After-Supper Talks With Cynthia Grey

HER HUSBAND SMOKES CIGARETTES! SHOULD SHE LEAVE HIM?

"Anxious Wife" writes me this: "My husband smokes cigarettes. It is distasteful to me, but when I see him at the table, which makes us both unhappy, since he seems to prefer them to me, shall I leave him? In despair, I am writing you for advice. "Anxious Wife," did you know that your husband smoked cigarettes before you married him? And would you REALLY be willing to GIVE HIM UP for so slight a cause?"

At a little thimble party of friends not long ago the bride of the group, who had been married a year or so, had just been airing her views, which were very much like yours, except that she did not think smoking sufficient grounds for divorce.

The woman of wisdom and experience, who was really very little older than the bride, laid down her sewing, looked at the younger woman a moment thoughtfully, and then said: "Do you mind if I tell you a little personal experience?"

"When I was married I had visions of reforming my husband, just as you have. Smoking was distasteful to me, and I went to work—very diplomatically, I thought.

"I told John how I disliked the odor of tobacco, that it really made me ill, that it was an extravagant habit, that he must quit it, or we never, never in the world could be happy. All without making the slightest impression, much to my amazement.

"Then I started in to weep about it, for I knew he hated tears. This really had some effect at first, but it soon wore off, and John acted like an old grinch around home. He did not stop smoking, I cried until it made me ill, and we were in a fair way of becoming a miserably unhappy young couple.

"Then I began to think. If John really enjoyed smoking, why should I deny him that pleasure when he came home at night, tired out, especially since I know he could smoke very little through the day? I enjoy candy and ice-cream sodas, and if these had been denied me I would have felt very much abused.

"It really did not make me ill—I just thought so. And if I were to keep up my present methods I could see that we were going to be very unhappy. SO MY ONE had to give in, and I decided that I loved John sincerely enough to want him to be happy—so I came down to solid earth. Now John smokes at home and is content."

Half the Country Free From Saloons

HEAD OF W. C. T. U., FRESH FROM HARD-WON VICTORY IN MAINE, FORETELLS MOVEMENT FOR NATIONAL PROHIBITION.

BY LILLIAN M. N. STEVENS.

President of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The recent struggle in Maine has demonstrated as never before that prohibition is a question of national interest and importance. The power of the liquor forces of this country have been apparent in the campaign.

The report that the bootleggers and blind liquor peddlers in Maine were on the prohibition side is unfounded and untrue. They worked in harmony with the liquor makers, the liquor sellers and their allies, who fought to repeal the prohibitory amendment. The church, the Sunday school, the educators, the grangers, the business men to a marked degree, and the women and children are on the prohibition side.

The men's temperance organizations and the W. C. T. U. worked in harmony throughout the campaign. I do not believe that in all history was ever so much work done with so little outlay of money as that done in this campaign by the W. C. T. U. Thousands of women in Maine worked incessantly without any compensation, many giving up their vacation plans and making numerous other sacrifices.

FEATHERS—HOW TO MAKE POMPONS FROM YOUR OLD ONES

Even when an ostrich feather is so old and worn that it seems pitifully hopeless, it can be utilized in making pompons. While there are several kinds of these hat ornaments that can be made from old plumes, the cut pompon is perhaps the smartest. It is easily made, requiring little skill, but much patience.

Every bit of the old curl should first be steamed out of the feather. The flues must be as straight as needles before constructing the pompon. The edges should be carefully trimmed until the thin ends are gone and only the best part of the flues remain. Cut all the flues off close to the quill, using sharp scissors, and cutting from the tip back towards the stem. This insures an even length for all of the flues.

Gather up into little bunches of about 30 flues each, and fasten by twisting fine, uncoiled wire firmly around them, leaving about six inches for a stem.

Cut a strip of black tissue paper about a half-inch wide and twist around the wire for a finish. This is called "piquet," and it takes about 40 to make a pompon.

After the piquets are all made, they should be clipped the same size, then gathered together into a bunch of the desired size, and fastened with the wire about an inch down the stem.

Wind the wire tight right down to the end and cover with tissue paper. Spread the flues at the wire's top, so that the whole thing forms a ball.

Three of these should be branched together, the size of the pompon depending on the length and number of the flues cut. Put a small pompon, the flues should be cut so that the pompon will measure an inch and a half in diameter. Usually seven branches are in a bunch, but any number may be used.

Modern Education. "Fifth grade this year, Tommy?" "Yes, sir." "You're in decimals or fraction now, no doubt?" "No, sir, I'm in crochet work and clay modeling now."—Washington Herald.

A Home Recipe For Wrinkled, Saggy Skin. The famous salixite lotion which is recommended by beauty specialists for the removal of wrinkles and for reducing distended pores, can be made at home. Ask your druggist for salixite in powdered form, 1 oz., and 1/2 pint witch hazel. Dissolve the powder in the witch hazel and bathe the face, neck and hands in the solution. Results are remarkable, and instantaneous. The skin tightens, and this naturally reduces the wrinkles, as well as creases or folds about the neck, cheeks or hands. The tissue and muscle beneath the skin also become firmer and more solid. One feels much refreshed and exhilarated after using this truly wonderful preparation. Its continued use for only a short time will make one look five or ten years younger.—Adv't.

