Smoke Up!

The next time your wife protests about your cuddy pipe, its smell, its ashes on her pet parlor carpet, etc., etc., just look superior and tell her to guess again. We men think we smoke because we like it and there an end, but it's not so, no, not by a jugful! We are simply fulfilling the demands of our race, our climate and our character. You don't believe it? Then listen to M. Watville, French Dentist and collector of pipes. He has collected so long and smoked so much that he has evolved a regular philosophy of the pipe, as follows:
1—The activity of a race is in proportion to the length of the stem of the pipe.
2—The shorter the pipe, the more laborious the nation.
3—The longer the pipe, the lazier the race.
4—The more frugal the nation, the smaller the pipe.
5—A large pipe is the sure sign of a wasteful and sensual nation.
6—The mind of the race may be deduced exactly from its way of smoking.
7—Tell me what you smoke, and I will tell you what you are. Personally, being a hard-working, saving cuss, we smoke a short-stemmed, small-bowled pipe, don't you?

"WHAT is so rare as a day in June" might be changed to "what is so rare as a day in June" to suit some of this week's weather.

Our Horrible Revenge

We don't know how it affected you, but it used to rile us all up to pick up a pair of socks and read: "Made in Germany."
Pick up a comb, ditto!
Made in Germany, in Germany, in Germany!
Where were our boasted protected industries? What were our people doing?
But it's all right now. David Stern, an American business man, says so. We are being avenged, all right, all right.
How? List to the glorious tale:
We are outfitting every dude in Germany!
No he charmer prancing Unter-den-Linden in Berlin is complete nowadays unless he wears a varnished suit—made in America—and a pair of club-footed shoes with large bows—made in America—and displays a pair of garish aniline-dyed socks—made in America.
Guess that will hold Der Kaiser for a while, eh?

Observations

PERHAPS if every rose didn't have its thorn it wouldn't be so alluring.
AMONG the things that seem too good to be true are tombstone inscriptions.
EVERY man should have a will of his own, but it is safer to have a lawyer draw it up.
MANY a man gets a crick in his elbow from turning over new leaves.—New York Times.
TELL a young man he should be taken in hand and his thoughts will turn to a manicure girl.
THE political prophet is "in clover" at Chicago. No matter what he prognosticates, it's just as likely to happen as anything else. Fact is, people right here in Seattle know exactly as well what the result will be as the politicians collected in the Windy City.

IT SHOULD not be surprising if the Taft steam roller takes to the Taft delegation from Washington like a freckle-faced kid to a jam-laden pantry. The local stand-patters are the original "hand-pickers" in the country, you know—they started that thing two years ago.

IN THE EDITOR'S MAIL

Editor The Star: I want to call your attention to the death of little Jimmy Storey. He was not drowned in the lake as all the papers except yours said, but he was drowned in a pool near the lake. This is the second little boy within a year to be drowned in that same pool, and all of us neighbors think it is high time that the city was filling it up or making the district safe for boys and girls to play in.
This pool is between 8th and 9th, near Westlake and Roy, is about 16 feet deep and filled with logs and rubbish all the time. The logs are what attract the children, and no matter how we scold they go there anyway. We are going to ask the council to clear the pool of rubbish or fill it in, and we want your valuable paper to help us.
PETER HANSEN,
1008 7th Ave. N.

to plan early to observe a sane Fourth of July. Three years ago one of my boys had a finger torn off by a cannon cracker, and a year ago my daughter was injured by a Fourth of July explosion. We can be just as patriotic as the best of them, without blowing arms and legs off to show our love of country.
MRS. E. A. WINDSOR.

Editor Star: Friends told me yesterday that there is a possibility the 42-story L. C. Smith building will not be pushed to completion. Will you please answer, through the columns of your valuable paper, as to whether this is true?
R. B. HOLMQUIST.

Much quackand has been found in the ground on the site of the Smith building, and for this reason it is taking longer than was expected to put in the foundations. The building will be erected as fast as possible. Already half of the rooms have been leased to future tenants.

NOTHING SERIOUS

HORRORS!

"Why did you quit your last job?"
"I couldn't stand de strain. It was weedin' a patch of watermelons an' dere was soap berries an' scrub oaks growin' all around."

TALKED TOO MUCH

"I always sez right out what I think."
"Dat's no lie, but youse needn't overtink yourself on my account. I've tired hearin' yer already."

HIS COUCH OF EASE

Do you remember the last time you slept in a bed?"
"Well, las' night I slept in a onion bed."

