Cynthia Grey's After-Supper Talks.

Poor Margaret

Margaret was eighteen and pretty; Margaret's papa was forty-eight and on salary—a small salary. Margaret's mamma was forty-two and stilly. Margaret's chances depended on marriage or work. Work was barred as beneath her—just why did not appear—and there was no man eligible for the honor of making the living. At last, this is what mamma said.

"Margaret had quit school. The Inquisitive Person thought this a pity.

"She is tired of going to school," said mamma, "and she knows enough anyhow; she writes a nice note, plays well enough to entertain, and paints china that is pretty enough for her own table. I want her to have a good time, like other girls; I can manage her party dresses by going without a lot of things. Of course she will marry well.

"Can she keep house and cook?" asked the Inquisitive Person.

"I should say not," said mamma. "No child of mine shall look and slave for a man. I expect her to marry a man who can take care of her."

"He might have the best of intentions," said the Inquisitive Person, "and no money; he might even be nice and desirable, and have possibilities, and still be poor, at least in his youth, and need a practical wife."

"I won't have my child made a slave," declared mamma. "I believe in girls having a good time. I shall save my child from the hard places."

"Yes," asked the Inquisitive Person. "How long is your life guaranteed to last, and who will be the buffer when you are gone?"

Just then a neighbor came in bursting with excitement, which she communicated to Margaret's mamma and the Inquisitive Person in the most breathless sentence: Margaret had eloped with a handsome, penniless son of fortune.

"Guess I'd better be going," said the Inquisitive Person.

Dear Miss Grey: Would you advise a respectable young woman to become a chorus girl, or go into vaudeville? I have the requirements for such positions. I find it difficult to obtain suitable employment as I have no trade or profession. ANXIOUS GIRL.

—If you have the required ability can secure a position with remuneration of unquestioned stability and known standing. I know of no objection to entering the chorus of a theatrical company. There is certainly less temptation for a girl to go west on the American stage than in American shops and in various underpaid callings.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) Kindly tell me how to remove ink stains from a linen centerpiece. (2) Would you give a recipe for fruit cake.—Housekeeper.

(1) Before washing it cover with salty grease and rub in well. Let stand 12 hours, then wash. (2) Cream half cup butter with brown sugar. Add half-cup molasses, yolks of 4 eggs, 1 cup sugar, 2 1/2 cups milk, 2 1/2 cups flour, 1/2 teaspoon baking powder, 1/2 teaspoon soda and cinnamon. Mix, grate 1 cup seeded raisins, chopped and floured; half-cup currants, half-cup chopped nut.

Dear Miss Grey: I have had a rash about a week and they are itching out of shape. It's the same with every pair I buy. How can this be cured?—Olga.

—If you allow an experienced clerk to fit your feet according to his own judgment, I'm sure you have no further trouble.

Dear Miss Grey: Is it proper for a woman to write to a man if she has not met him?—Anxious.

—No.

Dear Miss Grey: Of what is household ammonia made?—E. B.

—It is a compound of nitrogen and hydrogen.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) I am 17, have light brown hair, blue eyes and a tall. What material and color would be nice for a party dress for me? (2) What will take the only taste out of a teapot?—L. M.

—White wash material, black for pale blue silk. (2) Wash teapot after use, and there will be no taste. If an antiseptic is used, set on back of stove and fill with boiling water, in which a tablespoon baking soda has been dissolved. Let stand several hours.

How to Have the Best Cough Syrup and Save $2, by Making it at Home.

Cough medicines, as a rule, contain a large quantity of plain syrup. If you take one pint of granulated sugar, add 1/2 pint of warm water, stir about two minutes, you could as good syrup as you could buy anywhere for $2.50. It keeps perfectly.

You will find it the best cough syrup you ever used—even in whooping cough. You can feel it take hold—usually stops the most severe cough in 24 hours. It is so laxative enough, has a good effect and taste is pleasant. It is a teaspoonful every one, two or three hours.

It is a splendid remedy, too, for bronchitis, asthma, chest pains, etc.

Place in the most valuable concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, rich in galicolic acid and all the healing pine elements. This preparation will work in the most effective manner.

This recipe for making cough syrup is now used and prized in thousands of homes in the United States and Canada. The plan has been initiated, but never successfully.

Stock of the best-known Seattle druggists, such as Bartell Drug Co., and others, think so highly of the above recipe that they endeavor to give satisfaction or refund the purchase price.

then wash and rinse. Dry thoroughly.

Dear Miss Grey: I wish to know if you think it sufficient to put a band of crepe on my arm for mourning for a brother who died in the East.—Brighton Sta.

—I think it sufficient.

TODAY'S AMERICAN WOMAN

She's Learning How to Build Good Sewers.

One of the most vivacious girls who will make up the cluster of buds around Miss Helen Taft this winter will be Senatoria Maria Helena Villegas, daughter of Senor Jacinto L. Villegas, charge d'affaires of the Argentine republic. The dark-eyed senatoria is the only debutante contributed to the young society of the White House by the diplomatic corps this winter. She is very Spanish in manner and appearance, but she has the added grace of an American education.

MISS HELEN HAMILTON.