MRS. ANITA NORRIS REVEALS THAT RECIPE FOR CURLY HAIR

So many Star readers have written for the curly hair recipe that our beauty expert, Mrs. Anita Norris, is literally swamped with mail. So here's the secret:

Write to any druggist in any town in Mexico for some Mexican Root. Just address "Druggist." They all carry it. It is not a proprietary article. The price is $1.16 a pound. Be sure to say it is for a hair shampoo; otherwise they might send you a Mexican soap bar.

To prepare the shampoo: Crush the root with a hammer put two handfuls of it in a dish; pour over two and a half quarts of boiling water, but do not cook it. Let it stand two to three minutes, then strain. Use the clear liquid as a shampoo; then rinse the hair slightly with hot water.

Use the shampoo every nine or ten days. If it smart, use less of the root. It should not be used if the scalp is covered with eruptions. It is said to be harmless and users say that long continued use will make the hair curly.

Children's Corner

IN THE WINDOW. Last night most folks were home in bed and all the stores were deserted when the big bell in the church struck midnight. At that moment I chanced to pass the Japanese store, and I was surprised at the sight in the window.

All the pretty Japanese dollies were dancing together and what was more wonderful, all the quaint little people pictured on the plates and vases were stepping down from their places as lively as you please. And from a dainty paper fan stepped a knight and lady, he wearing a purple satin robe and carrying a silver sword, while she was dressed in a gay kimono and flirted a gold and ivory fan.

They bowed gravely to each other as he offered her his arm, and then they slowly walked toward the other dollies, who bowed and curtsied to them. All at once they all pointed to the corner where but a few minutes before had lain a paper dragon. But, oh my! He, too, had come to life at the fairy hour of midnight, and now advanced with swishing tail and eyes that darted flames to destroy everything in his way.

I looked at the knight and his lady. She was kissing him good-bye by bidding him be brave and of good cheer. Then drawing that silver sword, he advanced upon the foe. The dragon slashed his tail and fire breathed from his nostrils, but then the clock struck.

I turned away for a moment, then looked again. Every dolly was in its place, all the quaint little people were back on the plates and vases. The dragon was again of paper in its corner, but there just stepping to their places on the fan were the knight and his lady.

New shoes that squeak should be placed in a basin of water, or should have a peg driven into the sole by the cobbler. Either method will remove the unpleasant sound.

3 WAYS TO COOK ROUND STEAK. STEAMED ROUND STEAK—Cut one and one-half pounds of round steak into two-inch squares, put in pot to steam without water. Slice onion and fry, add to steak in pot and season with salt and pepper. Cut up tomato and add with enough water to cover bottom of pot. Boil slowly for two or three hours. Wash rice and add with a little water three-fourths of an hour before serving. Boil slowly and stir, serve while hot.

SWISS STEAK—Two pounds of good round steak cut a good two inches thick. Salt, pepper and dredge thick with flour. Pound until flour is worked in. Put a good tablespoonful of lard into a frying pan. When hot fry steak quickly a nice brown on both sides, then almost cover with hot water, and let simmer slowly for one hour and a half or two hours. Gravy is very nice.

FIRELESS MEAT LOAF—One pound steak, one pound lean pork, one pound veal, one small onion, two eggs, salt and pepper. Grind meat and onion together; mix well with eggs and salt and pepper; pack in upper half of fireless cooker; fill lower half full of boiling water and boil fifteen minutes. Place in cooker for about two hours.

Face Peeling Easy—Blonde or Brunette. The blonde's complexion fades early, because her skin is extraordinarily thin and fine. The brunette's, as a rule, is the reverse. The skin is thicker and has a tendency to an oily appearance.

For either the faded blonde's skin or the brunette's oily or sallow complexion, the best remedy is ordinary mercurized wax. Used daily, this will give one an entirely new complexion within about a week's time. The wax gradually absorbs the worn-out surface skin, with all its defects, a little each day, without affecting the delicate under-skin in the least. The latter will have the exquisitely beautiful glow of youth—indeed, one may readily lose ten or fifteen years from her age, so far as appearance goes; by a course of this simple treatment.

Mercurized wax, secureable at any drug store, is applied like cold cream.—adv't.

Cynthia Grey's Letters

Dear Miss Grey—(1) What will remove perspiration stains and rain drops from blue messaline silk? (2) How is "steaming" a dress done, and can it be done at home? BHY ANN.

A—(1) Peroxide of hydrogen will remove the perspiration stains, but the rain spots will not disappear unless the entire dress is sponged. (2) That is a secret known only to the professional, but I strongly suspect that it is a simple washing and ironing process done by an expert.

Dear Miss Grey—I am 19. A nice young man in my neighborhood appears to think a great deal of me, but is very bashful and when in company with me is so nervous he can scarcely feed himself. What can I do to relieve him? TENDER HEART.

A—(1) Alcohol, if used before the garment is washed, as washing makes the stains indelible. (2) One gallon water, juice of 12 oranges and 6 lemons, and stiffly beaten whites of 6 eggs. Mix thoroughly and freeze.

