that with the ballot, let them take it, and God bless them."
"Amen," went up from the lips of the suffragists all over the church. All remembered Dr. Matthews' previous assaults on women's suffrage, which had provoked state-wide argument with suffrage leaders.
"Dr. Matthews has been converted," they thought. "Hurray!"
But no—the morning brought reflection.
"I have not changed my views on the ballot," said the doctor, a trifle testily, this morning, "and I have thought about it for 24 more years longer than many of the women who want it. And I've spent hours arguing about it."
Then the minister went on to tell about his plans for the ideal hotel where friendless girls could get rooms for $4 a month.

CARS CRASH; 12 WJURED

(By United Press.)
LOS ANGELES, Oct. 17.—Twelve persons were injured, one perhaps fatally when a Covina car of the Pacific electric line crashed into a southeast Pasadena car at the entrance to the Macy st. bridge to the N. E. side of South Pasadena was injured internally. He was taken to a hospital, where his condition was pronounced serious.

NATALIE BARNEY SAYS SHE DIDN'T POSE FOR NUDE STATUE AT ALL

This is Miss Natalie Barney, the Washington society belle who now denies that she posed for the nude statue that set the capital city by the ears a weeks ago.
The statue of "The Deserted Ariadne" lay exposed for several days on the lawn of the Barney residence in Washington. It was said to have been carved by Miss Laura Barney and that her younger sister Natalie posed for it. With their mother, the two young women are now in Paris, and Miss Natalie denies emphatically that she is the original of the statue.
Miss Laura is so much upset by the publicity attached to the nude figure that she says she will not continue in art work but will devote her time in the future to the study and practice of a new religious cult originated by Persians.

WINDXTER WON'T HELP HUMPHREY

His Poinxter, well rested after his strenuous and successful campaign for the senate, dropped out of the race yesterday, to confer with a few friends, leaving at night. The most important bit of news connected with Poinxter's visit is that he will not stump for "God-Bless-Oward" Humphrey.
Washington's next senator, however, will wage a campaign for Boston Warburton, insurgent candidate for congress from the Second district. After leaving Seattle, he is headed for Fort Angeles and Olan to help Warburton.
Friends of Humphrey have been trying to make capital out of the fact that Poinxter has refrained from giving any aid to Judge Black, Humphrey's democratic opponent. Poinxter made it clear yesterday, however, that he would render no assistance to the plan to return the seat to the republican candidate.

OH WELL, WHAT CAN YOU EXPECT

The Seattle Electric Co. will not permit the non-partisan candidates for the supreme court to be ejected by anything it can do will be effective.
This morning J. A. Johnson, a leader with offices in the New York block, was ejected from a car because he passed cards among passengers asking them to vote for the non-partisan candidates.
The Seattle Electric Co. has been one of the beneficiaries of the present supreme court; the rulings of the court in damage suits have benefited the company a lot of money in the past and there is a lot to be expected in the future.
That is the reason why the company has orders to allow no non-partisan cards to be passed on hand to hand on the cars.
Will Try Again.
Tomorrow Johnson and Harry Tompkins will try again. If they are ejected from the car they will take legal action against the street car company.
The supreme court has not yet decided whether the candidates can appear both on the non-partisan and the democratic tickets. The court was expected to hand down a decision Saturday but did not do so. It is evident that the court wants to withhold its decision until such time as the candidates will not be able to take advantage of it, if it is in their favor.
If the court will not allow their names to be on both tickets the candidates will run on a non-partisan ticket.
KICKED HOLES IN WINDOW.
Tom Tollison amused himself Saturday night by kicking sundry holes in a plate glass window in front of the Seattle Bar, until Patrolman Waltrip forced him to desist. It cost Thomas $10 when Police Judge Gordon learned the facts.

SUPREME COURT UNMASKED

That is the title of a sizzling hot, yet calm and truthful story of the highest court of this state, which will be printed by The Star, beginning Wednesday.
In this series of articles the writer, Joe Smith, will tear away the veil of sanctity behind which lies hidden the inner history of that court. The fallacy of that musty doctrine that courts should not be criticized, that judges can do no wrong, will be shown.
The mask will be torn off, the curtain will be raised, so all may know what they are entitled to know.

SEATTLE HAS MORE, NOT LESS THAN CENSUS FIGURES

"Diminished rather than padded," is what the Chamber of Commerce authorities say of the Seattle census report.
"About 20,000 less than Seattle is entitled to," said Secretary Yandell this morning. "Of course our work was simply to aid the census takers. We checked off their reports to see that none were duplicated. There was no chance for bunching the names, as it was charged they did in Tacoma. Every morning each man was assigned his district and he made his report upon that territory only. Notwithstanding our efforts, however, we estimate that about 20,000 names were missed and that Seattle is entitled to 260,000."
"Absolutely no basis for the report that the Seattle census was padded to the extent of 1,500 or any other number," said Census Supervisor Hill this morning.
"The government has not yet given us an official statement and the government investigators who were here said nothing before they left which would signify that they found any discrepancy between their estimate and mine. They have always expressed satisfaction with the accuracy of our work, and there is no reason to expect any more errors this time than before."