The young men in the engineering department of the University of Michigan, at Ann Arbor, were shocked when a pretty co-ed, Miss Helen Hamilton of Bellevue, entered their classes this fall to specialize in sewers. They got over the shock soon, however, for Miss Hamilton developed into one of the best students in the class.

"Why shouldn't there be just as much opportunity for a girl in writing stories, teaching school, doing sociological work, or lecturing on woman's suffrage?" she asks. "I intend to devote all my energies to becoming a successful sewer contractor, or contractor's wife."

Her father is a sewer contractor, and I have helped him many times in the preliminary work. Sewer construction has a definite and peculiar appeal to me."

MARY'S COOK BOOK

New England Pumpkin Pie. One quart of stewed pumpkin, well washed; one cup of sugar; two eggs; two tablespoonfuls of corn starch; half teaspoonful each of cinnamon and allspice; one-fourth teaspoonful of cloves and one-fourth of a nutmeg. Stir all together. Let two cups of sweet milk get boiling hot, then pour in the pumpkin, stirring well. This is enough for four pies. Line the pans with a good pie paste, fill with the pumpkin and bake with one crust.

Home Candy.

One and a fourth cups sugar, one-third cup boiling water, one-fourth pound of shredded cocoanut, white of one egg, a little lemon extract. Boil the water and sugar without stirring until it threads, pour it on the white of the egg which has been beaten to a stiff froth, beat the mixture until it is stiff and then stir the cocoanut quickly into it and shape into balls.

Bread Pudding.

Two cups bread crumbs, two eggs, two cups milk, one and a half cup powdered sugar, one-half cup seeded raisins, grated peel of one lemon. Soak the bread crumbs in the milk, add yolks of eggs, well beaten, add the other ingredients, except the whites of the eggs. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake for a half-hour. When the pudding is done, spread a layer of jelly over the top and cover it with the whites of the eggs which have been beaten stiff with a half-cup of powdered sugar. Return to the oven until nicely browned.

WHY HE LEFT.

Long—"Why did you leave the place where you formerly boarded?"

Short—"Because the landlady had too much curiosity."

Long—"In what direction?"

Short—"Oh, she was continually asking me when I was going to pay my board bill."

THE WHITE HOUSE CROWD

A FOREIGNER

One of the most vivacious girls who will make up the cluster of buds around Miss Helen Taft this winter will be Senatoria Maria Helena Villegas, daughter of Senor Jacinto L. Villegas, charge d'affaires of the Argentine republic. The dark-eyed senatoria is the only debutante contributed to the young society of the White House by the diplomatic corps this winter. ALL AROUND THE HOME

To wash chiffon, fold length and soak in soapy lather, then draw the hand down against it once or twice and pat it between the palms of the hands until it is clean. Let it lie a little time longer; then press it between the hands, squeezing out all the soap, and rinse it in plenty of clean lukewarm water, pressing it as before to extract all the water. Fold it flatly between thick cloths and pass it through a wringing machine. Then iron it immediately. Never wring chiffon with the hands.

Soap well applied to drawer slides will keep the drawers in furniture and closets from sticking. It is also good for doors that stick.

Did Yegg Think Clancy Left Any Money There?

Only the timely arrival of Patrolman Steen prevented two safe blowers from looting a safe in the rear of the Porto Rico cigar store, at 308 James st., where Johnny Clancy formerly controlled a gambling game, early this morning. Hymie, was captured by Steen after a hard chase. The other escaped. Steen's arrival prevented the thieves from gathering in $200.

GET MORE LIGHT ON NORTH COAST

That the North Coast railroad has always been a Harriman project came to light yesterday through a prominent official of that company, who says that it was financed by the railroad wizard in retaliation against James J. Hill for building the North Branch road. The incorporation of the Oregon-Washington Railroad & Navigation Co. lends further corroboration to the Harriman interest in the North Coast, of which Robert E. Strahorn of Spokane, was the ostensible head. This new company is the holding company of the Harriman interest in the Northwest, which now controls the Oregon & Washington railroad and the North Coast.

Waterway Election

Some property owners of the Duwamish river valley met in the office of Adolph Behrens, 518 New York block, yesterday afternoon and formed a campaign organization to re-elect the present Duwamish waterway commissioners in the district election which takes place December 6.

Fred Newell, Frank H. Paul and D. Hamm, the present commissioners, were unanimously endorsed for re-election. The present commissioners are being opposed for re-election by other candidates, among them C. L. Wilson, of Georgetown, and E. R. Todd, of South Seattle.

DEADLY GAS CLAIMS THREE GREEK WORKERS

NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—Three Greek laborers only recently arrived in this country, were killed yesterday by illuminating gas. They had blown out the light.

"Please-Don't-Open-Until-Christmas" Packages Must Not Be So Marked in Ink. WASHINGTON, Nov. 26.—Persons who send Christmas gifts through the mails early to insure their delivery on Christmas day or before, are admonished by officials of the postoffice department not to write upon the outside the words, "Do not open until Christmas day," or anything similar. A statement was issued from the postoffice department last year advising the early mailing of Christmas presents. All persons were told to mark the packages, "Not to be opened until Christmas." Unfortunately, the statement did not instruct patrons how to do the marking.