A SLIGHT CHANGE

George Ade told of a visit which his father, who is more than 87 years of age, recently made in New York. The old man stopped at the Herald Square hotel, and soon after arriving became rather friendly with the chief clerk. In the course of the conversation the clerk said: "Mr. Ade, have you ever been in New York before?" "Yes," was the reply. "I was here once before." "Do you notice many changes?" asked the clerk. "A few," said Mr. Ade. "The theatrical syndicate has put up a few new theatres, and I notice some new stores on the main street." "How long has it been since you were here?" asked the clerk. "Sixty-seven years," replied Mr. Ade.—Chicago Tribune.

LIKE LOTS OF US

We approached a seedy-looking individual on the street corner. "Prosperity," we observed, consolingly, "has ruined many a man." "Well, I'd just like to see it ruin me," he answered boastfully. "Perceiving the uselessness of our sympathy, we discreetly withdrew."

A GLUTTON

Hungry Harold—An 'den, lady, I lost me old pal an' ever since I've been broodin' over me trouble an' eatin' me heart out will' grief." "Mrs. Goodsole—Eating your heart out! Then you can't be as hungry as you said at first. Beat it."

Most Anything

JOHN WISE SAYS:

"Th' man who keeps th' livery stable next door to th' Beesleyport House kicks somethin' awful about th' files that come inter his place from th' dinin' room."

EVER MEET ONE?
"That get-rich-quick man is as busy as a bee."
"Yes," replied Mr. Cumrox. "He's one of those busy bees who can't manage to gather honey without incidentally stingin' somebody."—Washington Star.

HOUSE UPSET
"Why are you so late this morning?" thundered the boss. "My wife overtook herself." "Explained the suburban book-keeper, "and the cook had to get the breakfast."—Philadelphia Record.

CLEVER HOST
Wise—We had quite a prominent actress as a guest at our house the other evening. Ascum—Gracious! Didn't you find it hard to entertain her? Wise—Oh, no! She amused herself for hours. We just handed her a bunch of photographs, among which were several of her own.—Catholic Standard and Times.

PA KNEW
"Pa, how long can a man live on water?"
"It depends, Willie, on whether he is aboard a ship that won't sink."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

ONE REASON
"Selling your home to buy an automobile. What will you do without a home?"
"Won't need none after I git the auto; wouldn't never be there, anyhow."—Houston Post.

NOT SO DIFFICULT
"How did he manage to escape from the penitentiary? I thought it was well-nigh impossible." "Well, he figured it out on scientific lines. Somebody smuggled him a pair of trunks, and after he got outside everybody thought he was running a Marathon."—Kansas City Journal.

THOUGHTFUL WIFE
"Think I'll go to the ball game today."
"All right. Is there a telephone at the grounds?"
"There's one near there. Why?"
"If the home team loses I want you to telephone me, so that I can take the children and go over to mother's until you get your temper back."—Houston Post.

HEREDITY
"I knew her father when he used to go about with his trousers held up by one suspender."
"She must take after him, then."
"Why so?"
"At the opera last night, she wore a gown that was held up by one strap, over her left shoulder."—Judge.

THAT'S TRUE
"Our life has its advantages."
"It certainly has; we men have to worry about having any of those occupational diseases."

FAMOUS IN A DAY FOR THE BEAUTY OF HER HANDS AND ARMS
A Free Prescription That Does It
Work Over Night—on the Face—Prepare It at Your Own Home.

"It's my own discovery, and it takes just one night to get such marvelous results," answered Miss Grace Benson, when her friends asked her about the marvelous change in the appearance of her hands and arms. "You can do the same thing if you will take my advice," she says. "I feel it my duty to tell every woman what this wonderful prescription did for me. Just think of it! It did all this in a night."
"It affords me a world of pleasure to tell anyone else just how such remarkable results were brought about. I am absolutely certain that this identical prescription which has removed every defect from my hands and arms. You can find out what this wonderful prescription did for me. Just think of it! It did all this in a night."
"Go to any drug store and buy an ounce bottle of Kulus Compound. Pour the entire bottle of Kulus into a two-ounce bottle, add a couple of drops of vaseline and fill with water. Mix this at home, then you know it is the genuine article. Apply night and morning. The first application will astonish you. It makes the skin transparent, removes all blemishes such as tan, sun spots, freckles and coarse pores, roughness and wrinkles and, in fact, every blemish the hands and arms are heir to. It also produces a marvelous effect on the neck and throat.
"If the neck is discolored from being exposed to the sun or from wearing high collars, this prescription will immediately relieve that condition. No matter how rough and ungainly the hands and arms, or what diseases they have had through hard work and exposure to sun and wind, this prescription will work a wonderful transformation in twelve hours at the most. Thousands of women are using this prescription with just the same results that I have had."