Dear Miss Grey—(1) How does one clean black Panama hats? (2) What do you think of a girl who goes out driving with a young man after 9 o'clock p. m.? (3) Give recipe for face lotion. (4) What will keep the hair from falling out? A READER.

A—(1) Use alcohol. Brush hat with old toothbrush dipped in the alcohol and go over it thoroughly. (2) She is indiscreet, to say the least. (3) Lactic acid, 2 drachms, glycerine, 1/2 ounce, 1 1/2 drachms essence of white rose, 1 drachm tincture of benzoin and enough water to fill a 6-ounce bottle. Mix the acid and glycerine with the water and add the rose and benzoin, which have been previously mixed. Apply daily. (4) Pure vaseline rubbed into the scalp once a day stimulates the growth of the hair. Shampoo frequently to keep hair from becoming too oily.

Dear Miss Grey—I am a girl of 18. My ears have been prominent and they are a great humiliation to me, as I am called "donkey," "flop-ears," and such names. I've read that this deformity can be cured. Do you think this is true? MISS N.

A—It's too bad you are so sensitive about this. If people are so heartless as to comment on your appearance—why, drop them from your list of acquaintances. They are not worth the friendship of any self-respecting person. Is there any fault of appearance that would be half as bad as a nature so cruel as to criticize one who is (in her own mind) unfortunate? Don't worry. Try dressing your hair so that your ears are not so noticeable. That's easy to do in this day of fluffy hair.

Dear Miss Grey: (1) I am 16. How shall I wear my hair? (2) Give the name of a good perfume. (3) What will remove ink from a white dress when the dress has been washed since stained? (4) What will remove blackheads and pimples? (5) Give reliable ice cream recipe. (6) How long should my dresses be? I am 5 feet 6 inches.—Country Girl.

A: (1) Since you are rather tall, wear it as other young women do, in the most popular and becoming style. (2) There's no perfume sweeter than that of a clean, wholesome body. Well-bred people do not use strong perfumes, but many use a sweet scented talcum powder, or powder in the bath water. (3) Try soaking the dress in sour milk. Oxalic acid dissolved in cold water will take out the stains, but it is necessary to rinse well. This acid is poison—be careful. (4) Eat plenty of wholesome food, let sweats alone, keep the bowels open, wash the face thoroughly with a good complexion soap and hot water, rinsing with hot and then cold water every night upon retiring. If the pimples persist, consult a physician. (5) Make a custard of 2 quarts of milk, 1 cup of sugar and 6 well beaten eggs. Dissolve 1/4 box gelatine in a cup of milk, and add it to the custard. Melt 1 pound of sugar in a granite pan and brown a little, being careful that it does not burn. Add 3 tablespoons water, stir, set off to cool a little, then add to the custard. Stir until dissolved. When ready to freeze, add 1 pint of cream or rich milk and vanilla to flavor. Freeze in the usual way. (6) Just to your shoe tops.

Dear Miss Grey: What is the best way to make coffee? (2) Give recipes for dainty sandwiches of chopped meat. JANE.

A—(1) Mix one cup freshly ground coffee, one egg-white and the mashed shell and 1 cup cold water or coffee left over from the day before. Add 6 cups cold water, heat gradually until boiling, put a cloth in spout to keep aroma in, simmer 5 minutes, add 2 tablespoons cold water, set on back of stove and serve in two minutes. (2) One-half cup chopped ham mixed with one-half cup chopped veal, one teaspoon vinegar, two drops Tabasco sauce, 1/2 teaspoon mustard, one teaspoon horseradish and one tablespoon mayonnaise. Spread white bread with butter, and then with the mixture.

Dear Miss Grey: Give recipe for dill pickles. A READER.

A—Wash the cucumbers thoroughly, and into a stone jar put first a layer of cucumbers, then a layer of grape leaves and a layer of dill, using the leaves and stems. Repeat until jar is full, or until all the cucumbers have been used. Pour over them brine which has been made strong enough to bear up an egg, and has had added to it half as much water as there is brine. Cover with a cloth, then with a plate, and put a clean heavy stone on the plate. Wash the cloth frequently.

NO MORE DANDRUFF, FALLING HAIR OR ITCHY SCALP IF YOU DO THIS

Your Hair Looks Soft, Fluffy, Lustrous and Abundant After a Danderine Hair Cleanse.

Immediate?—Yes. Certain?—That's the joy of it. Your hair becomes light, wavy, fluffy, abundant and appears as soft, lustrous and beautiful as a young girl's after a Danderine hair cleanse. Just try this—moisten a cloth with a little Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. This will cleanse the hair of dust, dirt and excessive oil and in just a few moments you will have doubled the beauty of your hair.

A delightful surprise awaits, particularly those who have been careless, whose hair has been neglected or is scraggy, faded, dry, brittle or thin. Besides beautifying the hair, Danderine dissolves every particle of dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

Try as you will, you cannot find any dandruff or a loose or falling hair and your scalp will never itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use of Danderine, when you will actually see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair sprouting all over the scalp. If you care for pretty, soft hair, and lots of it, surely get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and just try it.