GILL SEES THE AX

Two weeks ago, when The Star first mentioned the recall, Hi Gill, in his ignorant arrogance, chortled; he poo-hooed with contempt, smiled with derision, blew smoke rings to show his imperturbability.
Today there are nearly 400 men circulating recall petitions all over the city. Every hour adds a score of names to the roll of citizens who want to relegate Hi Gill to the dark background of private practice among the undesirables, and before the week is over the petitions will likely contain the necessary number of names.
Hi Gill is not scoffing now. His supine confidence in his personal followers has dwindled to the vanishing point. He is now convinced that it is no problem to get enough signatures of decent citizens to a recall petition against him to make it effective.
Gill's decent and indecent friends warned him, begged with him, pleaded with him, to rid himself and the administration of Wappy, but to no avail. "Also an Undesirable" held the whip over him. Gill had to lie down, roll over, sit up and jump through as his ringmaster commanded.
And the names on the petition are piling up; growing every day with retributive cumulation. It is shame, ignominy and disgrace for Gill. Wappy has ceased smirking. He has secret meetings with gamblers and crooks that he double-crossed, for he knows not which one is going to turn on him now that he is at bay in a tight corner.
You laughed at The Star's first suggestion of a recall, Hi Gill. You can't even smile a wan, sickly, forced smile today. Times have changed suddenly for you and your crew until there is nothing for you to laugh at except your own weak folly.
The people are aroused, Hi Gill, and your official head is what they are after.

PITTSBURG STARTS ANTI-SWEAR CRUSADE

(By United Press.)
PITTSBURG, Pa., Oct. 17.—It is war to the knife on profanity and impure language in Pittsburgh today. The fight against the free use of words tabooed in polite society began yesterday when 50,000 persons, headed by singing choirs instead of blaring brass bands, paraded through the streets as a demonstration against the growing use of profanity. Although the thoroughfares along the line of march were packed, the little enthusiasm displayed was noticeable. Each division carried at its head an American flag, and there was a studied effort to dispense with blare and gaudy trappings of ordinary parades.

JULIA WARD HOWE IS DEAD

BATTLE HYMN OF THE REPUBLIC.
Mine eyes have seen the glory of the coming of the Lord;
He is trampling out the vintage where the grapes of wrath are stored;
He hath loosed the fatal lightning of his terrible sword;
His truth is marching on.
—Julia Ward Howe.
(By United Press.)
BOSTON, Oct. 17.—Julia Ward Howe, famous as the author of the "Battle Hymn of the Republic," died today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Maud Elliott, at South Portsmouth, R. I., according to a telephone report received here.
Mrs. Howe had been seriously ill for several weeks.

Born in New York.
Julia Ward Howe was born in New York May 27, 1819, where her childhood days were spent in the closest seclusion. In her later life she referred to her father as her jailer, not reproachfully but merely to emphasize the fact that fondest of parents may be the sternest of disciplinarians. Her education was unusual for a girl of that time. She studied both Latin and Greek, and before her marriage spoke French, German and Italian.
It was while Julia Ward was in Europe in her 23rd year that she met Dr. Samuel Gridley Howe of Boston, who established the first school for the blind. They were married April 14, 1843. Their six children attained places of prominence in the scientific, artistic and literary world.
Among Mrs. Howe's more noted works are, "Passion Flowers," "Words for the Hour," "A Trip to Cuba," "The World's Own," "From the Oak to the Olive," "Sex and Education," "Modern Society," "From Sunset Ridge," "Is Politia Society Polite?" "Representative Women of New England."
Mrs. Howe at the time of her death resided on Beacon st., Boston, her home for so many years. One son and three daughters, Henry M. Howe, Florence Howe Hall, Laura Richards and Maude Howe Elliott survive her.

WHERE DOES HE GET IT?

Who is putting up the slush fund for "God Hates a Coward" Humphrey?
Humphrey is the only man on the republican ticket who has a bean outside of his personal contributions.
The King county republican committee is flat broke, ready to go out of business. Candidates will contribute nothing, business men shake their heads when asked for contributions.
Yet Humphrey is spending money lavishly. He has paid workers all over the district; printing presses are running recklessly in his interest; he has expensive headquarters with a large crew of workers and clerks, including a few renegade insurgents.
Where does Humphrey get it? The republican national congressional committee? What is this committee helping Humphrey for when Humphrey turned Cannon down? What reason would this committee have for wanting Humphrey back in congress?
Humphrey tried to raise a campaign fund in Seattle and failed. Then the money came from somewhere.
Won't you tell us where, Mr. Humphrey?

FLIES 350 MILES

(By United Press.)
PARIS, Oct. 17.—Having flown 350 miles in a little more than fifteen and a half hours, Henry Wynne, Dutch aviator, today completed his Paris-to-Brussels and return flight carrying a passenger.

POCKET IS PICKED

Frank Goreska, an employe of the Cascade Gas & Electric Co., was the victim of a pickpocket last night while boarding a car at Luna Park. Goreska did not notice his loss until he reached Seattle, when he discovered that the light-fingered thief had extracted a wallet containing $27 in cash and some papers.

WHAT THE PASSAGE OF THE HARBOR BONDS WILL MEAN TO THE HOUSEHOLDERS AND WAGE-EARNERS OF SEATTLE

Reduced prices on every commodity used in the household by reason of reduced wharfage and drayage charges.
Quicker and cheaper delivery of coal, lumber and other heavy commodities to nearly every part of the city.
Reduced cost of delivering heavy materials, such as crushed rock, gravel, brick, pipes, etc., to the points where it is needed.
Greatly increased opportunity of profitable employment by reason of the industries which will locate and expand in Seattle when cheap sites and cheap adequate transportation facilities are provided.
The expenditure of $5,250,000 in Seattle and King county, mostly for local labor and material.
Deliverance from the domination of the railroads and the waterfront monopoly which exact undue tribute from every pound of freight shipped in an out of Seattle.