Rubber stamps or stickers may be used.

BUILD 16-STORY BUILDING.

The contract for the erection of a 16-story building for the Union Savings & Trust company at the corner of Second av. and Cherry sts. may be let today. The building will cost approximately $450,000. Work will commence about March 1, 1911.

Girls Play With Pistol—One Is Instantly Killed. TRAVERSE CITY, Mich., Nov. 26.—"I'm going to shoot you," said 14-year-old Ethel Hill to her playmate, Mary Franklin, aged 5, as she picked up an old revolver and playfully pointed it at the young girl. As she did so the weapon was discharged, the bullet entering Mary's face and instantly killing her.

DR. EDWIN J. BROWN

713 First Ave. Over L. W. Suter's Jewelry Store

About ten years ago the Washington State Dental Board and the Washington State Dental Society adopted the code of ethics of the National Dental Association of Milwaukee, Wis. for the purpose of keeping dentists out of this state. The plan was to have the Dental Board refuse dentists their licenses and the society would furnish money and legal assistance in their appointment and drive them out of this state.

Dental Board's Unlimited Power. The Dental Board exercises unlimited power to examine dentists in what it pleases (there is no examination prescribed by law), and why should the Board be permitted to enforce its arbitrary will, and the "inquisition" of the State Society, which influences their appointment and of which the Board are members?

The Societies' Code of Ethics. The societies' code which dentists were compelled to subscribe and swear to in 1903 provides that "When rules in relation to the practice of dental work are adopted by dentists it is dishonorable to depart from those rules," "that it is dishonorable to guarantee dental work," and "that it is dishonorable to advertise in the public prints." I refused to sign the Dental Board's Code, or the contract which provided that in consideration of my being permitted to be examined by the Dental Board, I would let a license be issued to me, practice dentistry under all the rules and regulations of the Board and Societies.

My Code of Ethics. I think a dentist who does not guarantee his work is honorable, because the law and common sense implies a reasonable guarantee. I think it is honorable to be able to allow a combine to tell me what fees I shall charge people for their dental work, because it puts the expert dentist on a level with the dental cobbler, whose genius has never been developed because his love of rest and repose. Dental work is not a result of inspiration; it takes perspiration. I must work and study and sweat to become a dental practitioner. My charges for dental work are just one-half, or 50 per cent of what the Combine or the Board charge. All gold fillings, inlay fillings, alloy fillings, all porcelain and gold crowns, all bridge work and plate work is guaranteed absolutely for just half what the Combine charge, and PAINLESS EXTRACTING is free.

Starting alone ten years ago, today my dental practice is the largest in the United States, outside of New York City. Large business and small profit for superior work, guaranteed, has given my office reputation and success. I do not compete with cheap advertising Dental Parlors. I will have your teeth examined free and get my price for high-class work, then have your work done by any dentist you wish to go to. Remember, my offices are in Seattle, Wash., 713 First Avenue, over L. W. Suter's jewelry store. I keep open evenings and Sundays for the benefit of people who work. Be sure and come to the right Brown.

HOSPITAL BENEFIT IS A BIG SUCCESS

Five hundred dollars was cleared at the Grand theatre benefit yesterday afternoon for the Orthopedic hospital. The program was a mixture of amateur and professional talent and a crowded house enjoyed it.

Mrs. William Pitt Trimble, in charge of the benefit, started her program with a minstrel by 15 boys. The Majestic theatre contributed acts by Vardon, Perry & Wilbur and Lee & Chapman. Dr. P. W. Willis, with a stereopticon, demonstrated the uses of the Orthopedic hospital. John Cort allowed the Grand to be used free, and Franz Adelmann and his orchestra donated their services.

WIFE CANNOT RECOVER HUSBAND'S POKER LOSSES

NORTH YAKIMA, Nov. 26.—Just because her husband loses money at poker, a woman cannot get it back by legal procedure, according to a ruling by Judge Preble. Mrs. Frank Riggle, who says that her husband, at an invitation to play made by O. A. Olson, one of the proprietors of the Star cigar store, lost $1,129 at poker, brought suit against Olson and his partner and her husband, Frank Riggle, to recover the money, claiming it to have been community property.

The court ruled that Mrs. Riggle was not the proper plaintiff, because she did not lose the money, if it was lost.

A Present for the Whole Family

Instead of giving each member of the family an individual gift of more or less importance, why not give them collectively a Victor Talking Machine, which all can enjoy?

What can you think of that will bring greater happiness into the home circle than this wonderful instrument, which provides delightful as well as instructive entertainment? Each member of the family can gratify his particular taste, as the Victor produces Grand Opera, Sacred Music, Popular Airs, Ragtime and Dance Music equally well. A small portion of the money you spend for theatres, concerts, etc., will bring the same talent into your own home in greater variety than perhaps it would otherwise be in your power to afford.

A Victor Machine Costs as Low as $10 and Up to $200

And we offer the easiest possible terms. $1.00 will bring one of these wonderful instruments into your home, and you will feel it a pleasure to pay the installments as they become due.
